Gwendolyn Hoofnagle Is Homecoming Queen As 150 Visitors Pay Tribute

CROWNED IN CONVOCATION; REIGNS OVER ACTIVITIES; PARENTS AND ALUMNI ARE GUESTS

Gwendolyn Hoofnagle, junior from Dawson, Iowa, was crowned "Homecoming Queen" last Friday morning and reigned over all the activities of the combined Homecoming and Parents' Day observances. About 150 parents and alumni accepted the invitation to be guests of the college at the morning convocation, a noon luncheon at the college church, and the football game with Western Union College.

Other features of the day included a pep rally following the convocation at which time the crowning ceremonies were conducted by the Panther Club. At 2:00 the freshmen and upperclassmen staged their annual "Olympics" under the direction of the Student Council and Merle Blinn. At 4:00 Chief Justice Barney Rees conducted a special session of the student court for the benefit of the visitors.

Dorothy Bittinger, president of the Panther Club, placed the crown on the queen's head as Miss Hoofnagle's identity was revealed and she was presented to the convocation audience. A silver loving cup was presented to the queen by the Panther Club and Student Council. At 8:00 Miss Hoofnagle arrived at the football game in an automobile and was conducted down the center of the field to the 50 yard line. From there Acting Captain Tonkin of York and Captain Null of Western Union escorted her to the throne.

Luncheon Guests Fill College Church

"Sharing the Responsibility" was the theme of the Homecoming luncheon at the U. B. church, Friday, October 22, when parents, alumni, and friends were guests of the students and faculty of York College. Bernard Cook, senior, of Fort Scott, Kansas, acted as toastmaster.

Toasts on "Sharing the Responsibility" were given by the Rev. H. A. Dierdorff of Geneva, Mrs. Pauline Bradwell Glock, an alumna, from York, and Irvin Wall, junior, from Henderson.

Other numbers of the program consisted of two clarinet numbers by Glenn Graham, with Marjorie Cook accompanying; a cello solo by Doris White with Hazel Emma Morgan as accompanist, and a trio by Bertha Riggs, soprano, Creston Klingman, piano, and Wayne Dahlstedt, piccolo obligato.

PEP BAND HAS TWENTY MEMBERS

Under the direction of Alden Marvel, a corps of twenty players have formed a pep band and are taking an active part in arousing enthusiasm on the campus.

On migration day the band accompanied the rooters to Crete. It played for the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, for several pep rallies, and for the football game Friday night. It is the plan to practice regularly and continue the organization the entire year.

Overmillers Entertain Faculty Members

President and Mrs. J. R. Overmiller entertained faculty members and the executive board of York College at a reception in the basement of the college church on October 14.

The program consisted of musical numbers by Dean Charles Amadon, Miss Gladys Pearson, and the college quartet, readings by Miss Alna Tress Lundman, and talks on highlights of last summer's vacation trips by Prof. Chas. Bisset, Miss Mary Alice Slee, Miss Zelta Wakelin, Dean Charles Amadon, Prof. W. J. Karraker and Mr. Nels Hammar. Games were played by the group and light refreshments were served.

ZETAS HAVE QUIZ CONTEST

About 35 persons, Zetas and visitors, racked their brains in an effort to answer the questions fired at them by Professor Quiz. (Homer Meserve), at the first Zeta meeting, held October 12. The answers were many and varied, and, in the words of a Zeta, "proved highly entertaining to the Professor, as evidenced by his grin of appreciation."

Other interesting features of the program were the reading of a short story, "Love-letter," by Marie Bomhoff, a piano solo by Lois Miller, and an extemporaneous talk on the subject, "How high is up?" by Jarvis Cobe.

WILTSE DISCUSSES WHAT IS IMPORTANT

"Everyone is better than I am" is the worst philosophy," stated Mr. Earl W. Wiltse, Supt. of York public schools, to the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday. "In many foreign countries the individual counts less and less and the machine more and more. In Germany the individual has been subjected to the machine of war," he said.

Some important problems that must be answered now, declared Mr. Wiltse, are, whether men are more or less important than the machine, which is more important, ideals or conduct, and should one be concerned with making a living or making a life.

