

Grid Banquet Recognizes These

Lois Cobe . . . Sweetheart.

Given special honor at the annual football banquet Monday night were these two York College seniors, Lois Cobe as Panther Sweetheart, and Raymond Stevens as representative football man. Miss Cobe is from Dawson, and Stevens from Polk.

They were chosen by vote of the football squad some time ago, but their identity remained secret until they were presented at the banquet. Lester Auchard, toastmaster, presented Stevens, and he, in turn introduced the '40 sweetheart.

Selection of Panther Sweetheart was based on enthusiasm for athletics, support of the '40 team, and personality.

Selection of representative football man entailed consideration of such qualities as playing ability, spirit, and personality.

Stevens . . . Representative.

Freshmen Frolic At "Kid" Party For Upperclassmen

Frosh Pay For Losing Homecoming Contests

Amidst laughter and the dull thud of paper wads, upperclassmen and members of the faculty laughingly joined the freshmen in recalling "those good old school days" at a party in the college chapel Thursday evening, November 14. The freshmen, having failed to accumulate more points than the upperclassmen in contests conducted during the homecoming celebration, sponsored the party which was attended by the majority of the student body and faculty.

Freshmen Perform

After a welcome extended by Margaret Bollinger, Robinson, Kansas, the curtains of the stage were opened to reveal a typical old-fashioned school room which, as the bell was sounded by the teacher, quickly filled with chattering pupils. The pupils greeted the teacher, took their places, and class recitations began. Many incorrect and humorous answers to the teacher's questions brought laughter and impromptu suggestions from the audience and classroom pupils alike. The teacher had to cope with unprepared lessons, tardiness, and misbehavior, and the pupils voiced frequent disapproval of teacher's pets. It was necessary to enthrone one young man on the dunce stool and another was punished for sleeping in class.

Grid Season Ends As College Fetes Team At Banquet

Auchard Is Toastmaster, Students Are Faculty's Guests At Show

Honoring the first team squad of Panthers, the annual football banquet was held in the United Brethren church last Monday night. Lois Cobe, senior from Dawson, and Raymond Stevens, senior from Polk, were introduced as Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man.

The announcement of Stevens' election to this position was made by Lester Auchard, sophomore from Luray, Kansas, who was the toastmaster of the banquet. Following a brief toast, Stevens presented Miss Cobe as Panther Sweetheart.

Miss Cobe has been cheerleader at York college since she was a freshman and has been outstanding in her work in the dramatics department, besides being active in various other extra-curricular functions.

Stevens, who played three years of high school football under Neal Gallant, '32, former York coach, at Polk, played three years of "B" team football here, not being able to make the varsity because of his height and weight disadvantage. This year, however, he has held a starting place on the line-up and has played the full sixty minutes of four games.

Before presenting the Panther Sweetheart, Stevens gave a toast entitled "End Run", in which he compared the problems and solutions necessary to making 'end runs' in football to the ever present problems and solutions of

Willits Captains 1941 Panthers

Leading the 1941 Panther football team will be Kenneth Willits, junior of Clarks, who was chosen by vote of his teammate lettermen last week. Announcement of the '41 captaincy was made at the football banquet Monday night by Harold Haberman, this year's captain.

KENNETH WILLITS

Willits has lettered all of his three years at Y. C. The first two seasons, he played at a tackle berth where his 190 pounds sparked Panther line play on offense and defense. This year "Willie" sacrificed his tackle position to fill in at center for the blue and white.

Recognized as a 60-minute football player, he has the respect of both teammates and opponents. He has been mentioned as all-conference material this year.

PALS Have Program, Scavenger Hunt

With a varied program and a scavenger hunt for entertainment the PALS met last night in their regular meeting.

Tom Zike, freshman, Moravia, Iowa, gave a trombone solo; Jean Mattingly, junior, Cedar Falls, Iowa, gave a vocal solo; Ardith Johnson, sophomore, York, gave a reading; and Agnes Drake, senior, Sterling, Kansas, gave a short talk on etiquette.

The meeting was followed by a scavenger hunt.

Prof. Haugan Resigns; Leaves Y. C. To Take New Position In Wisconsin

Had Been Physical Science Head Since '37

PROF. HAROLD W. HAUGAN

Prof. Harold W. Haugan, head of the physical science department of York College, resigned November 6 to accept a position with the State Normal School, Eau Claire, Wisconsin. He left York November 8 for Wisconsin.

