K. C. U. EQUIPMENT BROUGHT TO YORK AS MERGER RESULT

Alumni Association Assumes Expense of Moving Library.

As a result of the completed merger of Kansas City University with York College, the latter will be enriched by the receipt of equipment from the various departments of the Kansas City institution. Although York College is well equipped at present, an addition to the supplies will be very welcome, according to President J. R. Overmiller. 35

A committee consisting of President Overmiller, Prof. Warren Baller, Prof. Earl Doty, and Prof. Paul Frey, went to Kansas City Oct. 23 in order to inspect the equipment and to make arrangements for the transfer. 70

The York College Alumni Association, through its executive committee, has agreed to assume the expense of moving the library and of providing adequate shelf room for the books. Additional stacks will be provided and a number of books not in frequent use will be moved to the second floor of the library building. This is undertaken as a part of the library project which the association has been sponsoring. 157

After the addition of the new books, the library will be more than twice its present size, although it is at the present time quite completely well chosen, and well arranged.

The physical science laboratories also will be materially benefitted by the additional equipment to be added.

KANSAS PASTOR TALKS TO CHAPEL ASSEMBLY

Says Every Contact Marks a Change in Each Life.

"You will never be the same after this morning," was the startling statement made by the Rev. Arthur Ward, of McLouth, Kans., in speaking to the students at chapel Oct. 21.

"Every moment of the day and every contact made marks a change in our lives," he continued. "Are we making the picture of our lives beautiful and bright as it should be, or are we spoiling its beauty by careless actions?" Personality, he said, is a wonderfully sensitive and sacred thing, and we can determine quite largely what we make of it by the things we allow ourselves to absorb from the lives of our associates.

Barriers will appear in all our lives, Mr. Ward asserted. Will we face them squarely, he questioned, or allow them to block our progress? He quoted the words of the Apostle Paul in this connection, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

The speaker urged that each one be faithful to the tasks before him, emphasizing this thought by the scriptural quotation, "Moreover it is required of a steward that he be found faithful."

Y. W. CABINET ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. J. R. Overmiller entertained the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at a six o'clock dinner on the evening of Oct. 30. After the meal the regular business meeting was held. Mrs. Overmiller is the church adviser of the Y. W. C. A.

BOOSTER BAND ORGANIZED.

A "booster band" was organized by a group of college boys for the purpose of creating more enthusiasm at football games. The band made its initial appearance at the Hastings-York game.

PUBLIC SPEAKING STUDENTS PRESENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

The Public Speaking class had charge of the chapel program on the morning of Oct. 12.

Russel Lewis, as chairman, introduced each of the speakers. Dale Emerick, a freshman, gave a talk on "Friendship." He urged that everyone make good friendships while in college.

Carolyn Duncan, also a member of the freshman class, gave some facts and views on education.

"Everyone should take advantage of his opportunities in college by participating in extra-curricular activities," was one statement made by Raymond Wochner in his talk on "Opportunities."

Annual College Day Is Observed By U.B. Church

Dean Charles Bisset and Prof. Earl Doty Give Talks.

York College Day was observed at the United Brethren church on Oct. 18, when college students were honored guests at the church services and in the homes of members of the congregation.

Dean Charles Bisset gave the morning address, taking as his subject, "Truth." "A quest for truth is a quest for God," he stated, "and a knowledge of God is truth."

The anthem, "God Hath Appointed a Day," by Parks, was sung by the choir.

At the close of the service a number of the students presented themselves for affiliated membership in the church.

Students from outside of York who could remain for the day were invited to the homes of members and friends of the church for dinner.

Prof. Earl Doty spoke at the evening service on the subject of "The College, a Producing Concern." After discussing the process by which a college converts its raw materials into the finished product, he described the ideal graduate as one who is trained in the art of living in a democracy, who can accept individual responsibility, and who can see life steadily and as a whole.

The sophomore quartet sang two numbers, "My Anchor Holds," and "I Want My Life to Tell for Jesus," and an instrumental number "Basket of Roses," by Albers, was furnished by an ensemble consisting of Miss Muriel Thomas, first violin; Marian Hill, second violin; Doris White, cello, and Harold Burhoop, flute.

VALUE OF ATHLETICS DISCUSSED BY Y. M. C. A.

Advantages and Disadvantages Are Enumerated.

"The Value of Athletics in a Student's Life" was the topic for discussion at the weekly Y. M. C. A. meeting held Oct. 20 during the chapel period. Seventy-one college men were present at this meeting.

The topic was discussed from two standpoints. The first, "The Advantages of Athletics," was presented by Neal Gallant, and the second, "The Disadvantages of Athletics," was given by Maurice Brookhart. After both Gallant and Brookhart had presented their facts, Marvin Hersey led an open discussion in which much interest was shown.

