

Let's Beat Concordia

Student Migration Set for Tonight

We are going to Concordia tonight to see our Panthers win their first league game. The coach and the team are going to live up to their side of the bargain so it is up to us to do our part.

A list of most of the yells to be used are printed below so if you don't know them learn them. For this game you may take your "Burr" but anyone studying or letting your interest stray is taboo. Let's really back the boys and show that we want the win as badly as they do.

Coach Mark Haight

Panthers Set for Teachers; 9 Lettermen Starting for York

As the Panthers got the 1951 season under way with a 26-7 win over Sioux Falls Braves' Coach Haight got the first look at the team under fire. The first game jitters produced some rough spots which shall be wiped out. A practice under the lights is scheduled for this week and more "wind sprints" will be forthcoming.

Opener Revealed Rough Spots
The opener displayed some hard, rough, and tricky football. Tonight's contest should show more of the same. This will be a tougher game, and featured by the opposition is a hard, elusive back named Kaiser. The Panthers are expected to counter with Frank Wooters and company.

The probable starting lineup for the offensive will be:

*Glahn, LE	73
*Mann, LT	76
*Speece, LG	62
*Allen, C	72
*D. Miller, LH	56
*Thorson, RE	68
*Smith, RT	68
*Walker, RG	78
Stone, QB	65
*Wooters, RH	66
Paine, FB	71
* Lettermen.

THE SANDBURR

NO DROP IN ENROLLMENT; FRESHMAN, LARGEST CLASS

No Drop from Last Year; Students from 16 States and Africa

Final enrollment figures released this week show 178 students indicating only a very small drop from last year, with 59 enrolled as freshmen. The sophomore class numbers 46 while the junior and senior classes have 34 and 30 students respectively. Nine students are enrolled as special students carrying less than twelve hours.

Twelve denominations—Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Catholic, Baptist, Mennonite, Christian, Friends, Nazarene and Episcopal as well as Evangelical United Brethren are included in the student body. Over sixty-seven percent of the student body are members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Also represented by the student body are seventeen states and one foreign country. Included in this list are students from Louisiana, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Dakota, Oregon, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Missouri, Oklahoma, Washington, Iowa, Montana, California, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska. Africa is the only non-continental area from which students have enrolled.

These figures do not represent the decrease which has been anticipated by most of the other schools in this section of the nation.

Y. F. Retreats To Riverside Park

The college Youth Fellowship banded together Sunday afternoon September 30 to retreat to Riverside Park at Milford. Over 50 students and sponsors spent an afternoon and evening of recreation and fellowship.

Leaving for the camp at 1:45 p. m. they arrived there about 3:00 p. m. and started off the afternoon with recreation.

At 4:30 the group joined in a singspiration followed by the Commission Organization and program planning.

From 5:30 to 7:00 the time was devoted to lunch and recreation. At 7:30 the campfire was held with Professor James Koontz as speaker.

Ground Breaking Foreseen By High Church Officials

Three-fifths of Goal Realized; Materials Are Placed on Order

Ground breaking this fall for the construction of a new York College administration building became more of a reality after a meeting held here Wednesday, September 26, of the highest officials of the Evangelical United Brethren church.

Steel, copper and aluminum which would be needed to complete the structure were placed on order last June. Now with three-fifths of the goal already realized in cash and pledges the situation looks extremely favorable.

The church hierarchy praised strongly the support by the York community given to the college. Led by three bishops those who were here for the meeting were Bishop C. H. Stauffacher, Kansas City, president of the York College Board of trustees; Bishop Fred L. Dennis, Dayton, Ohio; Bishop David T. Gregory, Pittsburg, Pa.; the conference superintendents from Kansas, Dr. Donovan Smith, Salina, and Dr. A. V. Howland, Kansas City, Kansas; Dr. O. T. Deever, Dayton, general secretary of the board of Evangelism; Dr. R. H. Mueller, Dayton, general secretary of the board of Christian education; Dr. Stanley B. Williams, associate secretary of the department of church extension.

Church Receives Student Body

On last Thursday evening the congregation of the college church honored the students and faculty of York College at its annual reception in the church parlors. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ray Cotner of York. A large group in attendance participated in group singing led by Mrs. Charles Boone and party games after the program. Refreshments were served.

