Porter Presents "Berkeley Square" As Senior Recital

As her senior dramatic recital, Francis Porter presented the three act play "Berkeley Square" by John L. Balderston Monday, November 27.

The story is a delightful fast moving comedy of a young American who goes to London to live in a house he has inherited that once belonged to his great-grandfather. The plot is woven around the fact that this young man has conquered the fourth dimension—time—and goes back to the eighteenth century to live the life of his great-grandfather.

Assisting with Miss Porter's recital were Herbert Kamm who sang, "O Dry Those Tears" Del Reigo, "A Spirit Flower" Campbell Tipton, "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" Blaufuss, "Gypsy Love Song" Herbert, "Little Jack Horner" Diack, "Kashmiri Song" Finden, and Evelyn Thomas, accompanist. David Miller and Charles Emerick acted as ushers.

Miss Porter is a student of Miss Irene Shipley, of the speech and dramatic art department.

L. Miller Recital Set for Dec. 10

A variation from the usual expression recital has been planned by Lois Miller, senior from Dawson, Nebraska. On Sunday, December 10, at 3:30 p. m. She will give selections from Winnie the Pooh by A. A. Milne, a book that has been enjoyed by many youngsters.

Miss Miller intends to work with elementary school age children upon graduation. Miss Irene Shipley is her instructor.

Woelfle-Phelps Nuptials Announced

Now included among the rank and file of married couples on the campus, are Mary Woelfle, senior, Loveland, Colo. and Vernon Phelps, junior, Berryton, Kansas. In a ceremony on Nov. 12 at the Loveland Evangelical United Brethren Church, they were united, in the presence of many relatives and friends.

Several Y. C. students traveled the distance to be present at the ceremony.

Both Mary and Vernon plan to continue in school, making their residence in an apartment near the college.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT STORY DATED FOR DECEMBER 17th

Messiah Cancelled For 1950 Season

Departing from the accepted tradition of presenting the Messiah during the Christmas season, as has been customary at York for years, a dramatic presentation of the Christmas story in pageant and tableau will be given at the city auditorium, Sunday night, Dec. 17, at 8:15.

Illustrating the Christmas story told by Luke and prophesied by Isaiah an effective combination of tableau and pageantry will be under the direction of Professor Koontz, head of the music department. Colorful background music will be provided by a choir of fifty seated directly below stage at the front of the auditorium. It will include many favorite Christmas carols.

Choir Makes Pre-Season Tour

The College Touring Choir made their first out of town appearance on November 19, when they presented concerts at Norfolk and Fremont, Nebraska.

The morning concert at Norfolk was presented in the Evangelical United Brethren Church of that city and was aired over station WJAG. The afternoon concert was also presented in the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Fremont, Nebraska.

The concerts included "LAMB OF GOD," "A LEGEND," "OH BREAD OF LIFE," "HOSANNA," "HAIL OUR REDEEMER," "LO HOW A ROSE," "GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD," and a Negro Spiritual, "SOON' AH WILL BE DONE."

Following each concert the choir was the guest of the churches for the noon and evening meals.

Y. C. Players Debut, Dec. 8th

In their first production of the season, the York College Players will present "In The Spring The Sap . . ."

Under the direction of Prof. James Koontz, the fifteen cast members will take their places at the city auditorium next Friday at 8:00 p. m.

Written by Guernsey Le Pelley, the play is a farce in three acts.

Cast members are as follows: Rosemary Jordan, Beloit, Kans.; Justina Peters, Henderson; Ruth Ann Schmucker, Sterling, Kans.; Les Hazen, The Dalles, Ore.; Betty Auchard, York; Cora Marquez, Los Alamos, N. Mex.; Jim Potter, Peetz, Colo.; John Coover, Parsons, Kans.; Melvin Brawn, Le-Mesa, Calif.; Cecil Walker, Santa Cruz, N. Mex.; Betty Robinett, Riverdale, Calif.; Margaretta Miller, York; Alta Aldrich, Longmont, Colo.

The story will be read by Lester Hazen, junior, The Dalles, Oregon, and dramatized in three scenes: The Announcement, The Shepherd Scene, and The Manger Scene. Effective lighting, make up, and staging, with elaborate and colorful costuming contribute to the beauty of the Christmas Story. A candlelight processional will also lend to the Christmas atmosphere.

