"The Youngest" Is Termed Successful

May Be Presented in Other Towns; Deever Outstanding Player

Before an audience which showed its appreciation of the production in a very real manner, nine York College players presented Philip Barry's "The Youngest", Thursday night, November 12, at the York high school auditorium. That this first major production of the year was well-received is attested to by the many expressions received by Miss Emma Mayfield, dramatics instructor, and by others at the college.

Lawrence Deever in the male lead as Richard Winslow was undoubtedly the outstanding actor on the stage. Elizabeth Burton, playing opposite him, made a very capable feminine lead. Miss Burton's first appearance in college dramatic circles undoubtedly created a very good impression in the minds of the audience.

The rest of the cast maintained the continuity of the story in a commendable manner. Velma Anderson as Mrs. Winslow, Erwin Branson as Oliver Winslow, Carol Thomas as Mark Winslow, Edith Rabuck as Martha Winslow, Patricia Steen as Augusta Martin, Bernard Cook as Allen Martin, and Ruth Alleshouse as Katie carried the story of the wealthy Winslow family who would not allow Richard to write, rather wanting him to head the family pin factory.

Richard's triumph, with the help of Miss Burton as Nancy Blake, and a successful conclusion to the story came only after many moments of suspense.

Music was furnished by the college orchestra, directed by Mrs. Muriel Clarke. Everett Sorenson and Creston Klingman contributed numbers between acts. Miss Flora Baxter, speech student of Miss Mayfield, read between acts.

The Histrionic Club is considering the possibility of taking the play on the road for presentation in other cities. The details of the plans have not been worked out.

ZETAS CONDUCT INITIATION CEREMONIES

New members were officially initiated by the Zeta literary society at their regular meeting Tuesday, November 3. After a short business meeting conducted by Lawrence Deever, the president, Hazel Emma Morgan had charge of the initiation stunts.

A human checker game, conducted by Miss Emma Mayfield, was "played" by Edwin Wittmeyer, Clayton Lehman, Frances Mattison, Doris Goodrich, Marie Bomhoff, and Vesta Beam. An impersonation of the famous movie star, Mae West, was given by Elizabeth Burton. Lois Miller contributed an autobiography. Mary Margaret Durand, Esther Thornton, Daisy Millon, Olive Herrick, Leona Berry, and Lois Alexander, sang their variation of "Down by the Old Mill Stream". "Resolved, which is more valuable, a filibuster or a congressman, and why neither one is of no value," was the topic responded to by Gordon Fisher. Dramatic talent was discovered by the society in an interpretation of "The Three Bears" acted by Homer Meserve, Marjorie Cook, Patricia Steen, and Maurice Herrick.

WOMEN SKATE

Roller skating featured the first November function for the members of the W. A. A. last Monday night. The girls skated at the rink in Waco. Disregarding bruises and scratches, each girl found an evening's enjoyment.

Football Banquet History Dates Back 22 Years, Reporter Discloses

By J. B. Spore.

Since 1914 York College has honored and feted her football players with 20 annual banquets. Due to the war, there were no teams during 1917 and 1918.

Throughout the years the spirit manifested at the banquets has been one of high optimism and conviviality. Seemingly all of the banquets, whether honoring a winning team or a losing one, have unconsciously adopted the slogan of the first banquet: "A Winning Team Next Year".

The 1914 season had not been very successful; only one game was won and most of the others had been easy victories for the opponents. But on the evening of December 14, 1914, a large and enthusiastic group of students, faculty members, and townspeople met at the city Y. M. C. A. to fete the team. The tables in the banquet hall were decorated with white carnations and ferns, and on the walls many pennants were in evidence. Dean C. E. Ashcraft acted as toastmaster and the following toasts were given:

William Cobe—"Guards—They that Tarry with the Stud".

Glen Bland—"Tackles—the Tenacity of the Team".

Wayne Graham—"A Quarter, a Half, or Full".

Miss Ethel Clarke, "Kickoffs and Touchdowns".