MOTHER OF ALUMNA DIES

Mrs. H. C. Hofgard, mother of Irene Hofgard, '37, died unexpectedly last Tuesday morning at her home in Torrington, Wyoming. A telegram received by Miss Irene Thompson last week stated that Mrs. Hofgard succumbed to a stroke.

Miss Hofgard, a member of the graduating class of last year, is at present teaching in Lyman, Nebr.

Recognize Scholars In Special Program

Announce six students To Appear in "Who's Who"

Honor to the high ranking students of last year, an address, "The Scholar in this Modern World", by Dr. O. H. Werner, professor of Principles of education, University of Nebraska, and the presentation of a chapel Bible to the college were the special features of Scholarship Day, October 14.

"The world expects the scholar to apply his intelligence to the solution of perplexing problems, to assume responsibility for the use of the freedom which man has gained through the centuries, and to cultivate cooperation", said Dr. Werner. "Because scholars have applied their intelligence and education, we have for the first time in history the prospects of feeding everyone", he continued. "War is the greatest example of misapplication."

"The day when a person with an intelligent mind can compete successfully with those who have had a good education is over", he stated.

"There is a close correlation between scholastic attainment and success in life", he declared.

A Bible for use in chapel services was presented to the college by Professor W. C. Noll in behalf of the York College Scholars.

The six students whose names are to appear in the "Who's Who of Universities and Colleges" were announced. They were chosen by the student council and ratified by the faculty on the basis of character, scholarship, campus activities, and the possibility of development. They are: seniors, William Curnutt, Orange, California; Glenn McPherson, Rush, Colorado; Rolland Tonkin, Amistad, New Mexico; juniors, Vaughn Leaming, Jamaica, Iowa; Dorothy Riggs, Hudson, Iowa; and Lawrence Deever, York, Nebraska.

Last year's honor students were presented with a certificate of scholarship. They are juniors: Lucile Hall, 91.9; William Curnutt, 91.4; Wendell Johnson, 91.1; Merle Wittemeyer, 91.1; Fred Rasp, 90.8; Lorena Estey, 90.5; Norval Trout, 90.4; Rolland Tonkin, 90.4.

McVey Assumes Duties As Custodian

Glenn A. Cain has resigned as custodian of buildings and grounds to fill the pulpit of the Council church. J. R. McVey is now full time custodian. "I will still put in about a day a week on electrical and carpenter work," stated Mr. Cain.

Much of the routine work is done by students working out their tuition. Merrill Day cares for the library, Leland Widga and Verne Herrick for the administration building, and some other young men the gymnasium. Young women who live in Hulitt Hall do the work there.

Six free passes, good at the Sun Theater for any performance, matinee or evening, will be given to the six persons who find their names, scrambled style, in the advertising section of this paper. Call for tickets at office.

IT PAYS TO READ THE SANDBURR ADS

Before an enthusiastic crowd of Homecoming visitors the clawing York Panther won its fourth game in the 1937 season when it submerged a stubborn band of Golden Eagles from Western Union college, 13 to 0. After a scoreless first half, Coach Gallant's fighting featherweights ran wild in the last two periods of the game at East Hill park last Friday night.

The first York score came midway in the third quarter. With the Eagles in possession of the ball on the Panther 47-yard line, Nelson faded back and threw a

In the final period the Blue and White machine swung into action when Thompson returned Wolter's punt to the Western Union 23-yard line. Utilizing the "Dead Indian" pass play for the second time in two weeks, Saindon hid along the western boundary and then dashed over the goal-line to wait

Homecoming Speaker Is John Riddell

Mr. John Riddell, York attorney and former York College athletic director, was the guest speaker at the Homecoming Day convocation last Friday morning. The subject of his address was "College-City Relations."

The program was opened with two selections by the college chorus under the direction of Wanieta Sullivan, president of the group. President J. R. Overmiller gave the address of welcome. The response was given by an alumna and parent, Mrs. W. H. Cobe, (Mary Bucy, '15). Doris Johnson gave a musical reading and Creston Klingman played a piano solo to complete the program proper.

