Air Force Reserves Are Called to Duty

First of the enlisted reserves to be called to active duty throughout the colleges of the nation were the Air Force Enlisted Reserves during February, and ten Y. C. men have received orders to report to Omaha next Saturday and Monday for induction.

Two seniors, with only three months of work left in college, were among the ten leaving. The two were Floyd Taylor, York, and Louis Webb, DuBois. However, special action by the Y. C. administration assured Webb and Taylor of getting their degrees with the class of '43 this spring when a resolution was put into effect that any senior man within 18 hours of college credit of graduation called to his country's service should receive his degree anyhow.

From Omaha the fledgling pilots will report to Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Missouri.

Players Begin Rehearsals for Two Productions

The College Players have begun to rehearse for the public presentation of "Me and My Shadow" and of "The Trysting Place". The date has been set for April 28. These productions are colored with love, romance, and the ludicrous.

The cast of "Me and My Shadow" is headed by Donald Hines, as young Mr. Harrington, and Reba Grimes, as his wife. Margaret Gaston is the inevitable mother-in-law, a Mrs. King. Virginia Hinkel, as a girl of the Hindus, brings in the unexpected "Shadow". Support is of this nature: Eloise Tabor serves as the maid, Susan Fisher; the part of the young doctor, a Bruce Douglas, is still unassigned; as Georgia Butler, Thelma Rockhold becomes curious; Elwyn Phillips is a sheriff; and Dick Riggs fills out the cast of the three-act play, as the mystic "Sabu". Ralph Hines is coach.

The cast of the one-act farce, "The Trysting Place", head-lines a young man and a young woman, Richard Riggs as Rupert Smith, and Mary Harris as Mrs. Curtis. Edwin Seward is Lancelot Briggs; Shirley Andersen is Mrs. Briggs, his mother; Margaret Trout is to be the young Jessie; the elder Mr. Ingoldsby is given to the cast by Elwyn Phillips; and the mysterious voice remains so. The coach of this play is Miss Anna Thompson.

Army Nurse Lieutenant Respass Speaks To Y. C. Women on Education, Training

First Lieutenant Helen E. Respass, A. N. C., Atlanta, Georgia, visited the campus Thursday afternoon, February 11, to speak to the college women in the interest of recruiting student nurses for the schools of nursing. During this week she has visited eleven college campuses, and several high schools, under the sponsorship of the Nebraska State Nurses' Association.

Lieut. Respass is the assistant of Captain Anna Montgomery, who is in charge of the nurses in the Army Nurse Corps of the Seventh Service Command, with headquarters in Omaha.

Lieutenant Respass stressed the fact that education is important in the training of nurses, and urged the girls to obtain as much college education as they could before going into training. Student nurses fill a very important place at this time because their work will release trained nurses for service with the armed forces.

Herrick New Junior Prexy

Bruce Herrick, junior of Dayton, Ohio, and Larry Smith, junior of Pontiac, Michigan, were elected president and vice-president, respectively, by the junior class for the second semester.

Other officers include: Sylvia Estey of York, secretary and treasurer; Joe Stauffer, LeCompton, Kansas; and Antonia Sepulveda, of Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Panther club representatives; Winifred Smith, of Enid, Okla., student council representative. Miss Zeldia Wakelin, head of modern language department, was re-elected class sponsor.

Attends C. E. Banquet

Miss Doris Gilmore, secretary to Pres. D. E. Weidler, spent the week-end of Feb. 5-7 in Omaha.

Saturday evening Miss Gilmore attended the city-wide Christian Endeavor banquet at the Y. W. C. A. Over two hundred were in attendance. The remainder of her visit was spent with friends.

"The nursing profession is a challenging path to a way of living," was the concluding statement of the talk. An informal period of questions and answers pertaining to training and service opportunities for nurses followed the informative message.

Endeavorers Hold Anniversary Meet

In the social rooms of the United Brethren church, time slipped back 62 years when the Christian Church C. E. and the United Brethren C. E. met together on February 4 to celebrate the anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor.

Walter Brant of the United Brethren church and Elinor Taylor of the Christian church impersonated the founders Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Clark, and directed the young people in the organization of their league.

