Y. C. Players Give Major Production Tomorrow Night

"Come Rain or Shine", a light comedy in three acts, by Marri-jane and Joseph Hayes, will be presented by the Histrionic club tomorrow evening at the high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Irene Shipley, head of the expression department.

"Come Rain or Shine" is a rollicking comedy written in the spirit of fun, but the insight and warm affection underlying the merriment, add a refreshing ring of truth to the situations and characters. New incidents keep the fun rippling and yet the play rests on the foundation of a sturdy, worthwhile theme. The play is a richly warm-hearted comedy of real people.

The cast is as follows: Jac Grayson, the girl around whom the story is centered, Irene Falk, senior of Stromsburg; Rosemary March, Jac's chief competitor, played by Ruth Auchard, senior, Woodston, Kans.; Mrs. Grayson, Jac's mother, by Roberta Allen, senior, Berthoud, Colo.; Irene Holden, Hope Howland, Great Falls, Mont.; Agnes Holden, by Marie Harris, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Julia March by Jean Rasp, sophomore, Shelby; Helen by Betty Jean Schoonover, sophomore, Des Moines, Ia.; Anne Barry by Wanda Wantz, junior, Shelby; Ella Stone by Mary Kathryn Armstrong, senior, Lincoln; Mrs. Sparks by Iona Shaw, sophomore, Great Falls, Mont.; Dan Lyons by Fred Vorce, freshman, Brookfield, Mo.; Glenn Grayson by Merwin Kurtz, freshman, Alton, Kans.; Mr. Grayson by Max Allen, junior, Washta, Ia.; Dick Clements by Kenneth Foster, freshman, York; and Fred by Gaylon Baker, freshman, Merville, Ia.

Pre-Easter Services Held In Y.C. Chapel

Pre-Easter services were held in the college chapel each day during the last week of Lent. As an introduction, Dean W. E. Bachman reviewed briefly on the previous Friday, the meaning of the days of Lent.

"On Monday, the Day of Authority," explained Pres. D. E. Weidler, "two incidents were outstanding. First, it was the day of purifying for all people. Second, through the parable of the barren fig tree, Jesus admonished the disciples to make their lives fruitful instead of mere mockeries and pretenses.

Dean W. E. Bachman stated that on Tuesday, the Day of Controversy, information was not the goal of the numerous questions asked by the enemies of Jesus. They merely wanted to belittle Him and put Him in the wrong. Instead, through Christ's answers we realize that "we should choose the way of Jesus in order to meet the controversies of life." Because of the results of the previous day, Jesus chose Wednesday as the Day of Retirement. Dr. G. T. Savery, college pastor, said, "We can learn from Christ how to face a crisis. We cannot escape from normal tests in life, but we can be prepared to meet them by taking time out for communion with Christ."

"Thursday, the Day of Fellowship and Betrayal, was a day of crisis for Jesus, Peter and Judas," declared the Rev. M. B. Canon, director of public relations. Although each met his crisis in a different way, Jesus shows us the way to meet all crises. We must meet them with humble heart, through the power of God, and in the strength of our weakness.

Factory Provides Employment For College Women

The new egg plant in the northwest part of York, owned and operated by the Bowman Co., furnishes employment for about a dozen of the college women and many other women of York and nearby towns.

Eggs are shipped to the plant by local dealers within a radius of 150 miles. Separate rooms for the candling and breaking of the eggs constitute a large part of the plant. After the eggs are candled, broken, and separated, they are put into large containers, frozen, and kept in cold storage until they are shipped to other parts of the country where there is a demand for the product.

Each morning, except on Sunday at 7 o'clock over a hundred white-uniformed women begin work and continue until 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon, having one rest period and a lunch period. Men are employed for the heavy work.

Cool and sanitary working conditions are provided. The workers are paid 55c an hour.

College students are given the opportunity of working any hours between 7:00 a. m. and 3:15 p. m. The company has shown a disposition to change its schedule to better agree with that of the college women if there are enough from the college to make it worthwhile to do so.

The work at the egg plant will continue during the best egg seasons which include most of the year except a few summer months.

How About It?

Arbor day was celebrated for the first time in Nebraska on April 10, 1872. Within a few years other states had followed Nebraska in the custom, and by 1895 Arbor Day had been accepted internationally. In some states the day is a legal holiday. In others it is observed unofficially or by gubernatorial proclamation. The date of celebration varies with the different states and with the different climates. The southern states plant their Arbor Day trees earlier than the northern states. Some states observe the day both in the spring and in the fall. It is interesting to note, however, that Nebraska celebrates the day on April 22, the birthday of J. Sterling Morton, the founder of Arbor Day.

Morton was born in Missouri in 1832 and moved to Nebraska in 1854. At that time the country west of the Missouri River was called the great American desert. Nebraska was nearly treeless. However, Morton was not convinced that trees would not grow in this area. He began to plant fruit, shade, and forest trees. His example was so forceful that more than one million trees were planted in Nebraska on the first Arbor Day in 1872.

Morton had faced the skepticism of his fellow citizens and shown them that trees could be made to grow where none had grown before. It is suggested that foresters may have had his example in mind when they advocated and planted the Great Plains Shelterbelt. This project, which resulted in the planting of over 215,000,000 trees, has produced a series of shelterbelts from Texas to the Canadian border. The trees have grown an average of four feet a year through seasons including some of the worst droughts in history. They are serving the area by reducing moisture losses in dry seasons and protecting crops. One author made this comment: "It is thus an interesting commentary on the conservation movement that the tree-poor plains region where Arbor Day began should become world famous as the site of one of the greatest tree planting projects in history."