A pep rally concluded the convocation with Erwin Branson as master of ceremonies. After Gwendolyn Hoofnagle was crowned Homecoming Queen with appropriate ceremony the entire Panther team took its place on the stage and several players spoke briefly. Bob Gale sang a solo and the cheer leaders led college songs and yells.

SPEAKER DISCUSSES BOY SCOUT WORK

The Rev. A. V. Howland spoke informally of his extensive work with Boy Scouts of Kansas before the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday, October twelfth. He related his many experiences with these young fellows and mentioned particularly his long trip to the Boy Scout Jamboree at Washington, D. C., in charge of a representative group of boys from Kansas, last summer.

1938 Marathon Staff Is at Work

McLaughlin and Curnutt Announce Helpers

John McLaughlin, editor of the Marathon, and William Curnutt, business manager, have announced their editorial and business staffs and are carrying out the plans they formulated after their elections last spring. The Marathon is the college yearbook published every two years by the junior and senior classes. The 1938 edition will appear next May.

The staff selected by the editor and business manager is as follows: associate editor, Dorothy Bittinger; literary editor, Ruby Clayton; art editor, Barney Rees; feature editor, Norma Harris; sports editor, Rolland Tonkin; snapshot editor, Dulcie Hoofnagle; calendar, Herbert Speece; staff typist, Charlene Hurley; faculty adviser, Miss Zelta Wakelin. Curnutt has selected Erwin Branson as advertising manager, and Lawrence Deever as sales manager.

Secrecy surrounds the particulars in regard to the theme, the photography, and the general make-up of the book, but those in charge have let it be known that it will be something new and revolutionary in yearbooks. From the business standpoint Curnutt expresses his confidence that the book will be a financial success provided there is the cooperation of every student.

The Marathon will be locally printed by the York Blank Book Company in collaboration with the Capitol Engraving Company of Lincoln. Plans are now that it will be issued soon after the May Day festivities.

Gale's Studio has already begun the photography for the annual. Individual pictures are now being taken. Most of the juniors and seniors will have had their pictures taken in a few days and Curnutt will begin soon to schedule appointments for freshmen and sophomores with the photographer. He plans to have all pictures ready for the engraver by Christmas.

Work Under N. Y. A. Aids Fifty Students

N. Y. A. work amounting to 1140 hours per month, or the value of $285, has been allotted to York College this year by the Federal Bureau. This amount takes care of the needs of about fifty students who might otherwise be unable to attend college.

Some dissatisfaction with the new rules has been expressed by students, according to Coach Neal Gallant, director of N. Y. A. for the college. The rule most objected to is the one which requires the filling out of an application blank and also the one regarding the age limit, from 16 to 24, which prevents some students from obtaining help.

Such tasks are assigned to the students as will not only give them hours of credit, but will also be of some value to them as experience. Most of the students are doing their work well, said Mr. Gallant.

"PEACHY"

"Peachy" was the way Miss Mary Alice Slee described the weather and other conditions contributing to the success of Homecoming and Parents' Day last Friday. Everyone, in effect at least, has heartily agreed with her. Nothing in fact has been brought to our attention as marring the "peachy" atmosphere throughout the day.

Unusual, too, were other results of and responses to the Homecoming program and the second annual Parents' Day observance. Unusual, that is, in that in past years never have so many people participated so enthusiastically in the activities of the college. This year's observance, however, carried on the spirit of Parents' Day last year and so is becoming usual in the respect that it will happen many times in the future.

All speeches throughout the day met with enthusiastic approval. The outlook of all of them was for the most part encouraging. The athletic activities provided as entertainment proved especially interesting. The unexpected score of the football game was the high spot and visitors at the game are proud of the undefeated Panthers.

Alumni were glad for the added boost to Homecoming Day by the presence of the parents of students. Visiting parents are now more staunch York College supporters and are looking forward to Parents' Day next year. Plans must now be begun to provide space for the overflow crowds of similar future occasions.

 * AROUND YORK COLLEGE *
 * By Willmer *

Wowie! It rained in Nebraska. Need more be said?

