

He Majors In Beauty

A good candidate for the most self-effacing man around Y. C. would be Mr. W. V. Barker. "I think they call me the gardener," said Mr. Barker, "I set out and take up the plants in the proper season and clean up around the place." Those who remember the campus of previous springs when the peonies lined the walks looking like Amazons' powder-puffs, can well believe that Mr. Barker is an excellent gardener. Through the whole summer, he keeps the campus flower beds a riot of color with seasonal blooms.

He first took charge of plants of the campus three years ago. Of course, it would be necessary for one with that occupation to know the soil and weather of Nebraska, and who could be better for that job than Mr. Barker who has lived on a farm within 50 miles of York all his life?

While students were bemoaning the snow, Mr. Barker was planning a new spring dress for the campus.

Mr. Barker is the father of two daughters, both of whom attended York college. Mrs. Esther Henry, his only living child, is teaching in Grable, Wyo., at the present time. He also has four grandchildren of whom he is obviously very fond. This fondness for young people may have influenced Mr. and Mrs. Barker to provide rooms in their comfortable home on East Tenth street for college men.

To just such quiet people does York college owe much of its charm.

Musical Department Presents B. Dick In Recital

Miss Barbara Dick, soprano, sophomore, DuBois, was presented in recital on March 14. Miss Dick's opening section was Schubert's "Die Junge Nonne", and his "Gretchen am Spinnrad." Her second grouping consisted of "L'ete," Chaminade, "The Catbird," Clokey "Life," Curran, and "Alleluja!" Mozart, while the third division contained "Contentment," Curran, "Do Not Go, My Love," Hageman, "Joy of the Morning," Ware, and "One Fine Day," from Puccini's Madame Butterfly.

The vocalist was assisted by Harold Walker, junior, Santa Cruz, N. M., whose first offering was a group of five short poems, and whose second appearance featured "Lincoln's Last Soliloquy," by Thomas.

Miss Dick was accompanied by Fredrick Vorce, sophomore, Brookfield, Mo., who is a pupil of Miss Eda Rankin. Miss Dick is a student with Dean Charles Amadon of Hulitt Conservatory, and Mr. Walker studies with Miss Irene Shipley, head of the department of speech and dramatic art.

Y. C. Represented At Annual Church College Conference

York College faculty members and students attended the annual meeting of the Nebraska Association of Church Colleges held at Creighton University on March 20. Chancellor R. G. Gustavson of the University of Nebraska was the guest speaker for the day.

Faculty representatives from York included: Dr. D. E. Weidler, department of education, Dr. J. C. Morgan, department of ancient languages, and Dr. W. C. Noll, department of biological sciences. Denny Auchard, senior, Alexander, Kans.; Jane Martin, senior, Concordia, Kans.; Wanda Miller, junior, Russell, Kans.; Ruth Weston, junior, York; and Charles Williams, junior, Sierra Leone, Africa, represented the students.

120 faculty members and 180 students were delegates of the twelve church colleges of Nebraska at the conference. The general theme of the conference was, "The Church Colleges and the Foundations of Freedom." As Chancellor Gustavson said, "it is only as long as men are free everywhere that they can be free anywhere."

Chas. A. Amadon In Lincoln Hospital

Prof. Charles A. Amadon, head of the music department, is critically ill in the Lincoln General hospital. "Dean" recovered from a serious illness earlier this fall and was working steadily until just two days before he was taken to the hospital. At the time of writing, his condition is reported as improved but still critical. "Dean's" bouyant presence is missed on the campus and it is hoped that he will soon be back with us.

The Open Tomb . . .

This is the place where he was laid.

The dawn trembled on the edge of creation then gently glided down, filling the countryside with itself; soft pastels danced on the rocks, and shades of yellow rushed to the dark abyss wherein remained the secret of man's destiny.