Let's keep on planting!

Dissertation On Spring

by Norma Anderson

There are several kinds of spring: the "bed" spring, the "hot" spring (such as Old Faithful, a geezer out west), and "it might as well be" spring. All of these put spring into your step.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to what he's been thinking about all winter anyway—spring football, that is! But we must encourage the boys to get their exercise because exercise kills germs; only it's so hard to get the germs to exercise.

Spring brings with it so many bright colors—green. The grass is green; the leaves are green; the grass is green. I suppose it's to keep one from feeling blue. If you're well—"read", it won't bother you. There are other colors, too, of course. I suppose you know that all the posies will be a shade darker this year; they are doing that to all kinds of flours. They might smell stronger, too, though some flowers aren't worth a scent.

With spring, come the April showers which bring May flowers. Ah! The beautiful, refreshing rain! Each tiny drop gently frees itself from its cloudy lair, falls sparkling through the clear air, and lands smack in the middle of a great big mud-puddle. What a drip! And speaking of drips, doesn't Harley Danner vault beautifully?

In the spring the birds sing, (poetry), the birds sing — and Barbara—well, the birds sing! They hop along and eat worms. I had an awful time the other day when one grabbed me by the leg!

I wanted to leave you with an intelligent thought, but I couldn't think of one, so I'll read this poem (?), by Barbara Blauch. Quote:

Spring is
It used to wasn't
Pretty soon it won't be.
Is it?

Elaine Goodwin, sophomore of Shickley, is now at her home recuperating from an appendicitis operation. Miss Goodwin expects to return to school next week.

AD LIBS FROM THE LIBRARY

By Barbara Blauch

You scientists and scientists-to-be will appreciate this "Autobiography of Science," edited by F. R. Mouton and Justus Schifferes. One hundred great triumphs of science have been recorded in the original words of those who achieved them. Both editors have made brilliant contributions to the scientific world, and make what the dust jacket terms "an ideal team." Each incident marks a climax of a great life. Hippocrates writes of medicine, Leonardo da Vinci of flight, Curie of radium, Freud of psychoanalysis, (Ingrid Bergman obviously didn't invent the process) to name but a few. Even if you believe that you aren't scientifically inclined, these have been important events in the history of the world, and, as such, deserve your investigation.

Don't look now but that nucleus is here again. This time it's a book, "Atomic Energy for Military Purposes" by Henry D. Smyth. It is a full text of the official report, written so that the average person, with even the most fundamental scientific knowledge should be able to understand most of it.

The "1946 World Almanac" is a reference volume containing facts on events from "Aviation" to "Zoology". It has almost any information you'd want except the answers to Prof. Canon's history tests.

Are any of you interested in a railroad job this summer? If you are, you will probably want the proper historical background, "Burlington West" by Richard Overton will help you get it. It's a colonization history of the Burlington railroad. After all, most of us would be wasting away in some eastern city if it had not been for the Burlington pioneers. Now don't you prairie-haters start suing the Burlington or they'll hang me for sabotage.

A Super Sleuth Finds Men Have Firm Foundation

York College men students wear three sizes larger shoes than do the York College women students according to a recent survey made in Prof. W. J. Karraker's class in Statistics in Psychology and Education. The class obtained the actual size of shoes worn by students in order to conduct their survey.

It was found that men students wear shoes ranging from size 6 to 13 and the women students wear shoes ranging in size 4 to 9. The arithmetic mean for the men was 9:31, actually 9 1/2, and 6.65, actually 6 1/2, for the women. The difference in the arithmetic means is three, meaning that the men wear three sizes larger shoes than the women.

The class also found that football players in York College wear a half size larger dress shoe than football shoe.

Annual Meet Held After Three-Year Lapse In Sports

76 High Schools Invited

High school athletes from vari-ous parts of Nebraska will be out "doing their stuff" Saturday, April 27, when the York College Invita-tional High School Track and Field Meet will be resumed on the Panther oval for the first time since 1943. Seventy-six high schools have been invited.

Since the beginning of this an-nual affair back in 1931, there have been some top records set. In 1940, big Howard Debus of Lincoln high hurled the discus 174' 2 1/2" to set the National Inter-scholastic record. Many of the standing records have not been broken for a number of years.

Two large track trophies will be given for first places in the Class A and Class B divisions. Individual medals will be given for first place in each event.

Rev. McGuire Speaks To Recruits On "Sleeping Through A Revolution"

Using as his theme, "Sleeping Through a Revolution," the Rev. O'Linn McGuire, Jr., pastor of the local Baptist - Congregational church, stated at a recent meeting of Recruits that American people at present are living in an era of spiritual revolution; a revolution of plenty; and an atomic revolution.

"Christians need to be alert to the cynicism, sophistication, and fast living of American people as symptoms of a revolution of spiritual living," asserted the Rev. Mr. McGuire, "and Christians should use these symptoms to point men to God."

The speaker declared that although nearly half the world is starving, sociologists have proven that there is a revolution of plenty. Mr. McGuire stated that only the Christian church can say, "We are our brother's keeper"; and he stated that it should combine the social gospel of Jesus with the personal gospel of salvation.

"The atomic revolution is a personal thing," stated the speaker "because it can completely and utterly destroy mankind." "The only thing that can keep the world from suicide is the gospel of Jesus Christ and its implications."

In conclusion, Mr. McGuire declared that if one knows any good news, and is sure of it, he must tell it to some one quickly.

Devotions were led by Reuben Ruybalid, sophomore, Antonito, Colo.
