Christian Associations Plan Recreation for Y. C. Winter Season

An ice skating rink, a student activity center for use after basketball games, and outstanding movies of preceding years are to be included in the campus recreational program being formulated by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of York College.

These organizations, with the cooperation of the administration, have plans to flood a portion of ground near the campus. Ethel Brooks, senior of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and president of the Y. W. C. A., states, "The purpose of this activity is to provide an outdoor sport in which the entire student body may participate."

Definite steps have also been taken to obtain use of the basement of the city auditorium as an activity center after York games. Ping-pong, group games and other amusements have been planned by the social committees of the two organizations. As an added attraction, a refreshment concession has been granted and use of the auditorium kitchen will be permitted on a trial basis.

As a third project, a poll to determine student taste in movies has been taken and a series of at least eight movies will be shown on open evenings in the chapel. The movies which have been chosen are: "Anna and the King of Siam", "Home in Indiana", "How Green Was My Valley", "Irish Eyes Are Smiling", "Jane Eyre", "Keys of the Kingdom", "State Fair", and "As You Like It." They will be shown Dec. 6 and 13, Jan. 17 and 23, Feb. 7, and March 5, 13, and 20.

Prof. Bruce Herrick of the department of religious education, and sponsor of the Y. M. C. A., states that these plans were made with the benefit of the student body in mind, and that no attempt will be made to make a profit on any of these enterprises. A small admission fee will be charged for the movies to cover the rental cost. Visiting colleges may be entertained at the activity center following the basketball games but all students must show activity tickets, and each student will be allowed only one guest.

Literary Societies Honor New Members At Formal Reception

Theme is Thanksgiving,
Harold Walker Presides

Harold Walker, senior, Santa Cruz, N. M., presided as master of ceremonies at the Zeta-PALS reception held in the reception room of the college church in honor of the new members.

Immediately after Mr. Walker's introductory statement, the lights were turned off and the silhouette of a ship, representing the Mayflower, was revealed on a screen while Dick Riggs, junior, Ames, Ia., and the PALS quartet sang "Eternal Father".

Ethel Brooks, senior, Cedar Rapids, Ia., read two Thanksgiving poems with the mixed choir humming "America the Beautiful" in the background. Miss Brooks and the choir then presented the 95th Psalm.

The first silhouette composed of living subjects depicted Denny Auchard, senior, Alexander, Kans., and Ruth Sanchez, senior, Holman, N. M., as two pilgrims going to church. The choir accom-

Herrick Heads O. B. N. Fellowship

Marvin Herrick, senior, McCool Junction, was elected president of O. B. N. at a recent meeting. Gerald Witham, junior, Agra, Kans., was elected vice-president; Mark Fahring, sophomore, Salina, Kan., was chosen as student council representative; Lee Miller, senior, Ventura, Ia., was elected secretary-treasurer.

Ralph Amen, sophomore, Cheyenne, Wyo., is the new chorister, and Oren Reger, junior, Angus, was re-elected pianist.

Dr. J. C. Morgan of the Classical Languages and Bible department, was re-elected sponsor, and the two advisors are Rev. Vaughn Leaming, business manager, and Dr. G. T. Savery, College pastor.

Y. C. Represented At District Youth Rally

A number of York College students attended the York Quarterly District Youth Rally of the Evangelical United Brethren Church at the Shiloh Church on Nov. 16.

Participating in a debate on Home and Foreign Missions, conducted by Marie Harris, senior, Great Falls, Mont., were: Warren Porter, sophomore, Aurora; John Kilpatrick, sophomore, York; Rosella Carpenter, freshman, Espanola, N. Mex.; and Matilda Buller, Shiloh Church.

Dr. C. Talbot, a former Evangelical missionary to China, was the speaker at the evening candle light service.

Dr. Noll Back From Canada; Delegate To Grand Lodge

Dr. W. C. Noll, head of the department of biological science, is again in his classroom after a recent trip to Winnipeg, Canada, where he attended an international meeting of Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Prof. Noll, who is a Past Grand Master, also attended the State Grand Lodge in Lincoln recently. His family and father-in-law accompanied him on the trip to Canada which was made overland via highway 75. "I never saw so many potatoes in one field before", said Dr. Noll, as he described the vast expanse of level fields where farmers were digging potatoes and putting them into two-bushel sacks which stood about ten feet apart in the rows. "My family will not soon forget that trip", he declared, "nor the fields of small grain being threshed in Manitoba, the large lakes with the abundance of fish, and the timberland with brilliant autumn colors."

