

Thirty-Three Seniors Honored In Recognition Service Today

Awards Given to Outstanding Seniors

Thirty-three seniors were honored today in the traditional Senior Recognition Day services at the college church. Dr. Frank Z. Glick of the University of Nebraska gave the address. Awards were given to outstanding seniors by President Walter E. Bachman.

The seniors, who wore academic garb, were: Mary Anderson, Arlington, Colo., Denny Auchard, Alexander, Kans., Ethel Brooks, Cedar Rapids, Ia., James Conway, York, Abe Dick, York, Gerald Edgar, York, Glen Elloe, York, Marvin Garlock, York, Floyd Gifford, York, Robert Gillespie, Omaha, Eunice Goodrich, Portland, Ore., Marie Harris, Great Falls, Mont., Marvin Herrick, York, Elaine Hicks, Bradshaw, Carvel Holt, York, Hope Howland, Mission, Kans., Edith Huebert, York, Jasmine Ingraham, Sewal, Ia., Mary Karraker, York, Hildred Karre, York, Clarence Mabon, Phillips, Jane Martin, Concordia, Kans., Leland Miller, Ventura, Ia., Louis Rachow, Strang, Richard Riggs, York, Don Robson, York, Ruth Sanches, Holman, N. Mex., Joan Scharck, York, Jean Schneider, York, Lois Jean Shaneyfelt, Central City, George Swartz, York, Iona Taylor, York, Richard Van Pelt, York.

Dr. Glick, the speaker of the morning, is director of the graduate school of social work at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

Awards

President Walter E. Bachman revealed Ethel Brooks to be the recipient of the Mary Mutch Cain award this year. He presented certificates to Ethel Brooks, Jane Martin, Denny Auchard, and Robert Gillespie, this year's York College representatives in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES.

Alpha Psi Omega Receives Three Neophytes

Prof. Bruce Herrick, of the religious education department, Fred Koontz, sophomore, Des Moines, Ia., and Dick Riggs, senior, York, were initiated into the Eta Kappa cast of the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity at an initiation service held recently. Pres. Walter E. Bachman, Miss Irene Falk, '46, Mr. Harold Wochner, '39, Miss Anna J. Thompson, York, former registrar, and Edith Huebert comprised the initiating committee.

Those appearing on the program were, Miss Jean Mattingly, Harriet Thomas, junior, Topeka, Kans., and Prof. James Koontz.

Two New Sanctuary Flags Are Dedicated

New Christian and national flags were presented to the college church at a formal installation service Feb. 29.

The national flag was a gift of the "Win Two" class and was given in memory of all service men of the church and college who did not return from World War II. Color guard for the flag was Mark Farring, Aloys Holst, and Claude McMinn, all college students and ex-service men.

The Christian flag was given by the Youth Fellowship of the church in memory of Mary Donna McCollough, ex-'49, victim of an automobile accident last year while serving on a gospel team for the college. Color guard for the Christian flag was Mary Alice Riggs, Bonnie Ackland, and Richard Miller.

Program

The remainder of the program consisted of the processional and recessional played by Prof. Eda L. Rankin of the music department; invocation by Prof. Bruce Herrick of the department of religion; Oley Speaks' "Sylvie" sung by Wanda Miller, junior, Russell, Kans., and Milton Snow, junior, Des Moines, Ia.; accompanied by Harold Holton, junior, Russell, Ia.; presentation of the senior class by their sponsor, Prof. Irene Shipley of the speech department; recognition of the senior class by President Bachman; junior recognition by the junior class president, Mary Alice Riggs, Ames, Ia.; senior response by the senior class president, Floyd Gifford; "The Valiant" by Hall and Middlemass, a reading given by Harold Walker, sophomore, Santa Cruz, N. Mex.; "The Wind's in the South" by John Pringle Scott, sung by Glenna Auchard, freshman, Alexander, Kans., accompanied by Wanda Miller; benediction by the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, director of public relations.

Ushers and Committees

The junior class was responsible for preparation of this service. Dr. Charles Bisset of the history department is the class sponsor.