After officers had been elected and a pledge set up, the host and hostess turned to an evening of games. They served a lunch of cocoa and cakes.

Eight More Athletes Tremble Way Into Y-Club Ranks

Eight fearful neophytes trembled and side-stepped their various much-hindered ways into the York College Y Club, organization of athletes, Monday night, February 8, amid the howls and cat calls of the veterans.

Seven were stalwarts on the gridiron submitting to the initiation rites to become regular members of the club after lettering in football. These seven were Jim Conway, freshman, York; Howard DeBoer, junior, York; Leland Miller, freshman, Dumont, Ia.; Eugene Severin, senior, Imperial; Ross Speece, freshman, York; Niles Shoff, freshman, Bassett; and Howard Walker, freshman, Norway, Kans.

Dr.'s Deever and Williams Head Drive Which Nets College $37,000

Dr. O. T. Deever

President D. E. Weidler announces that the results of the recent financial drive conducted here in the York community from Jan. 18 to Feb. 2 by Dr. O. T. Deever, General Secretary, Board of Christian Education, Dayton, Ohio, and Dr. Stanley B. Williams, Associate Secretary, Board of Home Missions and Church Erection, Dayton, Ohio, for the benefit of York College was a distinct success.

Business Men Hold Dinner For Faculty

Members of the York College faculty were entertained at an appreciation dinner Tuesday evening, February 2, at the Hotel McCloud when the business men and leaders of the recent campaign gathered to celebrate the success of the drive, and to become better acquainted.

Prior to the dinner, Dr. D. E. Weidler, president of York College, introduced the members of the faculty, and C. E. Bradwell, commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce introduced the business men.

W. L. Kirkpatrick, Russell Williams, R. A. Freeman, Dr. Charles Bisset, Msgr. L. L. Mandeville, Dr. D. E. Weidler, Dr. Stanley B. Williams, Dayton, Ohio, Dr. O. T. Deever, also of Dayton, Ohio, spoke briefly. E. A. Levitt served as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Library Adds Books On American Writers

According to Dorothy Jean Sadoris, student librarian and senior, York, a twenty-volume set of American Writers Series has recently been added to the college library.

These books are published by the American Book Company and contain works, biography, and notes of American writers such as Mark Twain, Emerson, Walt Whitman, Longfellow, Hamilton, George Washington, Bryant, James Fenimore Cooper and others.

According to President Weidler, this drive is another big step in putting York on a sound financial basis. All that was subscribed for the drive, about $37,500, will be paid on back salaries of the faculty, a debt which accumulated over many years, but especially during the decade preceding 1940, —drouth and depression years.

Jubilee Fund Helps

An informal committee, Friends of York College, headed by Mr. E. A. Levitt of York took the lead in putting York on a sound basis about three years ago when they balanced the budget and paid $16,332.38 of the debt, starting in March, 1940. These results were largely accomplished by the Golden Jubilee Fund gifts and larger sustentation gifts from the denominational benevolence budget.

Not all funds have gone to retiring debt, however, as about $11,677 has been spent on rehabilitation and improvement on the campus in the last five years.

Business Men Act

Since the church demonstrated that she was determined to sustain York College, the business men of York proposed that they undertake the liquidation of the debt to the faculty. Dr. Deever and Dr. Williams came here to conduct the campaign.

When the campaign began, this debt stood at $42,296.23. Up to the evening of the Appreciation Dinner, held by the business men on February 2, the $37,500 had been subscribed on a five year basis, and $11,639 from the campaign and $652 from general funds had been paid members of the faculty whose salaries were in arrears.

The local committee will continue the drive until all of the debt is underwritten. This object should be attained within a few weeks.

All Participate

All elements in the community participated in helping along the drive. Fifteen pledges of $1,000 were given, two of which were paid in full. There were 20 pledges of $500.00 or more.

Said President Weidler, "The whole project was a fine exhibition of community spirit and of good will for York College."

Debt Now Lowest in Years

The debt of the college now stands at about $46,000, the lowest point in a dozen years, $39,000 having been paid in the past three years. All alumni and former students should help erase the remaining debt.

