Expression Students Read for York Clubs

Members of Miss Shipley's Interpretation Class have been getting more experience than mere class-room procedure. In addition to giving students an opportunity to display their talents, they provide entertainment and acquaint the public with some of the accomplishments of York College.

Mary Kay Jackson, senior, Adrian, Mo., has appeared before the P. E. O. Lois Miller, junior, Dawson, recently has given readings for the Lincoln school P.T.A. and also the Farm Bureau meeting. Miss Frances Porter, junior, Aurora, entertained the Presbyterian Circle. Cora Marquez, junior, Sante Fe, N. M., gave a presentation for the W. C. T. U. Friday.

Koontz To Present Recital Dec. 5

Barbara Benfer and Herbert Kamm to Assist

Fred Koontz, Des Moines senior, is busy planning for his senior dramatic recital. He has marked December 5 as one of the red-letter days on the calendar of senior activities. Since he has majored in speech and dramatic art, Fred finds himself on the stage presenting recitals. He gave a Junior Recital last spring.

His Senior Recital includes The Happy Prince, a fantasy by Oscar Wilde; End of the Chanticleer, a humorous reading by Robert Benchley, and Elizabeth and Essex, which is a cutting from the tragedy Elizabeth the Queen, by Maxwell Anderson.

Barbara Benfer, Robinson, Kans., sophomore, and Herbert Kamm, Platte Center, sophomore, will assist with special music including both duet and solo work. They will be accompanied by Joyce Klingman, Greene, Kans., freshman.

DUREN ADDRESSES ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega, the only nationally recognized fraternity on the campus, has demonstrated its active interests this year through a number of varied programs, among which was a lecture by Mr. Terence Duren, nationally renowned artist.

Mr. Duren, who now resides at Shelby, has been the motivating force in organizing and promoting the Village Players of that city. Among the players he has farmers, housewives, and bankers. Although the group has been active only a few years, a large section of its audience is drawn from Grand Island, and Mr. Duren states that in another season he expects to draw people from Lincoln.

The painting which hangs on the south wall of the chapel was Mr. Duren's work. He has designed scenery for the Cleveland Opera company, and he brought some of his work to York to show to the Alpha Psi Omega members.

The campus dramatic society has also staged impromptu one-act plays this year, and plans a banquet for December.

Christmas Contest

Each year the Sandburr puts out a six-page Christmas issue and a contest is held for the best of each of the following: a story, essay, or a poem. A faculty group will judge each class. Here are the rules:

1. The copy must be on paper 8 1/2 x 11 inches, written on only one side, and using a 64 space line.
2. Turn your copy in to Mr. Huebert without signing your name.
3. Mr. Huebert will record your name and give your article a number.
4. The deadline is DECEMBER 9.

This is your chance to do some original writing. Let's make this a good Christmas issue.

Football Game Held In Middlebrook Hall

The Middlebrook Hall dining room was the scene of a gala football game last Tuesday night, held in honor of the York College football team.

The sports announcer was Charles Bean, sophomore, Des Moines, Cathy Koontz and David Leaming, mascots, presented a telegram that announced the Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man chosen by the football squad. The mascots then led a yell in their honor.

The second quarter was a tough struggle between the guests and the food. The guests seemed to be the stronger and dominated the second quarter of play.

Half-time entertainment consisted of a trumpet duet by Bill DeCamp, sophomore, York, and Myron Fessler, freshman, Clarinda, Ia., and the presentation of the co-captains by Coach Neal Parsons.

During the third quarter Owen Donahoe called the plays. Mr. Donahoe spoke in honor of the Panthers.

The fourth quarter was a presentation of awards by Assistant Coaches Denny Auchard and Bob Gillespie. The closing minutes of the final period were filled with song, in honor of the Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man, by the male quartet composed of Jack Mathis, Parsons, Kans., Dick Callahan, York, Vernon Phelps, Berryton, Kans., and Raymond Gifford, Friend.

Langenberg and Fahring Share Football Honors

WSSF Committee Says "Thank You"

The WSSF drive has proved successful and the committee wishes to thank the students and faculty for the prompt payment of pledges. $366.36 was pledged and $340.11 has been paid. This makes an average of more than $1 per student which is a very high ratio in comparison with larger colleges and universities.

