DELEGATES RETURN FROM CONVENTION AT DETROIT, MICH.

Foreign Missions Discussed; Students of Other Lands Give Their Opinions

York College had six representatives attending the Quadrennial Student Volunteer convention held at Detroit, Michigan, December 28-Jan. 1. Miss Minta Thorp, professor of English, sponsored the group who were adventurous enough to go by auto. The students were Margaret Hill, Sybil Peters, Schuyler Phillips and Nestor Shlanta. President Emery who also attended went by train. Weather was favorable for the trip to Detroit, but heavy snow impeded the homeward journey, making them three days late for classes.

The convention was composed of nearly 4000 students from various parts of United States and Canada. England sent one student delegate while China, Japan, Korea, Africa, India were represented by students studying here in America. The great Masonic Temple afforded adequate accommodation for the large group of people in the open sessions and for the forty or more small groups which were held each morning for the purpose of discussions.

The purpose of the convention was to lay before the delegates the data concerning foreign missions. The time has come when those lands to which we have been sending missionaries are arising to speak for themselves. They are realizing their own needs. In one of the discussion groups the idea was advanced that perhaps the missionaries of China should withdraw and only those should go who were called by the Chinese and also to be supported by them. Africa came forth with her plea for a place in world affairs. India has many students in America studying economics—some were working in the Ford Motor works to gain a practical knowledge that they might return to India and institute similar industrial plants.

A spirit of give and take was strongly shown. As intricate as all the problems of international life present themselves the simple solution for them all is Christ's way of living. Mission work is to go forward though not in the same manner. We must take into consideration the value of the native civilizations and culture. We must go to learn as well as to teach. No doubt mission work is in a transited stage. It is our duty to study situations in Christian sympathy and lend our assistance when needed. We must not stop but push forward in making the world a world brotherhood.

GRANTED DEGREE

W. H. Morton '09, was recently granted the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by the University of Nebraska. Dr. Morton has been superintendent of the schools at Fairmont, Ashland, Fairbury and Beatrice. He has also been a member of the summer school faculties of the Peru State Teacher's College and of the University of Nebraska.

A greenhouse is not necessarily a freshman dormitory.—Exchange.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM GIVEN

A room lighted by tapers furnished a setting for the Christmas program, given in Y. W. C. A. on December 20, 1927.

A quartette, Miriam Bryan, Doris Stiverson, Evelyn Lorence, and Lucile Edmondson, sang and hummed Christmas carols during the devotions, which were lead by Mae Wilcock. The Christmas story was read. The quartette sang for the pantomime "Silent Night," which was given by Geanell McClelland. "The Mansion" by Henry Van Dyke was told by Esther Del Sandall. Laurene Edmondson dismissed the meeting.

TRY-OUT FOR DEBATE TEAMS WILL BE HELD THIS WEEK IN CHAPEL

Several Men from Last Year's Team Will Participate Again this Year

The debaters of York College will have their try-out for positions on the teams sometime this week, according to Professor Morgan who is the debate coach.

So far, there only seven men who have definitely decided to try for a place. These are Nestor Shlanta, Schuyler Phillips, Glenn Davis, Everett Samuelson, Homer Crosby, Francis Harbert and Sutton Hice.

Of the above mentioned men, four have had previous experience in intercollegiate debate. Nestor Shlanta, Everett Samuelson and Sutton Hice were on the debate teams last year, while Francis Harbert was on the college team several years ago. Of the rest of the men most of them have had previous debate experience in high school or in college.

The question for debate is, Resolved: That the United States should cease to protect with armed force investments in foreign countries. This is being considerably discussed on the floor of the Senate and House of Representatives in regard to American intervention in Nicaragua and the American foreign policy in China. The attitude of Mexico has also played a large part in forming American policy on this question.

LITERARIES MEET EARLY

Change of Program Necessary Because of Plays

Owing to the fact that the plays occur this evening, the Zeta Literary Society will not entertain the Pal Literary Society until the next meeting which will be on January 31.

The two societies will have their regular business meetings at 7 o'clock this evening, dismissing in time for the plays. The Pals will elect officers for the next semester while the Zetas will have the installation of officers. Members of both societies are requested to be present at these important meetings.