After July 1, 1943, the college will also have right of way in the denominational constituency for an intensive drive for endowment and expansion funds.

If you would be pungent, be brief; for it is with words as with sunbeams—the more they are condensed, the deeper they burn. —Southey.

Rev. Schutz Explains Leopard Skin

For a long time, York college students have looked at the leopard skin hanging in a case in the library. They have also noticed the card: "The Gift of Dr. E. I. Conner." That is all the present students knew about the skin until Pres. D. E. Weidler introduced The Rev. Walter Schutz of Dayton, Ohio, who visited the campus and spoke at a joint meeting of Y. M.-Y. W. on Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Mr. Schutz was a missionary in Africa for more than fifteen years and was head of the boys' school at Freetown in Sierra Leone, West Africa, where Vaughn Leaming, '41, was a teacher for two years. The Rev. Mr. Schutz was at York College conducting interviews with students interested in religious work.

According to Pres. Weidler, who had previously been at this same mission station, when Mr. Schutz was living at Rotifunk, he became known as an expert hunter. The natives living at Rotifunk began losing sheep, goats, and chickens. They knew a leopard was taking them, so they asked Mr. Schutz to shoot the leopard.

Some native boys were sent out to clear the underbrush on the path near the hiding place of the leopard. However, the boys did only a half-way job, leaving some branches.

The beaters drove the leopard to the path. When Mr. Schutz pulled his gun to shoot, his arm struck a branch, and he was able only to wound the animal. The leopard leaped at him, catching his left shoulder. The force knocked Mr. Schutz down, and the muscles of his left shoulder were ripped.

The beaters drove the leopard away and later killed it. The teeth and claws were presented to the Chief, according to custom, but The Rev. Mr. Schutz received the skin, which was cured, and later presented to York College by Dr. E. I. Conner, '22, who was also in Africa and associated with Dr. Schutz.

In his chapel addresses, The Rev. Mr. Schutz stressed the necessity of an unselfish American policy in dealing with other nations after the war. He counseled abandonment of the isolationist view if a just and durable peace is to be maintained.

Off They Go, . . . The Army Air Force Reserves

"Off we go—into the wide blue yonder" There they go—The Army Air Force! And this statement becomes literally true as our Y. C. reserves leave the campus, skyward bound.

Someone asked what was good about the Army Air Corps, so your reporter thought you all ought to know.

The potential fliers gave out a few ideas. For one thing, the Air Force means Planes, and that means happiness for air-minded men. Air-minded men? Yes, but no airy-minded men. The fellows in the Air Force have proved their great minds by very stiff mental tests (according to members of this branch of the service.) This suggests that the Air Force has strong-minded men, and these same men are strong-bodied, too—just ask any of them.

One of the sophomore reserves has this bit of information accredited to him: "Fellows in the Air Force Reserve may get married any time, while the fellows in the Naval Reserve must wait for a specified amount of time." (You would be surprised to know who said that, too!)

Of course some of the girls might (?) be prejudiced, but they say there are the nicest men in the Air Force.

Well, yes, there are some things to be said about the Army and Navy, but just now—Hats Off! "Nothing can stop the Army Air Force."

EDUCATION IN ARMS

Washington—(ACP)—As college administrators wait with crossed fingers, guesses on the date for selection of schools for the Army-Navy college training program have been moved a notch to March 1.

A nine-man board representing Army, Navy, and War Manpower is plowing through questionnaires describing facilities of nearly every college in the country. Secretary of War Stimson has warned schools it will do no good to try lobbying for their institutions. Colleges are taking the hint.

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Joe N. Dalton, the Army's assistant chief of staff for personnel, has made a point of clarifying the status of men who will eventually enter the specialized training courses.

"The trainee is not a college boy in uniform," says General Dalton. "He's a doughboy in a military unit located at a college. This program is not designed to offer a nice, soft spot for young men who have been inducted into the service."

GOVERNMENT GIRLS

The lot of a white collar girl in Washington is not exactly a happy one. Her folks at home fondly think she's getting a heavy tan from sharing the spotlight with big shots, growing giddy in the whirl along embassy row, and making big money. Those who don't know her think she's primping on taxpayer's money. Congressional growlers picture her as a cross between a reliefer and a shiftless squatter.