New Maytag Given To Y. C.

A new arrival made its debut at Hulitt Hall last week under the name of "May". This bright new "May-tag" washing machine was presented to the college by Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Schell, Iola, Kans., the parents of Max Schell, freshman, who acted as installer and serviceman. Several students have commented on its nicely timed arrival since it came two days after the breakdown of the old machine.

Creative Writing Contest Sponsored By Press Guild

A creative writing contest on material with a Christmas theme, open to all York College students, is being sponsored by the Press Guild. The contest will have two divisions, prose and poetry, and a prize is being offered to the winner in each division.

All entries must be typewritten and double-spaced with the student's name on a separate sheet of paper. Entries should be given to Prof. Edith Callender of the Department of English by Dec. 1. Judges for the contest are: Miss Maybelle Taylor, librarian; Mrs. J. C. Morgan, wife of Prof. J. C. Morgan of the Department of classical languages and Bible; and Miss Mary Miller, assistant librarian.

Snapshots Wanted By Marathon Staff

Campus photographers may submit shots to the Marathon staff for consideration, according to an announcement made by Aloys Holst, junior, York, business manager of the 1948 yearbook. Although many individual and record pictures will be taken by professional and staff photographers, outstanding student work may be included in the book.

Photos may be given to the class editors, who are Frances Porter, Aurora, and Georgiann Hoff, Los Alamos, N. M., freshmen; Opal Anderson, York, sophomore; Anna Kamm, Platte Center, junior, and Eunice Goodrich, Portland, Ore., senior. Pictures may also be presented directly to Barbara Blauch, editor-in-chief.

Football Banquet Features 1947 Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man

Theme To Be "Pigskin"; Banquet at E. U. B. Church

HONOREES . . .

Miss Lois Shaneyfelt of Central City, and Robert Gillespie of Glendale, Calif., seniors, will be presented as the Panther Sweetheart and 1947 Representative Football Man, respectively, at the annual football banquet tomorrow evening, November 21, at the Evangelical United Brethren Church. "Pigskin" will serve as the theme for the program and will be introduced by the toastmaster, Bob Dicus, junior of Lawton, Ia.

Miss Shaneyfelt, who was chosen on the basis of interest in athletics, support of the college team, and personality, is an active member of Zeta Literary Society, Y. W. C. A., chorus, W. A. A., I. R. C., and Pantherettes. She is president of W. A. A., vice-president of Pantherettes, and secretary of the senior class.

Representative Man, Gillespie, lettered in football and tennis and was a member of the basketball squad. He was conference champion in tennis singles last year. He is an active member of Zeta Literary Society, Y. M. C. A., and is secretary of the Y-Club. He is a member of the Marathon staff and was one of the freshman court judges this year.

"Pigskin," the theme of the banquet, will be carried out in the program and the decorations, according to committee heads. The letters of the word "Pigskin" will make up the program: "Panthers Present," presentation of the Panther Sweetheart, Denny Auchard, senior of Alexander, Kans.; "Inside Dope", Roy Speece, assistant coach of York; "Girls' Trio," Frances Porter of Aurora, Glenna Auchard of Alexander, Kans., and Catharine Walker of Maize, Kans., freshmen; "Sidelines," Dr. R. E. Harry of York; "Keys", Fred Vorec, sophomore of Brookfield, Mo.; "If for Football," Ross Speece, senior of York; and "Nuff Said," recognition of the team, Coach R. E. Tonkin.

Serving on the ticket and advertising committee are: Aloys Holst, chairman, junior of York, Harry Owens, freshman of Coffeyville, Kans., and Lois Riddle, sophomore of Brookfield, Mo. Chairman of the food committee is Prof. Al Zerwekh.

WRITE? RIGHT!

Have you ever met a "Thotkin"? He is a little urchin very similar to the little gremlins so well known by the fliers during the last war. He gets into the brains and fingers of students and gives them the "feeling" that they can write. It would be a sad situation if that were the end, but he goes ahead and helps them although they are often unaware of his presence.

Many students have these thotkins lying dormant in them awaiting only the opportunity to rise up and show their "stuff". The Press Guild is offering a golden opportunity to get all the thotkins around the campus busy. Both the poetic thotkins and the prose-minded ones may come to the fore.

Any student who has a queer feeling when he gets an idea or when he sees something beautiful no doubt has some thotkins running around in his interior.