Mr. Haugan had been head of the physical science department since 1937.

Professor W. Jacob Karraker, Dean of Men, will have charge of the physics division of the physical science department, and Professor W. C. Noll, head of the biological department, will direct the chemistry division. With the aid of the laboratory assistant, classes will meet according to schedule until a new head is secured for the department.

Leaming Shows Pictures of Africa To Recruits

Stereopticon pictures of Albert Academy, Freetown, and other African scenes were presented at the Life Work Recruit meeting of November 13 by Vaughn Leaming, president of the Recruits, who returned from Africa last June. Leaming showed about seventy colored pictures he had taken in Sierra Leone.

Mary Lue Warner, chairman of the African project committee, told of the purpose and organization of the African project, and asked for pledges from the students for its support.

Preceding the preaching mission on November 6, a business meeting was held at the church. Leaming read a Scripture lesson and commented briefly.

Six From Y. C. Selected For College Who's Who Book

Six outstanding York College students have been selected to have their biographies listed in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. They are Helen Lumbus, senior, Waterloo, Iowa; Mary Lue Warner, senior, Kalispell, Montana; Vaughn Leaming, senior, Woodward, Iowa; Edward Auchard, senior, Luray, Kansas; Ralph Schmidt, senior, Bradshaw; Al Zerwekh, junior, Des Moines.

This book is published through the cooperation of over 500 American universities and colleges. It is the only means of national recognition for graduates which is devoid of politics, fees, and dues. Several students from each of the accredited colleges are selected each year, by an unprejudiced committee, for character, leadership, scholarship, and potentialities. The books are placed in the hands of hundreds of industrial companies and other employers who annually recruit outstanding students for business opportunities.

The purpose of WHO'S WHO is to serve as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers; as a means of

TAFFY PULL HIGHLIGHTS ZETA MEETING

A short program and a taffy-pull featured the meeting of the Zetas last night in the Zeta hall.

For the entertainment, Bruce Herrick, freshman of Topeka, played a piano solo.

Martha Tucker, freshman of Great Bend, Kansas, sang a solo. The girl's trio, Elaine West, sophomore of Orchard, Verlene Witham, junior of Agra, Kansas, and Carmen Ware, sophomore of Des Moines, sang "Pale Moon." Elaine McAllister and Harley Lautenschlager, elementary school children of York, presented a tap dance. A taffy-pull was then held.

NEW Y CLUBBERS TO GET SWEATERS

Six new members of the Y-Club will be wearing new sweaters in a few weeks, according to a decision made at the last monthly business meeting. Those earning sweaters had won them through their participation in the college sports last year. The sweaters will be furnished jointly by the club and the student council.

Play Cast Holds Daily Practices As Dec. 10 Nears

The Histrionic Club with its cast of twenty-three members is holding daily rehearsals on Tacie Hanna Rew's three-act comedy drama, When Stars Shine, which will be presented at the York High School auditorium, Tuesday, December 10. This play with a theme based on college football is exceptionally timely, according to Miss Alma Tress Lundman, director, because it comes just at the end of the college football season.

The curtain rises upon a garden scene in August. A group of high school students are discussing college. Gene Robbins and Jotty Barnes, star football players, wish to go to the same college. Gene, however, has money and can afford to go to any college, but Jotty must earn his own way. Barbara Merrill, whom both boys like, is especially interested in Gene, and so plans to go wherever he goes. Peggy White, who cares for Jotty, also wishes to go to college; however, she is dependent upon her grandmother who really can afford to send her. But Grandmother Campbell has ideas of her own. She decides to Thanksgiving Day, even for Y. C. students who cannot go home, has been a gala occasion since Dean and Mrs. W. E. Bachman came to York College in 1936. Dr. and Mrs. Bachman discovered that a large group of students, especially those from distant states, cannot go home for the brief Thanksgiving period. In order to make brighter an otherwise drab day, the Bachmans have each year entertained all students who remain in York. The 1940 celebration is the fifth.

This year, as usual, the Bachmans will provide a turkey dinner with all the traditional Thanksgiving "fixings." All afternoon the Hultt Hall reception room will be open, and scores of games and puzzles will be provided by Dr. and Mrs. Bachman for the entertainment of their guests.

Each year the number of students who have attended the dinner given by the Bachmans has increased. Last year between fifty and sixty were present. Mrs. Bachman expects the largest group yet this year.