Gallant began his talk by asking, "Why get out for athletics?" He then enumerated several reasons why students should go out for athletics saying, "Life is a stream of

WORLD IS FACING CRISIS REGARDING PEACE, SAYS TERRY

Managing Editor of League of Nations Chronicle Speaks to Student Body.

The world is facing a crisis at present which is no less critical than the situation in 1917-18, in the opinion of Mr. G. W. Terry, managing editor of the League of Nations Chronicle, who spoke to the student body at the chapel period Oct. 15.

"The youth of today control the destiny of our future," said Mr. Terry, "and upon them will be the responsibility of meeting a world crisis which will turn either to what may possibly be a fatal disaster carrying down our civilization, or to an upward trend toward an enduring world cooperation and peace."

Mr. Terry contrasted the philosophies of Clemenceau and Wilson at the close of the World War when arranging the terms of peace, and characterized the treaty of Versailles as "the most vindictive and dangerous peace the world has ever been given. There is hardly a country in all the world that is not now suffering from the poison of this treaty," he asserted.

"The duplicate nature of the people of the world has resulted in most of the governments and most of their ministers being Jekylls and Hydes," contended the speaker. "They have been trying to build up a new diplomacy and intelligence without letting go of the old diplomacy. They send representatives to the peace conferences to determine a means for ending war, and at the same time continue to build up and strengthen their armies and navies. The time has come," he continued, "when if the world is to be saved from disaster, it must stop serving two masters. Salvation can come to the world only as the world puts its strength and loyalty behind its efforts for cooperation and peace."

"It does not lie with the gods, but with the people of the world, and particularly the young people who are in training in the colleges and universities at the present time, to solve this problem of world peace," stated Mr. Terry in conclusion.

A successful financial drive was staged at the weekly Y. M. C. A. meeting held in the college chapel on the morning of Oct. 13. The budget for the year amounts to $125 and the entire amount was covered by pledges made by "Y" members at the meeting.

Before the request for donations, a short program was given which consisted of a scripture reading by Wallace Vick, a vocal solo entitled "Sword of Ferrara," by Bob Davis and two short talks on the activities of the "Y" by Lee Knolle, the "Y" president, and Prof. Baller. Mr. Baller closed the meeting with a prayer.

Student Council Court Tries Many Offenders

Biriam Nyrop Found Not Guilty On "Unpatriotism" Charge.

At a court session of the Student Council held in the College chapel last Thursday, Miriam Nyrop, a freshman, was declared "not guilty" on a charge of "being unpatriotic to the school and the football team". The charge was preferred by Leo Anderson, Milan Lambert and Henry Franz.

After a battle of words between William Hice, attorney for the defense, and Leo Anderson, prosecuting attorney, in which a number of witnesses joined, including Milan Lambert, Henry Franz, Jean Hanna, and Ruth Weaver, the case was given over to the jury. Due to the lack of time, the court was adjourned before the jury returned the verdict, and their decision had to be posted on the bulletin board. The verdict of "not guilty" was based upon the idea that the charge "unpatriotic" did not properly describe the offense.

This was the second time Miss Nyrop had figured in a court trial, the first time being on Oct. 13, when she was charged with not having her freshman cap. She was found guilty of this charge and sentenced to carry a suitcase to classes for the next two days.

Other offenders tried and convicted at this and succeeding court sessions included Lila Elam, Ina Culbertson, Harold Headlee, Dale Emerick, Herman Mohler, James Speece, Vern Buttermore, Howard May, Rex Hays, Russell Smith, Jack Graham, Ralph Woods, Lyndle Moore, Carolyn Duncan and Bertha Schnieber. Their punishments ranged from washing the front steps of the Administration building with a toothbrush to wearing a dress wrong side out.

FINANCES FOR YEAR PLANNED BY Y. W. C. A.

Program in Charge of Julia Wilson, Treasurer.

Finances for the year were discussed at the Y. W. C. A. meeting on Oct. 20. The program was in charge of the treasurer, Julia Wilson. Each committee chairman told how her allotment of money is to be used.

After the devotional exercises, the treasurer explained that the total budget for the local Y. W. C. A. is $167. From this each committee is allowed a certain amount for expenses. There is also a national pledge of $33 and a speakers' fund of $25. Miss Wilson then introduced the chairman of each committee who told how she used her share of the budget.