PAL HALL REDECORATED

Before students had left for the holidays, workers were busy papering the Pal Hall. The woodwork and the floors were varnished. The Zeta Hall was redecorated during the summer so now the literary rooms present a very good appearance, although there still remain some useless articles stored on the third floor hall that make an unsightly approach to the rooms.

ONE ACT OF DRAMA TO BE PRESENTED TUESDAY EVENING

Social Satire Fantasy and Comedy to be Included In Performance

Clara's brains finally prove better than the thief's who calls everything in her home a "sham," which is the name of the first of three one act plays to be presented tonight by the York College Players in the college auditorium at 8:00 p. m. "The Mirror," a fantasy of now and then, will be the second play of the evening with "Suppressed Desires," a comedy dealing with psychoanalysis, will conclude the performance.

Two love stories center around an old mirror in the play of the name and the modern boy gains an insight to the story of long ago.

In "Suppressed Desires" Henrietta almost loses her husband and has to contend with her own sister in order to retain him. Stephen Brewster, the husband, finally extracts the promise from his wife that she'll not wake him up in the night to find out what he's dreaming, before he consents to disregard the famous "Dr. Russell's" analysis.

The personnel of the plays to be given tonight has been taken from the Historic class and from students of the college who wished for an opportunity for amateur acting. Members of the class who wished practical experience in production are also assisting with the producing of the plays.

The castes are as follows:

"SHAM"

The Thief ..... Otis Detrick
Clara ..... Otilia Gaeth
Charles, her husband.....Donald Fisher

"THE MIRROR"

Aunt Margaret ..... Mildred Rohrer
Helen, modern girl.....Ruth Jones
Bobby, modern boy.....

..... Harold Vandercreek
The Boy ..... Harlan Moore
The Girl ..... Kathryn Roberts

"SUPRESSED DESIRES"

Stephen Brewster ..... Sutton Hice
Henrietta, his wife .....
..... Esther Del Sandall
Mabel, Henrietta's sister .....
..... Julia Timoney

The price of the performance is 25 cents and admissions may be purchased at the door tonight.

DELEGATES GIVE REPORT OF CONFERENCE AT Y. W.

A report of the Student Volunteer Conference at Detroit was given by Sybil Peters, Margaret Hill, and Miss Thorpe in the Y. W. C. A. meeting on January 10. Neva Brookhart played a part of a Mozart Sonata for the prelude. Edna Coffey led devotions, using a morning worship program, prepared by Dr. Hopkins for the Conference. Mrs. Emery announced the Conference to be held at Wahoo and urged the young women to attend. Miss Cone dismissed the meeting with prayer.

NORMAL ART COURSE

The normal art course offered next semester will include dress designing, landscape drawing, and interior decoration as well as the free-hand cutting, lettering, seasonal poster work, and other phases of the subject.

EXAM SCHEDULE

The days for the semester examinations will be Jan. 25, 26, and 27. All two hour classes will meet at the hour of recitation on Wednesday. The three, four, and five hour classes that meet at 7:30, 10:00, 1:15 and 3:15 will meet on Thursday at hour of recitation. The classes that meet at 8:30, 11:00 and 2:15 will meet the hour before regular class hour, on Friday.

Jan. 26, 27, and 28 are the days for enrollment for the second semester's work.

NEW CONFERENCE OF CHURCH COLLEGE IS ORGANIZED RECENTLY

"Nebraska Collegiate Athletic Conference" Name of New League Formed

On December 10th, the fourteen schools composing the present Nebraska State Conference met in their annual conference and after some discussion disbanded. The eight denominational schools formed a new league which is to be known as the Nebraska Collegiate Athletic Conference.

The eight members of the new conference are: Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane, Cotner, Hastings, Midland, Nebraska Central, Grand Island, and York.

The N. C. A. C. will not follow the round robin plan each year as it would cripple the plans of playing non-conference rivals, but will probably require games with at least five conference members in basketball.

THE SPONSOR ENTERTAINS

Senior Class Enjoys Oyster Stew At Baller Home

Professor and Mrs. Baller entertained the senior class on the evening of January 9th. An oyster stew, served by two competent sophomores, was the event of the evening. Sybil Peters entertained the group with various humorous accounts of her trip to Detroit. After the oyster stew the evening was spent in playing various "dignified" games. In the absence of the College Band, the dutch band appeared the first part of the evening with a varied program. At a somewhat late hour, the seniors, one by one, two by two started homeward. The seniors report that the evening spent in the home of the Baller's will be one of the bright spots in their memory.