No one knows the potential power vested in these many little specimens of knowledge. So let's all get busy and wake up our Thotkins. Let's write!

They Tramped These Halls

By Prof. J. C. Morgan

Rev. and Mrs. Oliver M. Adams, C. C. ex-'11, for health reasons are giving up their pastorate at the First Congregational Church, Pasco, Wash., where they have served for several years. A number of the congregation has expressed his appreciation of their work in the following tribute: "In the midst of stirring events they came to us. Our town was in turmoil, our church at a very low ebb, and we were on the verge of locking our doors permanently. In the tradition of the prophet, Rev. and Mrs. Adams moved quietly and lovingly among us. Through their efforts the Lord spoke directly to our hearts. Our congregation became revitalized, our church took on new life in every aspect. Pasco has been uplifted in cultural accomplishments through their labors."

The Rev. and Mrs. Adams formerly served charges in Nebraska and Iowa, and were often visitors in York. His father served as a pastor in the Kansas Conference. Mr. and Mrs. James Gladden (Elizabeth Feemster, '37) are members of this Pasco congregation.

We are suggesting that the class of 1923 celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary next commencement. Many other colleges make much of this custom. How about it, Class of '23? Paul, Veda, Walter, Warren, Myrvan, Dorothy, Clarence, Marion (Skinny) et ceteri, et ceterae, what do you say?

Weddings:

Miss Doris Gilmore, '40 and Mr. John P. Wallace, October 25, at Fargo, North Dakota, where they will make their home. Mrs. Wallace has for several years been employed by the First National Bank of York and was formerly secretary to the president of the college.

Miss Mary Lou Smyers, ex-'50 and Mr. James A. Steube, ex-'49, Nov. 2, York. The ceremony was performed by the college pastor Dr. G. T. Savery.

Births:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitney Jr., '40, announce the birth of a daughter, Ann Rothman, September 6, Aurora. Mrs. Whitney was formerly Miss Emma Lou Rothman, ex-'42. Mr. Whitney is practicing law at Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Porter, '41 are the parents of a daughter, Paula Kathleen born August 7, at Broken Bow, where Mr. Porter is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Schneider . . . sophomore . . . curly brown hair . . . green eyes . . . five feet ten inches tall . . . native of York.

Bob plays the position of full-back on the football team. The team knows it can get a "kick" out of Bob at almost any time. He sometimes surprises everyone, though.

The biggest surprise he arranged took place during the spring vacation last year when he changed Jean Rasp's initials to J. R. S. The arrangement seems to have agreed with Bob's football prowess.

One of Bob's hobbies besides football and golf is singing. He is rather reticent when talking about himself, but doesn't seem to want his wife to help him out. "She could probably tell you plenty," he says. In spite of his marital responsibilities, Bob still "pitches" in with the boys now and then.

The Rev. and Mrs. Vaughn Leaming, Director of Public Relations, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gifford, senior, York, were among the spectators at the Kansas-Nebraska game played in Lincoln recently.

Hi-Lites from Chapel Talks

by Louis Rachow

Beliefs That Matter

"A belief in God and the belief in the divinity of man are two basic beliefs that matter" declared the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, director of public relations, in the last formal chapel address. "We must know what we believe. If the things we believe do not matter, then it does not matter what we believe."

In relating these facts, the speaker said that fixed faith is the only thing that can outlast time. In the beginning God created; and man was made in the image of God.

Field of Education

"Education is a first line of defense." This was the statement made by Mr. Lewis F. Fowles, York high school principal, in a recent chapel talk during Education Week. Mr. Fowles urged students who have not decided upon a career to think seriously upon the field of education.

"Through education we can build a better world," declared the speaker. "Good schools are a major civic responsibility, and good teachers are needed to promote the interest of education throughout the world."

My Father's World

"This is my Father's world", declared Pres. Walter E. Bachman, in a recent formal chapel address. "Nature is God's open book. In it we see all types of nature which impress us that there is some Great Designer back of it."

Dr. Bachman discussed four important chapters of God's open book as follows: Landscapes, Sunsets and Sunrises, Rain and Snow, and All Types of Nature. He concluded by saying that man is above every other created thing.

'Burr Reporter Interviews Marine Band Director

Many York College students and faculty members heard the United States Marine Band on Nov. 12 at the city auditorium, under the sponsorship of the Civic Entertainment Committee. The group was under the baton of Major William F. Santelmann, who is responsible for the choice of the music and musicians, as well as their final blending.