Ushers were: Robert Dicus, York, William Meehan, York, Galen Munsinger, Speed, Kans., Clifford Rhoades, York, Glen Richard, York, Tom Robson, Thayer.

Committees were: Program: Oren Reger, chairman, Angus, Bonnie Ackland, Ames, Ia., Anna Kamm, Platte Center, Merwin Kurtz, York. Decorations: Elsie Walker, chairman, Santa Cruz, N. Mex., Pandora Morgan, York, Harvey Holbrook, Orchard.

Jean Schneider Presented In Senior Expression Recital

Jean Rasp Schneider, senior, York, pupil of Miss Irene Shipley, was presented in recital on March 7. Her program included "A Toast that We Can Drink," by Stokes McCune, "Getting Benchley Thru School," by Robert Benchley, "Wild Zingarella," anonymous and a cutting from the Janes Reach play, "Now That April's Here."

Mrs. Schneider, a drama major, was assisted by Miss Irene Kelley, a student of Prof. Oscar Bennet, at Nebraska Wesleyan, who sang, "The Lord Hath Given Me a Song" by Livingstone, "Ma Lindy Lou," Strickland, and "Habanera," from "Carmen," by Bizet. Miss Kelley assisted at the request of Mrs. Schneider, the two young women being from the same home town.

Administration News

Prof. Floyd Taylor, head of the mathematics department, has been chosen to head the faculty intramural volley ball team which will begin its season March 8. The players are as follows: Prof. Al Zerwekh, chemistry; the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, director of public relations; Prof. James Koontz, music; Prof. Bruce Herrick, religion; Prof. Myron Holm, registrar; Coach R. E. Tonkin, and Dean W. J. Karraker.

Faculty members have also become victims of the flu as well as a number of students. The following members have been absent because of illness: Pres. Walter E. Bachman, Dean W. J. Karraker, Dr. E. I. Dpty, head of the political science department, and Prof. Floyd Taylor, head of the mathematics department.

Inquiring Reporter

Question: What should be the outstanding characteristic of a U. S. president? Who displays this to a great degree?

"A good ethical background. Stassen is my choice, but I'm afraid he doesn't have a chance." . . . Edith Huebert, senior, York.

"Honesty. Abe Lincoln is an example. There is no modern example." . . . Merwin Kurtz, junior, Alton, Kansas.

"Just pick out some of Stassen's characteristics. That's what I want. We need a good Christian statesman." . . . Richard Miller, sophomore, Ventura, Ia.

"Discernment and personality. No example." . . . Opal Anderson, sophomore, York.

"Honesty. I can think of no example. I'm a republican, but there's no republican I'd vote for." . . . Gerald Edgar, senior, York.

"Sincerity. Thomas Dewey has a good record because of his racket cleanups. We need a statesman, not a politician." . . . Forrest Hergert, freshman, Alexander, Kans.

Ethel Brooks Receives Mary Mutch Cain Award

ETHEL BROOKS

Ethel Brooks, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., received this morning in the Senior Recognition Day service. This award is given each year to the senior girl who, in the judgment of the faculty, attains the life most nearly like that lived by Mrs. Mary Mutch Cain who lost her life in a native uprising while serving in the mission field in Africa.

Miss Brooks is the retiring president of the Y. W. C. A., a member of Life Work Recruits in which she held the position of African Project Chairman for two semesters and PALS, has been doing some assisting in the religious education department. During the past few summers, she has traveled for the college and conducted Vacation Bible Schools in the churches of this area.

Juniors-Seniors Will Revert Tonight to "Good Old Days"

"The Good Old Days" will be the theme of the party given by the senior class in honor of the juniors, according to Mrs. Edith Huebert, senior, York, who is program committee chairman. "The Good Old Days" refers to the days when the class of '48 were in first grade and the class of '49 were "those baby kindergarteners". The party will be held at the E. U. B. Church this evening at 8:00.

A program of children's games, including charades, streets and alleys, and guessing games will carry out the theme. Decorations and refreshments will also reflect "younger-days".