L. R. Gregory—"Flukes and Flakes".

Professor Charles A. Madon—"Goals and Ends".

Following the toasts, President M. O. McLaughlin talked very enthusiastically about the prospects for the next year. He declared that a good coach and students who had had football experience must be procured.

It is evident that those early builders of the Panthers built well and swiftly, for two years later the team under Coach Earl Hawkins won seven regular scheduled games without having a point scored against them and in a post season encounter the University of Nebraska Freshmen team and played to a 0-0 deadlock.

The banquet that year was held in the college gym (now the library). A four course dinner was served by

Library Adds Books to Shelves

Books on Writing, History, Psychology Listed

Are you a budding genius in the field of writing, but for some unknown reason every manuscript you have sent to a publisher has been returned to you? Then you are just the person Miss Edith Callender, head of the English department, was trying to help when she placed a copy of "The Writer's Market" on the shelves of the York college library this fall. The 1937 edition of "The Writer's Market" gives the editorial requirements of every reliable market for free lance writers. Each list of requirements gives the name of the market, the name of the editor, and the address, and then in the editor's own words tells what he wants to buy, how he wants it written, the correct word length, and how much he will pay. Newspaper reviews have highly recommended "The Writer's Market."

Another book which Miss Callender advises students to read is "The Making of the Modern Mind," by J. H. Randall.

Two books of interest to every one, but especially to students of psychology, are "Let's Be Normal" and "God Helps Those—" by Fritz Kunkel, M.D., a German psychotherapist, who practices in Berlin. Subject matter in the two books is largely concerned with personality adjustment.

Other new books to be found on the shelves of the library are "Origins of British Colonial System," "British Colonial Policy" by George E. Beer; "Literature of the Old Testament" by J. A. Bewer; "Art of the Old Testament" by John R. Sampey, and "Origin of Religion" by Zwemer. Two volumes of "My Experiences in the World War" by General John J. Pershing, the 1936-37 edition of "Who's Who in America", and 25 copies of French literature books complete the list of new books.

Y. W. C. A. INITIATES NEW MEMBERS

The customary candle-lighting service of the Y. W. C. A. served as the initiation service for new members of that group at its regular meeting on Tuesday, November 3. A large number of women new to York college this year became members of Y. W. at this meeting.

After the candle-lighting service, Miss Mary Alice Slee, faculty sponsor of the Y. W., interpreted the meaning of the letters, Y. W. C. A. Mrs. J. R. Overmiller, church sponsor, led the group in prayer, and Dulcie Hoofnagle, president, gave a short talk. During the service, "Follow the Gleam," the official Y. W. C. A. song, was played by Leta Yost.

Debaters Eye Southwestern Tournament

Pre-Season Kansas Meet Calls for Best Teams of Nation; Question Involves Wages

Erwin Branson, president of the local chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi, announced this week that the York college debate squad has received an invitation to participate in the annual Southwestern debate tourney held at Winfield, Kansas. Branson did not state whether or not the invitation had been accepted but intimated that York college would undoubtedly be found debating at Winfield on December 4 and 5 if present plans materialized.

The Southwestern tournament is one of the largest pre-season tournaments in the nation. At present, over 40 teams are entered in the men's division of the four year colleges. This will come as good experience for the Nebraska pre-season tournament which will be held at Midland the following week.

The Winfield tournament calls for two rounds of practice debates followed by four rounds of judged debates. If ties develop, elimination debates will decide the winner.

Three debate lettermen, Branson, Irvin Lewis, and Lawrence Deever, and the entire debate class are working on the question. The question used is: Resolved, That Congress should be empowered to regulate minimum wages and maximum hours for industry."

STUDENTS ARE TESTED FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Drs. King and Harry conducted tests for tuberculosis on approximately 125 college students this past week. Injections were made on Monday morning with students returning on Wednesday to consult the doctors on the effects of the test.

This work is being carried on under the auspices of the National Tuberculosis Association. York County is a leader in Nebraska in this disease-preventing campaign.