Actually, she's a hard worker who has a tough time looking trim on $1,440. She gets homesick more often than she'll admit. Her morale may not be much—but it's all she has to keep her going.

And now her morale has had three quick lifts. Congress raised her pay by giving her time and a quarter for overtime she's worked unpaid for months. A hospitality committee has finally started working to help her meet service men—an important matter in a town without enough young men to go around. And no less a personage than Mr. FDR has told Congress to its face that government workers are doing jobs that must be done to win the war.

High time, too, say the government girls.

WASHINGTON BOUND?

Washington—(ACP)—Horror stories or no, many a collegian will cock his hat toward Washington come job-hunting time in the spring.

If you have the capital bug, you'll worry about making a modest salary stretch over the nation's highest high-cost-of-living, about living with a million and a half where only half a million were meant to be.

Here's what hardened Washingtonians can tell you about Washington today:

They're exhorting householders to convert their spare rooms and unused attics into quarters for government workers. Over by the Potomac, they're tossing together temporary dormitories for government white-collar girls. But you can still get a room in reasonably short order, thanks to a registry of rooms set up for the likes of you.

The Burr Speaks

By Marr McGaffin

World-Herald Bureau,
950 National Press Building,
Washington, D. C., Jan. 29

The four hundred or more privately supported or endowed small colleges scattered over the country, like thousands of small businesses, are on the verge of becoming casualties of war.

During the past week their friends and spokesmen have been presenting their case before the house military affairs committee. They are asking that congress step in and force the armed services to give them a place in the specialists' training program now being set up.

While not equipped to handle groups of men as large as the units contemplated, they contend that with only a small amount of organization several small college units could be handled equally as well.

Follows Business Pattern

Their story follows closely the pattern of small business and its unsuccessful effort to find a place in the war production program as a substitute for dwindling peacetime activities.

Those concerned over the fate of small businesses contend that unless they are saved from destruction now there will be little hope of re-establishing them after the war. Small business, they have argued, is the rock-bottom foundation of the free American enterprise and progress.

Spokesmen for the small colleges contend they are the last bulwark of the liberal arts system of education in this country.

See Threat in Trend

Wheeler Sammons of Chicago told the committee yesterday that for 50 years there has been a steady trend away from liberal arts and toward the vocational system of education.

Overemphasis on the latter, he declared, was stressed in Germany for years before Hitler was able to establish a dictatorship. Because of it, he said, the youth of Germany was conditioned for use by the Hitler government rather than trained to think for itself.

Members of the committee, who interpreted the plea of the small colleges as an outright request for a government wartime subsidy, expressed the view such a step might lead also to governmental control over the schools, themselves.

Must Save 'Brainpower'

That, they argued, might prove more disastrous than the trend away from liberal arts education, Sammons mentioned. He replied that it was the duty of congress to make certain that such a thing did not happen.

The real objective, he said, is not assuring the continued existence of small colleges.

It is making certain that while the nation is allocating manpower, materials, industrial facilities and foodstuffs it is also making provision for the conservation of "brainpower."—(Reprinted from the Omaha World-Herald).

Marvel Tells More About England

"It's not all work and no play for the American soldier in Britain according to 1st Lieutenant Alden Marvel, '39, who was recently transferred to the American forces after months of training with the British army. He related a number of interesting side-lights to his training, including the following:

One of the most interesting was an eight day bicycle trip from Coventry to London. On the tour the group visited Stratford on Avon, the home of the noted playwright, during the annual Shakespeare festival. This festival is highlighted by the presentation of Shakespeare's works by the most famous Shakespearean actors. Some time was spent at Oxford and other historic points along the route. Many of the homes Lieut. Marvel has stayed in were constructed before America was discovered. For instance, part of one home was built in 842, and the most recent addition to it was constructed about 1142. The majority of the construction work is of stone.

Another outstanding experience was attendance at a Church of England service as guest of the Lord Mayor of a London suburb. These services are formal and traditional. In each church there is a center aisle down which the mayor walks to the front of the church where he is seated next to the aisle, in front of and to the left of the minister. He is dressed in the official robes of his office, wears a white powdered wig, and carries a large scepter which denotes his position. The members of his council, also wearing wigs, are seated next to him in the front pew. At the close of the service the congregation remains standing until the mayor leaves.