Working with Mrs. Huebert on the program committee were Marie Harris, Great Falls, Mont., and Bob Gillespie, Omaha. Iona Taylor was in charge of sending invitations. Decorations were planned by Jasmine Ingraham, Sewal, Ia., and Lee Miller, Ventura, Ia. Refreshments were prepared by Joan Scharck and Jean Schneider, both of York.

York Y. M. C. A Hosts to Tri-Y Conference

"The tri-Y meeting was a big success. We shall have to have more of them", declared John Walker from Hastings College who was a guest at the recent three-college Y. M. C. A. conference held on the York College campus.

The conference was attended by representatives from the colleges at Hastings, Kearney, and York. The sessions were conducted informally and the following aspects of the Y. M. C. A. year were discussed: W. S. S. F. drives, Y. M. C. A. programs, social activities, finance, Estes Park summer project, and the general state organization.

This "cluster conference" idea arose from the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference held at Camp Brewster near Omaha last fall. York acted as host for the first conference of this kind on Saturday, February 28.

After their basketball game, the Hastings delegation stayed overnight with various York Y. M. C. A. members.

Marjorie Thornton, '47, Everett Thornton, ex-'48, and Max Thornton, ex-'45, visited their cousin, Eunice Goodrich, senior, Portland, Ore., and friends recently.

College Chorus To Present Formal Concert Here April 9

A free formal concert will be presented by a special 43 member chorus at York Auditorium for the York community and schools in the surrounding area April 9. The same program, 16 chorus numbers, solos, and small ensembles, will be presented that the chorus will give on its four-state tour later that month.

This is the first concert chorus since the war. The last concert chorus toured in 1941. The tour will last nine days and will stop at thirteen cities and numerous high schools and junior colleges along the route. The group will broadcast from Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Salina, Kansas.

Roller Skating in Gym Is Resumed

Roller skating was resumed in the college gymnasium for weekend entertainment last Saturday night according to Leslie Herron, junior, Ames, Ia., in charge of the skates. At the present time complete plans have not been formulated, but committee heads are planning special parties and novel "skates." Harriet Thomas, junior of Topeka, Kans., and Herron are chairmen of the two committees.

J. Hill Anglin, '47, was a campus visitor for a recent week-end.

Press Guild Has Varied Program at Waffle Supper

"Bombastic Proverbs," journalistic reports, and group singing were highlights of the annual traditional Press Guild waffle supper held last Saturday, March 6, at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Morgan. Plans for the annual Publications Banquet to be held April 30 were discussed. The following candidates for editorship of the Sandburr to be presented to the Student Council were nominated: Norma Jean Anderson, Harriet Thomas, Fred Vorce, Mary K. Jackson, and Bernice Dvorak.

The "bombastic proverbs" were written on place cards bearing journalistic terms and small "sandburrs" of newspaper print. Each guest read the proverb and then gave his interpretation. Mary K. Jackson presented a report on Dorothy Thompson, a noted columnist, from the book The Columnists by Charles Fisher, and Gerald Bailey presented a review of the latest Scholastic Editor. Group singing of Irish songs was led by Wanda Miller.

WEATHER REPORT . . .

There's no weather like snow weather!

POEM . . .

Gay Kay who hales from Sunny Cal,
Kept raving in September,
"My gracious me, why won't it snow
So I've something to remember?"

So now she has her cool memoir
And thus has changed her song,
"For goodness sakes, where is the sun,
It's been gone for so long!"

QUESTION . . .

Why did Rolland Allison try to buy a dashshund?

Answer:
Because he heard Ronnie Anderson singing, "Get-a-long, little doggie!"

Wanted: Some one to sew on Dick Bason's buttons.

Asked in Social Class by Dr. Bisset:

"What makes etiquette?"
Smart reply: "Emily Post."

Overheard Conversations:

Martha Taylor: "You look all tired out, Dick!"

Dick Lake: "Yes, my arms are about shot. I just flew in from New York."

Mike Huebert to his father after a long look at the score board during the Doane game: "Daddy, are we really ahead?"

Paul Woelffe: "I come from just get me down."