But the boulder that gagged its mouth silencing the Son of God was pushed aside; nor stone nor death could stifle tidings of salvation. No corpse remained, whose blood had bought man's freedom from his own misdeeds.

There was instead white hope sure knowledge eternal faith in the divinity of humanity.

Yet this is the place where he is laid.

Crucified dead buried in our soul's sepulchre. Still and again the dark tomb opens wide its mouth prophesying our doom; still and again a dawn poises at the edge of earth and waits that we might face the East, push away the stone and let its golden fingers illuminate the abyss of our souls so that the Son of God may stand revealed again.

Jane Martin; Don Robson Are Chosen Y. C. Representative Woman and Man of 1948

HONOREES REVEALED AT SPRING
BANQUET BEFORE 190 PEOPLE

Jane Martin

The lid is off. Jane Martin of Concordia, Kans., and Don Robson of Thayer, seniors, were announced representative man and woman for 1948 at the annual spring banquet which was held last Friday evening, March 19, at the Evangelical United Brethren church. For weeks an air of mystery shrouded the entire program until approximately 190 students and faculty members became victims of "Spring Fever," the theme of the banquet. Lee Miller, student of Ventura, Ia., acted as toastmaster.

The representative man and woman were elected by popular vote on the basis of active participation in college affairs. Miss Martin is active in PALS, YWCA, Life Work Recruits, chorus, chapel choir, and Girls' Missionary Guild. She is a member of the 1948 Marathon staff, retiring president of Girls' Missionary Guild, and was senior class president first semester. She also has been active in Panhettes and Histrionics, and has been on the Student Council. Her major is chemistry.

Robson is a political science major. He is an active member of Zetas and Y-Club, and has been on the Student Council. He is a former president of Zetas and a former member of YMCA. His athletic interests include track, football, and basketball. At the York NCC Tournament held in January, he was chosen all-tournament guard on the Coaches' Tournament All-Star team.

In the program following the dinner, Denny Auchard, senior of Alexander, Kans., welcomed the guests. Barbara Blauch, junior of York, presented Spring Fever in the song, "It Might As Well Be Spring"; Panther Economy, toast by D. Gustafson, freshman of Polk, was given in Swedish accent; Riggs' Voices, a melody of sentimental love songs, was sung by Mary Alice Riggs, junior of Ames, Ia., Merl Riggs, junior of Merna, Dick Riggs, senior of York, and Bertha Riggs Boone, '41, of York.

Instrumental Entertainment was provided in a piano solo by Fred Vorce, sophomore of Brookfield, Mo., and a violin solo by Janet Duncan, freshman of Davenport, Ia. New and Old Romances, a toast was presented by Don Dicus, freshman of Lawton, Ia., and the toast, Girls' Gripes, by Jane Martin.

The tables and banquet room were decorated with pink cupid and in pink, green, and yellow colors. Place cards were in the form of pink hearts. A menu consisting of salad, sweet potatoes, corn, ham, butter, jelly, rolls, and date pudding with whipped cream was served by the ladies of the E. U. B. church.

Committees and committee heads are as follows: program: Aully Holst, junior of York, chairman, Glenna Auchard, freshman of Alexander, Kans.; decorations, Shirley Light, special of York, chairman, Joyce Holst, special of York, Merwin Kurtz, junior of York, and Darwin Newton, freshman of Polk; publicity: Dick Miller, sophomore of Ventura, Ia., chairman, Denny Auchard, Willa Roberts, junior of Fairbury, Doris Canon, junior of Albany, Ore., and Art Tebell, sophomore of York; menu: Wayne Farrer, sophomore of Sioux City, Ia., Eunice Goodrich, senior of Portland, Ore., and Don Light, sophomore of York.

The Rev. Carl Lee, '37, pastor of the E. U. B. church at Julian, recently brought a car load of young people to visit the campus. Students were Jean Filin, Charles Aufenkamp, Cheris Hulton and Carl Zeck.

