

"May Nocturne" Theme of May Day

by Bob Pearman

It was an evening of celestial beauty. The queen of May descended onto the stage seated on the lower arm of the crescent moon. The stars turned on their axes revealing lovely coeds. The moonbeams danced and flittered about over the spacious maples of the city auditorium and then the whole concourse made their exit out the front portal renamed the Milky Way to befit the occasion.

After the queen, Miss Bernice Dvorak, senior, Swisher, Ia., had completed her vertical descent she was crowned with a wreath of chrysanthemums and sweetpeas by Valda Franz, sophomore, the maid of honor. Clair Marvel, student prince, whose duties were chiefly nominal, stood in case of emergency. The attendants from the various classes who presented gifts to her majesty were Lois Riddle and Faith Kamm from the seniors; Carol Mead and Lois Miller, juniors; Anabel Mytholar and Lavona Dvorak, sophomores; and Ardith Carter and Trudy Brown, freshmen. Kathy Unger and David Leaming served as train bearers who kept the queen's sweeping train from sweeping.

Pages Eugene Weaver and Roland Allison muttered numerous inaudible sentences inviting the queen to witness entertainment inspired by the spirit of the occasion. After she graciously consented, Miss Dorothy Jacobs ushered in the members of the Lincoln School Kindergarten Rhythm Band who doubled as raindrops. When their twinkling music came to an end, a dozen freshmen lasses emerged from the dark recesses of the orifice and advanced on the illfated Maypole like so many Apaches in a dawn attack. Each grasped one of the tentacles of the aforementioned pole and proceeded to wrap them about it in a not overly symmetrical fashion. The sturdy staff sometimes rotated faster than the girls and swayed precariously but it withstood the onslaught as the maidens entangled the gaily colored streamers about it.

Misses Frances Porter and Marjorie Jordan presented an interpretation of the differences between the modern girl and the colonial girl in a little ditty dubbed "Midnight Fantasy." About this time, six miniature ballet pupils emerged, danced, and frolicked about. A stardust Medley by the chorus included solos by Herb Kamm and Glenna Bott. Both numbers kept in the spirit of the theme, Mrs. Bott sang "One Little Cloud" and Mr. Kamm crooned "Stars in My Eyes."

As the May Nocturne drew to a close, her majesty and her court descended from the stage, traversed the main floor of the auditorium, and passed out the door. Roger Ellsworth, renowned among York audiences as a magician of the keyboards, ceased to finger the ivories. The crowd—deeply impressed by the pageantry, extravagant decorations and superb program, moved toward the exits as another Mayday fete passed into oblivion.

Her majesty is a senior from Swisher, Ia., a sociology major who plans to enter social work. She has been a member of Student Council and Press Guild. She is active in Zetas, LWR, and YMCA.

Queen Bernice

As a sociology major, Miss Dvorak is ending her four years at York College with a long record of activity. She has participated in and served various offices in the Zeta Literary Society, Life Work Recruits, Press Guild, Student Council, the International Relations Club, and Women's Athletic Association. Bernice has written for the Sandburr, but above all has given greatly of her time to the Y. W. C. A. In 1949 she was elected president of that organization, and has filled various other positions in the Y. W. She is also well known to the students as head waitress in the dining hall.

SKIPPING SENIORS WRECK VICTIMS

Six seniors, returning from Omaha on "sneak day", May 24, escaped serious injury when the automobile belonging to Frank Kamm hit a patch of mud on U. S. Highway No. 30, plunged down a 20 foot embankment and overturned.

The occupants of the war were Mr. and Mrs. Kamm, York; Bernice Dvorak, Swisher, Iowa; Lois Riddle, Brookfield, Mo.; Pauline Smeltzer, Fulton, Missouri; and Opal Anderson, York. The group were taken to the hospital at Wahoo for examination the same evening. They were then returned to York by Dr. G. T. Savery, public relations director.

Opal Anderson suffered a broken clavicle and Pauline Smeltzer an injured vertebra. The pair were placed in the York General hospital for a time. The rest of the party had only minor cuts and bruises.

PALS - Zetas Anticipate "Summertime" At Banquet

Tonight rivalry will be forgotten as Zetas and PALS hold a joint banquet.