Out of town guests who were introduced were: Bishop Stauffacher, Kansas City, Kans.; Dr. Stanley B. Williams, Kansas City, Kansas; Bishop Fred L. Dennis, Dayton, Ohio; Dr. O. T. Deever, Dayton, Ohio; Dr. Rueben Mueller, Dayton, Ohio; and Dr. Paul Porter, Aurora.

Philippine Grad Visits Campus

Arriving at York College last night were Dr. and Mrs. Rufino Macagba of North Luzon in the Philippine Islands. One of the mission products of the E. U. B. Church Rufino graduated from Y. C. in 1924 later doing graduate work at the University of Nebraska.

He and his wife will stay on campus at the dormitory until Monday when they leave for California. Dr. Macagba is in the U. S. studying new medical techniques to use in his own hospital in San Fernando, North Luzon. He has been so far to the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota and research centers in Massachusetts.

Sunday, Dr. Macagba will speak on his war experiences in the Philippines.

Homecoming Preview

Homecoming this year is on October 26, just three weeks from today. Plans are underway for a bang up Homecoming which will include the traditional parade, contests and football game. The climax will come when the Queen of Homecoming and her court are presented to the Homecoming crowd and the student body.

Yankton College, Yankton, South Dakota, will be the prey of an inspired Panther eleven as they meet on Homecoming evening.

This year's fete promises to be a treat for alumni, friends, and students alike.

Ode to Honorable Men with apologies . . .

Friends, Noblemen, and Upperclassmen:

Lend me your ears:
I come to defend the Freshmen, not to praise them. The evil they do is not much, the good is oft interpreted wrongly. So has it been with the Freshmen.

The noble Hazen has told you the freshmen are insubordinate; if it were so, it was a grievous fault.

And grievously have the freshmen answered it. Here under leave of Hazen and the rest, for Hazen is an honorable man.

So are they all, al honorable men.

Come I to speak in Freshmen behalf.

They are my friends, faithful and just to me.

But Hazen says they are insubordinate; and Hazen is an honorable man.

They have paid much homage to the upperclassmen.

Their tuitions did the general coffers fill.

Does this in Freshmen seem insubordinate?

When that the upperclassmen have cried; the freshmen have wept.

Insubordination should be made of sterner stuff.

Yet Hazen says that they are insubordinate.

And Hazen is an HONORABLE man!

My Sister Is An Idiot!

by Diane Blauch

My little sister is an idiot. So are all her friends. I feel qualified to make such a statement after years of association with them. It worries me that the parents aren't more concerned about what is happening to their children.

None of them can even make reasonably dignified entrances into the "Blauch Motel." One of her buddies, whom they call "Knucklehead," for obvious reasons, is seized with fits of hysterical giggling the moment she steps inside the door. She sputters an unintelligible "hello," then cackles through the house until she reaches my sister's bedroom. Upon her arrival, they combine efforts, and the ring of deafening guffaws makes natural conversation impossible for the rest of the family.

"Knucklehead" isn't the only one, however, that finds everything so hilarious. At the slightest provocation, they burst into gales of laughter—especially on the telephone.

It is during these conversations that I curse the day Alexander Graham Bell was born. I hear: "Really kid?" "Oh kid!" "Honestly kid, he didn't!" "Heavens kid," and "Oh murder, kid!" Sometimes I feel tempted to do that very thing.

My little sister occasionally entertains her gang formally (and I use the term loosely). That is, she invites them. Surprisingly enough, they arrive acting reasonably normal. It is insensate to assume that they will continue to act the same way. In five minutes, they are transformed into screaming, ravenous monsters consuming huge amounts of any food they can get their hands on. As they leave, all of them say the required, "thank you, I had a nice time." But they forget to add "Wrecking your house and driving you berserk."

We're a miserable lot, having to put up with not only my little sister but also her gang.

Gags From A Cell Mate!

By Bill

Hi 'ya inmates—That is why this is called an institution. It will probably interest you to hear that the trustees are attempting to get rid of our rockpile. With the high percentage of marriages and engagements, it is expected that all sentences of hard labor will be commuted. At the 9:40 roll call we may hear more on this subject.