Miriam Bryan spent the holidays with Kathryn Roberts at her home in Omaha.

Miss Edith Callender, former head of the Academy, visited friends at the College before the holidays. Miss Calender is now in charge of the English department in a girl's school at Mexico, Missouri.

Geanell McClelland and Hazel Bearss entertained twelve girls at a Christmas party on Wednesday, December 16, at the Bearss home. Progressive Rook was played and prizes were won by Ardith Kull and Loretta Knoller. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The favors were little candy Christmas trees. The latter part of the evening was spent with music.

SOPHOMORES HOLD ANNUAL RECEPTION FOR STUDENT BODY

Attractive Colonial Program Given in Garden Setting At U. B. Church

The sophomore class gave their annual reception for the College students and faculty Thursday evening, Jan. 12, at 8:15 o'clock at the United Brethren church.

The colonial idea was carried out. Each sophomore girl wore a colonial dress, some with hoops, others with bustles and pinniers.

The banquet room of the church was attractively decorated with baskets of cyclomen, large ferneries, birds, and floor lamps. In one corner was an old spinning wheel, while miniature wheels were in different parts of the room. In another corner a small garden was arranged with lattice work and flowers.

In the receiving line was Miss Grace Short, the class sponsor, President and Mrs. Emery, Dean and Mrs. Bisset and the class officers, Charles Pope, Arthur Farnham and Jean Turner, Ardith Kull and Geanell McClelland.

A string trio, composed of Irene Clark, Alice Coffey, and Donald Fisher with Thelma Dierdorff at the piano played during the evening.

A short program was given. Charles Pope, president of the sophomore class, welcomed the guests. President Emery and Harold Ashmore, president of the senior class, responded. Jean Turner, accompanied at the piano by Thelma Dierdorff, read "That Old Sweetheart of Mine."

She wore a beautiful colonial dress and a large picture hat. She gave her reading in the small latticed garden at the front of the room. Loretta Knoller played a piano solo, "Minuet" by Paderewski. Then a short play "Mannequin and Minnequin" was given. The parts of the dolls were taken by Dean Aden and Neva Brookhart and that of the maid by Anna Mythaler. The stage represented a colonial room and Mr. Aden, wearing a cerise robe, and Miss Brookhart in a colonial dress were seated on pedestals in front of an open fireplace. A girls' trio, Hazel Bearss, Thelma Dierdorff and Lucile Edmondson, sang an arrangement of "Annie Laurie."

Following the program dainty refreshments of molded ice cream "Horns of Plenty," small white cakes iced with pink, and candy hearts were served.

FRESHMAN PARTY

On Friday the sixteenth of December, last year, the Freshman had a Christmas party at the United Brethren church. The students assembled in the social room of the church where a fire in the fire place made them feel at home. Games were played and the usual "hokey" passed, after which refreshments of sandwiches coca, cupcakes and ice-cream were served.

Dean McPound of Wesleyan University and Mr. H. L. Cushing, director of certification, both members of the board of certification of colleges, visited York College on Jan. 12. They gave short addresses at the chapel hour.

PLEASING EVERYBODY

Perhaps many are familiar with the fable of "The Man, His Son, and Their Donkey," which goes something like this: The farmer and his son started out to drive their donkey to the fair. On the way they met many groups of people, all of whom they tried to please. The first group laughed at them for walking when they might ride, so the farmer told his son to get on the donkey. Soon they met some old woman who shamed the boy for riding while his old father walked. So the boy climbed down and let his father ride. The next group thought it a shame for the grown man to ride and let the boy walk, so in his efforts to please, the farmer had his son get on behind him. As they were riding along, a group of men ridiculed them for over-loading their donkey, so they both got off. They secured a pole to which they fastened the donkey and proceeded on their way carrying the struggling animal between them. As they were crossing a bridge the unhappy creature gave a vigorous kick, loosening himself from the pole and falling into the stream.

Moral: You can't please everybody. It is hard to please everybody in any line of work but this is particularly true in editing a college paper. Students are interested in different activities and naturally are interested in those sections of the paper that tell of these things. The Sandburr staff is attempting to produce a better paper and always welcomes any suggestions. Several students have been interested enough to tell the staff what things they like and what things do not interest them. These suggestions have been an invaluable help and are appreciated by the staff. It is impossible, of course to follow all suggestions made as this little fable explains.