NEW ASSISTANT COACH?

Coach and Mrs. Roland Tonkin announce the birth of a son, Robert Earl, at 5:30 A. M., November 11. He weighed nine pounds and five ounces. Mrs. Tonkin is remembered as Miss Lucille Stoskopf and as a former member of the class of 1938.

They Tramped These Halls

By PROF. J. C. MORGAN

A letter from Don H. Hale, '25, who for the past two years has been working for the General Geophysical Company at Houston, Texas, tells us that he has been ordered to active duty with the army. He holds a reserve commission as captain in the Chemical Warfare Service and will be stationed at McChord Field at Tacoma, Washington. He will work with the Air Corps. While in college, Don divided his time among chemistry, football, and debating. He spent several years at the University of Nebraska as student and assistant.

Two future Y. C. students and probable football heroes are David Lyndle Moore, born November 8, and Robert Earl Tonkin, born November 11. The parents of the first named are Mr. and Mrs. Lyndle Moore, '35, who reside at Grand Coulee, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Tonkin, '38, live at York where Mr. Tonkin is director of athletics in the college.

Y. W. Recognizes New Members

The theme of "fellowship" was stressed in the annual Y. W. C. A. Recognition Service for new members, which was held on Tuesday, November 12. Helen Lumbus, president, senior of Waterloo, Iowa, carried out the keynote of the world-wide fellowship of the Young Women's Christian Association in a welcome address to new members.

Expressing the symbol of fellowship in a candle ceremony, the old members carried the light to the candles of the new members. Mary Lue Warner, senior of Kalispell, Montana, gave "A Mediation on the Meaning of Membership," and Vera Blinn, sophomore of Kismet, Kansas, read, "The Interpretation of Our Fellowship." The Purpose Creed of the Y. W. was repeated by all members, followed by a prayer of fellowship given by Helen Lumbus. Two solos, "Take My Life", and "I Would Be True" were sung by Elaine West, sophomore of Orchard, Nebraska. Miss Alma Tress Lundman pronounced the benediction.

Dennis Brings Series Of Addresses To Students In Chapel

Dr. Fred L. Dennis of Dayton, Ohio, who was guest speaker at the Preaching Mission held at the local United Brethren Church, Oct. 30 to November 10, brought to the students at chapel a series of four Gospel messages, emphasizing the fact that the major of all majors is to know God and have a place for him in all our activities.

The speaker said that the Christian life is made up of the four dimensions, length, breadth, depth, and height. If one uses the dimensions of his life in the right way by getting far up into the slopes of God, it will mean a purer air, a wider vision, and seeing the world as Jesus saw it: in need of God.

"The search for God is a search which is universal", he declared. When our souls become at rest and peace in the fellowship of God, and when we find ourselves given over to Him we have one personal evidence of the search for God having been successful," the speaker said.

Dr. Dennis stated that the picture of life that appealed to him more than anything is life as a tapestry, as a piece of cloth upon a loom. Whatever things that are woven into life's program, we should have as an ideal the pattern of all patterns, Jesus Christ.

In his concluding speech, Dr. Dennis said, "The greatest of all temples is the temple of the body. The body is the servant of the soul because it has the power to radiate cheer and strength or whatever attitude may be in the atmosphere of the human being." "The body is a cathedral of God", the speaker concluded.

Associations Have Joint Meeting; Men Hear Oleson

"Life is a procedure, an integration of things that become a part of life, that cannot be recalled," according to Dr. Fred L. Dennis, guest minister from Dayton, Ohio, who addressed the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. groups in a joint session November 5. Prof. Loyd C. Oleson explained the nature of a comet to the Y. M. C. A. group November 12.

"The Bible is a book of pictures" according to Dr. Dennis, "Many people have never found them but they are there. That is one reason why the Bible lives today. The mind retains a picture longer than it retains a reasoned argument," the speaker added.

For a scripture text, Dr. Dennis chose Isaiah 38:12, "I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining sickness." "Life must have some guiding line about which we are going to gather all of life's program," he added. "There can be selfishness at the very core, and regardless of the fine material, you may discover your life will be comparable to a cancer."

Among the materials that should be woven into life's pattern, Dr. Dennis believes, are morality or common decency, industrial activities, and love and loyalty to Christ. Whatever else may be woven into life's program, it should be patterned according to the great pattern, even Jesus Christ, he added.