Subjects have progressed far enough to have the thought of tests placed before us. A test is for the students benefit as it enables him to see if the teacher can pick out the questions that he has not studied on, a subject he knows nothing about. While we are talking of studies, some claim most of the subjects are for only one Major and that is Major Nuisance. I know lots of people who live in General disorder. Some are blown up like the well known pop-corn kernel, and yet some of the most important people have offices marked Private.

Football this year is featuring three platoons. You have all heard of Offense and Defense; the third is Expense. The third mentioned features the boys in the front office. These men are called Doctors because they are such cutups. With all these post season ball games the treasury department is trying to schedule a game. In this the paid amateurs will donate their services for a day. We have kicked that subject around enough so since I have passed on the latest we shall try to intercept some of the thought waves from that noted scientist, Prof. Headfullo Sawdust.

The Prof. studies people's minds but claims he is running onto subject and gray matter. We just picked this thought (??) for closing. "It is a good thing to have men who study people's minds but it is better to have people with minds to study."

The Phrase that Refreshes

by Robert Herrick

The Editor said that more material is needed to take up space. This is a result of that statement. This is an article, or feature, or what ever you want to call it in private, that is going to be written regularly. That means, as often as I feel like throwing it together. If it is not thrown back at me by the Editor, it will be printed as regularly as it is written.

The only way on earth to multiply happiness is to divide it.—Paul Scherer.

It may not always be a phrase; sometimes it may be a word, a sentence, a paragraph, or a poem. I am sure of only one thing—it may not always be a phrase. It may not even be refreshing.

Formula for contentment: Just think how happy you'd be if you lost everything you have right now—and then got it back again.—Leonard M. Leonard.

Joyce King—Not being able to talk to Wayne.
Jack Atkinson—Showoffs.
Francis Amon—Backseat drivers.

"Leonard M. Leonard," hmmm? I could lower myself to making a bad joke about his mother who stuttered, but I am reminded of an old maxim I just happen to have on a notecard at my side. It asserts that "Wit should be used as a shield for defense, not as a sword to wound others."

Say, will you get Bill Ellison to tell you the joke about the "horse that walked down the street?" It is a dilly one—very sour.

I will try to keep this column free of "gobbledygook." An example of what I plan to keep out of this time-killer is the doctor who diagnosed his patient as having, ". . . bilateral perobital hematoma and left subjunctival hemorrhage." What he meant was that the guy had two black eyes. That is gobbledygook.

If this ever gets in the Sandburr it will be an interesting experiment to see how effectively one can fill space with nothing.

Bill Gardner — Upperclassman women.
Well these are some of the pet peeves around Y. C. Do any of them apply to you?

Pictured above, below, and to the right are a few shots taken during freshman court proceedings. Above, Judge Les Hazen, is seen as he applies the hickory to a cooperative freshman. The other pictures are of the wedding party.

You Don't Say!

by Betty Robinett

On a recent survey around York College the question came up, "What is your pet peeve?" First I will give my pet peeve, which I found out to be the same as Jo Anne Seymour's. Our pet peeve is Jim Potter's memory. (cheer leading tryouts.) Betty Ruth and Jo Anne.

Now we have some more pet peeves. See if any of these are the same as yours:

Irma Kratz—People who pop gum.

Bill Woelfe—When 'Prospect' sleeps on my side of the bed.

Dorothy Johnson—Not getting a letter every day from Kieth.

Rolland Allison — Having to wait on someone.

Betty Bradberry—People who pretend they are something they aren't.

Herb Kamm—People who ask if you are hurt when you fall.

Patty Chaney—Upperclassmen!

Paul Edie—Crooked stocking seams on girls.

Ruthie Wortman—These fellows that wear their ties so neatly (?)

Jack Tatro—All the girls I want to go with are going steady.

Pat Taylor—Boys who tell you your stocking seams are crooked.

Eugene Littler—Customers.

Jackie Morton—Husbands to be who break their ankles two night before the wedding. (Rick?)

Ruben Lopez—The Judge at freshman court.

Ardie Wiebe—People with superior airs.

Lowell Johnson—People that want me to wake them up when the sermon is over.