Thanksgiving Season Calls for Skilful Maneuvering on Part of Ezra

By Wayne Dahlstedt
A noted philosopher once said, "If you must eat your Thanksgiving dinner at a crowded table, wait until afterwards to give thanks. You might not endure the melee."

Although very little fatal damage can be done at a crowded Thanksgiving dinner outside of gouged eyes, lacerated scalps, scalded hands, and a general dismembering of the entire body, it might be an excellent idea to formulate some rules of protection that would do away with the survival of the fittest.

Panthers to Be Honored Next Tuesday

"Success" Is Theme of Annual Banquet at U. B. Church, November 24

The annual football banquet, sponsored by the Panther Club, is to be presented in the basement of the United Brethren church next Tuesday evening at 6:30. A varied program consisting of singers, speakers, and Everett Sorenson and his synopated swing band will be furnished as entertainment.

The theme of the banquet is "Success" and the toasts have been chosen accordingly. Those giving toasts are: Captain Varcoe on Ability, Outstanding Panther on Personality, Panther Sweetheart on Spirit, Leta Yost on Endurance, Barney Rees on Breaks, and Joe Alden, Jr., on Security.

The Outstanding Panther and the Panther Sweetheart are elected by the letter men of the football team. They are elected on the basis of personality and spirit, and their support of the team. It is considered a great honor to be chosen for either of these titles.

Tickets for this banquet may be purchased for sixty cents from the following members of the Panther Club: Leslie Callahan, Wayne Dahlstedt, Warren Witham, Barney Rees, Rollie Hays, Jeanette Rogers, Sease Hoofnagle, Flora Blakely, and Bernice Strickler.

MISS WAKELIN TALKS ON CORRECT DRESS

For the beginning of a series of talks on "Graces of Womanhood", the Y. W. C. A. presented Miss Zelda Wakelin in a talk on "Correct Dress" at their regular meeting Tuesday, November 10.

The high lights of Miss Wakelin's talk may be summarized in three points. "Neatness, lines, and simplicity are the principal points women should consider in their dress; dressing appropriately for the occasion and according to one's type makes the occasion more important. There is a gradual trend toward naturalness in make-up and dress".

Thoughts on the approaching Thanksgiving season were given by Lucille Heins in the devotional period. Vera Thamer, ex-'37, gave a reading, and Lorena Estey played a violin solo.

ALUMNI, ATTENTION

The annual mid-Winter Alumni Banquet will be held on Saturday, December 26. Remember that date. We will give you further details as to time and place at a latter date.

SECOND PRIZE GOES TO THESE

Miss Callender (taking roll in English Lit. class): "I wish you would all try to sit in the same places."

—Which may be another argument for holding classes in elevator shafts.

Prof Doty tells his General Psychology class that one of the deepest impressions of his youth was received when a mule kicked him on the forehead.

No comment.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

I didn't know there was to be a test today.

Why didn't you tell me her boy-friend was a football player?

I'm still a Republican.

How did I know the coach would see me?

PROF. NOLL GETS PRIZE

Thus far in the school year the faculty 'boner' prize goes to Prof. W. C. Noll for turning the chapel lights on in order that Prof. Bisset might more easily read the explanation of the pictures which were then being thrown on the screen in the darkened chapel room.

SLIM AND DULCIE ON VERGE OF BREAKUP!

At press time for The Register, latest reports indicated that Slim Overmiller and Dulcie Hoofnagle were on the verge of breaking up their romance. The reports seemed to have their basis in the fact that Slim and Dulcie were seen to walk from the Ad building to the Con yesterday noon without holding hands. To local newshounds this was a significant sign indicating many potential possibilities.

Jim Shappell got a hair wash at the Kurlie Kue Beauty Shop the other night. Not only that but he used a hair net and a hair drier. Master James was heard to say, "It is just too ducky".

On migration day, after the game, a party of York College students were gathered at the Wesleyan game. Bernard Cook was missing from the group and Erwin Branson was heard to say,

"There must be a girl around somewhere." There was.