Y. C. Budget Up 56 Per Cent

Meeting in the second quadrennial session of the merged church and the 37th of the former bodies, the recent General Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church convened in Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 10-20. It was also the sesquicentennial of the formal organization of the two churches which merged in 1946. The results of union are reflected in greater spiritual and individual achievements than those registered before union.

The number of episcopal districts was reduced from 9 to 7, with considerable boundary changes resulting. York College has as its constituent area the former Southwest and Pacific Districts as formerly constituted.

In the light of inflationary conditions and the task of a growing church, the budget of the general church was necessarily increased. For instance the budget appropriation for York College was increased from $22,500 per annum to $35,000. In addition, a special offering beyond the budget was authorized for College and Seminary Day, the third Sunday of September each year with a goal of $100,000 and York receiving 15% of the amount raised. It is obvious from this manifest interest in our educational institutions that the church attaches great importance to our colleges and seminaries as agencies in the total program of the church.

Hey You!

Just an additional reminder to those interested in entering the Christmas Contest. You can contribute in any of the three classes—Poetry, Essay, Short Story—but remember the December 5th deadline.

If you can scrawl, peck at the typewriter, or write Palmer Method, you are eligible. LET'S MAKE IT A GOOD CHRISTMAS ISSUE.

Clinic Scheduled For Mid January

York's annual Choral Clinic is one of the highlights of the college year. Professor Koontz, head of the music department announces January 19-20 as the date set for the coming event. Hayes Fuhr, Director of Music at Hastings College, will be conductor at the Choral Clinic. As is customary, the Choral Clinic rehearses on Friday and Saturday, then on Saturday evening a final concert is given at the city auditorium.

The purpose of such a clinic is to attract high school talent to an interest in college music. It helps stimulate an interest in choral music in small schools in this area. Joining the many other students participating in the Choral Clinic is also beneficial for members of the college music department, giving them an opportunity to sing with a larger group under the direction of a conductor like Hayes Fuhr.

This year's Choral Clinic will be larger than in previous years, being attended by approximately a hundred more students. Music students from surrounding towns come to York to participate in the two-day clinic, including Hampton, Seward, Bradshaw, Geneva, Wilbur, DeWitt, Fairmont, Benedict, Western, Shickley, Aurora, McCool, Polk; also York High School and St. Joseph.

York anticipates a group of over 300 high school students here Jan. 19-20, attending the Choral Clinic. The local Chamber of Commerce is aiding in the production of this clinic.

Stauffacher Heads Southwest Area

During the week of November 12-19, C. H. Stauffacher was assigned bishop for this Southwest area by the General Conference of the E. U. B. Church which was held at the Memorial Hall in Dayton, Ohio, November 10-20.

The Bishops are elected by the Conference and then a special Stationing Committee assigns them to their episcopal area. Bishop Stauffacher's area includes the states of Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Being Bishop of the Evangelical Church since 1934, he has served as president of the Council of The Evangelical Church, Sunday School and Tract Union; and Board of Trustees of the Western Old People's Home, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Bishop Stauffacher is quite familiar to most Nebraskans. He is an annual speaker at Riverside Park, Milford, Nebraska, and was Bishop for this area for the former Evangelical group.

Olivier's Hamlet Shown in Seward

For the special benefit of literature students and lovers—and especially Shakespeare followers—was the recent showing of Laurence Olivier's film release of one of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies, Hamlet, in the Seward theater. Shown to capacity crowds in four performances, it enjoyed but a day and one-half stand in this neighboring town. Many Y. C. students and faculty members took advantage of this opportunity prior to Thanksgiving vacation.

Results of the traditional election of Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man were revealed Tuesday evening, at the annual football banquet held at the college church. Miss Frances Porter of Aurora and Charles Emerick of Portland, Oregon, shared the honors.

Miss Porter, chosen on the basis of personality, pep, athletic interest, and support of the Y. C. Team, is a senior. She is an expression major and through her college years has been active in Zetas, Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., Chapel Choir, touring choir, and Student Council. She was a nominee for Homecoming Queen and a loyal supporter of the team.

Emerick is also a senior and is majoring in biology and chemistry. He is a pre-med student whose college activities include the Y club, Zetas, Student Council, and the Panther Club. Chuck, a half-back especially good on defense, played on the B team his first year and has been playing with the varsity the last three years.