Glen Eloe to Prof. Morgan, after reciting for three minutes:

"What was the question, Prof. Morgan?"

FAMOUS QUOTATION . . .

Chuck Hatfield: "My philosophy may be fool-osophy but it keeps me happy."

Bruce Herrick's favorite songs: "Get Up, Servant" and "For Ye Know Not What You Do."

Miss Callender (in English Lit.): "It was believed that witches could not enter a dwelling without help." Mark Fahring: "So that's why husbands have to carry brides across the threshold."

Mystery of the week: Who signed Kenny Nordlund up for women's volleyball?

Among things heard in Economics: the duet that comes when "Fusby" is called in roll-call.

The newest look on the campus (just a glimpse): Edie Huebert's blue-and-white, peeking petticoat with the little bows. She says it took days to get up courage to wear it.

Dear Chem Students,
Ever find out where that aroma of popping corn came from?

Shades of Saint Pat . . .

He was the queerest old gentleman I had ever seen, and he spoke with the oddest accent. "Begorra! And what is it now, me Colleen, that green reminds ye of?" Well, of course everyone knows the answer to that, so I didn't hesitate an instant. "Freshmen!" I ejaculated enthusiastically. The old fellow, who was dressed in a green suit which was brighter than Lois Miller's mittens or Erfourth's sweater, was not amused. "No," he answered shortly. "Green Grow the Lilacs?" I queried. This time his "no" was distinctly petulant. I was thoroughly crushed, but I ventured one more hazard, "The beautiful green grass peeking through the dark earth?" "Let's not be fergittin' fantastic—haven't ye looked out o' the window lately?" he snorted in disgust.

Feeling that he was evidently dealing with a moron, the fellow tried a new track. He started giving hints. "Now think; what is March 17?" "Hm—hm—hm—" quoth I, trying not to sound like a case of arrested development. With an obvious effort at self-control, he tried once more. Spacing his words carefully to accommodate my inferior intellect, he asked, "What kind of people go to Notre Dame?" My face lighted up like a Neon sign. "Oh, you mean football players," I squealed. I was so occupied with congratulating myself because I have always felt that girls should have broad interests, and remembering how I used to read the sport page to see which team had the handsomest boys, that I quite forgot the old gentleman.

When I did glance up, he looked positively apoplectic. He was choking with rage and then he started yelling "Where's me shillelagh! Where's me shillelagh! Shades o' Saint Patrick!" I didn't think he liked me very well, and judging retreat the better part of valor, I backed off hastily, then took to my heels.

Shurrrrrre! And don't ye meet some o' the queerrest lads and lassies in this world?

Chapel Talks

Everyone is both Hero, And Coward

Dr. W. E. Roush, Bonebrake Seminary, was featured in formal chapel recently. He used Gideon as an example in painting two word pictures, one of bravery, the other of cowardice. He pointed out that everyone is part coward and part hero, and we must ascertain that the hero in our lives is victorious.

Through Christianity Will Build Peace

As a guest of the International Relations club, Rev. John Shell of the Presbyterian church, used Christianity as it affects the world as his subject. He said that we fail to realize the import of the Christian religion. Emphasizing the fact that in establishing Christianity we build a hope for world peace, Rev. Shell concluded by saying, "If the Kingdom of God is to come to this earth, it must come through you and me."

Everyone Needs A Mountain of Rest

"The Mount That Jesus Loved" was the title of Dr. W. C. Noll's chapel talk. In describing the Nazarene's peaceful experiences on the great Mt. of Olives, he suggested that everyone should cultivate such a mountain of rest and inspiration in their own lives.

Dr. J. C. Morgan, in his speech, "An Enemy Hath Done This" considered as the enemy the elements preventing the progress of Christianity and civilization. He said, "The really deadly enemy to man, is man!" In concluding, he stated that "all heaven is on the side of goodness," and we must strive to overcome the workings of the enemy—evil.

MIRRORS OR WINDOWS . . .

"My, the world looks amazingly like me", said the little fly who was looking out of a clouded over window.