THE NEW YEAR

This is the time of year when everyone is making resolutions. We may not admit it but never-the-less we know it is true. It is natural that at the beginning of a new year we should look forward with enthusiasm to the new goals we have set for ourselves. We must realize that the future is what we are concerned with and not the past. Do not spend hours worrying about what has been done, or what might have been done, but rather plan for the things we are going to do.

There is no other place where this can better apply than in school, especially in college. We as students can all take advantage of the new year's opportunity and resolve that as 1928 progresses we will make ourselves better fitted for the work we have set out to do. Raise your scholastic standing. Realize that now is the time you are building your character. Be loyal to yourself and to those who have made it possible for your education.

That the proper attitude toward school work should be developed in underclassmen by the upperclassmen and that the attitude of upperclassmen is largely childish, was the report of the committee on curriculum at the recent conference of the National Student Federation of America held at Lincoln.

Possibly the hardest missionary work being done in the world to-day is that of the doctors, preachers, and teachers, who go into some sections of the United States that have, as yet, scarcely heard of Christ or felt the touch of civilization.

The students of Wayne State Teacher's College have an Open Forum at which students discuss vital problems. Every college should have such meetings as they stimulate thought and provoke helpful discussions.

Any student that has a firm conviction and won't stand up for it is spineless.

Some of the fair co-eds could be of great assistance on the debate teams.

CON NOTES

January 9, 1928 at 8 o'clock the third floor girls gave a party in honor of Florence Han's birthday. First the girls assembled in the kitchen and rustled something to eat. The nine girls did their best to make Florence's birthday a memorable event after she unexpectedly burst in upon them while they were preparing for her.

The Conservatory girls are sorry that Connie Fisher from Iowa, and Olive Denny from Colorado failed to return to school after Christmas vacation.

Willie Chavez, who lives on second floor has a new roommate. Haqel Rallsback has decided that the "Con" is a good place to live so she is rooming with Willie.

Irene Bachman was able to return to her studies after New Years, following an enforced vacation of several weeks before the holidays.

When a girl begins calling you by your first name, watch out, boy! She likes your last one.

San German, Porto Rico, November 17, 1927.

To the Editor-in-Chief of The Sandburr,

York College, York, Nebraska.

Dear Folks:

My cup of joy is running over once more for the two copies of the Sandburr which I have recently received have transported my "disembodied spirit" to dear Y. C. and recalled the most pleasant memories of my life.

The names of Dean Bisset (the man who imparted to me the strongest impetus towards my specialization in the Social and Political Sciences), Dean Amadon, and my good friend now Prof. Warren Baller, the activities of the Pals, of the Glee Club and of the Football team—these are all names and activities of profound interest to me.

So, I'm trusting the regular mail from the States will never disappoint me and that it will always bring to me the so-much appreciated Sandburr.

Here's hopes that Y. C. will continue spreading its good work throughout the world. Porto Rico is enjoying benefits from York College—for Felix Casiano and Enrique

ANTONIO RIVERA.

Dear Editor:

Have you realized the great need of a new Gym for York College?

You know from the games you've witnessed, or from what you have read about these games, that this College put out a good football team. Upon examining the standings of the conference teams we find there are only two teams with higher percentage than ours—the first of these a state college, and the second a large denominational school. This is something to be proud of.

Our basketball team of last year was a "whiz." The season is again in full swing with promise of even a better team.

Only because of the promise of a new Gym next year were we allowed a place on the conference schedule this season.

Our Gym is too small. It is a greater handicap to play on a large floor when accustomed to a small than to play on a small floor when accustomed to a large one.

Under the present conditions with room for only one team on the floor at a time, our intercollegiate team is deprived of the necessary amount of practice for producing a championship team which we so greatly desire to produce.

A new Gym would serve as a powerful magnet to draw students to York College. These students would benefit the commercial interests of York to the extent of no less than five hundred dollars each per year.

With the intense interest aroused among the students and faculty and the interest which we hope to arouse among the citizens of York, a new Gym will no longer be a day dream but a reality.