Emerick Sukovaty Co-Captains

Co-captains elected for the 1950 Panther squad were Charles Emerick and Charles Sukovaty, Powell. Playing at Fairbury Junior College before coming to York, Sukovaty showed good work at guard this season. Chuck is a political science major, a Zeta and has been active in baseball and basketball. Both fellows played on intra-mural basketball teams last year.

Lois Miller Engaged

Announcement was made earlier this week of the engagement of Miss Lois Miller, to Mr. Bob Stevens of Dawson, Nebr. Miss Miller is a senior and also from Dawson. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Miller.

The Educated Heart

Have you an educated heart? By that it isn't meant that your heart has a little tag attached to it that says A. B., M. A., Ph. D, but a heart that loves and respects its neighbors . . . a thoughtful heart, one that causes you to do the little necessary things before you're asked to do them. The kind of heart that causes you to send the little gift to an almost forgotten friend that has that touch of special friendship to it. A heart that remembers the small likes and dislikes of friends when they least expect it. Or the heart that will listen to someone talk or just be with someone when that sad heart is lonely.

The educated heart doesn't necessarily do great things in a great way, but little things so that they are remembered for themselves alone. An educated heart respects first of all the rights of others before his own comfort. It is not a braggart but a comforter and companion. The type of heart that needs not words to express its feeling. It is not prejudiced or heretic for it respects the beliefs and honors the ideals of others.

Many souls are there with the essence of an educated heart. Such alone is the hope of the world. For truly in the educated heart and considerate soul rests the destiny of the likes of us.

Faculty After Four

Members of our faculty do not spend all their time after hours either grading papers, giving speeches or planning tests for next week. They have some fun too, and some even have hobbies. Would you like to know about them?

Did you know that Mr. Holm of the education department, and Miss Mary Lue Warner, Secretary to the President, are ardent stamp collectors?

We have three camera fiends on the faculty, Mr. Zerwekh, chemistry department, Mr. Sears, psychology department and Mr. Huebert of the English department.

Mr. Bergen, department of sociology, is a great hunting fan, but seriously his hobby is farming. You will see him frequently reading farm magazines when he isn't reading about economics.

Collections of vases, stamps, and recipes are the hobbies that interest Miss Helen Jo Polk, College Treasurer. Miss Polk confesses that she collects other things but that these three are the orderly collections which she maintains.

President Bachman has a bag of golf clubs in his office. Do you suppose that they could have anything to do with a hobby. And speaking of sports, did you notice the Zerwekhs at the YM-YW skate? Mrs. Roberts (Mrs. Coach) was doing all right on the wheels that night.

Ge, this is fun; I'm finding out all about the faculty. See you next issue if I can get any more information.

Dietician's Job To Keep Y. C. Students Happy

If York students and faculty were to take a vote to determine the busiest person on the campus, it would undoubtedly go to none other than Mrs. Ella Sill, dietician and chef.

After five unsuccessful attempts, your reporter finally cornered this active little body. During the interview, Madame Sill, never idle, busied herself ironing dishtowels etc., and answering her telephone. Mrs. Sill is proud to announce that the kitchen is going to have new plastic vegetable dishes.

It takes a lot of food to feed a family of over 100, our dietician will quickly assure you. For example, for breakfast Monday morning 208 pancakes were consumed, 2 gallons of cooked cereal was devoured, not including prepared cereals. Likewise, purchases must be large—recently Mrs. Sill bought 538 lbs. of turkey and 610 lbs. of chicken.

Mrs. Sill and the kitchen help wish to express their appreciation to the ladies for the tea towels; to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Estey, York, for vegetables; to Mr. and Mrs. W. Lewis, York, for vegetables; to Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Jordan, Beloit, Kan., for jam; to the Kin-kade bakery for rolls; to the boys in the dining hall for scraping and stacking their dishes; to the students and faculty for their cooperation.

BOOK RAMBLINGS

by Rachow

Attention Damon Runyon fans! Trials and Other Tribulations begins with the Halls-Mills murder trial on November 3, 1926, and ends with the unprecedented examination of the world banking affair of J. Pierpont Morgan before a sub-committee of the United States senate, complete with circus midget.

The editors have made every effort to retain the full flavor of Runyon's style while eliminating the inevitable repetitions of newspaper stories.