They Tramped These Halls

By PROF. J. C. MORGAN

A letter from Fred Novak, '42, to President Weidler contains interesting data concerning his work in the army. The department to which he has been assigned is made up entirely of college men, and the work of this department consists in interviewing inductees as to their education, life history, previous work, and hobbies. Upon the basis of these interviews is determined the nature of the future work of the inductee in the army.

Miss Mary Lue Warner, '41, sends in the following items:

Paul Norton, ex-'43, is out in the Pacific somewhere. His address is P. H. M 3/c, Navy 603, % Fleet Post Office, San Francisco.

The address of James Farley, ex-'40, is a/c J. A. Farley, Aviation Cadet Regiment, Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. He probably has his wings by this time. He had a lively experience recently when his plane lit upside down in the water, but Jim got out O. K. and the plane was later rescued.

INTERVIEWS ADVERTISER

"I like York College and I hope that it will be able to withstand the difficulties resulting from the war and can keep going," said P. J. Hesler, owner of Hesler Cleaners.

Mr. Hesler has been in the cleaning business for thirty years and has been advertising in the Sandburr for fifteen years.

"I have had many good times with York College students and have enjoyed my associations with them", said Mr. Hesler.

His nephew, Stanley Snyder, graduated with the class of 1940 and is attending medical school in Omaha.

Y. M. C. A. Elects

At a special election February 16, Joe Stauffer, junior of Leocompton, Kans., and Don Hines, freshman of Yuma, Colo., were elected Student Council Representative and Secretary respectively of the YMCA. The two retiring officers, Howard DeBoer, junior of York, and Gerald Edgar, sophomore of Beloit, Kans., were called into the Army Air Force.

After the election the committees for the Jolly-up met and discussed their plans.

Two More Games . . .

Only two basketball games left—both of them conference games and important ones to win. In the first game with Wesleyan this season the Panthers barely won with a one point margin. In the first game with Doane, the Yorkmen lost to the Tigers by eight points. When these teams come to York they'll be trying their best to spoil the undefeated record the Tonkinmen now hold on the home floor and to keep York from a share of conference honors. York needs these games; so let's get behind the team and support them with the same kind of pep shown at the Kearney game—only better. Keep the spirit going from the first pep chapel till both games are won.

More Pep . . .

It has been noticed that the boys on the team like good cheering and complain if they don't get it. It has also been noticed that a number of these team members are practically apathetic during pep chapels. The "pep situation" could be helped if York college athletes would open their mouths and yell and show a little enthusiasm during the pep chapels. You can't expect a student to put much into a cheer if one of the team members is slouching next to him and refusing to utter a sound. When the cheer-leaders ask for some yells, let's have a little assistance from the athletes, too.

Triple Victory . . .

Spectators at the York-Kearney fray forgot the cold winds outdoors as they watched the hard and fast play of the two teams at the City Auditorium. The game had received a great deal of publicity because of the marks broken during the previous clash, and a record crowd of near 700 attended. While York took an early lead and held it, the game was kept exciting as Kearney threatened time and time again. In reality York won a triple victory. (1) They avenged the earlier defeat, (2) they retained their lead in the state race, (3) Wayne Kaeding took over the individual scoring lead by outpointing McCullough 19-9. McCullough, who scored 42 points against York in the last game, was successfully bottled up by a York zone defense used especially to stop him. The final score, 70-63 was another high total but fell 24 points short of the previous score.

Scoring Splurge Buries Hastings 84-53 In N.C.A.C. Victory Four

The Panthers returned to the scene of their early season tournament-time troubles with a vengeance last Thursday night and routed the Broncos of Hastings college 84-53.

It was the highest-scoring game of the year for York, as they got 40 points the first half and 44 the last. In the first minute of play, the Panthers netted eight points, but that blistering pace couldn't continue. Wayne Kaeding got back to high-scoring form again as he tallied 33 points against the out-classed Broncos. Brother Jim stole most of the show, however, with his lightning-fast passing game. He also scored 14 points to be second high for York.