America Discovered for $7200

Old records show that the cost of Columbus' first expedition to America amounted, in modern exchange, to only $7200. To finance Columbus, Isabella, Queen of Spain, offered to pawn her jewels. Today word comes from Spain indicating that a twentieth century importation from the new world is fast effecting a sufficient saving to ransom many royal jewels. The Spanish Northern Railway reports that the American equipment with which in 1924 the railroad electrified a mountainous section of its lines from Ujo to Pajares has accomplished the following economies:

1. A 55% saving in the cost of power.
2. A reduction of 40% in the number of engine miles for the same traffic handled.
3. A saving of 73 1/2% in the cost of repairs and upkeep for locomotives.
4. A saving of 63% in crew expenses.
5. A reduction of 31% in the cost of moving a ton-kilometer of freight.

In every part of the world, electricity has replaced less efficient methods and is saving sums far greater than the ransom of a queen's jewels. You will always find it an important advantage in your work and in your home.

The substations, overhead equipment for the complete installation, and six of the twelve locomotives for this particularly difficult and successful electrification were furnished by the General Electric Company. General Electric quality has attained universal recognition; the world over, you will find the G-E monogram on apparatus that is giving outstanding service.

TRAVELS OF PHILBAD, GEEZER AND SCRIBE

Editors Note: David Braun, who is now studying at Yale, has consented to write some features for the Sandburr, the first one is given in this issue, the Scribe being Mr. Braun.

Indeed the East is a remarkable land. Philbad and Geezer accompanied us to the city where we partook of bread and we conselled and made decision to eat on the morrow at the Far East across the thoroughfare. And on the next day we ventured forth, truly with great trepidation as to the eventual outcome of our venture. And we came at last to the Far East only it was far up and we toiled up countless stairs until we panted mightily. Philbad went in and we went in also and we were concerned greatly for fear of being shanghaied. A trained bandit assigned to us seats and we gazed in amazement at the luxury of the Inn. Large and most beautifully carved pogodos hung from the ceiling and they must have been priceless. Tapestries of great beauty were festooned about the chamber and we marvelled that this was America. In the midst of our reverie a man servant in correct evening dress approached us. Inasmuch as we were novices of the first water we purchased various oriental dishes and the Mongolian at length brought them to our board. We ate with some discomfort and timidity for the Chow Mein was much like the intricacies of the binomial theorem. One noodle led to another and so on until the entire dish made anxious attempts to mount our fork. It was with some difficulty that we persuaded them to come singly and not in groups of forty or fifty. We at length concluded our dinner but we hesitated at leaving the place for one of the bandits had cast an almost leery leer at us and we were much afraid. We ingeniously enough placed several shekels at our plate but to no avail. Cease, said Philbad, the Mongolian hath a perpetual countenance and no manner of money will change

it. We arose to depart and the man followed ominously and just when we were certain of being unceremoniously separated from our consciousness he said in perfect Aramois "good-day gentlemen and truly Princeton hath not a chance hath she" and we acquiesced and departed rejoicing, proving that one cannot tell at first appearance which way a worm will turn for truly a worm hath no top nor bottom and no sense of equilibrium.

A group of Y. W. C. A. students gave a Christmas program for the women at the Industrial Home on Christmas Eve. Bertha Lawson led the devotions. Irene Campbell sang a solo, Wilhelmentia Feemster gave a Christmas reading, and a quartette, Hazel Bearss, Geanell McClelland, Madge McClelland, and Irene Campbell sang. The Y. W. C. A. tries to carry out some program of this nature each Christmas.

Miss Thorpe, Promila Peters, Margaret Hill, and Nestor Shlanta visited Miss Catherine Staudt at her home in Elkhart, Indiana as they were returning from the Detroit convention. Miss Staudt, who had charge of the romance language department here the past two years, is now working toward her master's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Then the second floor did shout
 Get some water! get some water!
 Show that gang that we're about
 Came a "holler" that we "oughter"
 Should be gone.