DINNER TABLE TOPICS

People at the dinner table can get into some of the dizziest arguments over nothing! For instance, Vesta (the little Sun Beam) and Doris Johnson (Olive for the O in DOJ) were arguing the other night over whether or not the moon was out on such-an-such a night. Starting from a beginning with a little thing like a moon, they soon progressed to various remarks about De and Bernie. All in the spirit of fun, of course. Anyway, it just shows what can go on at a dinner table.

A TRIBUTE TO LUCRETIA

Lucretia is my inspiration. As I face her, her beaming smile, her bony legs, her straight shoulders, her limply hanging arms drive me on to bigger and better things. She is indeed a boon to humanity. If you haven't met her, come up to The Register office some day and we'll arrange an introduction.

Students Respond to Disease Control

The response of the student body to the program of the National Tuberculosis Association was very fratifying both from the standpoint of the doctors who are furthering this great work and from the viewpoint of the college administration which has pushed this local test. Students will be glad to know their physical condition as shown by the tests.

The student body expresses its appreciation to the York County Tuberculosis Association for their work in the attempted eradication of this disease and especially to Drs. King and Harry, who made the tests of the college students at a price which excluded any remuneration for their own personal services.

Sign-Collecting Hobby Is Poor One

One of the most annoying of recent conditions on the campus is the disappearance of signs or bulletins after they are placed on the bulletin board or at other places around the campus. Usually, the signs disappear shortly after they are displayed and some time before the event advertised is held. The obvious result is disappointment on the part of the sign-painter and poor advertisement of the function to be held.

Hobbies are said to be a means of filling out one's life to completeness. They are a form of dissolution of excess energy and a form of mental relaxation. Hobbies are all right, then, for the individual who uses them. However, when a hobby proves to be a detriment or disadvantage to someone else, it should be dropped.

Sign collecting is a fine hobby if it doesn't interfere with anyone else. But when a sign is hanging on the wall of a room instead of a public place advertising a coming event, the sign collector is certainly not justified in his hobby.

It would be well to think a little bit of others before we indulge in hobbies which might satisfy only ourselves. Most certainly some college functions have been poorly advertised this year because of someone's sign mania.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving. That one word can mean so much to an individual. True Thanksgiving, thanking the Lord for our bountiful blessings, is appreciated more and more as we grow older. The idea of the festive Thanksgiving time when we went out to Aunt Bessy's and had turkey, cranberries, pumpkin pie, etc., gradually gives way to a deeper meaning as Thanksgiving times come and go.

Too often we forget the origin of the day. We forget those Pilgrims and their occasion for joy and thanks-giving. Then, too, we sometimes forget the deep spiritual sense which should go along with the holiday spirit of the day.

It seems to us that college students have so much for which they should be thankful. Strong bodies, healthy minds, fine homes, a wonderful country, individual freedom, and many other things connected more closely with the campus would only begin the list of things for which we should thank God.

And so, although a short vacation at home is the primary joy of Thanksgiving week, let's take time to be thankful for all of our blessings.

Squibs Recopied

At Wayne State Teachers College, reports that institution's Goldenrod, 22 NYA students are employed in the college library, 16 are at work on the school's campus, and one acts as secretary for the Y. W. C. A. The total number of NYA students at Wayne is 158.

From the Dana College Hermes we learn that Coach Gallant complimented his Panthers following their victory over the Vikings. Reports the Hermes, "It is to the credit of the Viking men that they acquitted themselves so well against the strong, smooth Panther eleven, whom Mr. Gallant, York coach, complimented as having played their best game of the season."

In the Kearney High School Echo appears an editorial explaining the editorial position of the paper in regard to printing personals of an intimate nature under the guise of humor. The editors feel that such items are of no interest to anyone but the persons involved and do not further the interests of the school. The Echo suggests, "If you want a dirt column and know of anyone who is interested in your private capers, write him a letter. Don't expect us to do your dirty work for you."