York Community Chorus Presents Sacred Cantata

Approximately a thousand people attended the presentation of the "Seven Last Words", a cantata by Theo. Dubois, given by the York community chorus on Sunday, March 21, at the York City Auditorium.

"In the future we would like to make this truly a community project," said Prof. James Koontz, director of the choir. "With the college group as a nucleus, a chorus of four or five hundred voices representing all the churches of the city could be organized to promote community interest."

The cantata was accompanied by Prof. Bruce Herrick of the department of religion. For the occasion a "consonatta" electric organ was rented from the Dietz Music House of Lincoln.

Les Hazen Has Lead In Modern Dramatization of "Prodigal Son"

LES HAZEN

Three scenes of the modern dramatization of "The Prodigal Son" have been taken by photographer Lee Huebert, '47, with Les Hazen, sophomore, the Dalles, Ore., playing the title role.

"The Prodigal Son" a modern dramatization of the Biblical story photographed in color, is a project of the Eta Kappa cast of the Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity. Huebert will photograph the entire series of 21 scenes.

Hazen, who was initiated into the fraternity last year, has had much experience in college dramatics. He played "Laurie" in Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women" and "Uncle Willis" in "Junior Miss", by Chodorov and Fields last season. He belongs to Zetas and is president of the Panther club.

Fred Vorce, sophomore, Brookfield, Mo., is in charge of the writing of the script which will accompany the presentation of the pictures.

Jean Mattingly, of the English department, is chairman of the scenery committee. Doris Jean Canon, junior, Philomath, Ore., is in charge of the make-up. Costumes and properties committee is headed by Marie Harris, senior, Great Falls, Mont.

W. S. F. RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Y. C.'s contribution to the World Student Service Fund drive was $375.00, it was announced recently.

Medical aid, financial aid, books, clothing, food, and rest camp opportunities to needy students and faculty members in less fortunate countries will be the benefits derived from this money.

EASTER SEASON HAS "NEW LOOK"

The Easter season of 1948 is accompanied with the "New Look" for the Americans while Easter in many neighboring countries will pass as just another "day" surrounded with hunger and poverty. More and more Easter is coming to be a season of festivities where gifts are given, banquets—laden tables are set, and the Easter fashions pass on parade. Surely in this day of restless indecision we should be more aware of the heritage of the future than just to satisfy our selfish needs of today.

P. S.

ANOTHER WAR?

To many Americans a third world war with Russia seems inevitable. That a dangerous situation exists cannot be denied, but some facts may be worth noting.

Russia's methods, unscrupulous as they are, have been free of any military force. True it may be argued that so far there has been no need of it, but it has not been the avowed policy of Communism to use force in getting what they want.

Rather they prefer to infiltrate and propagandize until the people they wish to win over wish to be won over. In most of the countries which are Russian-dominated the Communist party has been the largest single party. This does not mean that they had a majority or that the methods they used to gain power were to be condoned, but it can be seen why they have been able to make some people think so.

Russia's losses in the war were staggering even to a country the size of Russia. Her loss in man power, productive land, and industry will cripple her for years to come.

Even if war is to come it is possible that atom warfare (like gas warfare) will be recognized as a danger equally as great to the first user as to the victim.

Let us pray, however, that this theory need never be tested.

Chapel Talks

Gardens in Our Lives

The Garden of Eden, the Garden of Gethsemane, and the garden where Christ arose, were used as illustrations by Mrs. Luper in a recent chapel period to represent the gardens of our lives during the Lenten Season. These gardens are creation, suffering, and that in which we crucify self. In her closing words, Mrs. Luper reminded the group that Christ died that we might have freedom from death, He arose that we might have liberty and life, and He ascended that we might have power to do and tell.

People and Poverty; Masses

"China is a country of a mass of people and poverty is the rule, not the exception" stated Mrs. John Knecht, a returned missionary from China and a member of the Missions Advancement Group who visited the campus recently, in telling of her first impressions of the country. Mrs. Knecht concluded her talk by telling of some of the problems that face the Chinese students today.