The World Student Service Fund is a project which is sponsored each year by the YMCA and the YWCA. All money collected is sent directly to WSSF headquarters and except for a very small percentage used for clerical fees it goes to students overseas. Through this means tuberculosis sanatoriums and dormitories are erected and mimeographs to run off text books are furnished. Students also receive paper, pencils, pens, lesson sheets, clothing and other benefits.

"Answer For Anne," a movie on displaced persons, was shown in chapel recently after which pledge cards were handed out designating how much certain articles would cost. A WSSF man, done in chalk, was then dressed and equipped by artists as the pledges came in. Maude Ruth Watson, York, and Bob Embree, junior, Merna, were co-chairmen of the committee.

Another York College tradition is in the spotlight at the present time. Election of Panther Sweetheart and Representative Football Man is a yearly event.

Those honors were given this year to two seniors, Rachel Langenberg, Alma, and Mark Fahring, Salina, Kansas. Elected co-captains of the 1949 football squad were Fahring and Bob DeBoer of York, who has been a defensive star in the backfield at Y. C. during his college years. Their identity was revealed to the public at the annual football banquet held at Middlebrook Hall, Tuesday evening.

Both Rachel and Mark have been well known on the campus. Rachel, a sociology major, has been through her college years, a member of PALS, Y. W., Pantherettes, W. A. A., Chapel Choir, and a soloist in the music department. This year, she was a nominee for Homecoming Queen and an ardent supporter of the football squad.

A veteran, a husband, and a father are some of the qualifications of the Representative Football man. These alone are not all, for Mark has shown himself to be a consistent and reliable player, having lettered this year for his fourth time. A typical sportsman and the spark to team spirit, Mark well liked by his team members.

The bestowing of these honors at the banquet marks the end of the football season, one which has produced an enthusiasm in the athletic program for York College, although as many games were not won as we might have desired.

TOURING CHOIR MEMBERSHIP RELEASED BY MR. KOONTZ

Professor James E. Koontz, head of the department of music, has released the long-awaited news of the touring choir. The membership of the organization this year is tentatively 14 sopranos, 11 altos, 10 tenors, and 12 basses. However, Mr. Koontz voiced the possibility that one or two more additions might be necessary to acquire the desired balance.

Faculty Parties

EDUCATION vs. BOREDOM . . .

There comes a time in our lives when we must understand that we cannot have things in our lives that are always to our satisfaction. There are times when we have to swallow our pride and take what is given to us.

We have come to these halls for an education, and an education we shall get. Maybe some things are not as interesting as we would have them. But there is the element of consideration for others who may be getting something out of their education. It is these folks who make so much noise to show their boredom in an outward way that attract the attention of the ones who are trying to learn.

If you are in the group that is so dissatisfied with things, take it easy on your outward signs of boredom. Be considerate of those who are trying to learn. It would be easier for all of us.

—R. P.

They Tramped These Halls

By J. C. Morgan

The Reverend Edward T. Jordan x24 is pastor of the first Baptist Church, Wahoo. At present he is engaged in collecting data for the next issue of Who's Who in Nebraska.

Recent visitors on the campus include Dr. Warren McClatchey x24 of San Diego, California, Mr. H. J. Bayley, Big Springs, Nebr. (Mr. Bayley attended Y. C. in 1909, '10, and '11), Mrs. Esther Barker Henry x27 (her daughter, who is a sophomore in high school, already has her room in Middlebrook Hall picked out), Mr. LeRoy Hoffman '40 and his brother Reverend Edgar Hoffman, and Mrs. M. B. Canon '24.

The address of Floyd Taylor '43 is 1449 D Street, Lincoln.

The Reverend and Mrs. Roy Larson '20 were seriously injured in an automobile accident this past summer and were hospitalized for a period.

Dr. Antonio Rivera '20 of the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedra, Puerto Rico, sends to the college office the address of the Reverend Enrique Rivera '24. His address is Culto Street #265, Santurce, Puerto Rico. He is pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Santurce. Dr. Rivera adds this word about Enrique, though they are not related: "His work is true to Y. C. tradition and his accomplishments in religious orientation and leadership are of the very best. York College can well be proud of him."

Dr. W. H. Morton '09 of the University of Nebraska has retired as chairman of the department of secondary education, a position which he has held since 1927, and will continue as principal of the teachers college high school and as a professor of education.