At 6:30, at the E. U. B. Church, party-goers will find themselves "In the Good Old Summertime."

Each society had representatives on the committees to plan and organize the banquet. Committee members were as follows:

Decorations—Guy McGee, Virginia Robinson, Doris Kirkpatrick, Liz Hooper, and Pat Taylor. Program—Lois Miller, Clair Marvel, Lavona Dvorak, and Fred Winter. Food—Joyce Klingman, Helen Brekke, Ardith Carter, and Janice Regenos. Invitations—Alberta Frost, Cora Marquez, and Marjorie Teinert.

Engagements and Coming Weddings

"It happens every spring" and York College is no exception. This summer holds the wedding dates of several Y. C. students.

Warren Porter, senior, Aurora, will cross the threshold by being married Sunday, May 28. He plans to attend seminary in California this fall.

Dean Strong, junior, Garfield, Wash. and Leta Kurtz, junior, Alton, Kansas, will be married June 7 at Alton. They plan to return to school this summer and next fall.

Another June bride will be Joan Coleman, Riverdale, Calif. Her marriage to Frank Wooters, sophomore, Broken Bow, will take place June 23. Bill DeCamp, junior, York, will be married June 11 to Vivian Ann Luzum. Miss Luzum is a former student of York College, and is now teaching near York.

June 11 is also the date chosen by Cecil Walker, freshman, Santa Cruz, N. M., and Rebecca Romero, sophomore, El Valle, N. M.

At least seven other weddings have been planned for later this summer. August 15 seems to be quite a popular date as three couples have chosen it for their day. They are Paul Deever, Penaloza, Kans., and Clarolynn Meeker, Enid, Okla., both seniors; James Bergland, senior, Glendive, Mont., and June Keener, sophomore, Loveland, Colo., and Gene Weaver, junior and Helen Holbrook, Orchard. Miss Holbrook is a former student at York.

Robert Patenaude, junior, Indianapolis, Ind., and Rosella Carpenter, junior, of Espanola, N. M., will be married here in York August 13. Valda Franz, sophomore, Sutton and Robert Embree, junior, Merna, will be married August 23 at Sutton. They plan to return to school next fall.

Others who plan weddings this summer include John Coover, sophomore, Parsons, Kans., and Hyla Shapland, York. Frank Medsker, senior, Glendive, Mont., and Carol Mead, junior, Imperial, will be married before they go to Naperville, Ill., where Frank will enter the seminary.

Wylma Fletcher Appears At College Church

Miss Wylma Fletcher, Negro soprano, appeared at the E. U. B. Church on May 28 at 8:00 P. M. Miss Fletcher is a music student from Galesburg, Ill., who spends her summer traveling and giving concerts before church groups. She has given previous performances in York at the Methodist church and for several other groups.

One of the honorary degrees conferred this year will go to Dr. I. Lynd Esch, president of Indiana Central College. This degree of doctor of divinity will be given in absentia, since Doctor Esch is presiding over Commencement activities at his home institution.

Mr. Esch is a native of the state of Pennsylvania where he obtained his elementary and high school education. During the twelve years of his ministerial experience, he completed academic work for his A. B. from Chapman College, California, and Th. M. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Southern California. He received highest academic honors and was elected to membership in four international scholastic honor societies including Phi Beta Kappa.

His duties as president of Indiana Central were assumed in 1945.

The Rev. Q. E. Henricks

The other honorary degree of doctor of divinity will be received by the Reverend Q. E. Henricks who will deliver the Christian Associations address on June 4.

Rev. Henricks attended Indiana Central College and the University of Southern California, being ordained in 1935.

As a trustee of York College, California Conference Director of Christian Education, and an outstanding leader in the E. U. B. Church, he has served various pastorates in Minnesota, New Mexico, Iowa, and California. He has included in his duties work with juvenile delinquents and the juvenile court of Los Angeles county.

W. A. A. Girls Honor Sponsor

Ending the year in a proper fashion, the members of the Women's Athletic Association treated themselves to a picnic supper at the home of their sponsor, Miss Zelda Wakelin, Modern Language department. Originally the picnic was to be an outdoor affair but due to adverse weather conditions the girls were forced inside.

In recognition of sponsorship, Miss Wakelin was presented with a gift preceding the election of officers of the club for next year.