A Winning Stand

This is a sermon to the stands. Have you ever been playing in a game only to have someone on either side not co-operate. When this occurred? the game was made unpleasant for all concerned. This lack of interest is the cause of "Grand Stand Deadpans." Various causes are given for this such as: "We've lost anyhow so why bother," or "This one is in the bag so don't worry." Last year we used the first mentioned and in the first of this year the crowd seems to be willing to slip back in the rut.

We blame the team when we lose, but if they played like the yelling from the stands there have been times when the score would have been worse than any of us care to think about.

This year the team has shown more spirit and fight up to this time than we of the stands put forth in a year. Now the Coach, the Team, and if it means any more I promise you a winning season so let's yell like winners. Join the pep organizations and back your team.

It has been a long time since we have had winning ball teams and I think it has been just as long since we have had winning stands. This year's Freshman Class shows more enthusiasm than any for a long time so join right in and let's all have a big year.

Campus Cholly

Hi Folks:

Here I am again with all the low down on everything? Say, before I forget, did you see who Leonard Hammar was out with last Saturday night? And Fessler on Friday night?

Speaking of Fessler, reminds me of his former roommate Eugene Miller '50 who is home on leave from the army. He really looks fine.

Paul Max Biays x54 was on the campus last week-end. One Betty Robinett couldn't have had anything to do with it— or could she?

Have you seen the "Schrader Shack" sign. I bet Ed and Roszella have the most original house marker of any on the campus. It is a large original scene painted by a couple of their friends.

Looks as if the debris may all be cleared away before long. Then we will have a better view of the tennis courts from the dorm and the street. When I think of tennis, I think of Joan Heidrick and Jean Hardwick who are getting pretty good at the game.

Y. C. has a lot of representation in the stores down town. Going from one store to the next last week I found Violet Meidinger as a cashier in a dress shop, Laura Taylor, Charles Chipman, and Paul Edie as clerks in department stores, Alta Aldrich, Ramona Watkins and Arlene Watson clerking in the dime stores and a number of the fellows keeping the housewives happy by helping in the various groceries.

By the way, have you put your autograph on Rick Bode's cast yet. He's in the exclusive cast now. Hope he's the only one that is admitted this season.

Who's your choice for Homecoming Queen and for Panther Sweetheart? Those two affairs are coming up real soon. Lots of fun, floats, and fatigue.

Ask Wayne Meeker about the peanut butter sandwich and Art Speece about the "cusch." Don Megill might also tell you about the "Bioop" if you promise not to tell. These are all things of scientific value that everyone should understand.

What about the carload who saw a free movie the other evening? And about Walter Price being reprimanded by the policeman for disturbing the peace?

"Pucker, Bridget" seems to be a common expression these days. That's one thing you'll learn in choir, Ramona. But don't learn too soon, because I've heard the others like to see you blush.

So long until next time.

Campus Cholly.

Emphasis On Women's Athletics

Athletics are becoming an increasingly important part of the Y. C. women's routine this year with the athletically inclined participating in varied activities.

In the women's physical education classes Coach Mark Haight has been teaching tennis and expects to stress basketball, volleyball, and handball during the winter with some emphasis on golf toward the end of the year.

The W. A. A. girls have had several workouts on the basketball court this fall and are looking forward to some good competition within the group this year, as there are a number of girls with considerable basketball experience in high school. W. A. A. members are also working toward their awards on the tennis court, swimming, and around the ping-pong table.

Initiation for new members wishing to join the W. A. A. will be held the second Friday night in October at Miss Wakelin's. This initiation also includes a slumber party.

Wooters Flashes In Opening Game; Conditioning Pays Off for Panthers

Pantherettes Get 18 New Members

The Pantherettes of York College have accepted eighteen new members into their organization. During its first meeting the Pantherettes decided to disband the marching squad. Without the squad the organization will be able to devote more time to pep rallies and half-time activities for the games.

Those who have joined the ranks of the Pantherettes are: Joyce King, Becky Walker, Betty M. Anderson, Phyllis Harnden, Ramona Burgett, Florence Clark, Joan Heidrick, Betty Bradberry, Dorothy Johnson, Caroline Walk-up, Jackie Morton, Diane Blauch, Mary Ann Schneider, Justina Peters, Patty Chaney, Marjorie Hall, Irma Kratz and Ruth Wortman.