Thus the Panthers took their fourth conference victory against one defeat, to Doane. By the time this is printed they will have played their return game at Midland and will have two more conference games left, both at home, when Wesleyan and Doane come here next Tuesday and Friday nights.

Hastings, generally fired up for York games, put up only moderately stiff resistance after the opening Panther thrust. Cochran was their mainstay in the scoring column, getting 14 counters. The Hastings rebound game suffered when Johnson, big center, left the game on fouls midway of the final period.

PANTHER PERSONALITIES

W. Kaeding

D. Grimes

G. Shaneyfelt

This issue we bring to the limelight four more members of the mighty Panthers in the personages of Wayne Kaeding, Jim Conway, DuWayne Grimes, and George Shaneyfelt.

Wayne Kaeding

Wayne is the other half of the high scoring "Kaeding act" from Benedict and like brother Jim, is playing his third year as a regular forward. Able to shoot and make 'em from any angle or position, "Winkie" has been a "marked man" for opposing teams but regardless has averaged 21 points each game this season. As York blasted Hastings 84 to 53, Wayne had a field day when he posted 33 points to boost his conference scoring to the top.

Jim Conway

Jim "Tex" Conway is the biggest player on the Panther squad and is earning his first letter at guard, where he possesses great ability in snagging rebounds. "Tex", who played for a well-coached York high school team, is fast rounding into a valuable team man.

DuWayne Grimes

Although he didn't score much, Conway displayed his best defensive game as York turned back Wayne State Teachers by a 50 to 46 score.

Possessing a surprising amount of scrap for his diminutive size, DuWayne "Burly" Grimes has landed a spot on the first five where he is playing inspired ball. "Burly", who hails from Harlan, Kansas, is earning his third letter at forward where he is using his "dead eye" shooting to aid the Panthers in their 60 point average. When Kearney came to the Panther lair seeking a repetition of their early season victory,

Grimes came through with 16 points as York won handily 70 to 63.

George Shaneyfelt

After playing six years of high school and college basketball at the forward and center positions, George Shaneyfelt is playing one of York's guards this season, because of the lack of steady and experienced material at that post.

"Shaney" is one of the few guards in the state who is averaging 10 points or better, and those points have looked mighty big in some of the Panther's harder games this year. "Big Geo.", is built well proportionally for a guard as he stands 6'0" and tips the scale at 185 lbs.

George's field day was in the overtime loss to Kearney when he dunked in 18 points, 16 of which came in the last half.

McCullough Gets Only Nine Points

Victory Avenges Earlier 80-77 Defeat of Kearney

York Panthers avenged themselves for a three point overtime defeat earlier in the season at Kearney, by winning over Kearney 70 to 63 in the York auditorium before a record crowd of nearly 700 February 9.

McCullough of Kearney scored the initial basket of the game. Grimes followed with a set up which evened the score. After the first five minutes of play, the Panthers took the lead and never lost it. However, Kearney threatened till the end of the game.

The York team played as a well coordinated team with scoring honors going to Jake Kaeding with 21 points, Wayne Kaeding with 19 points, Grimes with 16 points, and Shaneyfelt with 13 points.

The zone defense of the Panthers stopped McCullough, who scored 42 points in the January 19 game, and he got only 9 points. However, the long shots of Moline and Peterson, who had 20 and 14 points respectively, and the close in work of Newcomb kept the Antelopes in the running.

Shaneyfelt of York and Peterson of Kearney went out on personals in the last few minutes of the game.

Pulliam of Grand Island and Donohoe of York were referees.

Farley Receives Navy 'Wings'

JAMES A. FARLEY

James Allen Farley, ex-'40, Route 2, Ontario, Oregon, was commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve at the Naval Air Training Center at Corpus Christie, Tex., on Jan. 29

While in York College, Farley was a member of the Y. M. C. A., PALS, Student Council, and Panther club.

Farley volunteered for flight training last October and received preliminary flight instruction at the Los Alamos reserve aviation base. Prior to his entering the aviation branch of the navy he served 22 months in the U. S. Navy.