According to Dr. Dennis, there are two kinds of life patterns: those that follow a design, an objective or goal, and those that go any sort of way and have a hit

Sweetheart Trio Sings In Kansas

The "Sweetheart Trio" composed of Verlene Witham, junior, Agra, Kansas; Elaine West, sophomore, Orchard; and Carmen Ware, sophomore, Des Moines, Iowa, accompanied by Larry Smith, freshman of Pontiac, Michigan, left York November 16 for Niles, Kansas, where they sang in the United Brethren Church. Charles Scott, Lecompton, Kansas, and Marie Petit accompanied them and visited friends. The group returned to York Sunday evening.

and miss life which is usually a miss. In conclusion, the speaker said everyone has a tendency to become like his ideals.

A comet will appear in the sky one day near the beginning of the new year, Prof. Oleson predicted as he spoke to the Y. M. C. A. assembly November 12, on the subject of "Astronomy." This comet was discovered by Mr. Cunningham, Harvard, and is known as the Cunningham Comet.

First Snow Adds To Education of Puerto Rican

Freshman Girl Delighted With White Flakes

"Run! Come quick! Girls! It's come!"

This was Antonia Sepulveda's reaction to the snow that fell last week. And no wonder, for it was the first snow the Puerto Rican freshman had seen in all of her nineteen years. Jumping up and down she sifted it through her hand, laughing the while. Then with chattering teeth, she exclaimed, "It's snow, isn't it?"

Soon fine grains of the white fluff sifted through an open window in the store-room of the dormitory. Miss Sepulveda was the first to discover it.

Coming from such a different climate, she finds the adjustment quite difficult. The cold temperature affects her more than the snow or the wind.

Marjorie Warner, from California, has seen snow only a few times and was much excited also. She knew enough about it to form snowballs, however.

Lone Touchdown Spells Defeat At Wesleyan 6-0

A 21 yard run through the center of York's line by Schuck accounted for Wesleyan's 6-0 win over the Blue and White, November 8, at Lincoln. The score came early in the first quarter and left only a few scoring threats to provide thrills for the comparatively large crowd composed of both Wesleyan fans and about 125 Panther followers who had migrated for the game.

In the second quarter, York launched a passing attack which netted them about 85 yards in gains throughout the remainder of the game, while the Wesleyan attack was centered around a reverse which was alternated around both Panther ends.

Wesleyan threatened to score again in the first period when Don Yager fumbled a punt on his own 14 yard line which was recovered by Wesleyan's Magnuson. However, the attempt to push the ball over was stopped by outstanding defense play on the part of "Spike" Stevens and Elroy Brugh, diminutive York guard.

The closest the Panthers came to scoring was in the third quarter when Miller of Wesleyan made a 30 yard punt against the wind to his own 34 yard line. A pass from Stevens to Captain Harold Haberman took the ball back to the Wesleyan 25 yard stripe. Once again the proverbial "wrench" was thrown in the works, when B. Merrill intercepted a Panther pass.

Thus went the play throughout the game which featured seven such interceptions, three for Wesleyan and four for York. The Panthers played a game typical of a "light weight" team, trying numerous passes and making use of quick kicks by Earl Graff. However, the breaks which are necessary for such play did not come and the Panthers went scoreless once again.

Team Carries Fight To Heavy Kearney But Loses 18-0

After holding a touted Kearney eleven scoreless for the first half, the York Panthers weakened and allowed the Teachers to ring up one touchdown in the third quarter and two more in the last for a total score of 18-0 last Friday.

Late in the third quarter, Kearney took the ball on the 50 yard marker, and after a series of gains through the weakening Panther line by Myer and Mike Shada, the latter plunged over from the six inch line for the first score. Wilmot failed in an attempt to kick the point.

In the final quarter, a practically new Kearney team hit the Panther line for successive gains with "Battling Mike" once again carrying the ball over, this time plunging from the two yard line. An incomplete pass caused the failure of the conversion.

In the last minutes of the game, Capellan passed to Shada who downed the ball on the York 30. On the next play Capellan broke loose on an off-tackle play and did some elusive running to go over for the final touchdown of the game. Once again a passing attempt failed in the try for the extra point.

York's defense was especially outstanding in the first half with "Spike" Stevens and Don Porter excelling along those lines. The weight advantage and the greater number of capable substitutes of the Teachers wore down the tired Panthers in the last half. Both teams slipped and slid on an icy, snow-covered field.