Some of us look at our college careers through windows that become so fogged up that they turn into mirrors. All that we can see is a reflection of our desires and motives. Dimly in the background we can see figures moving and vague outlines, but the whole picture is blocked by our own image. Way out of proportion looms our features, completely overshadowing the motives of the group, the college, the world.

Those of us who look at the world through a mirror are the ones who object to discipline, who regret time wasted in studying, and who fail to see others' viewpoints. Those of us who look at the world through a clear window are the ones who see themselves in the true perspective. They have a clear conception of relative values and their places in the whole picture.

Are you using a mirror or a window?

They Tramped These Halls

By J. C. Morgan

The Historian is wondering if the alumni, imitating the ground hog, saw their shadow February 2, and withdrew for another six weeks into winter quarters. We admit that the aforesaid animal showed his foresight remarkably well this year. Perhaps the alumni have been equally wise. Leastwise not much news has been coming over the air. So when the Historian was about to despair of having any news for this issue whom should he see coming in at the west door but R. Schmidt '41. Ralph is superintendent of schools at Shickley. Thanks, Ralph, for saving the day.

Also some one was kind enough to hand the Historian this bit of news about Robert Graham, ex-'33. "Bob" has been named superintendent of ground training for United Air Lines with offices in Denver. He has been with the U. A. L. since 1936. While Bob was in Y. C. he had as his pest his younger brother, Jack, '35, editor of the Sandburr, 1934-35, now of Philadelphia, Pa.

Recent campus visitors include Max Everett, and Marjorie Thornton, ex-'45, ex-'44, and '47, Winnie Smith, '45, and Mrs. Esther Strickler Roush, '29.

Miss Ruth Callender, '15, mathematics instructor in York high school, had the misfortune to break her right wrist recently when she fell on an icy street. F. Gifford and Denny Auchard, both seniors, have been substituting for her.

Wedding:

Miss Jo Warner, ex-'50 to Mr. W. L. Johnston, Thursday, February 5, at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

It was baritone Rand Smith and pianist Paul Vellucci who responded best to questioning. Encouraging students who study in the midwest, they stressed the advantages of an education which is relatively free from old world influences, and consequently, more typical of an American philosophy. Said Mr. Smith, "The East is too 'oo la la' about its culture. If we were to sing a program of contemporary American music in Boston, for instance, we would have to apologize to the critics. Here you would accept it without hesitation."

Mr. Vellucci offered suggestions to those who plan careers in display arts. He conceded that, while training can be had here, the east is the cultural center, and the logical place to seek a professional status. His advice: "You will have to make some concessions to the locale or the time, but never lose your artistic integrity."

After the excellent and varied program, Y. C. students know that these men are capable of retaining the standards set for them by such musicians as Dr. Frank Black, and James Melton, both formerly associated with "The Revelers."

But Mr. Koontz, even after seeing that fine presentation of vocal control, we've changed our collective minds. We're going to be pianists. They don't have to breathe at all!

Letters to the Editor . . .

Liberals Should Come Out

"Henry Wallace had a good idea when he organized a third party. There is a need for a party to represent the progressive or liberal desires in this country.

The Republicans have never made a secret of the fact that they are conservative. Their policy is anti-labor, favors high tariff, and low taxes. And yet even in the G.O.P. there are those who would rather read The Nation than Time and who would vote for Stassen rather than Taft.

It is because of the Republican avowed policy that in the past liberal voters have picked the Democratic party to speak for them. And as long as the hand of F. D. Roosevelt guided the nation, they did not need to worry for their cause. But with Mr. Truman steering a more middle-of-the-road course, a course which made the radicals cry, "Imperialism" and the Southerners shout, "Communism" the Democratic party will no longer carry a 100% liberal banner. Hence, a liberal party will draw from both sides.

In politics as in all fields of human enterprise two dominant groups can be discovered. One is called the conservative, the maintainers of the status quo, "change-is-waste" group. The other group is called the liberal or progressive element. They are ready to try anything as long as it means change.

In this country the dividing line is vague. Too vague for the good of the country. A man who wants to be elected has to straddle many fences and avoid many issues.