He was presented his coveted "Navy Wings of Gold" at graduation ceremonies where he received his designation as a Naval Aviator.

Modern Culture Is Topic of PALS Discussion

Modern literature, music, and art were discussed and illustrated by members of the PALS at their meeting on February 2.

Winifred Smith, junior, Enid, Okla., gave a report on modern literature, and Margaret Trout, junior, Culbertson, reviewed the book, "The World at My Fingertips", written by Karsten Ohnstad.

Bruce Herrick, junior, Dayton, Ohio, discussed modern music and played phonograph records which illustrated it.

Nellie Rabuck, freshman, Dawson, Iowa, described modern art and Frances Hickey, sophomore, Spokane, Wash., presented a study of modern pictures.

At the close of the program Esther Johnson, senior of Merna, and retiring president, served cup cakes and punch as a token of appreciation to the members for their cooperation.

The 48-hour work week still leaves us 120 hours to write that letter to a 168-hour week soldier boy.

Hinkel Heads PALS Society

Virginia Hinkel, only recently made head of the PALS, was also elected president of the York College Players, when the Historic club met for election on Feb. 1.

The rest of the executives are Margaret Gaston, vice-president; Don Hines, business manager; and secretary-treasurer, Thelma Rocknold.

Eight Students Practice Teach

Practice teaching is occupying a place on the schedule of eight of the college students.

Evangeline Tracy, freshman of Strang, Nebr., is working toward a general elementary certificate. Two sophomores, Carol Willer of Merville, Ia., and Ruth King of Topeka, Kans., are looking forward to junior elementary certificates.

Five seniors, Elwyn Phillips, Merna, Marjorie Reisbick, York, Dorothy Jean Saddoris, York, Eugene Severin, Imperial, and Floyd Taylor, York, are striving for secondary school certificates.

Zetas Install New Officers At Meeting

An inaugural address by Eleazor Pflug, sophomore of York, and a valedictory address by Elwyn Phillips, senior of Merna, were given by the in-coming and outgoing presidents of the Zeta Literary society at the installation meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 16.

Other officers installed were Daisy Million, junior of Noel, Mo., vice-president; Reba Grimes, freshman of Woodston, Kans., secretary; Jane Herschfeld, freshman of Benedict, treasurer; Esther Megill of York, also a freshman, chaplain; Elwyn Phillips, musician; and Harvey Holbrook, freshman of Orchard, chorister. Miss Doris Gilmore, secretary to President D. E. Weidler, is sponsor of the society.

J. Hill Anglin, sophomore of Amistad, N. M., Harold Walker, freshman of Norway, Kans., Ruby Granden, freshman of Burrton, Kans., and Daisy Million were in charge of a Valentine party following the installation.

Dean Bachman Speaks on Values

"The worldly, the ascetic, and the Christian are the three views of looking at religion and life," stated Dean Walter E. Bachman, in his chapel talk Thursday.

The worldly view makes life a matter of eating and drinking and wearing clothes. Success is measured in terms of material gain.

Spiritual values are of paramount importance to the ascetic, who withdraws from social life and devotes himself to things of spiritual nature.

Christianity gives a proper value to both the worldly and the ascetic. It recognizes the importance of physical as well as spiritual things.

"All religion leads into a realm of mystery although there is enough certainty for men to live by," concluded Dean Bachman. "Spiritual qualities are as real as physical things. We should recognize them and strive to develop them."

Round Table Discusses Basketball

That the size of the enrollment is an important factor in the quality of the team, and that the degree of enthusiasm of the student body is directly responsible for the success of the team were the conclusions reached in a round table discussion at Y. M. C. A. meeting, Tuesday, February 9.

George Shaneyfelt, junior of Aurora, a prominent athlete, led the discussion.

Other points brought out were, that a team has a decided advantage on their home floor and that York College has an unusual privilege in being able to play in the city auditorium.

The meeting opened by singing directed by Daryl Severin, senior of Imperial, accompanied by Bruce Herrick, junior of Dayton, Ohio. Harold Jensen, senior of Waukomis, Oklahoma, led the devotional service.

Walter Brant, senior of Robinson, Kansas, gave the closing prayer.