Joan and Jean Fusby

You can tell our differences by the way we act", stated Jean. However, the casual observer needs a microscope to detect these differences in the freshmen twins from Benedict, Jean and Joan Fusby.

The attractive, brown haired, blue eyed twins are the only children in the Fusby family. While attending high school they often took advantage of their similarity to confuse the teachers.

"We would change seats just for the variety of it!" stated Jean.

Joan then piped in, "We even answered questions for each other."

Outside of the special interests in Benedict their interests lie in music and sports. They are members of chorus and PALS. Where you see one twin in a class room you will see the other twin and their grades are usually the same.

"We plan to switch dates some night", stated Joan while Jean added, "And we might even get by with it". The clothes they wear are usually identical so it wouldn't be too hard to mistake one for the other. The only trouble they have with their clothes is "Joan won't let me wear any of hers", protested Jean.

They claim that many people accuse them of being spoiled. "But we are not!" they declared.

Their plan after leaving college is to enter some field of stenographic and clerical work.

'Burr Reporter Doesn't Interview Diana Barrymore

By Barbara Blauch

The explanation of the above heading is quite simple. She was in a hurry. She had just walked off the auditorium stage after playing "Joan of Lorraine," the famous Maxwell Anderson violation of the principle of aesthetic distance. Lack of local accommodations made it necessary for the entire troupe to leave immediately for their next engagement.

However, standing backstage waiting for the privilege of being refused an interview, gave opportunity for some observations on the professional legit theater. Before curtain time the actors strolled about looking languid. A few of the more ambitious ones were involved in a speedy game of catch. A figure charged unflinchingly across the stage, to be identified in a confidential whisper as "Miss Barrymore." Getting in the mood, no doubt. She looked like her Aunt Ethel, except for her cowboy boots. Someone led me gently away from a dark-eyed youth who had done a walk-on for (salaam) Maurice Evans, "the houselights dimmed, the first nighters . . . etc."

After the final curtain, braving the rain of falling scenery, the reporter was witness to a touching reunion. Ellis Charles, who played the Dauphin, incidentally the best characterization in the play, formerly taught drama in a Kansas high school. Editor Harriet Thomas of the Sandburr was one of his students. That is the cast, and as student and teacher met for the first time in six years, this was the script:

Mr. Charles, enthusiastically, "Harriet!"

Miss Thomas, dramatically, "Well!"

Harry Owens, freshman, Coffeyville, Kans., entered here, and as he was another ex-pupil of Mr. Charles, the three of them participated in one of the most lively reminiscences on record.

Meanwhile your reporter secured a personal, gracious dismissal from Miss Barrymore and went dragging back to tell the now vibrant editor of her unrehearsed exit. That, little boys and girls, is how the "Burr" didn't get its story on one of the greatest names in American theater. And if you'll be good children, go to chapel every day, and stop taking benzedrine to stay awake in psychology class, maybe someday you'll be playing "Joan of Lorraine."

REUBEN ROBIN'S SOLILOQUY

Yes, I have my bags all packed and I am ready to take off for York, Nebr. to spend my spring vacation. What? You think I am crazy to leave the sunny south when all of the York College students would trade places with me without a moment's hesitation? Well, I'll tell you, spring is my favorite time of year and they tell me I'm sure to find it there; the signs are all evident.

Kendall Martin saw my cousin, Early Bird, twenty-six days ago. The only remains of the snow are the swampy marshes on the campus. The spring banquet is a thing of the past for another year. Larry Gordon got his car started. Miss Taylor had a dog-wood (or a reasonable facsimile) blossom in the library two weeks ago. The dime store had a closing out sale on marbles.

True, the climate isn't the best I can find, but they do have weather. And in Nebraska, the weather is bound to change. So it seems to me that it can't help changing to spring several times a day, and that's for Me. How about you?