By playing a bang up second half to win the opener 26-7, from Sioux Falls College, Sioux Falls, S. Dak. Coach Mark Haight's boys served notice that any challenger will have to be in top physical shape. Frank Wooters displayed offensive speed and he got the necessary blocking to make him look even better as he rattled off those long runs.

The Panthers kicked off and held Sioux Falls on downs. They then carried the ball to about the thirty-five yard line where Paine went over. Wooters missed the extra point. The Panthers held the opposition several more times but finally the Braves scored and made their extra point, so the score was 7 to 6.

A and B Squad Cheer Leaders Are Selected

Cheerleaders for the coming year were elected Friday in Chapel. Jim Potter, senior, Grover, Colorado, introduced the group of candidates. They in turn led in college yells. By vote of the student body the following were elected to the A squad: Jim Potter, senior, Grover, Colorado, Joan Seymour, sophomore, Benedict; Betty Robinett, sophomore, Riverdale, California; Rolland Allison, senior, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and Jack Atkinson, junior, Enid, Oklahoma.

Leading the B squad will be Ramona Burgett, freshman, Beverly, Ken.; Marjorie Hall, freshman, Wichita, Kan.; Hope Clark, freshman, Hansell, Iowa; Joyce King, freshman, Great Bend, Kansas; Patricia Chaney, freshman, Whittier, California.

A touchdown was called back for the Panthers just before the half, thus making the score at half time 7-6.

After the second half started the ball changed hands a few times in the third quarter, then Wooters went over from his own twenty-eight. Stone made the point and Y-C took the lead 13-7. In the fourth quarter Frank scored twice more on runs of seventy and twenty-five yards respectively with Stone converting once and missing once. So the final score was 26-7.

Don Shebuski played a whale of a game as defensive line-backer along with Wooters and Bob Miller. Some very fine offensive blocking done by Dave Miller but every one played good ball. The boys were very surprised and thrilled to play the game without tiring and if they hadn't been in top condition it is doubtful if the outcome would have been the same.

I See By The Papers

Because I was assigned to write this column, I have become something of an errand boy. It is now my duty to carry all the papers on the exchange list that are left in the office with the rest of the mail from the office to the library. Oh, well... I see by the papers that:

"An Amoeba named Joe, and his brother
Were drinking a toast to each other.
In the midst of their quaffing
They split themselves laughing,
And now each of them is a mother!"

That from the North Central News.

Some man named M. V. M wrote the following ditty about 70 A. D., according to Chuck Kent in the Gustavian Weekly:

The Golden Hair that Gulla wears
Is Hers: Who would have Thought it?
She wears 'tis Hers, and True She Swears,
For I know where She Bought it.

The Hastings Collegian reports that the "... football idea appears to have originated in England in the 11th century, with a Danish skull as the first target of the booter." Isn't this evolution theory wonderful? Just think, a mere football has come from a pig-head to a pig-skin.

After casually glancing at the picture on the front page of the September 20 issue of the Wesleyan for an hour or two, I have given this useless endeavor up to the editor and will come back some day when I have enough will-power to get past that front page. Wheeeewoweeee!

—R. H.

A Formula For A Winning Season

"The score Sioux Falls 7, York 6." This score might have started us on another season but the final score of 26-7 in favor of York starts us out on a winning season. Everyone likes a winner but if you combine that trait with a second half ball team the result is a very tough team to beat.

"Those wind sprints surely paid." This sentiment was echoed many times. It is very nice to get the jump on a team and get them demoralized but in my mind it is even greater to get up off the floor and gain victory out of defeat. Some of the boys were very surprised at the difference condition makes and I would like to say here that good condition physically usually results in good condition mentally.

At the University of Nebraska, due to the 28-7 loss, there is gloom today. Individual mistakes are very plain and lack of experience is very obvious. Here at Y. C. everyone is telling each other of the big news—York won. Grandstand quarterbacks are second guessing Coach Glassford but here we are convinced Coach Haight is O. K.

Our next game is with Concordia and again we will be the visitors. We will use the same coach and the same team plus the experiences of a win and friendly crowd. This should make us a better ball team and by working together we will come home with another victory.

What About Baseball....

by Keith Megill

What a season! For the 2nd time in five years the National league is being decided by a play-off. The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants are involved in a three game series to see who joins the National league flag. The American league flag was all wrapped up by the New York Yankees once again on Sept. 28 by sweeping a double-header from the Boston Red Sox on that day.