Perhaps you are looking for a list of the 2000 great books of all countries and all times from the Code of Hammurabi and the Hindu Vegas to Roosevelt and Hopkins and Death of a Salesman.

Thesaurus of Book Digests, compiled by Hiram Haydn and Edmund Fuller is your answer. There is a synopsis of each book, giving plot and description of characters in the case of fiction, a clear exposition of the contents in the case of philosophical, scientific, religious, and other works. In addition the essential information concerning it is given—date of publication, critical or historical importance, etc.

For those interested in religion and the public schools Virgil Henry presents a clear picture in his book, The Place of Religion in Public Schools. He argues that it has proved practical in well-administered public schools to emphasize moral and spiritual values without injecting any sectarian bias.

Attention is given to Curriculum content, to the training of teachers, to community preparation and to the organized methods of promoting the entire program.

Written with an eye to taste, utility, and budget needs is Elizabeth Ogg's Decorating the Small Apartment. This compact guide to small-scale decorating is amply provided with pictures, diagrams and specifications for the young couple, the career girl, the bachelor, and the college girl.

A Lot About Nothing

by Bill

Fellow students, teachers, and fan club. We are now at the time of year that is called a lapse, between holidays. In case you wondered, a lapse is what a cat sits on when it jumps on you.

This time of the year is when drug stores have much to rejoice over. People all over our fair land eat oversized dinners and expect to get relief with undersized pills. In connection with this, according to a doctor's report, one-half of all the people that suffer from over eating eat too much.

The proof reader is giving me a bad time. I told her this was the elite type of material but she said it wasn't and thought I was a pica-r. Now this may not be standard but neither is it portable.

I read an interesting article on nudists the other day. They can really celebrate Thanksgiving. No shoes or clothes to buy and they never have to worry about pick pockets.

During this time of the year I think we do more reading such as newspapers, magazines and, of course, the advertisements. I saw a couple of good ones the other day. One sign in a department store read, "Make your Christmas money stretch, get him suspenders." Another sign made these statements, "Does he like simple, humorous objects? Does he like something light and filmy? Give him your picture." If you can see any images in this, fine; if not, have it enlarged but don't frame me.

That's all for now, and remember, when a person says a statement goes in one ear and out the other it may be there is nothing to stop it.

CHAPEL NOTES

by Robert Herrick

The Rev. Earl Conover addressed the chapel on the 13th of November, as a representative of the International Christian University project. This University is to be erected in Japan. The Japanese are torn between Right and Left forces, and " . . . if we are not on our toes, one or the other will win out," was one of the reasons for such a project as the ICU, as given by Mr. Conover.

Another reason for the promulgation of an endeavor such as this was presented on the statement that, " . . . the people of Japan have always had authorities around that are ready to give answers. A school such as the ICU would greatly add to our program of instilling the ideas of discussion among the natives.

The challenging story of how many people of other religions are helping in this project because, while they don't agree with the Christian religion, they believe that it offers the best means of rebuilding their war-wracked country, should lead every student to help in promoting ICU.

The students not only dominated, but completely presented the program for formal chapel. "A service of Praise and Thanksgiving" included several hymns of thanks by the choir and congregation. Those participating in the program besides the Chapel Choir and accompanist were: Frances Porter, reading the scripture; Dean Strong, who gave the prayer and the benediction; Lois

A MOUSE'S EYE VIEW

Not being poetically inclined I'll limit my contribution to prose. After all, mice aren't supposed to be poets. Poet or not though, I've surely learned a lot about what happened over vacation.

Over at Middlebrook Hall a couple of new meteorites fell and landed on that certain finger of Lois Miller and Phyllis Rabuck. You should have heard Lois when they put her in the shower.

Violet Salazar has been quite busy since the holiday telling everyone about St. Louis, Mo., and the nice vacation she spent there. She spent the vacation with her brother and from all reports had a super-fine time.

Students staying in York for the vacation had their Thanksgiving dinner on Friday evening at Middlebrook Hall. About twenty fellows and girls enjoyed the dinner prepared by Miss Savery, Betty Creech, Rozella Schultz, and Marjorie Teinert. Say fellows, those gals are mighty good cooks. I know, cause I sneaked a few crumbs when no one was looking.