At the Doane game, which by this time is in the misty past, it rained and thus caused difficulties not only for the players but also for those attempting to report it. The Doane College reporters took notes while standing under the down-pour. The York reporter dashed back and forth from the game to an assistant in a car by the side lines and shouted cryptic notes such as: "Thompson, two yards." When the game was over, the Doane reporters had a wad of sodden, rain-washed notes. York had a set of heiroglyphics. A conference was held between the two college reporters to determine just who won the game from a technical standpoint of yardage and first downs. "High-gear Homer" looked in on the conference being held in a booth at Kind's cafe at Crete and remarked, "Humm, it looks as though games are won and lost in press conferences." Well, at least the two sets of stories coincided.

Speaking of books, every time I hear someone say that he has so much wrapped up in books I get at least a chuckle. The truth is that so many are wrapped up in the book. Why, I share one book with so many students that every now and then one of the stockholders has to call a director's meeting, declare a quorum, and then we decide about removing the paper cover, what words of importance to underline for class reference, and who is going to be allowed to study it for the next week. The rest, subsequently, flunk.

As you read this paper, the final curtain will have rung down on the "Court of Justice." The judges will again view the freshmen with glances other than pernickulous. However, it is now granted by all, that curiosity, not pain, was the ultimate effect of the judges' decisions. When the electric paddle was administered to the persistent Margaret Friel, she only grinned, took it from the judges, and tried it on herself. That is similar to giving a prisoner a life term and then having him grin because it will mean board and room.

The other day a new, amazing, and profound theory was advanced on that heavenly body, the moon. It came about when Mr. Doty leaned back in his chair, smacked his lips, and asked Miss Heins what she knew about the moon. Miss Heins, evidently surprised, and completely nonplussed by the proportions of the question, could only giggle. Then she said, "Well, the moon comes up at night." The theory is now being discussed at some length under the name of the "Heinstein Theory."

Rumor has it that Graham's old Studebaker, an enormous touring car with wheels as big as Mexican sombreros, has met an untimely end in the battle fields of Spain. The car was an usual sight around the campus a few years ago. It is now said to have been sold as scrap iron to serve as Spanish munitions. The shells produced from it will probably, from their inherent quality, strike the pedestrians.

Queen Sease's early training equipped her for her regal duties at the Homecoming celebration last week. It seems she was initiated to the idea when she was crowned victor in a "most beautiful baby" contest at the tender age of one year.

Ain't the weather terrible? —or maybe it's just our point of view.

Helen L. and Bertha R. are habitually late wherever they go—we think they should not do this.

We think fellowship should be encouraged.

Something should be done about the present set-up.

Dedication

Comes now the time to revive this, the brain child of last year's editor, Leviticus. A righteously indignant mis-sive from him has brought us to our senses. We humbly offer this rag in dedication to our ardent supporter and critic, that worthy alumnus, Leviticus. That's you, Gus!

Spore Comes Through

Recently Miss Wakelin sent her second year French students to the library to buy copies of a book, "Le Livre de Mon Ami" by Guer-lac. Bob Spore surprised Miss Cone by asking for a book named, "The Liver of My Friend", by Garlic.

We Smeared 'Em

Bill Curnutt was responsible for the sign on the blackboard in the ad hall before the Sterling game. "Tarnish Sterling" it read, "We're on the 'goal' standard now." His directions were followed to the letter but we got a little muddy too in the process.

Charlene came up with this gem. "Women act on their intuition. Men act."

Lucille Heins and the Introduction to Philosophy class have evolved what they call their "Heinstein Theory." It rests on the profound assumption that the moon comes out at night. A strong disciple of the new theory is Bill "Moon" Curnutt.

To Wayne: Don't waste your time on other fellows' girls. Betty get one of your own.

To Popo: Love 'em and leave 'em, but don't mirriam.

To Lenora: Beware of the klingman-vine type of men.

Credit should be given to someone for noticing that the "miller" decided that the corn "cobe" shouldn't go to the "mills." The resulting set-up is proving very promising. A scar appeared on Lois' cheek the other day greatly resembling teeth marks. But to quote Lois: "Nobody did it; it just came."

Frederick Carlson, football candidate from Iowa, once made this enlightening statement: "Last night I was just a dummy."