Here is a summary of three teams. The Dodgers are said to have the greatest outfield in history with Carl Furillo in right, Duke Snider in the big field, and Andy Pafko in the left. At third the Dodgers have Billy Cox, a good-glove man, but a poor hitter, at short they have little Pee Wee Reese, at second, money-player Jackie Robinson, home-run hitter Gil Hodges at first. Behind the plate they have a great catcher in Roy Campanella. A pitching staff of Preacher Rhoe 22-4, Don Newcombe 20-9, R. Branca 14-10, Carl Erskine 16-10, and Clyde King relief ace.

The Giants have an outfield of Monte Irvin, Wille Mays, and Don Mullar. At third Bob Thomson, a converted outfielder. At short Captain Alvin Dark, at second Eddie Stanky, at first Whitey Jockman, and behind the plate Wes Westrum. A pitching staff of Sal Maglie 23-5. Larry Jansen 22-12. Jim Hearn has a 16-9 record.

The Yankees, the winner of the American league have a line-up of only one .300 hitter. In left Gene Woodling. In center Aging Joe Dimaggio and in right Micky Mantle and Hank Bour. At third they have Gil McDougal and Bobby Brown. At short, small but mighty Phil Rizzuto. At second, McCougal and Jerry Coleman. At first Joe Collins and 38 year old Johnny Mize. Behind the plate is Yogi Berra. Pitching are double no hitter Allie Reynolds, 20 game winners Eddie Lopat, and Vic Rashi.

Schrader, Herrick Chosen to Lead Life Work Recruits

Ed Schrader, Fullerton, Nebraska, and Bob Herrick, Concordia, Kansas, were elected president and vice-president respectively of Life Work Recruits at the meeting Monday evening.

An election was requested after the resignation of Darrell Anderson, Phillips, Nebraska, who felt he could not do the organization justice since he no longer lived on the campus. By a unanimous vote, Ed Schrader, who was elected vice-president last spring, succeeded Mr. Anderson, then Bob Herrick was elected to fill the vacancy.

The main speaker for the evening was Rev. W. P. Watkins, Nebraska Conference Superintendent, who spoke about "What is in Your Hands?"

And What of The Literary Society?

What of the future of the literary societies of Y. C.? The recent disbanding of both literary societies, the PALS and Zetas, has resulted in a controversy rather unique in the annals of organization history. Two of the oldest of college organizations the Zetas and PALS are two groups of united organizations which have existed as far back as the time of the old York Business College. They served as a vent for literary interests among the students and provided a social outlet just as they have in more recent time.

The feeling has become more pronounced in the last few years that they no longer fulfill the purpose for which they were established and consequently interest has lagged to

Chapel Notes

by Bob Herrick

Dr. O. T. Deever was the chapel speaker of September 27. Dr. Deever was in York to attend the meeting of the Executive Committee. He made only one comment concerning the results of the executive committee which was still in session. That comment was that the "outlook is considerable more hopeful" than it seemed at first.

Dr. Deever stated that people with strong ideals of service at high standards are only ones to lead the world out of its present situation. He spoke of the various times the apostle Paul looked into the future only to see a seemingly inevitable danger, and said, "I am ready."

The Student Body and the Faculty were congratulated for choosing a small, Christian school for their alma mater. Dr. Deever said that he believed we would be better prepared to answer "We are ready" to the call from Christ to join him in a lifetime of grueling spiritual warfare. We should be more prepared both intellectually and spiritually.

Warraties Speak To Joint YM-YW

The YW and YM had their monthly joint meeting in the reception room of Middlebrook Hall. Opening the meeting the group was led in singing "I Would Be True" by Justina Peters, Henderson, which was followed by devotions led by Violet Meidinger, Fallon, Montana.

The guest speaker for the meeting was Mr. Sylma Warratie, senior, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa. Before bringing the message Mr. and Mrs. Warratie sang two hymns in their native language. In his talk he said that if we would answer more completely the call that comes to us from God this world would be a much better place in which to live.

Kitchen Notes

From Mrs. Sill

Greetings to everyone from the kitchen!