The need is here. Whether Henry Wallace is the man to meet that need will be one of the most interesting aspects of the ever-changing political scene.

—Warren Porter.

No Light on the Subject Too Many Two's?

No, the "Con" girls haven't reverted to the gay nineties—entirely. Candlelight may be very effective at the dinner table but there is not much doubt as to why grandmother wore her hair in a bun. Maybe you'd like to try putting your hair up in pin curls by flicker light, (candle, to you).

The girls might have been happier if the dim illumination had occurred about 9:30. Anyone would know how frightening it must have been to be alone in the dark with only thirty other girls. The brightest side of the blow-out may have been for Mrs. W. S. Luper, hostess of Hulitt Hall, and she, since it was after ten, probably had the best chance she'll ever have to get the girls and herself to bed at a reasonable hour.

"Foul on '22 . . . 22 will shoot one", the referee announced.

With this proclamation, confusion spread through the crowd. However, there was no doubt in the minds of the Nordlund brothers—Kenny, number 22, and Harold, number 22. Kenny is a member of the York College basketball squad while Harold is a member of the Doane basketball squad.

Kenny, freshman, York, has been a main stay on the "B" team this semester. He comes to York college from York high school where he was an outstanding basketball team member.

Nordlund's father is cashier of the First National bank.

Helen Mierau, ex-'51, was a week-end guest of Mary K. Jackson, sophomore, Brookfield, Mo.

"The Revelers" Chat With 'Burr Reporter

Eureka, Mr. Koontz! We've found it! An example of the vocal technique you've been teaching the chorus for months. It was in the persons of the famed male quartet, "The Revelers," . . . four diaphragms that hold a tone, and remain expanded, just as you say. And we learned the secret of their breathing. The guy on the end does it all,—with his feet, already!

College students heard this world renowned group in the final Community Concert of the season, which took place last week. On-stage the four vocalists and the pianist-arranger blended their individual personalities into the sort of ensemble singing for which college choruses slave.

The tenors in the group, Glenn Burris and Nino Ventura, managed to avoid the journalistic dragnet, but the senior member paused for a while. He is Wilfred Glen, four times chosen "All-American bass" by radio editors. An original member of the Shannon Quartet, from which "The Revelers" evolved, he is largely responsible for the artistic unity of the quartet. And if the music muse had not shouted in his ear, would have been a farmer.

PANTHERS FINISH WITH VICTORIES

York Downs Doane 36-35

Gillespie's Stellar Defensive Play Sparks Panthers to First Conference Win

The victory-starved Panthers of York college ended a 13 game fast of conference losses by downing the Doane Tigers 36-35 in a low-scoring affair that featured outstanding defensive play by the York team. The ever-steady Bob Gillespie turned in a stellar defensive game as he roamed the court knocking down passes, breaking up plays and blocking repeated efforts of the visitors to score.

Spotting Doane an early lead, as is the York custom, the Tigers went on to lead by a 17-13 score at halftime, although the Panthers had assumed a temporary lead at one point in the first half of play.

The second half York's rally that brought the final victory, was sparked by lanky center, Abe Dick, who tallied all of his eight points in the final round. The score was tied seven times in the last half and Don Robson, Panther forward, furnished the winning point when he broke through the Doane defense to score on a set-up. Harold Nordlund, Doane sparking forward, fouled Robson in a desperate attempt to stop the scoring threat, and Robson was awarded one free shot which he sank for the winning point.

Dick Punched, towering Doane center, paced the scoring for the evening by dunking 15 points through the hoop. Auchard and Dick paced York with nine and eight respectively.

Panthers Drop Finale

A late rally by the Kearney Antelopes dropped the York Panthers 68-56 in their last game of the season. York led 51-50 with six minutes to go.

After a see-sawing first quarter, Dean Nicholson sparked the Antelopes to a 33-25 margin by half time. In the second half, Don Robson, Denny Auchard, and Abe Dick forced the Yorkites ahead after nine minutes of play and they remained ahead until the closing minutes of the game. Nicholson potted two quick baskets, Russ Bogue followed with another, and Kearney did not relinquish the lead again.

