

HICE PRESENTED IN VOCALISTIC RECITAL AT COLLEGE CHURCH

Assisted by Miss Jean Hanna and Accompanied by Miss McKain at Piano

William Hice, baritone voice student of the York College Conservatory of Music, pleasingly presented a series of ten vocal numbers at a recital held at the United Brethren church on May 2. Mr. Hice is a senior in York College and has made numerous appearances on musical programs, performing both as a vocalist and a pianist. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Evelyn McKain.

Miss Jean Hanna of the expression department assisted in the presentation of two dramatic readings very effectively enacted.

Hice displayed good interpretation, purity of tone, a wide voice range, and a splendid enunciation in his numbers. Especially exacting was Fontenailles' "Obstination," a song sung in the French language.

Miss Hanna in her readings added much meaning to her numbers by natural and well chosen inflections.

Mr. Hice is a student of Dean Charles Amadon, and Miss Hanna is instructed by Miss Alma Tress Lundman.

The program as presented included:

- Hear Me! Ye Winds and Waves.....George Frederick Handel
- For You.....Charles Wakefield Cadman
- A Toast.....Mary Turner Salter
- William Hice
- "And A Little Child".....Elizabeth Jordan
- Jean Hanna
- The Patriot.....A. Walter Kramer
- Two Songs Sung in French
- Obstination.....H. de Fontenailles
- Vulcan's Song from "Philemon et Baucis".....Charles Gounod
- William Hice
- Daddy Long-Legs.....Jean Webster
- Jean Hanna
- Hills.....Frank LaForge
- Just You.....H. T. Burleigh
- Goodbye!.....F. Paola Tosti
- Bedouin Love Song.....George W. Charwick
- William Hice

STUDENT COUNCIL IN BUSINESS SESSION

"Con" Hours Are Extended on Friday and Saturday

Acting upon a suggestion presented by the faculty, the student council in a recent business session, voted to extend the time for the dormitory girls to be in from 11:00 o'clock on Friday and 10:30 on Saturday to 11:30 for both nights. This action is to be in effect the remainder of this year and will be in the 1934-35 Rule Book.

Other business of the council included the appointment of Jack Graham as hall "monitor" to see that the halls are clear both before and after chapel, and the nomination of Milton Maurer and Jack Graham for the presidency of the Student Council for next year. The candidates were announced and a vote cast by the Student Body on Wednesday. The new president will be announced in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty Honor Senior Class

Professor and Mrs. E. I. Doty honored the Senior class in the form of a bounteous three-course dinner given in the parlor of the United Brethren church basement on the evening of Friday, April 27 at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Doty has been sponsor of the class for the past two years.

Three circular tables beautifully decorated with floral tidings in harmony with the season were arranged for the guests. Place cards symbolizing artistic works of nature were found at each plate.

Following the dinner the evening was spent in the partaking in social games.

LEWIS, HICE, HOFFMAN SECURE TEACHING JOBS

Three more members of the Senior class have recently secured teaching positions for next year.

Russel Lewis, Aurora, has been elected to teach in the Alexandria, Nebraska, high school. In addition to being coach and director of athletics, he will teach Mathematics, Biology, and Physics.

Tennis Hoffman, Yuma, Colorado, has secured a like position at Johnstown, Nebraska.

William Hice, York has been chosen to teach English, History, and to coach dramatics at Adams, Nebraska.

Students Attend Pre-Medic Day at Omaha

The University of Nebraska College of Medicine held its annual pre-medic day Saturday, May 5, on its campus in Omaha for the benefit of the pre-medic students of Nebraska colleges. A surgical clinic, a medical clinic, a tour of the campus and buildings, and a luncheon were the attractions offered. Those attending from York were Lawrence Casebeer, Ralph Jordan, Tom King, Orville Moore, Harold Wilcox, Ruth Spore, Prof. Chris Keim, and Prof. Ray Hill. John Franz, who teaches at Papillion, Nebraska, joined the group at Omaha and visited the college with them.

All-College Picnic Directed by Coach; Held for Students

College Men's Interclass Kittenball Tournament Is Feature of Activities

The first All-College picnic held for a number of years was attended by a large majority of the student body on Tuesday afternoon, May 1 at Downey's grove about five miles west of York. Coach Guy Ordway directed plans for the occasion and arranged the program.

The men's interclass kittenball tournament featured the afternoon's activities. One team from each of the four classes and one from the commercial department competed. The first round found the Freshmen administering a 5-3 defeat upon the sophomores.