Then the fight began in earnest
 Showers here, showers there
 Then a certain one, the sternest,
 Although guilty, begged that we

"Do" Europe on $375 All Expenses!
 College Humor's Collegiate Tour to EUROPE
 Sailing eastward from Montreal June 22, 1928, a happy group of college men and women will set out to "do" Europe in a campus-like atmosphere of good-fellowship, under the auspices of "College Humor." Q Down the mighty St. Lawrence we'll go, and across the Atlantic—with a college dance band on board to furnish music. There'll be deck sports and bridge tournaments and masquerades to make the ocean voyage a memorable "house party at sea." Q Then Europe! We'll see it under the guidance of the Art Crafts Guild Travel Bureau, originators of the justly famed Collegiate Tours. They will make all reservations, handle all details, furnish experienced carriers and guides. We just go along and enjoy ourselves! We sail homeward July 14 from Cherbourg on the famous Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of Australia," arriving at Quebec July 21. Q Membership in the tour is necessarily limited. ## Basket Ball Start- ed Friday Nite With Hastings

Team Will Play Midland, Cotner, and Doane in Successive Games This Week

Friday night York College opened its 1928 basket ball season at York, playing against Hastings College, one of the strongest teams in the conference. Hastings has played two conference games so far this season, and won them both. This game ought to show the comparative strength of York's team in the conference race.

This week will give the squad the first acid test of the season, when they meet three of the strongest teams in the conference on three consecutive nights, Midland on Thursday, Cotner on Friday, and Doane on Saturday.

The only other conference game to be played this semester will be played with Central College on January 24 at Central City. Peru, a school that has always had exceptionally strong teams, and which is now in the other conference, again appears on our schedule, and should be one of the best games of the season.

A Friend: "Where did you find this wonderful follow-up system? It would get money out of anybody?"
Mr. Aden: "I simply compiled and adopted the letters my son sent me from college."—Pathfinder.

Mrs. Amadon: "Papa, you talk in your sleep, do you know that?"
Dean: "You don't begrudge me that do you? It's my only chance."

Breathless patient: Doctor, can you help me? My name is Blanc."
"No, I'm sorry; I simply can't do anything for that."

Grant: "Will I have to give up my club when we are married, love?"
Lorraine: "Oh, I'll have a little club at home for you, dear."

(Harold): "So she refused you?"
(Otis): "That's the impression I received."

(Harold): "Didn't she actually say no?"
(Otis): "No, she didn't. All she said was 'Ha-Ha-Ha!'"

When Lois, who was "burning up the road" on the boulevard, was overtaken by Chief of Police Campbell and motioned to stop, she indignantly asked:

"What do you want with me?"
C—"You were running forty miles an hour."
L—"Forty miles an hour? G'wan officer, I haven't been out an hour."
C—"Go ahead. That's a new one on me."

Mrs. McBride: "How do you likt the soup? I got the recipe over the radio."

Connite: "I can taste the static."

While walking along a country road in Scotland one dark night, a farmer met a plowman carrying a lamp.

"Whaur are ye guan wi' the light?" asked the farmer.

"I'm guan 'tai coort my lass," was the frank reply.

"Man, that's awful," remarked the farmer. "I didn't tak a lamp when I was coortin."

"I thoct that," rejoined the plowman, "when I first saw your wife."

Elmer Hubka: "I had an awful dream last night."

Co-Ed: "Terrible! What was it?"

Elmer Hubka: "I dreamed that my uncle died."

Co-Ed: "Well, must be going to have a marriage in the family."

Elmer Hubka: "Why, it won't be Ladd or Ernie, it must be me."

would make or break a person. Well, college is one of the few things that can do both.—Awwgan.

Prof. Miller: "What is the formula for carbon dioxide?"
Joe Hanna: "Is it CO<sub>2</sub>?"
Prof. Miller: "Don't ask me. I am asking you."
Joe Hanna: "Well I don't know either."

Elmer Stenzel: "How long could a person live without brains?"
Prof. Miller: "Well I don't know. How old are you?"

Francis Harbert: "I suppose your wife always prefers to have the last word."

Harold Ashmore: "Not at all, she prefers to keep right on talking."

Constable: "You say the judge is absent minded?"

Clerk: "Well, in court today he dismissed the prisoner, sentenced the jury, scratched his desk, and hit himself on the head with the gavel."

Marietta: "I wish I could go to France now."

Harvey: "Why?"

Marietta: "I've finally learned to read a menu."

Judge: How can you prove your innocence?

Prisoner: Give me time.

Judge: Ten years.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

"When Bill was haled into court for speeding he offered the judge a five cent cigar."

"Well, what about it?"

"In passing sentence, the judge took both crimes into consideration."