PANTHER'S LAIR

"Tennis and Golf Prospects Promising," Says Coach R. E. Tonkin

"Prospects are pretty fair in both tennis and golf this year," stated Coach R. E. Tonkin recently. Each sport can boast a return of four lettermen, thus enabling York to field an all-veteran team in both sports.

Bob Gillespie, last year's NCC tennis singles champion, is once again ready to lead the team in their bid for a championship as well as to attempt a repeat performance of his play which last year won him the singles championship. Other tennis lettermen returning are: E. P. Worthington, Les Herron, and Fred Vorce. Worthington and Vorce are both members of last year's runner-up team while Herron is a letterman of the 1946 season.

In golf, last year's team is completely intact. Bill Meehan, Aully Holst, Bob Schneider, and Dick Bason were all members of the team which made a better than average showing last year. Glen Elloe has reported for practice with the golf team and promises to keep the other men stepping for their positions.

Don Erfourth, Kendall Martin, Charles Graham, and Don Noll have all made known their intentions to push for a position on the tennis team this year which signifies a good rivalry on the campus as well as with conference foes for the aspiring racket busters of York.

The golf team practices at the York country club course, while the tennis team drives back and forth to Seward to use the courts at the city park there. The first meet for these teams is scheduled for April 8 at Doane.

Intramural Volleyball Leagues Organized

Two intramural volleyball leagues have been formed by athletic department as a means of creating college spirit and of taking up the slack between the end of basketball and the opening of track season. The mixed and the men's league each have eight teams.

Four games are played in the late afternoon. The last game will be played March 30. At present in the mixed league, Kay VanBuren and Wanda Miller are captains of undefeated teams and in the men's league Harvey Holbrook and Bob Gillespie are captains of undefeated teams.

Eugene Weaver, freshman, Tulsa, Okla., visited for several days recently with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Roy B. Weaver.

Y Club Holds Chili Supper

Nebraska University Motion Pictures Feature Program.

Over a bowl of steaming chili the Y-club held its March meeting in the college chapel. Highlighting the meeting were the motion pictures of the Minnesota-Nebraska football game and also pictures of the Nebraska-Kansas State basketball game of a season ago.

President Robert Dicus presided. Discussion of the Y-club banquet and the method of following up the promising young athletes who attended was the essence of the business. Assistance for the running of events at the annual York college relays for high schools was requested by Coach R. E. Tonkin and volunteers were numerous.

11 LETTERMEN REPORT FOR TRACK

Team Forced Inside For Early Workouts

A large group of trackmen is working out daily in the college gym. Among this group are 11 returning lettermen. An intra-class meet, three duel meets, one tri-meet, and the conference meet make up the spring agenda for the track team.

Sports Calendar

The schedule for the track, tennis and golf meets are:
 Intra-class track meet April 1 and 2—Home.
 Doane April 8—There
 Hastings April 13—There
 Kearney April 21—Home
 Midland and Concordia April 27—Home
 Doane May 6—Home
 Conference meet at Wesleyan May 14—There.

Because of the wet, muddy weather, the York College track squad work-outs are being held indoors. A preview of track prospects cannot be given until outside workouts begin, according to Coach R. E. Tonkin. A list of the men working out follows:

The returning lettermen and their events are: Harold Walker, holder of the conference two mile record, two mile and one mile; Don Watson, one and two mile; Delmer Way, the 440 and 880; Frank Medsker, 440 and 880; Leon Macy, 440 and 880; Denny Auchard, sprints; Floyd Gifford, pole vault, high jump, and broad jump; John Karutz, shot put; Glenn Shaneyfelt, hurdles and discus; Milton Snow, 220 and 440, and Eugene Miller, hurdles. The non-lettermen are: Stan Hedrick, 440 and low hurdles; Cecil Rockhold, one mile; Darwin Newton, shot put and discus; Kenny Nordlund, broadjump, hurdles, and 220; Wayne Farrer, shot put and discus; Ray Isaacs, 440 and 880; Paul Embree, sprints; George Harris, one mile; Paul Kemp, hurdles, 220, and broadjump; Don Dicus, 440 and 880; Jim Conway, hurdles and high jump; Gerald Main, 880 and one mile; Bill DeCamp, 880, and George Marvel, high jump.