A Letter To The Editor

Track season is now over with, the scores show that York college was at the bottom in the conference standings, but there is more to it than just inability. Moral support can mean a lot even in a sport like track.

Track is supposed to be a major sport at York College, but when did we see the cheerleaders out on the field giving moral support or even an encouraging send off? When did we see the student body backing us up? We are inclined to believe that at least twenty-five per cent of the student body didn't even know we had a track team.

Track, as we have all heard, takes somewhat more hard training than any other sport; Coach Denny Auchard did the best he could with the little material he had, and if we were not in condition it was our own fault, but how do you expect a person to do his best when he has to participate in at least three events because other members of the track team decide they just don't want to go that particular day?

There were many times when only eight fellows went to a track meet; towards the middle of the season the squad amounted to fourteen fellows as compared with Kearney, which had sixty men. Yes, Kearney is a bigger college, but you can't tell me that York doesn't have at least sixty able-bodied men on its campus.

We seem to be satisfied in getting beat; students don't even like to turn to the sport section anymore because it usually reads "York Trounced." But the strange thing about it is that it wouldn't be there if we did something about it, and we could do it if we were interested enough in it. This year we are losing some good men like Frank Medsker, Don Watson, Ross Speece, Shorty Way, and Harold Walker. Therefore we need not only more men but some moral support, as well.

If this year's backing is the kind of support we are going to give our track team next year, then I am in favor of not having a track team because if we can't back it up we should have a more interesting and strenuous game like rook to take its place. What do you say we all chip in next year and show the rest of the conference that if we can't have the number one team we can at least have the number one cheering section.

—A Member of the Team.

Seniors of Y. C.

To look at those dignified, grave-looking seniors, you would think they had been very serious-minded students. You would, perhaps, unless you know about a few of their college pranks—or happened to be one of the less fortunate persons who were innocent victims. Georgann could tell you about the time John Holm, York, and Denzel Dyer, McCool, locked her inside one of the glass showcases when they were cleaning the chem lab. Georgann wouldn't have objected to being on display, particularly, if they hadn't hung such taunting signs on the outside.

Wayne Farrer has a reputation for being a straight-faced liar (in an honorable sense of the word, of course) that psychology professors found him rather discouraging for a class demonstration on psycho-analysis. Fred Koontz, Des Moines, Iowa, will agree that Wayne is quite an accomplished liar and prankster. Having all the clocks, watches, and also the alarm set several hours early is agitating, but to get over to the dining hall at 6:00 in the morning for breakfast gets to be monotonous. Mrs. Luper didn't mind getting out of bed at that hour of the morning to answer the telephone—it was just that she hated having to tell Fred breakfast wasn't ready yet.

Mrs. Luper did have occasional phone calls—when some fellow apparently had the wrong number, and asked if it were the hatchery. The girls in Hulitt soon caught on to that gag, though. They had a pert way of answering the phone with "This is Heaven. Which little angel do you want?"

Then there were some guys who took various kinds of surveys, whose voice sounded mysteriously like Warren Porter's, Aurora.

The senior girls can tell of adventuresome nights in Hulitt Hall. That fire escape, certainly proved to be a life saver more than once. Betty Jean Riggs, Merna, knows about some girls who had a regular reception line waiting for them at the top of the stairs when they sneaked up the fire escape after a late "late."

Anything could happen at Hulitt Hall—anything from false fire alarms at night to hearing tin water pitchers roll down the stairs from third floor. A pet peeve among the girls was having someone throw a dash of cold water into a hot bath.

been plenty of entertainment provided among the boys. A glass of water balanced on top of a door, or such simple matters as finding peculiar objects in bed with you was a common occurrence. For variety, they wired the beds, in hopes of helping Gene warm his bed quicker than usual; or placed a milk bottle filled with water in bed, with a string attached to the lid so that it was obligingly removed at the proper moment.

NOW!

Another school year has closed (practically!), another senior class moves toward Baccalaureate and Commencement, and then what?

In the eyes of many, life is about to begin. They have been preparing themselves for the first twenty or twenty-five years of their lives, the best years of their lives by the way, and now they are ready to go forth and live! What a farce!!