Major Santelmann is the second generation of his family who has conducted the "President's own" band; his father was a member for 38 years, and 29 of those years were spent on the podium. The present Santelmann has been with the band for twenty years. Thus being, in his own words, "Just a youngster."

"Marines must audition for a place in the band," said the major. "It isn't past training, but actual performance that counts." He pursued the subject of training further, by commending liberal arts colleges such as York College for their part in producing good teachers. These teachers in turn are capable of instructing students to become top-rate performers such as those that make up the Marine band.

Both the band leader and the manager, C. C. Cappel, had much to say about the local pre-performance handling and general reception. "I think I can say, these are the most superior facilities we have ever been offered in a town of this size, and they would be outstanding even in a larger community." Mr. Cappel expressed an opinion about the fellowship found among the band members. "The spirit is unequalled," he stated.

"These tours have two purposes," declared Leader Santelmann. "The first is to contribute to charities and benefits—worthy services throughout the country. To create a feeling of general good will, is the second purpose."

"Military discipline is in order during tours," he continued, adding that seldom does it become necessary to enforce points of discipline.

The entrance of the major onto the platform seemed to call for the welcome from each band member, as well as from the audience. This same genial attitude could be felt in his willingness to talk of the band and its history. "It has been organized for 146 years," he began, "and the musicians you see are only a part to the whole. Some members must remain in Washington, on call for social functions at the White House. We often play there many times a day, each performance at a different event. One requisite for membership in the organization is the ability to play at least two instruments, for during the concert season in Washington, we become a full symphony orchestra."

A request for specific comments about these activities, received a response which combined the precision of the military and the vividness of a dramatist. "I could name many famous people whom we have entertained—King George and Queen Elizabeth, King George of Greece, Queen Wilhelmina . . . The President is a very appreciative musician," he added. The narrative included tales of visiting royalty with jewel encrusted swords, White House reception lines, and American heroes who have been feted with the music of this band.

Major Santelmann is not only an excellent conductor, but a real lover of music, whose personal preference for Brahms does not limit his scope of appreciation. "I have heard the band many times, yet each time, I experience the same new thrill in its music." This sort of man, and the sort of men he leads, will continue to convey the same emotion to American audiences everywhere, for many years to come.

Mrs. Ruth Auchard and Miss Jean Mattingly, both of the English department, Miss Mary Miller, hostess of the Annex, Jane Martin, Concordia, Kans., and Hope Howland, Kansas City, Kans., both seniors, spent Saturday in Lincoln.

KAMPUS KIDS

"Futhy Wuthy wath a bear, Futhy Wuthy loht hith hair, Futhy wuthy wathn't futhy, wath he?"

Huh us."
Thuth rethited—er, that is—thus recited Lynn Tonkin. Lynn and his brother Bob are sons of Coach and Mrs. R. E. Tonkin.

Lynn is four and expects to go to "cool" in October. According to him, he has "blue hair and white eyes". Bob is seven and is in the second grade.

In Bob's Sunday School class the lesson was on truthfulness. "One time, long ago, a boy, I guess he was President Truman's son, cut down the cherry tree and he told his Mom and she didn't spank him", related Bob.

Bob's hobby is funny books. Lynn's is playing football and doing the exercises his father puts the Panthers through.

David Sheeran is Bob's bosom buddy. Lynn's two pals are his "blue" dogs, Snowball and Gyp. Lynn's hero is Bob Gillespie.

Coach Tonkin's "little shadow" is Bob. Both boys spend a lot of time on the campus.

Last week both the boys celebrated birthdays. Lynn ate so much birthday cake he almost had the "golliwobbles".

At school Bob gets very good grades. He is a regular whiz at math. Must take after "the old man".

One morning Mrs. Tonkin could not get the car started. She couldn't figure out why it wouldn't start. Finally Lynn said, "I know why it won't thart, Mommy. It hath too much gath."

Turkey Lurkey's Thanksgiving

Once upon a time there was a young fowl named Turkey Lurky. He was completely aware that next Thursday was the fateful day. As he slowly walked through the Auchard, he noticed Jenny Beaver gnawing at a tree by the Holbrook. He walked through the Slush in the river Bason, thinking of Holm, sweet Holm.

As he walked up on a Noll he saw a suspicious Karraker walking along carrying what looked like a gun! It was Foxy Loxy with his "geetar", still looking for "footprints in the snow."