Nicholson walked off with scoring honors with 21 points. The Antelope's Bob Korte and the Panthers' Auchard tied for second with 15 each.

Fathers Honored

Nine fathers of York College athletes were guests of the college at the Hastings basketball game. The traditional Dads' Day basketball game insured the success of the occasion when the Panthers edged out the Broncos by a slim margin.

Dads present were Mr. J. A. Bott, Alexander, Kans., father of Carl Bott, freshman; the Rev. F. E. Auchard, Alexander, Kans., father of Denny Auchard, senior; P. O. Robson, Thayer, father of Don Robson, senior; M. T. James, York, father of Jim James, freshman; Harvey Holbrook, Orchard, father of Harvey Holbrook, junior; H. C. Nordlund, York, father of Kenneth Nordlund, freshman; M. Schneider, York, father of Bob Schneider, sophomore; W. C. Rhoades, York, father of Cliff Rhoades, senior; and Evan E. Miller, Benedict, father of Eugene Miller, sophomore.

Evan Miller, Benedict, walked off with first honors in the free throw contest by sinking seven in a row. As Coach Tonkin presented him with a gold basketball, he suggested that Miller sign up to play for Y. C.

HI-LAIR-ITIES

By the Sports Editor

The basketball season has ended. Peru has been crowned NCC champions and York has ignominiously settled to the cellar. However, to the underclassmen this is but a challenge for a better season next year and in the years to come, but to the seniors it is all.

Due to this fact, ye olde sports editor wishes to dedicate this final basketball sports page of the year to the seniors of the 1947-48 basketball squad. Theirs has been an inglorious year in basketball but they have proved themselves good sportsmen with the interests of the school at heart.

After the crushing defeat of the Panthers by Wesleyan, one senior suggested to Coach Tonkin that he give the seniors the well-known "boot" from the squad and begin building for next year. This seems to your editor one of the greatest things a man can do. When an athlete is willing to step out of the picture entirely for the sake of the school and the teams of the future, then no one can ask for a deeper sacrifice. This spirit has characterized the seniors throughout the season and we of Y. C. are proud to have had these senior men carry our colors into the fight.

To the seniors I would dedicate this excerpt from a poem by George L. Scarborough:

Here's to the men who lose!
If triumph's easy, smiles our struggles greet,
Courage is easy then;
The king is he who, after fierce defeat,
Can up and fight again.

Here's to the men who lose!
The touchstone of true worth is not success;
There is a higher test—
Though fate may darkly frown, onward to press,
And bravely do one's best.

Here's to the men who lose!
It is the vanquished's praises that I sing,
And this is the toast I choose:
"A hard-fought failure is a noble thing!
Here's to the men who lose."

Panthers Ride Broncos 48-45

York college copped their second NCC game by edging the Hastings Broncos 48-45. Denny Auchard paced the scoring for the evening by tallying 23 points.

The game was a fast, free scoring tussel which saw the Yorkers spurt to an early 7-4 lead only to have Hastings counter and lead 18-13 after 15 minutes of play. The halftime score settled to a 21-21 tie.

The second half was faster than the first, and the lead seemed to change hands with every goal. The score was tied seven times in the game and six of these were in the last period. York's accuracy at the free throw line spelled the margin of victory; they made 16 of 22 attempted gift shots as the Broncos salvaged only half of their 22 free tosses.

STUDENT COUNCIL BULLETIN BOARD

Student Conductors Evident on Campus

Members of the High School Music class are doing practice conducting as part of their requirements, according to Prof. James Koontz of the music department. At the present time six of the ten members are working on that part of the course.

Wanda Miller, junior, Russell, Kans., and Barbara Dick, sophomore of DuBois, are directing in the Girls' Glee club while Robert Embree, Mason City, and Harry Owens, Coffeyville, Kans., both freshmen, are working with the Men's Glee club. Oren Reger, junior of Angus, has been directing the college church choir part of the time.