Didn't see much of the faculty over this week-end but they seem to have managed pretty well—at least, they don't look undernourished. In fact, everyone seems to have maintained their health so Thanksgiving wasn't so bad after all. Even I managed nicely with some crumbs. If Tom the cat stays away I'll be around til Christmas.

An Editor's Lament

There comes a time in the life of all editors—a moment of complete desperation. What is the trouble you say? There isn't enough copy. So what happens. It must be written legally or otherwise. So who writes it? Yes, you guessed it.

Now mind you, I'm not griping. Everyone got their copy in, bless them. It's just that after that Thanksgiving vacation everyone was, for some unknown reason, exceptionally short winded. Of course this discourse is of no particular interest to anyone, but then if no one is interesting enough to make news, they will have to be subjected to copy of this nature. This space could have been occupied by some snappy little poem; but we have a poem on this page. We also have quotations. Then there is the usual amount of the lowest form of humor that continually permeates the air about this paper—corn in other words.

So we come to the last resort. That's why editorials are written.

But we must dedicate this column to something. So, quote: This article is dedicated to the most esteemed memory of those past journalists and editors of College publications who have done just such a thing as this themselves.

Miller, who read "Thanksgiving," by Swain; and Darlene Winter, who led the assemblage in a litany of Thanksgiving.

PANTHER SPORTS

Pilgrim's Panther Potpourri

We were sliding past the gym door the other day when we heard the patter of little feet and decided that basketball was finally under way. We stood around the gym for a while listening to the coach indoctrinate the boys on his methods. He told them (in substance) that they must take a lot of criticism the whole season. He said that he was there to coach and thus to criticize their movements on the hardwood court and that if a player couldn't take criticism this was not place for that player. We feel that maybe this is the shot in the arm that is needed. If the boys are willing to take the advice and criticism of the coach, little more is needed to win. We must say, however, that the will to win is a great factor.

The other day. This coach said, when asked if he thought mental attitude had anything to do with winning, "Not very much. Only about 95%!" We have a hunch that this may be all too true. Upsets are made by teams who, although they may not be as good athletically as their opponents, have the right outlook on their own ability to win.

We take our hats off to (1) Frank Wooters who wound up the pigskin season as the team's number 1 scorer, (2) to the people who finally got York in a conference their own size, and (3) to the two Chucks, Emerick and Sukovaty, who were honorary football co-captains.

Hearing a famous coach discouraging on the ability of a team to win set the old cogs in motion

Next issue, a letter from Joe Colledge on basketball — win or lose.

York Gives NCC Good Bye at Last In Favor of Church College Conference

It used to be the N double C around the York College campus when the conference of which the local club was a member, but now it will be the four C conference. York has dropped the old Nebraska College Conference and has entered the Central College Church Conference.

Instead of the state schools such as Wayne, Kearney, and Wesleyan, the Panthers will go against the other members of the C. C. C. C., Dana, Concordia, and Tarkio. No longer must the York teams go against clubs much stronger in manpower and reserves, but rather they will be playing schools which are more their own size.

8 Lettermen Return to Squad

Attention, basketball fans! The hardwood season is here and York is already setting about ways and means of achieving a winning five. Everybody that survives the cuts are potential starters but here are the early season favorites.

- Y Carl Bott, Alexander, Kans., 5-10, 180 lbs., F. Sr.
- Y Allen Dunn, Grand Island, 5-8, 155 lbs., F. Sr.
- Y Don Ebaugh, Superior, 5-11, 168 lbs., G. Soph.
- Y Gene Larsen, Hampton, 5-11, 172 lbs., F. Soph.
- Y Bill Soukup, Geneva, 5-7, 145 lbs., G. Soph.
- Y Bill Watkins, York, 5-11, 140 lbs., F. Jr.
- Y Don Watson, York, 5-10, 156 lbs., F. Sr.
- Y Frank Wooters, Broken Bow, 66-1, 185 lbs., F. Jr.
- Dick Callahan, York, 6-1½, 165 lbs., C. Soph.
- Larry Thorson, San Diego, Calif., 6-0, 165 lbs., G. Soph.
- Mic Steen, Canyon City, Colo., 6-0, 155 lbs., Freshman.
- Dick Brooke, York, 6-2, 150 lbs., C., Jr.

A good deal of switching around may be done but these boys have started to show promise early.

W. A. A. Initiates Volleyball Season

With the advent of basketball in the male set at Y. C., the girls have decided to center their attention on volleyball.