HI-LAIR-ITIES

By the Sports Editor

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of" — spring athletics. At least, such is the case among approximately 40 of the Y. C. aspiring athletes. It is encouraging to see 26 men listed among the track enthusiasts and from this number hopes are rising on the campus for a better showing in the NCC this year.

Paced by 2-mile champion and record holder, Harold Walker, the Panthers show promise of a good season in the track events for the coming year.

The presence of three home meets on the track calendar this year should help bolster the spirit on the campus. The intra-class meet scheduled for April 1 and 2 should bring any and all hidden talent into full play.

In the field of tennis, defending singles champion Bob Gillespie is expected to pace the Panther pill-pasters into the foreground of the conference realm in an effort to realize the championship which they missed by two points last year.

The golf team, returned in its entirety, should be better than last year when they finished fourth in the conference, and with the addition of stiff competition in the form of new candidates, the links show possibilities of interesting matches from the Y. C. point of view.

A letter from Blaine Ronne, '47, ex-Sandburr sports editor and business manager, now filling a position in the Friend city schools, tells us that he recently read an article which stated that Kearney and York played the highest scoring game in the history of Nebraska when Kearney downed York by an 83-81 score.

Your sports editor began a thorough search of the files to find the game and bring a few of the facts to light only to find himself sadly disappointed by its conspicuous absence. However, a game of 80-77 was recorded in the 1943 season.

The game required one overtime period to eliminate a 74-74 knot in the scoring, which, in itself, was a new scoring record at the time. High point man in the game, was McCullough of Kearney who tallied 42 points for a new scoring record in what was then the NCAC conference. York's offensive drive was spearheaded by the Kaeding brothers, Jim and Wayne, and by George Shaneyfelt, brother of Glen. Wayne bucketed 28 points that night while Jim had 21 and George followed with 18.

I think that is probably the game to which you referred, Blaine, and Coach R. E. Tonkin and Bob Gillespie both verified the facts of the score book. Thank you for the letter and I'll look forward to letters from any and all alumni who would care to write, either for information about present activities at Y. C. or to tell about interesting athletic incidents of the past. How about it, alumni? Let us hear from you. Address your letters to: Sports Editor, Sandburr, York College, York, Nebraska.

Pres. Bachman and Rev. Ranck Speak Before Life Work Recruits

Dr. Walter E. Bachman, president of York college, and the Rev. J. Allen Ranck, National E. U. B. Youth Director, were special guest speakers at recent Life Work Recruit meetings.

"Teaching may be considered a field of service just as much as the mission and church fields," said Dr. Bachman. He continued with the fact that he first desired to be an evangelist, and that when he changed his mind and decided to become an educator some people accused him of backsliding. He did not feel that he had done so, but that he was in the position where God wanted him. Dr. Bachman reminded the Recruits that, "Jesus, himself, was a great teacher; the parable of the sower is a great teaching."

"There is a crying need in the world today for full time workers for the kingdom of God," said Mr. Ranck, "and no one who has a call from Him should dare disregard it." He pointed out that many have talents that remain unsuspected until they are used to help God's work.

Visiting on the campus for a few hours recently were Mr. and Mrs. J. Theron Pratt, and Mrs. Anna Burwitz, Milwaukee, Wis. and Mrs. G. A. Anderson and daughter Janet, Sloan, Ia., who were on their way to California. Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. Anderson are sisters of Alberta Bethke, freshman, Whittier, Calif.