Next he strolled through the Rhoades and met a Strong man driving a horse. "Wo, mack," called the man as he dismounted. "Holt on, Turkey Lurkey, I would Walk-er talk with ye."

"Nix," thought T. L. "he just wants my wishbone" so he scrambled down the Banks of the river where he saw a Shipley sailing Conway (north, that is:).

Going deeper into the Woods he met Mary And 'er son, James, going over to the Howland. "Look, a turkey," said young James and sprinted after him. "Hey, Wade fer me," said Mary as she ran across the Winfield.

Tukey Lurkey; terrified by this terrible Vorce, flew into the arms of a Meeker man, a Carpenter. "Ah I shall take you to Herrick's Barracks, where Bruce Wucie will make a dinner out of you."

Moral: A Turkey shouldn't Lurkey.

ZOO HAPPY!

The zoology students are getting so classification-minded that every object that moves besides the moon and the professors is placed according to phylum and class. The other day Faith was heard to ask, "I wonder what phylum includes these zeta bugs?"

"I don't know", replied Bert, "but it's certain that they don't belong to the Phylum mathean Amphictyon."

Mrs. Grace Medsker, one of the cooks in the college kitchen, has been ill but is much improved at this writing.

Glen and Lois Shaneyfelt, junior and senior respectively, spent the week-end in Central City where they visited their parents.

Floyd Campbell, freshman, Trenton, Mo., . . . blond hair . . . talkative blue eyes . . . five feet seven inches tall . . . and a winning smile.

Floyd, better known as the "late" Mr. Campbell to those who have been seen him "flying low" to his nine o'clock classes five times a week, plays half-back on the football team. The team, however, never needs to worry about his being on time when the game starts.

As Floyd puts it, "I've been married for about eight months, and there's one thing I don't want from my wife. That's her southern accent." So far he's kept his Yankee accent pure . . . from southern embellishments, that is.

Besides football, Floyd has a definite interest in basketball. Track to him is a means of keeping in shape for football the next year.

FOOTBALL SEASON ENDS AT YORK COLLEGE

Wesleyan Wins Over York Eleven

Three Touchdowns Scored in Final Period

An undefeated Nebraska Wesleyan University eleven rolled up eighteen points in the fourth quarter to defeat the York Panthers 25-0 at Lincoln recently.

The Plainsmen had a slight weight edge on the Panthers. York used 21 men while the Methodists used 35 men to power their way to victory. It was the superior numbers that wore the Panthers down and started the Plainsmen's last quarter scoring rally.

York tried in vain to click with passes, but completed only two of eleven attempts. Wesleyan intercepted four. However, York battled the Plainsmen to a standstill for the two middle stanzas.

Mercer set up the first quarter tally with a 40-yard jaunt to the York 14. A few plays later he plunged over from the two. Ketterer converted for point.

In the last quarter, Gordon scored the second touchdown by plunging over from the five. A few minutes later, Bronkhorst fumbled on his own 49, picked up the ball, and raced to the York three before being brought down. He went over on the next play. He scored again from the three, climaxing a 50-yard march which started when Cash intercepted a York pass on the 50.

"That's all for football" is the cry for eight York college football players, who ended their football careers in last Friday's game with Peru State. Those eight seniors are Abe Dick, Lee Miller, Jim Conway, Don Robson, Denny Auchard, Bob Gillespie, Floyd Gifford, and Ross Speece. Each of these fellows has lettered from two to four years in football and has proven himself a worthy alumnus of this fraternal sport.

Cries of an all-victorious season or even an average season will not be heard on the Y. C. campus, but it will never be heard that Y. C. was beat before they started. The fellows went into every game with the idea that they could win, but it seemed that the breaks were against them and they fell short of that final score. And then, of course, there is always another year. The obvious signs of improvements which the 'B' squad made throughout the season make the prospects for next year's team brighter.

Now let us take a look at what has happened around the conference this last week. Last Friday night ended the football season for all but two conference teams. Hastings plays Chadron next Friday night in the deciding game of conference play.

Last week a determined Hastings team turned back the conference leading Wesleyan team for a 7-0 win over the Plainsmen. In the meantime Chadron defeated second place Doane college by a 12-7 decision. The outcome of these two games turned the conference standings topsy-turvy. It has put the once beaten Chadron in first place, dropping the once beaten and once tied Wesleyan team to second place. Hastings' win over Wesleyan has put her in third place with only two losses, while the now twice beaten and once tied Doane team has dropped into fourth place. In the other two games Midland played Kearney to a scoreless tie and Peru slid by York 26-0.