According to Prof. Koontz, the students will conduct until they have worked out their specified numbers. The remainder of the class will be directing later in the school year.

Summer Programs, Palestine Questions Discussed by Men

The Summer Projects Program presented by the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, '41, Director of Public Relations, and differing viewpoints on the Palestine question presented by two sophomores, Warren Porter, Aurora, and Harold Walker, Santa Cruz, N. M., occupied two Y. M. C. A. meetings recently.

Mr. Leaming said, "This Summer Projects program is an opportunity for York College students to invest some time during next summer in the field of home missions." Students may choose one of three possible locations: Red Bird Mission in Ky., Flat Rock Children's Home in Ohio, and a Mission in N. M.

Walker pointed out the difference between Arabs and Jews. The Jews, from his standpoint, have been considerably agitated since World War I and feel that it isn't fair to keep them from the country that Abraham had promised them. Porter, on the other hand, said, "The Arabs and Jews get along all right in ordinary times, but these aren't ordinary times. As long as there is as much anti-semitism as there is in Europe today, the solution will not be reached."

Barrymore Stars In Broadway Production to be Given Here

Recruits Go To Cozad College Day

A gospel team composed of Bert Smith, Lois Riddle, Carol Mead, Frank Medsker, Ralph Amen, and Maude Ruth Poison helped to conduct "College Day" services at the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Cozad. The Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Melton are serving the Cozad church.

RECOGNITION OF RETIRING OFFICERS HELD AT Y. W. C. A.

Recognition of the retiring officers and summer voluntary service projects were presented at recent Y. W. C. A. meetings.

After a period of group singing led by Jane Martin, Eunice Goodrich gave a talk on "What has been gained from Y. W. the past year." Miss Goodrich reviewed the events of the past year and Mary Anderson sang a solo, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked".

Pauline Smeltzer gave a discussion on how college students can obtain work at one of the home mission projects this summer. Mary Woelfe told about the need for workers in the hospital and churches in Red Bird, Ky. Eunice Goodrich explained the work in Santa Cruz, N. Mex., and Leta Kurtz gave information on the Flat Rock Children's Home in Flat Rock, O. In conclusion, suggestions were given as to what can be done in the home church and the home community this summer.

Diana Barrymore will have the title role when "Joan of Lorraine", by Maxwell Anderson, is presented at the York City Auditorium on March 17. The curtain will rise at 8:30 p. m. Seats should be reserved at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The play, presented by a cast of Broadway actors, is managed by

DIANA BARRYMORE

Ben Truex and brought to York by the Civic Entertainment committee. Miss Barrymore and company are en route to Chicago for a six-month season. "Joan of Lorraine" was first presented in New York with Ingrid Bergman starring.

In the cast are Robert Wilcox as the Inquisitor and Ellis Charles as the Dauphin. Harriet Thomas, junior, and Harry Owen, freshman, remember the Dauphin as Charles Ellis, dramatic coach of the Coffeyville, Kans., high school.

"Mission Workers Must be Sharp," Says Rev. Leaming

"You can not sharpen your tools too sharp and polish them too well for work on the mission field", stated the Rev. Vaughn Leaming, '41, director of public relations, in his talk on missions to a recent OBN meeting.

They have no complaint with our Christ, he explained, but with our Christianity. Therefore we must meet them on their field and lead them to where we want them.

"Ninety per cent of the churches are united on the mission field, but there is still a great need for more preaching" be continued.

After his conclusion, "If you understand, love and appreciate the people, you will succeed," he led the group in a discussion of the various mission fields and their requirements.

Rev. Roush Speaks To Recruits

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Roush (Esther Strickler, '29) each spoke a few words of farewell at Life Work Recruits before their return to Dayton, O., where Dr. Roush is professor of Old Testament at Bonebrake Theological Seminary. The entire program consisted of group singing directed by Carol Mead, prayer by Bert Smith, and a Bible quiz conducted by Robert Embree.

G. M. G. Meets

The Girls' Missionary Guild will meet tonight in the church at 5:30, for an indoor wiener roast. Every member is urged to be present for election of officers as well as for fun and fellowship.