This game, which brought down the curtain on the Panther schedule, was the last for four seniors who have played good ball for the Blue and White throughout the year. They are Captain Harold Haberman, Raymond Stevens, Henry Hansen, and Elmond Holbrook. Holbrook, although he has not been in the starting lineup, has been a capable reserve at tackle. The other three seniors have seen much action this year.

"Lights, Camera, Action." The curtains open and we find seated at a desk Miss Alma Tress Lundman, head of the Expression Department. Smiling, and with a twinkle in her eye, she spoke in a soft pleasing tone, "Good afternoon."

Well poised, friendly, and quiet are perhaps the most outstanding characteristics of Miss Lundman. Those who have had her as a sponsor have discovered that she is very efficient and always accomplishes what she starts out to do. In her work she always displays a helpful attitude and a fine sense of humor.

Miss Lundman was born in a small town not far from Chicago, Ill. Her family moved to Aberdeen, South Dakota, while she was in junior high and she finished her high school there. She continued her education at Huron College in Huron, South Dakota. It is a four-year Presbyterian college similar to York.

It might be interesting to note here that Miss Lundman was valedictorian of both her high school and her college class. She received her B.A. degree in three years.

MacPhail School of Music and Dramatics was the next school on Miss Lundman's list. She was here one year and received her diploma in dramatics, though taking voice also. Then she attended the Curry School of Expression in Boston, Massachusetts, where she received her diploma in Public Reading, and also specialized in physical training.

While attending Curry School, she was director of the junior department there. During the next two years, Miss Lundman was supervisor of speech in the junior

LIVE THE LITTLE THINGS . . . . . THEY LAST LONGEST

What are the things that live longest in the human mind? Are they the things that are big and stand out, the things that other people talk about when they mention you, or is it some little thing you have done by yourself or with others. Isn't it true that the recollections that you love to think on and live over again are reminiscences of happy times when some little pleasantries delighted you and made you particularly pleased with life? The time the fish were biting, and you caught several after many luckless ventures; events of school days which undoubtedly are the most carefree of anyone's life. Even in them, the little side paths you follow during your journey through the Woods of Knowledge are the ones that will stick with you and bring you happiness in those days when "old men dream dreams." Keep on the look-out for little things.

Life's Like That . . .

Carthage rose and fell. Rome rose and fell. The old kingdoms mentioned in the Bible rose and fell. Even Alexander, Napoleon, and the Germany of 1914, fell. All through the years of history, kingdoms or nations who have approached or even attained greatness for a time have for some reason tumbled back into obscurity. What is this reason?

In nearly every case of this kind which you can think of, the symptoms just before the fall are the same. Nebuchadnezzar, when he boasted of his power as a self-made man and pointed to his seemingly impregnable kingdom as evidence, was lowered into the dust. These other civilizations suffered the same fate. All of them became so drunk on their own power that they were easy prey for their enemies.

There seem to be other symptoms that have been the same in the majority of these cases. Just before the loss of power and prestige in the civilizations, wickedness becomes rife in that land.

The ancient Romans became so terrible that they persecuted Christians in the most inhuman ways, even putting them into pits with wild beasts that had been starved for days, and watching the defenseless human beings fall prey to the animals.

When civilizations revert to such barbarisms as that, it is time that some punishment should be dealt them, whether that punishment comes from the law of compensation or from a Divine Power moving in a way not understandable to us. In the rise and fall of our fortunes, we, too, must remember that.

and senior high schools in Glens Falls, New York.

She received her Master's Degree at the University of Wisconsin on an honorary scholarship. Last summer she began work on her Ph.D. at Northwestern University which is not so very far from her birthplace.

Miss Lundman is a member of several honorary organizations. These include Alpha Psi Omega, National Dramatic fraternity; Alpha Sigma Phi, national forensic fraternity; Delta Kappa Gamma, National Education Sorority; Phi Delta Gamma, National All-Professional Sorority, and the American Association of University Women.

When asked as to her hobbies, Miss Lundman leaned back in her chair and replied, "Oh, I guess reading is my hobby,—I enjoy reading of politics, psychology and social sciences.