EVENING GAME ON OPPONENT'S FIELD IS CLOSE CONTEST

Hersey's Successful Try For Extra Point Puts York Ahead

The York College Panthers upset the dope when they defeated the Doane Tigers 7-6 in a thrilling game on the Doane field at Crete on the evening of Oct. 23. After being clearly outplayed in the first quarter, the Panthers launched an offensive drive that started on their own twenty yard line and was not stopped until they had crossed the opponent's goal. After Muth, Jose, and Adams had carried the ball to the three yard line Hewitt dived over center for the touchdown. With Muth holding the ball Hersey made the extra point.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter the ball rested on York's one yard line with Doane in possession. With four downs to carry the ball over, Doane was unable to penetrate the Panther defense. In the latter part of the fourth quarter a perfectly executed pass from Parker to Kiel netted forty yards and a touchdown. The try for extra point was wide.

FIRST QUARTER: York won the toss and chose to receive. Doane kicked off 35 yards and York returned 10 yards. Hewitt hit center for 4 yards and Muth made 2 yards through the same hole. York fumbled and recovered. Muth punted 50 yards to Hodges who returned 10 yards. Stone made 4 yards and Hodges made 16 yards. Hodges was stopped for no gain. Stone made 2

THOMAS A. EDISON.

With the death of Thomas A. Edison, the world has lost a great genius and benefactor. He began his career in the lowly position of a newsboy and from that level advanced by his own efforts to the position of honor and fame which he occupied at his death.

It is given to few men to achieve the degree of success that Edison did. He has received patents for more than a thousand inventions, many of which have been of major importance to society. Among his most notable inventions are the megaphone, the microphone, the phonograph, the incandescent lamp, motion pictures, talking pictures, and the alkaline storage battery.

The benefits which these inventions have brought to the world are immeasurable. Some of them, singly, have revolutionized entire industries. There is hardly a person in this country today who is not affected in some way each day by one or more of this great inventor's products.

Humanity owes him a debt of gratitude for his many contributions which have elevated present day civilization to a higher plane than ever before attained, and made life more pleasant and happy for millions of people.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

During the past few weeks freshmen and other new students have been so besieged with invitations to attend the meetings of one or both of the literary societies and to become members of one or the other group that many of them are more bewildered and uncertain than before as to which organization they should join, if either.

It should not be a question of joining or not joining. The benefits to be derived from membership in a literary society are so numerous that no student should omit this from his list of outside activities. Aside from the cultural values obtainable from the programs presented at each meeting is the feeling of noise and self-confidence developed by participation in these programs. The appearance of ease in public gatherings will be demanded of the young person who goes out to teach or to occupy any other position of responsibility in a community.

Familiarity with the rules of parliamentary practice will also be expected of the college trained youth who occupies a position of leadership in his home community. Such training is another of the benefits offered by membership in a literary society.

In addition to the points already mentioned is the social contact afforded by the regular meetings and occasional social events sponsored by the societies. This is not one of the primary purposes of these organizations, but as a secondary motive for joining, it should not be overlooked.

With such a list of virtues to recommend them, the literary societies should have no difficulty in obtaining a large membership.

BE A ZETA

"I'm going to be a Zeta!" The would-be literary society member who makes this decision will be welcomed heartily into a group of friends who are out to make the most of their college experience.

The birthday of the formal organization of the Zetalathean and Zetagathean literary societies was October 15, 1914, but when the boys enlisted for the war, the two groups combined. They chose Truth as their aim because Truth is the foundation of everything which bears the stamp of living literature. Our desire today is to promote social culture, scholarship, and good fellowship among the students. As with any other organization, however, those who wish to get anything out of a literary society must put their best efforts into it. Beside the usual run of literary programs and meetings, the informal gatherings, receptions, picnics, and other varied activities help the members to appear at ease in any social gathering.

The Zeta literary society deserves a place in the life of every college student. Come and be a Zeta with us!

WHY JOIN THE PALS?

The Pals' Literary Society is one of the oldest campus organizations. The society has as its purpose mutual improvement in literary, forensic, and parliamentary exercises, as well as social culture.

The programs, which are given at the bi-weekly meetings consist of musical numbers, impromptu addresses, debates, and various forms of literary exercise. The fall reception, the spring picnic, and the spring banquet are among the annual social functions. In addition to these, occasional parties are given.

From the standpoint of achievement it is interesting to note the fact that seven out of the eight varsity debaters last year were Pals. The Pals' float won first in the Fall Festival parade in 1930 and tied for second place in 1931.

The Pals' invite to membership any student, regardless of educational, financial, or social status.

President's Message

I am sure the students, alumni and friends of York College will be interested in the success of York College Booster Clubs in every local United Brethren church. It is the plan of the administration to secure a booster club in every church throughout our entire cooperating territory.

These booster clubs will dispense interest, information and enthusiasm for York College and secure liberal membership fees which will go to the support of the institution. We are looking to this source of income for the large part of our field support during this year and are quite dependent upon our local churches and pastors to help us to succeed through these groups.

Through this column I am making a plea to everyone who possibly can in the field and in the school to lend interest to our undertaking along this line. While we are paying the debt of the institution, let us join together with a will that will mean success in paying our operating expenses throughout the year. Your help will win the victory in this campaign for our own worthy institution.