The second round opened with the Seniors coming from behind to trounce the Commercial 20-11. The Juniors won from the Freshmen by a score of 14-9. The championship game between the Juniors and Seniors was a slugger's battle with the Juniors coming out ahead by a score of 23-17.

The W. A. A. girl's team won from a team picked at large from the women of the student body.

Following the kittenball games the Panther club served weiners, pickles, baked beans, and ice cream at a cost of fifteen cents per individual.

A short program of which Coach Ordway was chairman was presented after lunch. It consisted of brief talks by Ruth Spore, and Jack Graham, a reading by Miss Lundman, group singing led by Ormal Tack, and two numbers by the Varsity Seniors.

MAY DAY FETE TO BE HELD ON 18TH

"May Queen" to Be Announced on Gala Occasion

May 18th is to be the day for the annual May Day Fete here on the campus. According to the tradition the identity of the May Queen, elected by popular vote of the student body, is kept secret until the time of her coronation. The queen has chosen her five attendants and the classes have elected their representatives. The plans for the program are completed, and the stage is set for this colorful May festival.

The money taken in is to go to the Estes Park fund of the associations, and loaned to students desiring to attend the Estes Park conference in June.

SENIORS HONORED AT BANQUET BY JUNIORS AT HOTEL M'CLOUD

Theme of "Lilac-Time" Is Carried Out in the Decoration of Hall

The Junior class paid a worthy tribute to the York College Seniors of nineteen thirty-four when they entertained them at a banquet at the Hotel McCloud on the evening of May 3, the occasion being an annual affair sponsored by the Juniors.

Arranged in a great "Y" the tables and hall were decorated in a manner that carried out the beauties of "Lilac-Time". Seasonal flowers characterized the contents of the vases adorning the tables and also of the laticed background. Each senior was presented with a carnation as he entered the banquet hall beneath an arch artistically decorated in harmony with the theme of the banquet.

A well-prepared program consisting of toasts, music, and specialties was presented. Jack Graham, president of the Junior class, performed admirably in the role of toastmaster and gave the first toast on L-aurels. Margaret Johnson, president of the Senior class, responded in behalf of the Senior class on I-n Response.

A girl's trio composed of Jane Caldwell, Edith Goodban, and Clarice Froid sang two L-ullabies. A-drift was the subject of a toast by Lyndle Moore, and Patsy Ruth Miller gave a special number—C-apers. Lucille Westwood responded to a toast on T-attler while Robert Graham rendered I-ndigo, a violin solo. He was accompanied by Miss Jean Hanna.

Professor Warren Baller, sponsor of the Junior class, recalled M-emories of some Senior characteristics.

E-choes, two vocal numbers by Arthur Amadon, concluded the program. He was accompanied by Miss Jean Brown.

WHO?

Who went through the Valley of the Shadow to give me life? Who cared for me and helped me when I was a helpless, homely infant? Who kissed away those baby heart-aches—along with dirt and tears? Who watched over me day and night when my body was racked with pain and my lips parched with fever? Who taught me to laugh, to talk, to pray, to sing? Who cared for my every want during those years of tenderness, and as I grew older who admired, loved, worshipped me the more? When my youthful faith in God and man was shattered, whose counsel and love helped to reinstate that faith? Whose soul is with me in my feeble attempt; who is proud and happy if one of those attempts materializes in a success? Who?—Need I tell you?

She is not as beautiful as she once was, perhaps. Her raven hair is streaked with gray, and her face is furrowed with cares—for me. Her hands are toil-worn, and her shoulders are stooped from the burdens carried—for me. Still, she is the finest pal any fellow ever had. Who?—My Mom.

"TEMPUS FUGIT"

It would seem that as the school year quickly comes to its end in May, that the time of the students and faculty could be, or should be budgeted. At the end of the year we all want the books to balance. How can they balance when one's time is not balanced? There is our school work to finish, the theses of the Seniors, the term papers, reports, charts, experiments, almost an endless number of odds and ends to bring together. Then there are the final tests. They alone take up much of our time and probably should consume more.

But it is the extra-curricular activities that use up the biggest share of our time. Class picnics, Literary banquets, May Day, opera, tennis, baseball, track,—a myriad of activities in which we all want to participate. But with twenty-four hours in a day, and six or seven of them out for sleep, about three more for meals, and with lessons to prepare and classes to attend, what can we do on twenty-four hours a day?