The Hastings Collegian reports the organization of a Bronco Colt Club for grade school children. The youngsters are admitted to games for two cents, sit in their own reserved bleachers and are led in their own cheers by a freshmen cheer leader.

A recent issue of The Midland, organ of Midland College, contains a spirited editorial as well as two open letters from campus organizations directed to the school's Board of Trustees requesting prompt action by the board in regard to a new dormitory for men. The editorial points out the utterly unfit and uninhabitable condition of the present dormitory and one of the open letters pointing out that men are not coming to Midland because of the lack of proper housing facilities asks "Shall Midland turn into a girl's college . . . ?"

We who must arise at an unearthly hour to "make" a 7:30 class rub our eyes in amazement when we read that some Hastings College students advocate starting classes earlier at that institution. But our amazement is considerably tempered when we learn that classes start at 8:10. The Collegian reports that many students wish to advance the time ten minutes in order to have the noon recess come at 12 rather than 12:10.

Outstanding quality; carefully guarded completeness of stocks and sizes; and tremendous assortments of styles—these are three guiding factors of our clothing department. —RUSS WILLIAMS.

Eight Lettermen Return to Panther Squad

With more than twenty men reporting for the first afternoon of practice last Monday, Coach Neal Gallant inaugurated the basketball season.

"We have lettermen Bob Gale, Carrol Wages, Ed Schoenthal, Bus Thompson, Perfecto Jaramillo, and Bert Fellers reporting," said Gallant. Overmiller is expected to be out in about a week. He is now recuperating from illness and from an injured knee, which has been giving him trouble since the Wesleyan game. Rolland Tonkin, a letterman guard, will report as soon as an injured hand permits.

Necessarily, the first practices have been intensive drill on fundamentals. However, actual scrimmage will begin in a week.

A schedule of six games has been lined up for the Panthers between Thanksgiving and Christmas. It includes games with Kearney, Concordia, Hebron, Dana, and the Globe Trotters. A complete schedule will be released in the next Sandburr.

With our spirits rubbing our heel tops, we feel it our duty to greet you with a'do-as-little-as-possible' attitude.

In the Wesleyan game, fumbles were not only too often—they were disastrous. Wesleyan and the locals were apparently afflicted with greasy fingers.

Ye ed was surprised by the showing of Claude Otto. In past years he has been but another man on the team but he certainly did go to town in a big way this year.

The conference title will be decided by the Turkey Day game between Wesleyan and Hastings. Irv. 'the Lewits', calls our attention to the fact that for the last seven years, these two teams have battled it out for first place honors on Thanksgiving Day.

In all probability the conference will finish as follows:

	W	L
Hastings	4	0
Wesleyan	3	1
Midland	2	2
York	1	3

Doane not only won no conference games but also failed to win a single game all year. However, they tied two.

Coach Neal Gallant started basketball practice last Monday. Just what the prospects are we don't know. However, with the crop of lettermen on hand that he has, things should be looking up. And we don't mean that they are flat on their back, either.