Who will be conference champs is yet to be decided. Should Chadron defeat Hastings next Friday night, Chadron will be the team, but should Hastings win, Wesleyan will be the team. Also, if Hastings wins they will share second place honors with Chadron, and Doane will emerge fourth place winners.

Conference Standings

Wesleyan	5	1	1
Hastings	5	2	0
Doane	4	2	1
Kearney	4	4	0
Peru	3	3	2

Peru Wins Final Game

York Outgains Peru Team, But Loses 26-0; Muddy Field Hampers Both Teams.

Capitalizing on every opportunity, the Peru Bobcats pushed across a touchdown in every quarter to defeat the York Panthers 26-0 in a hard-fought game played amid mud, rain, and snow. Three plays after receiving the opening kickoff, the Panthers punted to their own forty. From there the Bobcats drove for their first score with Campbell scoring from the two yard line after five minutes of play had elapsed. The York gridsters, although outgaining the teachers in every department, were unable to find the necessary punch needed to score.

Coach R. E. Tonkin started his reserves and played them the entire first period in a game which featured liberal substitution by both sides. The sea of mud which enveloped the players soon made them almost indistinguishable while the snow increased in intensity until the end of the game.

Other scores for the Bobcats were countered by Campbell from the two yard line again climaxing a 50 yard drive spearheaded by Walton in the 2nd quarter. Wilson tallied on a reverse from 25 yards out in the third quarter and Cowell galloped 20 yards with a pass interception in the fourth period for the final score.

York drove to the Peru one yard line in the final period but lost the ball on downs before being able to cash in on the scoring opportunity. Standouts for the York team were Denny Auchard, who on several occasions broke loose for substantial gains, and Bob De-

Boer, whose plunging sparked the offense of the Panthers throughout the evening.

The starting lineups:

panied the picture with "Praise to the Lord", after which Ethel Brooks read two poems. Between these selections the choir sang, "Great God of Nature."

The title of the next silhouette was "The Feast" with Denny Auchard, Ruth Sanchez, Aloys Holst, junior, York, Cynthia Campbell, sophomore, Trenton, Mo., Leslie Herron, junior, Ames, Ia., and Pattie Huebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Huebert, York, as the diners. The choir sang "Now Thank We All Our God" and concluded the program with "America The Beautiful" while Mrs. Huebert projected slides of typical American scenes.

Refreshments were served with Prof. Al Zerwekh of the chemistry department and Miss Maybelle Taylor, librarian, sponsors of the two societies, acting as host and hostess.

Chapel Program And Discussions Featured by Expression Department

The dramatic and literary interpretation class will present the following program in chapel, Nov. 21: "The White Cliffs" by Alice Duer Miller, read by Irene Edgar, sophomore of York; "A Midnight Murder", anon., and "Have You Ever Tried This Dish", anon. read by Elsie Walker, junior of Santa Cruz, N. Mex.; and "The Button" by Robert Newman, read by Harold Walker, junior of Santa Cruz, N. Mex. Gerald Edgar, junior of York, will act as program chairman.

Symposium discussions being held by the students of Miss Irene Shipley, in beginning public speaking classes were the recent highlights in the work of the expression department.

Topics of universal interest were discussed. Each student presented one point of the topic assigned to his group, and this was followed by a summary given by the chairman. Fashions, dealing with the history and the effect of war, and men's view-point and women's view-point were presented by one group headed by Norma Harris, freshman of York. Social problems, with regard to race, religion, and crime, were discussed by the group in charge of Max Garcia, freshman of Ojo Caliente, N. Mex. Other group leaders were Barbara Diek, sophomore of DuBois; Don Erfourth, freshman of St. James, Minn.; Elvin Eastman, freshman of Twin Falls, Ia.; Frank Medsker, sophomore of Columbus, Kans.; and Mrs. Mary E. Karraker, junior of York.

Students Attend State Music Clinic

Students of the High School Music Teacher's class will go to Kearney today for the State High School Music Clinic.

The clinic is sponsored by the Nebraska High School Activities association. Approximately 700 high school music students are expected to attend the clinic to work under some of the outstanding orchestra, band, and choral conductors. York college students will audit the music sessions and discussions. At the closing of the three-day clinic a program will be presented by the students.