To accomplish anything, we must plan our study periods, our recreation periods, our practice periods; we must find time for each without slighting any. But the problem is, how can we plan this budgeting to fit each individual case, and how can we make it work for the good of all. Perhaps each student should solve this problem for himself, should decide what is best for himself, and govern himself accordingly. But whatever we do, let us each remember that "tempus fugit" and that our education must not suffer.

—Y. C.—

NEAR THE END OF "OUR PURGATIVE EXPERIENCE"

As the number of days on which we are to attend lectures and laboratories becomes fewer and fewer, we cannot resist the desire to look back over the past year. Perhaps there are many things that we would do different but more probably not.

As we think of our college we cannot but think what kind of a college it might have been. We note a student's description, in a recent publication, of his experiences in college, entitled "My Purgative Experience." He describes his school as having no school spirit of the "rah-rah" kind, no athletics, no fraternities, no sororities. The scene was one of mutual deprecation, the professors blaming the indifference in the college on the students, the students reviling the faculty, which was composed, for the most part, of former high school teachers.

That student felt that he was only a clod in a huge hopper. His instructors seemed to teach what they were paid to teach; they acted as orders were given. To him they were only endeavoring to hold tight to their jobs, and they were intellectually dishonest. In this article the writer said, "Our universities are the scenes of constant bushwhacking between presidents and state legislatures who seek to curtail the finances appropriate of the college or demand the resignation of a too candid biological teacher, or between presidents and trustees who demand literal adherence to the original religious aspects of the school."

To that college student college life no longer has an appeal for him. To him the only method open for one desirous of a liberal knowledge of the arts and sciences is to dig it out for himself with no instructors or others about. He need receive no grades, take no examinations, nor be rewarded with a sheepskin.

But our ideas of college life are vastly different. If we had attended such a college as he, our ideals might be the same as his, provided we did not permit ourselves to fall into the old path made by those gone before. We believe there is a huge value in competitive athletics, social and professional clubs, and the numerous activities, as found in a college such as ours, outside of our studies.

So now that we are finishing this year's work we do not regret that we spent so much time on our outside activities. It is true that many of us could have spent more time on our books, but all the books in all the libraries of all the world would not have given us the inestimable experience which we have received from our associations with our fellow students and professors outside the classroom.

Why any serious-minded student should consider it only a

NEWS BRIEFS

The college women's Sunday school class, of which Prof. Doty is teacher, entertained the college men's class, of which Prof. Ray Hill is teacher, at a hard-times party at the church Friday evening, May 4.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The value of the Estes Park Student Conference was discussed by Marian Hill at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Tuesday, May 1. She especially stressed the interesting personalities that were present at Estes.

The prelude was played by LaVelle Lease on the trumpet. Osie Neff led the devotions. The cost of attending Estes was discussed by Eleanor Trued. Elizabeth Feemster played a violin solo accompanied by Mrs. Muriel Clarke. The meeting was closed with "Taps" by LaVelle Lease.

"Homeside Harmonies" was the subject of the talk by Mrs. Reatha Thompson at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Tuesday, May 8. She said that music in the home has perhaps done more to weld the destinies of nations than laws and kings. She mentioned Walter Damrosch as one who has done more for educating children in music than any other person. She also stressed the fact that love and music were twin sisters, were inseparable from each other.

Alice Huenefeld led the devotions. Louise Walkup played, "Venetian Love Song," by Ethelbert Nevin; Dorothy Miracle sang, "The Heavenly Guide by Bernard Hamblen. The meeting closed with "Home Sweet Home" sung by Viola Wimmer.

Too much make-up is a sign of unrefinement. In fact it leaves a bad taste in one's mouth.

"purgative experience" to attend college is more than we can understand. Such a student would better give his privilege of attending to someone a bit more broad-minded and looking for a higher goal than to satisfy his own selfish fancies and desires.

WOCHNER TELLS Y. M. OF ESTES PARK CAMP

"Hitch your wagon to a star and to Estes." Such was the sentiment expressed at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Tuesday, May 8th.

Ray Wochner, who has attended a previous conference at Estes Park, gave a pep talk. He emphasized the exceedingly inspirational atmosphere which prevailed during the conference, and he mentioned several nationally known Christian leaders who contributed to the daily program. "The fellowship to be obtained," stated Wochner, "is of the best quality."