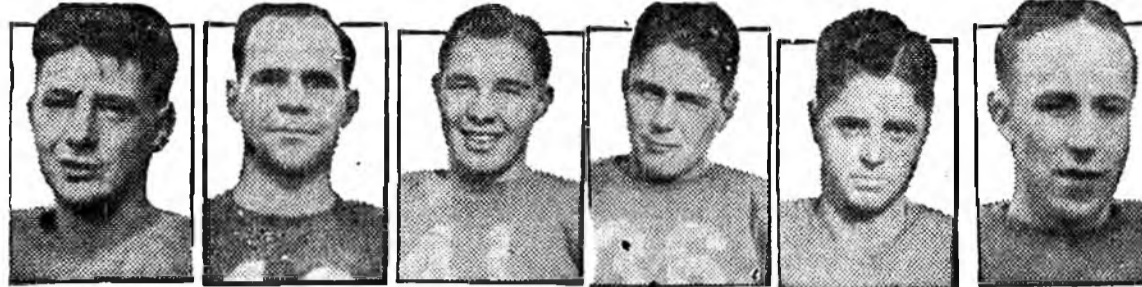

Right from the half of the Nebraska-Pitt game, the fans started yelling for Bible's neck. Apparently it never occurred to some of these dimwit spectators that there's more to a football team than just a sixty minute machine run by a quarterback and supervised by a coach. The team gets the posies when it wins and the coach shakes his own hand, offers a prayer of thanks and hopes his contract will be renewed the next year. But if it drops a game, everybody yells for an axe and the coach's neck. Who said "Ignorance was bliss"?

Hoping you get turkey and get to see a good pigskin battle, even if we don't, we'll leave you a couple of weeks.

Inkslingin' Slim.

Coach Neal Gallant stated this week that in all probability twenty-four men would letter in football this year. Besides the men pictured above, the eleven men whose pictures appeared in the last Sandburr and Ferdinand Sainden, whose cut was not available, were named. The other eleven included Haberman, Witham, Varcoe, Overmiller, Lutz, Willits, P. McLaughlin, Thompson, Speece, Wages, and J. McLaughlin.

The coach stated that he would recommend these men for letters. Before the 'Y' club can vote an award, however, scholastic requirements must be met.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT STARTS SOON

Over 60 men have signified their interest in taking part in the annual intra-mural basketball league sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. All college men except those selected for the varsity squad are eligible to participate.

Play will begin shortly after the Thanksgiving holidays, and it is planned to schedule a double round robin series of games.

The league will probably consist of seven teams. Teams will be chosen and the schedule will be drawn up by a committee consisting of Coach Neal Gallant, Professor C. P. Keim and two students appointed by the president of the Y. M. C. A.

Last year with six teams entered in the league, the Pussy-willows captained by Maurice Thompson were victorious winning four games and losing one.

Joe's unwashed neck. This creates a gloom to hang over Joe, who since his neck is washed, has lost his only distinguishing feature. You can see that these things are entirely unnecessary if not to say, brutal. My formula, which would do away with all this anguish, is merely to carry your own butter.

Then there is the fellow who hovers over his food and spread-eagles his arms while cutting his turkey. This alone is not so bad, but if he saws them back and forth he should be eliminated from the congenial gathering, for his sawing usually knocks the gathered masticators around like dominos. You will agree with me about the necessity of eliminating him when you find yourself on the floor through his unconscious efforts and have to grin stupidly up through a face adorned with gravy.

Last but not least, there will be political speeches unearthed. A timely stuffing of the ears with cotton will combat this. Of course if some over-wrought republican gesticulates with his fork to the point where staying in the immediate vicinity is dangerous, you might wrap his weapon in a napkin. Probably the only danger to be guarded against from the democrat's side will be exploding buttons from vests.

By J. C. Morgan, historian
Fellow alumni:

Instead of harping on the same old tune in this issue we have something new for you. An interesting news item from Omaha is to the effect that the alumni there have organized for regular social meetings and recently held such a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Weed. Those present besides the host and hostess were Rev. Max Wagner, Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Dierdorff, Miss Ruth Spore, Mr. and Mrs. John Franz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beatty, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thompson. Other alumni in Omaha whose names occur to the reporter are Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mulvaney, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ashmore, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Hunter, Dr. R. E. Marble. There are no doubt others whose names do not come to my mind just now.

Let us get acquainted with those who attended the function. Mrs. Weed was formerly Miss Helen Sailing, well-known to the student body in the years of 1916-1917. Mr. and Mrs. Dierdorff were students at Campbell College, 1905-1906. Ruth Spore scarcely needs to be introduced as she just finished her course last year. Max was a student at York in both the academy and the college and was a member of the debate teams in '23 and '25. Johnny graduated in '31 and played both football and basketball. Walter Beatty was here in 1915 and 1916 and is now a successful florist. Ted and Wreatha were students, 1924-1928 and quite popular in college circles.