Under the co-sponsorship of Miss Wakelin and Miss Anderson, the W. A. A. has been spending its evenings at the gym playing both volleyball and basketball.

Later in the season plans are for more volleyball and basketball, badminton, shuffleboard, soccer, and a few social activities.

Rule Changes In Basketball

The round ball season is here and the sound of the ball swishing through the net will fill the air. There are rules, of course, in any game and basketball is no exception.

First and most important rule change was the throwing out of the foul rule in the last two minutes of play. The rule stated that the team fouled got the free shot and then the ball out of bounds. This change will make the game in doubt until the final whistle.

Other important changes are the stopping of the clock on any jump ball. Substitutes may enter the game only when the ball is dead and the clock is not running. There is no official time-out in second and fourth quarters of high school games. All special rules of the last two minutes of the 2nd half have been removed.

The player with a personal foul shall raise his hand above his head. An additional free throw is awarded for a foul committed without reasonable effort to avoid contact.

Sukovaty and Emerick, Pigskin Vets, Chosen Football Co-Captains for 1950

Charles Sukovaty

Charles Emerick

Two Chucks, Emerick and Sukovaty, were chosen the honorary co-captains of the York College football team at the close of the season. Both are seniors — Emerick being a back and Sukovaty a guard.

Emerick, a 155 pound fullback, was one of the greatest defensive standouts on the team. His shoe-string tackles brought admiring comments from various sources in the stands. Few if any men got past Chuck who was alert and vicious on every play. Troubled by a sore knee the whole season, he was helped from the field many times, only to return again as good and as tough as ever.

The other Chuck, Chuck Sukovaty, was what is commonly known as a five by five guard. In a football suit he looked as broad as he was tall. His sparkling line play, both offensively and defensively made him a player to be contended with. He was tough in the tight spots and cool in a crisis.

To many of the students on the York campus, there could be no better choice than these two seniors who have strapped on a pair of shoulder pads for the last time.

Press Guild Hears Editor Al Huber

The Press Guild met for its regular monthly business and social meeting, Tuesday, November 14, in the Middlebrook Hall reception room.

After a short business session, Al Huber, editor of the York Daily News-Times spoke to the group about the problems encountered in publishing a newspaper. He also traced the steps that a story goes through before it appears in the paper.

At the close of the meeting pop and donuts were served by the hostesses, Carol Denton and Alberta Frost.

Pantin' Panthers Have New Problem

While the newly organized Pantin' Panthers stay the lull between football and basketball seasons they are meeting a new problem, that of finding the best emblem for their jackets. At the last meeting, a panther head was presented to the group but rejected for the present because of the absence of a long red tongue which the group felt—due to the organization's name—should protrude from the Panther's mouth.

A committee of four, George Landis, Seward; Herb Kamm, Platte Center; Bill Wortman, Vancouver, Wash., and Gene Weaver, York, was appointed to further investigate the matter of the emblem. By basketball season, the group promises to be decked out in complete uniforms, white trousers, blue jackets, and new emblems.

Music Featured At LWR Meeting

"He has passed this way" was the poignant title of the meditation presented by Violet Meidinger, freshman, Fallon, Montana, at Life Work Recruits, November 11.

Preceding the meditation, Norman Allen, freshman, Riverdale, California, read the scripture and offered prayer.

Clair Marvel, senior, sang a solo entitled "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

The meeting closed with a duet by Phyllis and Bruce Rabuck, sophomore and freshman, respectively, from Coon Rapids, Iowa.

Rabuck-Mathis Engagement Told

Announcement was made recently of the engagement of Miss Phyllis Rabuck, sophomore, Coon Rapids, Iowa, to Jack Mathis, senior, Parsons, Kansas. The news was revealed to relatives and friends at Thanksgiving time.

No immediate plans for marriage were indicated. Mr. Mathis plans to enter Bonebrake Theological Seminary in 1951 and Miss Rabuck intends to complete her schooling before marrying.

Atomic Control Discussed at IRC

Atomic energy control was the subject at the last International Relations Club. Film slides were viewed and discussion followed on the various phases of proposed atomic planning.

Several members are making plans to attend a state conference of I. R. C.'s in Lincoln at the university, December 9. This is a convention to help out-state clubs organize their general program for a wider outlook.