A feature of the program was two selections sung by the Serenaders quartet, "The Little Red Drum" and "Farewell to Thee." The devotional period was in charge of Russell Smith.

"HERB" BURNHAM AND GEORGIA HANER WED

Saturday evening at eight o'clock, Georgia Haner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Haner, and Herbert Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burnham were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Joseph Toms performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Jean, and the groom by his brother, Frank.

Both are graduates of York High school, where Mr. Burnham was active in Hi-Y, DeMolay, and athletics, and Mrs. Burnham in Girl Reserves, Camp Fire, and music circles. They have both attended York College, where they were well known.

Mr. Burnham was captain-elect for this year's football team, but did not return to school. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham are at home on West Eighteenth Street in this city where the groom is employed by his father.

Lewis II President of Pals Next Year

Irvin Lewis, Aurora, known to many as Lewis II, was elected president of the PALS Literary Society for the first semester next year at the regular business meeting which preceded the joint meeting of the PALS and Zetas on May 8. Other officers included: vice-president, Lucille Evans, Aurora; secretary, Lucille Westwood, York; treasurer, Vera Thamer, York; pianist, Melba Manning, York; chorister, Max Riggs, Des Moines, Iowa; chaplain, Russel Smith, Van Nuys, California; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Oliver, Shelton.

The next and last meeting of the PALS this year will be in the form of a picnic on May 15.

EDITOR'S NOTE

This issue of the Sandburr is recorded as the Sophomore edition since the Sophomore class contributed greatly in the assembling of news and features for this edition.

SOPHOMORES AMONG YORK COLLEGE ELITE

Many Important Positions Are Held by Sophomores

A Sophomore edition of the Sandburr would not be complete if there were no news of the Sophomores in the paper. Accordingly a survey of the Sophomore class has been made and statistics of various kinds gathered.

There are thirty-one members of the Sophomore class, fourteen girls and seventeen boys. Of the fourteen girls, one is married, eleven expect to be teachers, one desires to be a secretary, and one is planning to study medicine (unless they should be married too.) Of the seventeen boys, two are entering the ministry, two are planning to be physicians, two hope to be aeronautical engineers, one is studying for a career as civil engineer, one would like to take up physical education, one is majoring in secretarial work, three expect to receive teaching certificates, and five are undecided as to their vocations.

Ten of the class are members of the PALS Literary society, twelve have identified themselves with the Zetas, and nine are members of neither. Most of the class attend either Y. M. or Y. W. Four of the girls belong to the W. A. A. Two of the men have been initiated into the Y Club. Five are members of the band, one of them being the director. Two have leads in the "Mikado".

In fact, there are Sophomores represented in every activity of the school.

"A TRIBUTE TO MOTHER"

I've tested God's manifold blessings
And found them all precious and true,
But I count it the richest blessings
To be born of a mother like you.

You banished my fears when a baby
And helped me grow rugged and strong,
The strains of no silver-toned chorus
Could compare with your cradle song.

You guided the steps of my girlhood
Through all of its tender years,
You taught me to trust in the Savior,
And shed for me anxious tears.

Those fervent prayers of yours,
Mother,
Have followed me day by day,
You've inspired me to nobler womanhood,
And encouraged me on my way.

When other friends doubted my motives
And my waywardness wounded you sore,
You put your arms tenderly around me
And loved me the same as before.

Through my trials, successes and failures
Your love will forever endure;
And I'm sure I shall meet you in Heaven
If I keep my life spotless and pure.

Accept this tribute mother dear,
From your beloved boy!
You've been the blessing of my life,
Its comfort and its you.

You banished all my childish fears,
And helped me to grow strong;
No music ere was half so sweet,
As your loving cradle song.

I know my youthful waywardness,
Has caused you many tears;
Yet your fervent prayers have followed me,
And brought me through those years.

If other friends lost faith in me,
And I was tempted sore,
You put your arms around me,
And loved me, all the more.

Now in life's grim battle;
With its worry and its strife;
I'll give the best there's in me,
And lead an upright life;

And if by grit and honest toil,
I ever reach success,
To you I'll owe, it Mother;
This truth I must confess.

Then when your work on earth is o'er,
And your soul with Christ reposes,
I'm sure His Guardian angels,
Will strew your path with roses.

Prof. Doty Describes Chinese Wedding Scene

"In China, courting among the young people is unknown", stated Prof. E. I. Doty in his second presentation of "Social Life in the Orient" to the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday, May 1.