For those who hold such an attitude, life will go on; but they will never live. The next twenty years of their lives will be spent working to make enough money so that they may live the life they dream to be ideal for themselves. Perhaps at the end of that time they will look back and suddenly realize through hind sight that they could have been enjoying life throughout the years if they had only been wise enough to take pride and enjoyment from doing a good job in an efficient manner. Some will go on through the rest of their lives feeling sorry for themselves and blaming fate for being so cruel to them that they should never reach that point in financial achievement which would enable them to live as books and motion pictures portray the full and pleasant life.

Living, it seems, has come to be a term implying primarily the life which is financially self-sufficient and socially independent. Must we, as college graduates carry this as the eternal horsecollar of our days? Must we feel that living is possible only when we have achieved a financial status which enables us to earn money without daily work? Must we feel that we cannot live as long as we must conform with the rules and standards of a specific community or section of the world?

HEAVEN HELP US IF THIS IS OUR FUTURE!

To the individual who can realize his or her ambition in doing a common task for its enjoyment, to the one who can find satisfaction for self-expression in everyday relations with people whom he comes in contact, and to the person who can find utmost pleasure in serving and helping his fellowman; to these fortunate few go the rewards of happiness. Surely it is within the scope of college bred men and women to win this richest prize of a God-given life.

Indeed, it is the responsibility of college graduates to show the world that contentment stems not from things that are to be achieved, but from the things that are achieved from day to day, even though the day's pay may be only a pause to give a stray dog a pat on the head. We who are young in years will be privileged, God willing, to live in the future. That future promises to bring great strides of progress in all phases of life. However, that future cannot bring happiness today for the one who lives tomorrow.

Summer School?

Got nothing to do this summer? Nope. Why not go to school? You heard right, I said school. Why? Oh, kill time, get credits, get educated, etc. Aw, it's not worthwhile. Yes it is. Summer school for three summers plus regular school for three years would let you graduate. It would, huh? Sure would. What could I take? Oh, religion, English, zoology, government, psychology, music, teaching methods, history, and math are all being offered. Anything else? Nope, ain't that enough. Yeah, I guess so, when does it start? June 12, are you coming. Nope. Why? Can't afford it. That's a good reason. Well, so long. Yeah, see you.

PANTHER SPORTS

York Wins Five In Diamond Sport

A tally of the books on York's revival of baseball shows the Panthers winning five games while losing three. The Blue and White baseballers would have earned a second in the conference if baseball had been a conference sport.

The Panthers opened auspiciously, edging Doane 3-2 in the home opener. Doane later gained revenge, 9-8 at Wilber. Although the Panthers took an 18-6 beating from Kearney, they swamped Midland twice, 17-6 and 14-4. They defeated Wesleyan 5-4, lost to Hastings 3-2, and outlasted Nebraska B 5-4.

Svehla Leads Hitters

In the hitting department, Ray Svehla, husky catcher led the regulars with a classy .350 average. He was followed by Loren Leggott and Gene Larsen at .276 and Jerry Eden at .273. Bill Soukup with one-for-one sported a very fancy 1.000 mark.

In the matter of slugging, Eden and Larsen came up with a four-bagger apiece, Eden also joining Hedrick and Soukup with a triple each. Wayne Jones collected four doubles to lead that division, while Leggott and Larsen most often whiffed, Leggott fanning 7 times, to 6 for Larsen.

Eden, Ken Hall, and Art Ferguson shared mound duties, with Ferguson gaining honors as the workhorse of the staff, and picking off the Co-op award as the most valuable on the team.

BASON ELECTED GOLF CAPTAIN

Dick Bason, senior, Des Moines, Iowa, was elected captain of the 1950 Panther Golf team. Dick was a member of the 1948 championship golf team which won the NCAA title and this year has been shooting consistently in the 80's. He is also a four year letter man and was one of the four athletes in York College to receive the four year letter sweater. Dick played quarterback on the "B" squad. His major is math and he intends to teach. He is married and has one child, Dick Jr.

WATSON ELECTED TRACK CAPTAIN

Don Watson, senior, York, Nebraska, was elected captain of the 1950 Panther track team. Don ran the mile and two-mile runs. He lettered two years in varsity basketball and one year in football. Don was given the outstanding award of a four year letter sweater for having won major letters for four years. The Co-Op Club of York recognized his outstanding ability by placing his name on the Co-Op plaque for his outstanding ability in track.