Miss Lundman is sponsor of the Y. W. C. A. and of the freshman class. After the question of the interviewer as to what she enjoyed most in her work, she folded her arms, thought for a moment, and said, "It gives me a wonderful opportunity to watch the development of personality in people. It is possible for everyone to grow in personality and this is proved by watching the student through his four years of college. The results are really very surprising and usually gratifying." From this we judge that Miss Lundman enjoys her work very much.

Miss Lundman's philosophy of life may be expressed in two short thoughts well known by many. The first is found in Corinthians 13:13. "Now abideth faith, hope, love,—these three, and the greatest of these is love." The second is found in those two lines of poetry that read, "Give to the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you."

And so the curtain closes on another outstanding personality of our campus.

bows, and novel hair styles worn by those who attended in costume were realistic reminders of younger days. After expressing regret because there was not a prize for everyone, judges made awards for the best costumes to Warren Neal, Brookfield, Missouri; Lois Cobe, Dawson; and Gladys Mohler, Puerto Rico. Neal, with a black eye, bandages, and toy gun, was dressed as the schoolroom "toughie", while Miss Cobe and Miss Mohler, in pig tails and blackface, portrayed twin Negro girls.

Features of the program were recitations by Loretha Matney, Topeka, Kansas, and La Dena Faye Sloniger, Bradshaw; a cornet solo by Jeane Leaming, get a job at home for Peggy.

Gene, Jotty, and Barbara go to Monroe College. Jotty, through superior playing, is given Gene's position on the team. When Barbara finds that Jotty, instead of her Gene, is to be the star, she encourages Gene to be dishonest in his playing. Gene thinks of the coach's motto, "If you can meet with triumph and disaster and treat those two impostors just the same—." Nevertheless, he acts in accordance with Barbara's suggestions, and the plot deepens.

Grandmother Campbell is finally won over to the advantages of college. Having definitely decided that her granddaughter is to have the best of everything, she plans that Peggy shall register at Monroe College the second semester.

The unravelling of complications in this comedy drama, according to Miss Alma Tress Lundman, presents a compelling theme, tense true situations, interesting and real characters, romance, a football team, a coach who understands college players, heroes, cowards, sorority sisters, and fraternity men—all of which bespeak for the play the universal popularity it has won.

Woodward, Iowa; and a vocal solo by Mary Louise Miller of Russell, Kansas. Mary Malster, York; Dick Foulk, Muscotah, Kansas; Lora Holbrook, Orchard; and Charles Hurley, Des Moines, Iowa, sang a quartet number. The program was closed with the whole group singing "School Days" and reciting a group of rhymes which related schoolday incidents. Following the final number, doughnuts and hot cocoa were served.

Taking part in the program were: La Dena Faye Sloniger, Mary Louise Miller, Tom Zike, Harvey Klick, Paul Worthington, Gretchen Otto, Margaret Bollinger, Dorothy Vertz, Meredythe Henline, Jeane Leaming, Arlene Johnson, Vera Matchett, Earl Graff, James Swartz, Loretha Matney, Hal Goodrich, Charles Hurley, Lora Holbrook, Mary Malster, Dick Foulk, Marjorie Warner, Martha Tucker, Bruce Herrick, and Larry Smith.

The program committee consisted of Bruce Herrick, chairman, Gretchen Otto, Margaret Bollinger, and Larry Smith. Members of the refreshment committee were Hal Goodrich, Faith Riggs, Dearrel Miller, Harvey Klick, Everett Thornton, Lee Johnson, Margaret Eutsler, Florence Eutsler, Arlene Johnson, Loretha Matney, Vera Matchett, Dick Foulk, and Alice Breedlove.

"When Stars Pine" presents Kenny Willits in his debut. First act has Kenny getting his leg hurt in Wesleyan game. Second act shows him applying an overdose of Red Hot Liment which completely changes his personality. Affects Willy Saturday in lab. Necessitates removal of some clothing. As the curtain goes down (in fact all the curtains in the lab.) we see Willy, clad in barest essentials, dissecting blushing earthworm while Hank stands guard at door.

Doty's class was taking a test. It was a gloomy day, and the still gloomier faces of the students reflected the inner agony of those confronted by the terrible spectre of their own ignorance (Lucretia wrote this. She's a freshman with a vocabulary book).

"Shall I turn on the lights overheard?" queried the obliging Mr. Doty.

Someone said "no". Students shifted position and looked gloomier.

"Oh, I see," cried the Prof. as the significance of his victim's plight (Lucretia again) dawned upon him, "all you need is a little headlight."