Anyone not in touch with a United Brethren church in the district should write for information that we may have as near one hundred per cent. cooperation as possible.

J. R. Overmiller, President.

LAWN OPPOSITE CAMPUS PLEASING TO STUDENTS

Beautiful surroundings mean more to a college campus than most people realize. York College is exceedingly fortunate in this respect. The students—especially the "Con" girls—are enjoying the beautiful transformations that have been taking place at the residence of Mrs. Hattie Conway west of the campus.

The front lawn is attractive, but the back yard is a picture of loveliness. The morning-glory arbor with its hundreds of blue blossoms first attracts the attention. Another outstanding feature is the triangular lily pond, the rim of which is decorated with rocks collected by Mrs. Conway in California. The pond contains pink water lilies and in the center is a large fountain in the form of the well-known figure, "The Goose Boy."

A rock garden in one corner of the yard is also very attractive. In the midst of this garden is a small fish pond surrounded by many flowers and by large rocks.

The north side of the yard is bordered by a mass of various kinds of flowers. In one corner is a log cabin bird house near which is a cement bird bath and fountain.

A hedge of spirea encloses the yard on the south and west, and scattered here and there throughout the grounds are elm and oak trees. Walks made of concrete blocks in which are imbedded pretty shells and rocks wind here and there among the flowers.

Several of the college students have expressed their appreciation of the attractive homes in York, and of this one in particular. The citizens who are beautifying their homes and yards are helping to make York an ideal college town.—A. O. C.

"GETTING ALONG WITH PEOPLE" IS Y. W. TOPIC

Jean Haner Leads Discussion of Timely Questions.

"Getting along with people" was the theme of a general discussion at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held Oct. 13.

Margaret Bowen played several hymns as a prelude. After group singing, Maude Mann led the devotions. The main thought of her talk was centered on the personality of Jesus. Miss Mann developed her subject by offering a series of questions for consideration and giving the answers to them as found in the Scriptures. Some of her queries were, "How did Jesus meet the individual? How did he decide what to do? How was he able to draw out the best in persons?" To answer these questions she read the story of Zaccheus, in connection with which she said, "An anxious man and an anxious Savior always get together," and then referred to the story of the woman taken in adultery where Jesus' silence was golden. Miss Mann closed her talk with prayer.

The remainder of the meeting was turned over to Jean Haner, who led the discussion. The various problems presented were types of personality, homesickness, and social ease.

The types of personality discussed were snobs, the over-enthusiastic, the bashful, the free and easy, and country people in comparison with city people. It was agreed that everyone should be careful in passing judgments about other people before knowing them well. It is well to try to find the best in every person.

Both upper classmen and freshmen gave their opinions about the best way to cure homesickness and various methods were suggested.

Social ease and how to acquire it was discussed but no definite conclusion was reached. The leader gave her opinion about the question in closing. The best way to get along with people is to be oneself, she said. The meeting was closed with a prayer by Miss Cone.

Helen Oliver, the social chairman, has $30 to provide for the "jolly-ups," the Y. W. C. A. tea, and other social events. Marjorie Mohler, the devotional chairman, has $8 for purchasing material for programs. competitions and in athletics the individual learns to cooperate with his fellowmen in life after his athletic days are over." He went on to say that some individuals take part in athletics for their personal enjoyment, others for the school, and still others to gain a letter, the latter being an example of poor sportsmanship. He stated that a school is judged by its attitude and spirit in athletic contests and that everybody gets out of athletics exactly what he puts into them. He concluded with the statement, "In order to get the most out of athletics for the school

Brookhart stated three disadvantages of athletics, saying that the "commercialization" of athletics in the larger universities is the greatest disadvantage because it is a misinterpretation of the true purpose of athletics. The second disadvantage was the fact that athletes who work their way through school must take second-rate jobs due to the fact that they do not have enough time to fill the requirements of better positions.

Brookhart's third point was the fact that athletes find it hard to concentrate on their studies the day preceding a contest, for their entire system is "tuned up" in anticipation of the coming event. He concluded with the remark that he hoped the members of the faculty would take special notice of the last mentioned disadvantage and be more lenient in making assignments for the day preceding and the day of the game.

MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS PRESENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Members of the senior class presented a program in chapel on Oct. 22. Helen Oliver, class president, acted as chairman.

Lee Knolle had charge of the devotions. He spoke briefly of the different attitudes taken by people toward Christianity.

Jean Haner discussed "school spirit," which she defined as "an enthusiasm for all of the activities of the institution." It is a composite of several different kinds of spirit.

A quartet composed of Genevieve Rystrom, Jeanette Bisset, Milan Lambert, and Lee Knolle concluded the program