Prof. Doty portrayed very vividly a Chinese wedding scene. The time of a typical wedding is set at 10:30, but at that hour no guests have arrived. Everyone says, "Oh, there'll be time." About 4:00 the older people begin to appear at the home of the bride. She pretends to be very much opposed to the wedding procedure and is hesitant about getting ready until finally is forced to don the appropriate wedding garments. The bride-groom has been anxiously waiting for some time. He wears a long silk coat and has extremely long fingernails which indicate his social standing.

Presently the bride appears and for the first time the bridegroom sees his mate. The ceremony, if any, is not conspicuous.

Russel Lewis led devotions and Dean Kimball, accompanied by Creston Klingman, sang a solo.

Wins Javelin and High Jump in Doane Contest

Jack Graham's two firsts proved to be the highlight as far as anything that York could do in triangular track and field meet with the Doane and Wesleyan outfits at Crete on May 4. Doane's mile relay team copped the meet for the Tigers when they sped to victory in the last event of the day to make a total of 63 points for their mates. Wesleyan had 62 while the Panthers picked up 18.

Graham cut loose with 176 feet on his first heave in the javelin but fouled and had to be content to win with 174 feet or more than 30 feet ahead of his nearest rival. Though the crossbar formed an arch under, which he could walk with ease, Jack added the high jump to his laurels when he cleared 5 feet and 10 inches.

Moore's tie for second in the shot, Smith's third in the broad jump, Bob Graham's third in the 440, a second in the 880 yd. relay, and third in the mile relay constituted the remainder of the points scored by York.

Summary:
Mile—Won by Van Skiver (W); second, Fitzgibbon (D); third, Olson (D). Time 4:49.

440—Won by Huffman (D); second, MacKenzie (W); third, R. Graham (Y). Time 52:4.

KITTENBALL TOURNAY HELD HERE TOMORROW

A college kittenball tournament including the five members of the N. C. A. C. (York, Doane, Wesleyan, Hastings, and Midland) plus Nebraska Central and Dana colleges will be held in York tomorrow, May 12.

This will be the first competition for the York past-timers, they having had only an interclass tournament to prepare for the occasion. The lineup for the Panthers has not been decided upon but there will probably be seen several faces from the regular baseball lineup. Smith and H. Riggs have both had considerable experience as soft-ball twirlers and will probably be seen in action for the York team.

A "SOPH" SPASM

'Twas the night before Friday when all thru the class,
'Twas whispered the coming of a picnic at last;

Ruth in her shorts and 'Rene in her breeches,
Said, "Why don't we start and cut out the speeches?"

'Twas then there arose a terrible racket,
For poor Varcoe had lost his jacket—
Dishes were gathered; also the eats,
And all the Sophomores tried to find seats.

Varcoe in the Ford, and Tack in his "Chevy," Ormie remarking, "I'm glad mine's no "Lizzie".

Before starting, they had work to perform,
Thus Byrnes, Yost, and Amanda were transported from the Dorm!
After such minor tasks were finished,
They proceeded to Keef's where they were replenished.

What on, you say? Oh, do tell—
Nothing bad that would make you unwell.

Pork and beans, and buns, and steak,
And pickles, too; Kealier says, "Oh, what a break."

Marshmallows on sticks,
Oranges in rinds,
Water in the creek,
But not on their minds.

Lunch was over,
And they began fences to crawl,
For they were headed for the clover,
To play kitten ball.

All went well for a time—
A few hits were made,
But the grand hit came when Ormal's feet almost sent J. Maurice to his grave.

They met poor J. M.'s head,
And stars were upward bound,
Poor Wilson lay like he were dead,
Prostrate on the ground.

They took him to the city,
And the rest continued to play,
'Twas then that a guy named Smitty
Began to holler "horray"!

Night was drawing nigh,
Sol had hidden its face,
Ruthie wanted to go bye,
So they hurried to her place.

Here the Sophs piled out
And all got a drink
They all began to shout,
The minute they saw the sink.

After all had drunk
To their heart's content—
They all laughed and giggled,
And to their glee gave vent.

Green took Marion's hat,
Varcoe did his bit,
And used it for a mat,
As upon it he did sit.

Now poor Marion is sad,
He just sits and pines;
It nearly made him mad,
It cost a dollar forty-nine.

'Twas sometime later when all departed,
Each having enjoyed himself from the time he started.