"Justice", fast becoming a campus by-word along with "fellowship" and "set-up", has had its day, with reference to the frosh court. Chief Justice Rees, however, is still wondering about the boomerang effect of many of the sentences. Culprits, sentenced to write songs or speeches, invariably held the court up to public ridicule. For five minutes last week Verne Herrick called it a group of lice.

V. Leaming refuses to reveal the source of this:

Thompson and Spore Combination Beats Sterling, 13-0

By Bernard Cook

Breaking a touchdown jinx that had haunted him through two years of college football, Bob "Popo" Spore scored two touchdowns against the Sterling College eleven on the local muddy field Friday, October 15, to beat the Kansans, 13-0. Both counters came as a result of passes from Maurice "Bus" Thompson.

The first quarter saw Sterling and York battle on even terms on the swampy turf. Neither team was able to do much offensively, but each eleven battled well defensively.

With the wind at their backs, the Panthers began to slam the center of the Sterling line in the second quarter, Ekdahl and J. McLaughlin doing the heavy work, and Thompson and Spore also adding their bit. Thompson's first pass of the game was a 20 yard toss to J. Haberman who caught it as he slid into the mire on the Sterling 18 yard stripe. Two line plays produced a negative three yards. Thompson then faded back and heaved a 15 yard pass to Spore who outran the Sterling secondary to tally. The kick for point was low.

The Panthers proceeded in the fourth quarter to outdo themselves. A quick kick by Thompson, and a fumble by the Sterling safety gave York the ball on the Warriors' 21 yard line. The next play saw York's fumble recovered by Sterling who promptly attempted a punt. The punt was blocked and recovered by Peterson. An end play carried the ball to the west side of the field while Spore remained a "sleeper" on the east side. The next play brought a pass from Thompson to the unnoticed Spore and the second touchdown was recorded. J. Haberman's place-kick was straight between the uprights and the score became 13-0.

The Habermans, the McLaughlins, Peterson, Tonkin, and Thompson were outstanding for York. Rawlins' punting and line plunging was excellent, Robinson's blocking, and the work of Moton and Stinson in the line completed the list of the outstanding players for the Kansans.

Plainsmen Here Friday As Gallantmen Prepare

"Beat Wesleyan!" is the battle cry of Panther footballers as they go about their chores in preparation for this week's battle with the Plainsmen from Lincoln. Coach Gallant's men will be out to avenge last year's 20 to 0 licking administered by the Methodists on their home field.

Victors in only one game this season, the visitors are not expected to be up to their last season's strength. They will be out for blood, however, following their crushing 24 to 7 defeat Friday at the hands of the Midland Warriors, and the York coach is looking forward to a busy evening on the local gridiron.

SCHEDULES GAME TO CLOSE SEASON

A November 17 encounter with the Hebron Knights has been added to the York college football schedule, Coach Neal Gallant announced last week. The game, played on the Hebron gridiron will complete a four-game home and home agreement with the junior college aggregation. The mid-week meeting rings down the curtain on the 1937 Panther schedule.

for Thompson's perfect throw. Haberman's second kick was slightly wide.

Again in the fourth quarter the Panthers drove viciously at the Eagle goal. J. McLaughlin's line smashes and Thompson's 18-yard pass to J. Haberman gave the Gallant men a third down on the Western Union one-yard marker. On the next attempt an anxious Panther back fumbled and the visitors recovered on their own two-yard stripe.

Aside from one short-lived spurt in the second quarter when they garnered two successive first downs in mid-field, the LeMars, Iowa, team never looked dangerous. Wolter and Captain Null were driving hard at the line, but could make little headway through a much improved York forward wall.

Outstanding defensive player on the field was Wilbur "Slim" Overmiller, elongated York center. Painful to the Eagle cause also were Paul McLaughlin, who knifed through to spill many enemy plays before they began, and the Haberman cousins who broke up end runs and tackled punt receivers with precision.