Denny Auchard, track coach and head of the math department, underwent an operation at the York hospital for the removal of a cyst from his left knee joint. Recovery in time to permit him to participate in graduation activities is problematical.

Conference Runners-up in Golf

Panthers Blast Midland College In Night-Cap

The York College Panthers blasted the Midland College Warriors for the second time this season by a score of 14-4 at the East Hill park.

After Midland's Carney, the second Warrior at bat, hit one over the fence for their first run, the Panthers went to work. Jones, Eden, and Sukovaty drove in Svehla and Leggott, and each of them scored, which made five runs the first inning. Eden hit a triple and Jones and Sukovaty got singles.

In the second, Hedrick hit a triple and Svehla batted him in. Jones singled, Eden walked and Larsen hit a home run. Leggott singled, but died on base. This made the score 10 to 1 in York's favor.

Midland scored two more runs in the third on one hit and two York errors. The fourth run came on a walk, infield out and two balks. After the first two innings York picked up one run in the third inning, one in the fourth, and two in the fifth off a double by Jones, a triple by Soukup, two singles by Leggott, and a single by Ferguson. Gifford, Hall, Dougherty and Soukup entered the game at the start of the fourth inning. York collected 13 hits, and Midland was limited to 4 hits by the good hurling of Ferguson.

Third in NCC Tennis Play

Panther Trackmen at Ease

Hastings Nips York, Score 3-2

Hastings college, behind the smooth pitching of Bob Brungard, defeated the York Panthers 3 to 2. Two little singles were absolutely all that York could do at the plate, but momentary wildness on Brungard's part resulted in six walks for York and kept the ball game interesting.

Neither team got any of their runs the hard way, for none of the runs were batted in. Things happened fast in the first inning with both teams scoring. Hastings' third baseman tripled and then scored when an attempt to retire the side with a double play was not successful. Hedrick scored York's run when he was walked, got to second on a passed ball, stole third and came in on another passed ball. In the top of the 7th inning the Hastings catcher walked, was hit to third by a single into left field, and scored the winning run on Ferguson's wild pitch.

Though this was the only action that counted, it was by no means all that went on during the evening. Because of the closeness of the game, spectator interest was very keen, and several verbal combats took place.

The only peculiarities of play that presented themselves were Eden's split while reaching for a slow throw to first, "Red" Leggott's nice stop at third, and the breaking of two bats, one by each team.

CHUCK BEAN DRIVES TO SEMI-FINALS

Chuck Bean, junior, Des Moines, paced the Panther Tennis team in their bid for the state tennis title at Kearney May 19th by advancing to the semi-finals. Bean easily outmaneuvered and outplayed Carlson of Wesleyan in the first round to win by scores of 6-2, 8-6. In the second round Bean encountered Hanson of Doane whom he easily defeated 6-1, 6-2. Advancing to the semi-finals Bean met the defending champion, Smith of Hastings. The latter appeared up to his true form and after a see-saw battle defeated Bean 6-4, 6-2. By advancing to the semi-finals Bean added four points towards the team points. Fred Winter playing in the other singles position was defeated in a hectic two set battle by Alcock of Doane, 8-6, 6-4. ## Co-ops Present Athletic Awards

The York Co-Operative club has presented its annual awards to the following men in these by their teammates as the best all around athletes in major sports. This year's college awards went to the following men in these sports: football—Frank Wooters, sophomore, Broken Bow; basketball—Eugene Larsen, sophomore, York; track—Don Watson, senior, York; and baseball—Art Ferguson, junior, Friend.

Members of teams from York College, York High School, and St. Joseph's High School are honored. The organization presents a certificate to the players and also places name plates in the schools. This is the third year of a ten year setup during which the awards are to be given. In the opinion of members of the club this is a special award because the athletic teams are the judge of who among themselves is deserving.

A set of slides describing the Wanderings of Aeneas, the hero of the Aeneid, were shown to the Vergil class Friday, May 5th. These pictures covering events of the first six books of the Aeneid are unique and of rare beauty. Many of them are by famous artists.