Now, we have said all this in the hope that alumni in other communities will effect some such organization if they do not already have one. We could name several places where that is possible. We would like to hear from others and give them special mention in this column.

I received a letter from Theron Gard, '27 who has started his tenth term as an Industrial Arts instructor in the Fairbury high school. He received his Master of Science degree from Iowa State College during the summer of 1934. From another source, I am informed of the marriage of Helen Oliver, '33, of Shelton and Harold Conroy of McCook. They are now at home in Shelton where Mr. Conroy is employed in a local bank.

A letter from Mrs. Florence Foster of Beaver Crossing encloses a subscription to The Sandburr and expresses the hope that she can attend commencement exercises next spring. Mrs. Foster is a former student of early years of York College.

Marjorie Mohler, '32 is enrolled in a Home Economics course at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. Ed Van Allen, ex'37, has been accepted in the aviation corps of the U. S. army. Jerome Fuller, ex'37, goes to Red Oak, Iowa, as a Gamble Store employee. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jensen (Ione Heers) are now at Cordova where Mr. Jensen is superintendent of schools. Esther Strickler, '29, who is teaching at Milligan, spent the week-end in York, Nov. 13-15.

WESLEYAN ATTACK NETS THREE TOUCHDOWNS

With Captain Don Varcoe and Warren Witham playing their last game for York, the Panthers wound up the season last Friday on the Wesleyan Plainsmen's field. Led by Claude Otto, the Lincolnites crashed their way to a 20-0 victory in the battle which was an N. C. A. C. contest.

York received the kickoff, but fumbled on Wesleyan's forty yard stripe on the fourth play of the game, the latter recovering the ball. After an exchange of punts, the Plainsmen got off a short kick which went but 23 yards. A long pass, Thompson to Haberman, added 30 yards to the locals' credit. A try at the line nettled no gain so the Cats attempted a place kick which was blocked.

The end of the quarter found the ball on York's thirteen yard marker. Unable to punt, owing to the rush of opposing forwards through the Panther line, quarterback Wages was able to run the ball back to the line of scrimmage, where Wesleyan took possession of the oval and proceeded to march straight down the field to their first counter. Hawkins missed the extra point from placement.

A few minutes before the half ended Wilbur "Slim" Overmiller was injured and was forced to leave the game. Coming back from the intermission the Methodists dazzled the locals with a smashing ground attack and battered their way to a second pointer, Hedges racing twenty-five yards to cross the York double stripe, and Shuman kicking the extra point to make the tally 13-0.

The fourth quarter was a repetition of the third. Numerous substitutions failed to weaken the Wesleyan attack and the Plainsmen accounted for the third and final touchdown of the game, Hedges again repeating his third stanza act of crossing into pay dust and Shuman duplicating his feat of conversion to make the score board read 20-0.

There were no teams in 1917 or 1918 due to the war but the "Hawks" as the Panthers were then called, returned to their winning ways in 1919 under Coach Ernie Frank. They again won every conference game and played the University freshmen to a 0-0 tie.

The banquet honoring this team was held at the city Y. M. C. A. on January 8, 1920, with Professor Charles Bisset again toastmaster. The decorations at this banquet were unusual. In the center of the room a hawk spread his victorious wings over a defeated and humiliated coyote. This was symbolic of the Hawks' victory over the Wesleyan Coyotes who were the traditional enemies in those days. During the banquet each player was presented with a small gold football.

Since 1919, the banquets have been annual affairs and recognized as one of the outstanding events of the social season. Through good years and bad the supporters of the Panthers have met to dine and fete their football heroes.

In 1929, the first "Panther Swweet-heart" was chosen although she was then known as the "Pansy Girl". The first Pansy Girl was Miss Martha Evans, now Mrs. Earl H. Jensen of Orleans.

On November 24 the 21st annual banquet honoring the 1936 Panthers will be held at the U. B. church, and no matter what the program may suggest, the underlying slogan will be that of the 1914 banquet: "A Winning Team Next Year."