Frosh Outclassed In Olympics

The frosh are faced with the necessity of giving a party for upperclassmen as a result of their defeat in the Homecoming Olympics held Friday afternoon in East Hill park before a large crowd of visitors. Completely outclassed, the freshmen struggled through the first six events with nothing better than second places. However they were able to win two firsts in the last three contests. With Max Quick leading the way with 11 points, and two feminine stars in the persons of Mary Jean Buttermore and Lois Miller adding 6 1-4 points each, the upper classes rolled up a total of 48 points, while the last resounding boot of the football found the frosh with only 24. Another 15 points were earned the previous afternoon, when upper class women, with G. Hoofnagle, Lutz and Miller shooting baskets from all angles, drubbed a fighting frosh team 47-17. Thus, the final score of another Homecoming Olympics will be recorded as a 63-24 victory for the upperclassmen, and the frosh will start saving their pennies.

Behind the Pigskin

By Half-back Harry

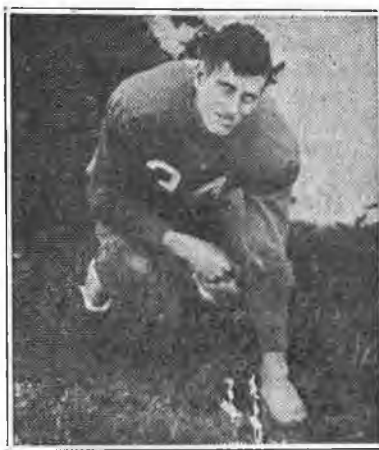

Again the Panther tried his tawny strength 'gainst an aggressive foe.

And from a drenched and cleat-torn field,

He forced the fighting one to yield the victory.

Perhaps Coach Gallant has set a record (we hope not a precedent) by using only three substitutions in the games with Doane and Sterling.

Warnings from the Coach to treat the towering black ends of Sterling with respect was unnecessary, for the team found them to be fine ball players and "real" fellows.

Tonkin Performs Duties Of Grid General

Rolland Tonkin, senior tackle from Amistad, New Mexico, has been performing the field generalship duties of Captain Rex Lutz during the latter's enforced absence from the lineup. An honor student and three-sport letterman, Tonkin has developed into one of the mainstays of the York line since being shifted from end to tackle early in the season.

Shouts from sidelines during the Sterling game echoed with, "Go through Kansas!", and a certain tackling Tonkin, immediately following the game, travelled two hundred and fifty miles into the wilds of that famous state to see a 'lovely lady.'

While honors accumulate upon our football team, a share of it should be given those loyal fellows who receive the unceasing battering of the first squad in practice and do not ever dress for a regular game.

The team that swept the field last Friday night is a machine that can overpower Wesleyan and the undefeated Warriors if their fighting spirit prevails. Why not an undefeated record for the season?

It seems J. Haberman, stellar right end, took Bob seriously when he sang of a football hero. John spectacularly intercepted an Eagle pass and dashed about 55 yards to the first York touchdown.

Smiling John divulged this secret in the dressing room—a certain fair lady was watching him play for the first time.

In music it's harmony that stirs the soul with melody. In a football team it is the same element that molds eleven men into one inspired fighting unit. This is a big reason for the victory march of the Blue and White.

"Sheepo" Tonkin played a whale of a game Friday night, considering the fact that he was "out on his feet" through most of the first half. "Sheepo" remembers tackling Roy Speece early in the first period. The next thing he recalls is the half intermission.

MUSIC NOTES

Bernice Strickler and Doris Johnson have been elected by members of the orchestra to serve as president and secretary respectively of that organization.

Dean Charles Amadon announces that the results of the recent try-outs for the male quartette are as follows: first tenor, Gerald Dierdorff; second tenor, Alden Marvel; baritone, Glenn Graham; and bass, Bob Gale. The quartette which is already organized, and which is composed of Creston Klingman, Irvin Wall, Wilbur Overmiller and Alfred Kamm will continue with the same personnel.

Members of the girls' trio have not been selected as yet, but this group also will be organized in the near future.

Miss Gladys Pearson, of the piano department faculty, recently appeared on the program given by the Music Department of the York Woman's Club. Her selection was "Indian Trail" by Russel Danburg.

Members of Lambda Phi, honorary piano club, held their first meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, October 19. Plans were made for the initiation of new members, and there was discussion concerning the various activities which will take place during this semester.

What do you need? Sox, ties, slacks, sweaters, shorts, belts—you can be sure they're the best of the new season's styles if they come from Russ Williams.