Prof. James Koontz, teacher of the high school music teacher's class, stated, "Our policy is to attend as many as possible of the high school music activities. Those who plan to teach music in high schools should have a chance to learn about the better music education methods in Nebraska."

Leaming Presents Africa's Needs To Recruits

Bringing first-hand information of the needs for missionary work in Africa, the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, director of public relations, told the Life Work Recruits of his experiences in Africa at their meeting Nov. 10.

"I got to know the youth of Africa very well," declared the Rev. Mr. Leaming, who taught in Albert Academy, Sierra Leone, for two years. "When I saw how eager they were to know, I wanted to come back to America and go on an education crusade. When I saw their hunger for God, I wanted to come back and get the best training I could to be a minister and a missionary. When I saw the types of leprosy, I wanted to come back and study to be a doctor."

Concluding, Mr. Leaming stated that it was each individual's responsibility to decide on a life work and when the decision is made to prepare well for the task. Better students are better seekers for God.

Following Mr. Leaming's talk, Ethel Brooks, senior, Cedar Rapids, Ia., asked for pledges to aid in sending a student representative to Africa from one of the Evangelical United Brethren colleges. This plan, called the African Project of Life Work Recruits, is the undertaking of all the Evangelical United Brethren colleges. Mr. Leaming was the student representative from York College in 1937-39.

The entire program included scripture read by Rosella Carpenter, freshman, Espanola, N. Mex., and prayer by Dean Strong, freshman, Garfield, Wash.

G.M.G. Thanksgiving Breakfast
The annual Thanksgiving Breakfast of the Girls' Missionary Guild will be held Sunday morning, November 23, at eight o'clock in the parlors of the College Church. Irene Edgar, sophomore, York, will be the leader, and girls are urged to remember to bring their thank offering boxes.

Musical Programs Are Held in "Con"

York College music lovers have been gathering weekly (Thurs., 7:00 p. m.) in the Conservatory reception room as a result of plans made by the Student Council last year to promote good music on the campus.

This organization appointed a committee consisting of Harold Walker, sophomore, Santa Cruz, New Mexico, chairman; Wanda Miller, junior, Russell, Kans., and Warren Porter, sophomore, Aurora, to secure a record player and records. Several albums of records were secured and Harold Walker loaned the college his player.

The first program was conducted by Harold Walker who played Anita's Dance and the Hall of the Mt. King from the Peer Gynt Suite by Grieg, Afternoon of a Fawn by Debussy, the last movement from Brahms' First Symphony, three numbers from a Fred Waring album—Old Black Magic, My Mama Done Told Me, and Bines in the Night. The program was concluded with the last movement of Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue.

The second program was in charge of Wanda Miller. Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf, Stravinsky's Firebird Suite, and Duka's Sorcerer's Apprentice rounded out her program.

Along with the program of music is included a short comment on the composer and the composition.

The committee invites all those who like classical music to join the meetings Thursday evening.

Dr. E. G. Cutshall Speaks to Christian Associations'

He Condemns "The Rule of Rot"

For every dollar that is spent on education and on the church, over six and one-half dollars is spent on the degrading trinity—crime, gambling, and drunkenness, declared Dr. E. Guy Cutshall, former College, University, and Theological Seminary president, at a recent joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A.

Towards this "Rotacracy", the rule of rot, which has a population of 35,000,000, 32.7 billion dollars is spent. Sixteen billion is involved in crime, eight billion in gambling, and eight and seven-tenths billion in drunkenness. Alcohol is the welder of these three. Curbing this trinity would be easier if we did not have alcohol, he concluded.

Y. C. Music Groups Entertain Schoolmasters Club At Banquet

York College was represented by faculty men and student entertainers at the meeting of the Nebraska Schoolmaster's Club at which Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska was the guest speaker. The fall banquet meeting of the club was held Saturday evening in the York City Auditorium. The Y. C. Mixed Chorus, the Men's Glee Club, and the Women's Glee Club, provided the music for the program.

Governor Peterson addressed about one hundred fifty members who represented colleges and high schools from the entire state. Pres. W. E. Bachman, Dr. D. E. Weidner, head of the department of education, Dr. Charles Bisset, department of social science and history, and Prof. Myron L. Holm, department of education, are members of this organization.

Helen Mierau, ex-50, now a teacher at Henderson, was a weekend guest of Mary Katherine Jackson, recently.