We are so thankful for our grand student body. You can find larger student bodies but none better. I truly appreciate the willingness to help in time of need and to those on the field who have helped so much.

We have received tea towels from the Great Bend, Luray, and Fairview churches in Kansas.

We of the kitchen wish especially to thank Carol Lynn Evans, Winfield, Kansas, the six year old, for her lovely hot pads which she made on a weaving loom. We hope to have you, Carol, in the class of '64.

We received fruit and vegetables from the Esteys, Joneses, Lewises, McVeys, and the Williams sisters, and five dollars from the Hackney ladies for the juice glasses. Thanks to all.

We have been able to purchase enough plastic sauce dishes for the whole student body.

We hope to see you at Homecoming time.

Y.C. Staff Includes Four New Professors

WAMPLER, ATTIG, HEADEN, HAIGHT, NEOPHITE PROFS.

Added to the staff of the York College faculty this year are four men who come to York from each of the four directions.

Heading the math department is the professor from the east. Coming to us from Chanute, Kansas, Mr. Wampler was a member of the faculty of the Chanute public school system. He and his wife are now making their home on East Sixth.

C. J. Attig is now head of the history department and comes from Albuquerque, New Mexico. Mr. Attig received his degree from the University of Kansas and attended graduate school at the universities of Chicago and New Mexico. Previous to that he graduated from North Central College. Besides his duties of teaching he and his wife have acquired a large family since their arrival in York. They are the "house parents" of Thompson Hall. They have one son who started to kindergarten this fall.

The chemistry professor comes to us from the west. Mr. Headen received his master's degree in the University of Southern California and was making his home in Yuba City, California, until he received his position in York. His wife, who had already taken a teaching position there, will remain in Yuba City until she has completed this year.

DORMDITTIES

Mom Regenos' apartment still is as busy as ever. Almost any evening you can see girls sitting in her living room sewing or doing fancy work, and fellows just chatting and watching. Mom says we should feel at home here and we do.

The girls are busy these days fixing up their rooms to look like home. Some very striking color combinations are noted. Violet Meidinger and Phyllis Harnden have their room done in red, white, and blue. Jerry Colcher and Delores Humphries' room all done in aqua, greets you at the top of the stairs and Mabel Brandenberg and Evelyn Thomas pink and black room gives a minted effect on the opposite side of the hall. You'll have a chance to see them all on Homecoming.

Recent guests in the dormitory and on the campus include Dr. O. T. Deever, Dr. Stanley Williams, Dr. Rueben Mueller, Bishop Gregory, Bishop Dennis, and Bishop and Mrs. Stauffacher.

The ministers of the Quarterly Conference of the Methodist Churches in this area were guests in the dining room last week. We have several students serving pastorates in the Methodist Church in this district.

One popular question in the dorm is "Do you have your English?" Some of the freshmen have been burning the midnight oil over compositions and grammar exercises. Some of the upper classmen have been studying a bit in order to answer the questions they are asked without embarrassing themselves.

Predictions for the future: It's going to shower one of these nights because diamond-wearers Rosy Jordon, Jo Seymour and Jackie Morton haven't been ducked yet.

New Students Join O. B. N.; Special Project Discussed

The college O. B. N. met Thursday, September 20 at the college church. The following new students plan to join as associate members: Walter Price, Tommy Hook, Don McGill, all of Kansas; Jack Atkinson, Oklahoma, and Paul Edie, New Mexico. John Bergland, Montana, was also reinstated. Those who will become full members at the next meeting include Bill Woelfe and Morris Churchill and Andy Peterson.

Plans were discussed about having the Palo U. B. church, which is located near Thayer, moved to the college campus, the reason being that it might serve as a devotional and meeting place and also to preserve the building as it is the second oldest E. U. B. church in Nebraska. A committee of four was appointed to look into the matter to see if such an undertaking would be possible.

Both societies have disbanded with formation of a single society in mind. Will this be acceptable, is a question raised by those that have seen the failure of organized literary efforts coming for some time. Some are in favor of such a move while others express the desire to devote their time to other activities, emphasizing the over-organization prevalent on the campus now.

These are campus opinions and signs of the times. It reveals a growing desire for unity and compactness in campus organization. What will be the outcome will determine the amount of interest on campus in literary pursuit, one way or the other.