York College Loses Ten Inning Battle to Concordia Teachers

Riggs Acquires Ten Strikeouts as Panthers Top Rivals in Stickwork

It took the Concordia Teachers of Seward ten innings to subdue a determined York College baseball team by a score of 11-9 on the afternoon of May 5 at East Hill park. Overcoming a lead piled up by the Teachers in the early innings, the Panthers rallied to tie up the score at 9 all in the eighth frame and then lost out in the tenth when two errors and a hit pushed over two runs for the invaders.

Going into their first game of the season and playing as a unit for the first time, the crew of Coach Ordway's displayed possibilities of developing into a first rate outfit.

Harold Riggs, Iowa freshman, on the mound for the Hilltoppers, pitched steady ball after the first inning and allowed but eight safe blows. He whiffed ten via the strike-out route and issued five passes. Erratic support by the infield accounted for his downfall.

Concordia, boasting victories over Nebraska Uni. and Hebron College, started with a rush by driving in four runs in the first inning with three hits and four errors. They added to their total by chalking up two more in the second and one in the third.

Moline opened the scoring for York in the second by singling to right, stealing second, advancing to third on Ender's fly to right, and going home when Smith singled between first and second base.

The Panthers tallied three more in the fifth frame when successive singles by Colon, Riggs, and Moline, combined with two errors made the score read 7-4 in favor of Concordia.

The sixth inning went scoreless but the invaders chased in two more runs in the seventh. In the eighth the Panthers had the Teachers in a first-rate juggling act. Four errors and Jack Graham's triple knotted the score at nine alike.

The Seward team succumbed at Riggs' mercy in the ninth. In this inning it looked like a Panther victory as Bob Graham, first man up for York, lashed out a healthy double. However, the next three men flied out in order.

Two errors and a single accounted for the two Concordia runs in the tenth while the Panthers failed to connect safely.

PANTHERS DOWNED BY UNL. OF NEBR. TEAM

Scarlet Plasters 16-4 Defeat as They Rain Hits

The University of Nebraska baseball team handed the Panthers a sound trouncing to the tune of 16-4 in a game played at East Hill park on the afternoon of May 8. Though the game was played in a first-rate dust storm, those 23 hits collected by the scarlet bore a very pronounced resemblance of rain-drops pouring down from the heavens.

Coach Knight's men started with a bang, collecting four hits and four runs in the first inning, among them a drive over the right field fence by Bauer for a homer and another by "Scotty" Orcutt when his long fly to left bounded high in the air out over the barrier.

Joyce, Nebraska southpaw, limited the York team to five scattered bingles while his mates played very well behind him considering the dust.

Thomas poled the longest hit of the day for the Panthers when he laced out a triple in the last inning. The box score.

PROF'S. HILL AND KEIM ATTEND SCIENCE SESSION

Professors Ray Hill and Chris. P. Keim attended a meeting of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences which was held at Doane college, Crete, Nebraska, April 27th and 28th. Professor H. C. Feemster furnished a paper on "Approximate Factors" which was read in the Mathematics section.

The Nebraska Academy of Sciences is affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Its annual meeting is held jointly with the Nebraska Section of the Mathematical Association of America, The Nebraska Council of Geography Teachers, and the Nebraska Dietetic Association. The various sections such as Biology, Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Mathematics, Physics, and Social Sciences conducted group meetings during the two days the Academy was in session.

Dr. S. C. Lind, director of the School of Chemistry, University of Minnesota, was the principal speaker during the general sessions.

SMITH HIGH POINT MAN AT HASTINGS

Bronchos Score Decisive Win Over Panthers

The York College track team lost an 89½ to 41½ decision to the Hastings College team on the Hastings oval on the afternoon of April 26. Despite the fact that eight of the Bronchos crack performers were gone to the Drake relays, the Panthers were able to garner but four firsts.

Cecil Smith, sophomore, Van Nuys, California, copped three of these firsts when he broke the tape in both the high and low hurdles and copped the high jump. Smith collected 18½ points for individual high-point scoring honors of the meet. In addition to his three firsts he finished 2nd in the century dash and tied for third in the pole vault.

Jack Graham copped York's other first by tossing the pavelin 161 feet 5 inches.

Summary:
100 yd. dash—Won by Shively (H); second Smith (Y); third Green (H). Time, 10.4.

220 yd. dash—Won by Barnes (H); second Stucky (H); third Thomas (Y). Time, 24.3.