IRC Plans Made For Next Fall

IRC plans are being made for next fall. Most of the new officers who were elected at the last meeting, will be here during the summer months, either attending summer school, or working in York. They will be getting their heads together and planning how to get the organization into full swing on the campus. To promote interest in national and international affairs they plan to add a little active interest to some of the chapel programs by sponsoring a political campaign that will include the entire student body. To be a good American and intelligent citizen it is important that one understand the political machinery of our government. The IRC will assume the responsibility of helping to make students on the campus more aware of how our government is run, and what we, as the people, should do in order to maintain a voice in the government.

Doane will be host at the annual IRC conference to be held in the fall, with the York club cooperating as co-sponsor. Plans are indefinite as to the main speaker and the date as yet, but the emphasis is to be placed on student discussions.

Recitals In Review

Starting off the recital parade was the senior dramatic recital of Mr. Fred Koontz, Des Moines, Iowa. This took place during the first semester. Later on, there appeared several of Miss Shipley's junior pupils in their respective presentations. These students included Georgann Hoff, Los Alamos, N. Mex.; Frances Porter, Aurora; Cora Marquez, Santa Fe, N. M.; Lois Miller, Dawson; Anabel Mytholar, Shelby, and Catherine Walker, Maize, Kansas.

The only musical recital of the season was presented by Mrs. Glenna Auchard Bott, junior, Burrton, Kansas, who performed April 4. Her numbers included: "These Are They," by Gaul, "Hymn To The Sun," by Russian composer Rimsky-Korsakow; E. Charles' "And So Goodbye," and the dramatic "And This Shall Make Us Free," by Kernochan. Mrs. Bott was accompanied by Miss Joyce Klingman, freshman, Green, Kans.

The student body listened also at chapel time on three occasions while all the students of Mrs. Bertha Boone displayed their talents. Not claiming to be music majors, these students were performing because of their enjoyment of music.

Only one recital remains, that being the senior dramatic recital of Miss Mary Katherine Jackson, Adrian, Mo., June 4th. This promises to be an event, for Miss Jackson will read as her selection, "Lady Windermere's Fan," a farce by the British author, Oscar Wilde. Assisting her will be Mr. Jack Mathis, junior, Parsons, Kansas, and Miss Joyce Klingman.

Thus closes another year of presentations by the drama and music departments of the college.

Spring Flowers Highlight Mother-Daughter Banquet

The basement of the Evangelical United Brethren church was decorated with flowers of spring for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet which was held on May 24.

It was a true Mother's Day Feast as the Brotherhood turned the tables on the usual routine and served the meal (including the washing of the dishes) for the ladies.

Some college girls were "adopted" by women of the church for the occasion. Mrs. Rolland Tonkin was toastmistress.

Y Club Initiates Seven Athletes

Though it hurt to sit down Friday, seven fellows now belong to one more organization than they did Thursday. These seven were the ones who survived the Y Club initiation ceremonies.

Practically the entire Y Club membership turned out to welcome with open arms, thick paddles, and a few other things, the seven new members. This welcoming ceremony took place in the College gym and was a very exclusive affair, but any one of the new members will tell you that they would not have cared if no one had shown up for the festivities.

The new members included Fred Winters, Don Ebaugh, Manuel Martinez, Victor Suazo, Bob Miller, Paul Embree, and Cecil Walker.

Ah well, next year it's your turn.

Juniors Honor Seniors At Banquet

Tribute was paid to the American Indian's way of life when seniors and juniors of York College met about the tables in the college church Friday evening for the dinner tendered by the juniors to the graduating class. Reminders of the people who inhabited these plains long before York College was dreamed of were found in the table appointments and the meal was served by Indian maidens in camp attire. Approximately one hundred were seated for the meal, the guest list including members of both classes and wives and sweethearts, Prof. Danker, sponsor of the senior class, and Dean and Mrs. A. H. Bergen, with Miss Zelda Wakelin, sponsor of the juniors.

The welcome to the seniors was extended by George Harris who served as toastmaster. John Holm, president of the senior class, responded to the greeting. The program, which was built about the Indian theme, was largely musical. Miss Lois Miller was responsible for the continuity and told the story which introduced the songs and instrumental numbers. Songs were given by the trio composed of the Misses Joyce Klingman, Evelyn Thomas and Barbara Benfer and by Miss Janet Wright. Miss Evelyn Thomas played a piano selection and Miss Norma Isley gave a reading.