Miss Winnie Smith '44, while waiting for conditions in China to improve before beginning her medical missionary work there, is improving her time by studying the Chinese language at Yale University. There are nine Evangelical United Brethren missionary candidates studying Chinese in the language school at Yale. Winnie writes interestingly about the methods of study and the class work. The recording machine is an important factor in the learning method. She remarks

THAT RASCAL PANTHER!

Did you ever know that York College property had been searched for liquor? It has been; only that was during the Prohibition days. Next time when you go into the library look up to the balcony and take a look at the Panther.

facetiously that so far her tumbling ability for which she was famous in her college days hasn't helped her too much in learning Chinese.

Laurence W. Gassman x42 has been promoted to captain in the United States Air Force. Captain Gassman is a member of the 373d Reconnaissance Squadron, stationed at Kindley Field, Bermuda.

Word has been received by the parents of 2nd Lt. Robert K. Oswald x44 that his body will be returned to the United States for burial in the Zachary Taylor National Cemetery, Louisville, Kentucky. Lt. Oswald was killed June 12, 1945, while on a mission against Saigon, French Indo China. He enlisted in the Air Corps in February, 1943. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Oswald of Aurora. His brother Max attended Y. C., 1938-41.

Correction: The historian wishes to correct an error occurring in the previous issue. The title of the new book by Dr. Harold DeWolf x24 is not The Religious Revolt Against Russia, but The Religious Revolt Against Reason. Advantage is taken of this correction to add a statement taken from a recent review of the book in the Nov. 2 issue of the Christian Century, "Theology in America has a new voice, one that speaks with marvelous clarity and consistency."

Another correction: The name of Dr. Raymond Peterson '40 was given as Dr. Floyd Peterson. Beg your pardon, Ray. Floyd Peterson attended Y. C. 1929-'31 and played football as did Ray.

Births:

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Thompson '39 announce the arrival of a son, Bryce Allen, October 30, York.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Beaty (Wilma Easterling x'44) send word of the birth of Kent Alan, October 17, Enid, Oklahoma. Their address is Box 2166, University Station.

The Reverend and Mrs. Bernard Cook '39, Wichita, Kansas, announce the birth of a daughter, Charla Kay, November 8th. They speak of Charla Kay as "sugar cookie" and as a future coed for Y. C.

The Panther was a gift to York College. On its way here it was routed through Canada, so I am told, and at the border the U. S. customs officials tore out his bit of taxidermy in search of bootleg liquor. Oh, Panther, you are a rascal.

Campus Flickers To Begin Dec. 2

8 Pics Scheduled for the 1949-50 Season. "Margie" To Be First Show

Many people have been grabbing this reporter by the neck and strangling him, while wondering audibly when the Campus Flickers will start. (Maybe the English Dept. won't like that type of sentence but who could say it better?)

The first Campus Flicker Movie is Dec. 2 starting at 7:30 p. m., in the Chapel; the movie will be Margie, which is a story of a girl who falls in love. (But what girl doesn't?) This time it is not a college scene. I am afraid you will all enjoy it. Plan now to attend these movies as they will be to your enjoyment.

"TURNABOUT"

You've heard of the book "Turnabout." That is just what YC gals and guys did during Sadie Hawkins Week-end.

Take one of our steady couples for example. When our little coed called for her date she spent a nervous 15 minutes waiting for him to finish dressing. During this time she carried on a somewhat disconcerted conversation with his teasing housemother. "The boys have been out until 12:00 all week. I don't see how I can let him go out. Well . . . if you get him home by 10:00."

Our handsome date-bait finally descended the stairs murmuring something about having to change his nose to match his tie. After our YC gal courteously helped our hero on with his coat, opened the door for him and promised to get her date home by 10:00 o'clock, our happy couple departed for the movies. They were a block away when our tall, dark, and male part of the twosome discovered he had forgotten his handkerchief. It was back to the house and another start for downtown.

Our modern Sadie politely walked on the outside of the street and purchased the tickets in spite of the curious stares of uninformed by-passers. In the cinema she even attempted to hold the hand of our bashful boy.

After the show there was a short stop for a malt, whereupon, our hero pulled out his chapstick to refresh his face. Then there was a rush up the hill to make the 10:00 o'clock deadline and a quick goodnight, where for the first time the initiative changed.

Then our little lady dashed back down the hill to join the girls at the restaurant and to rehash the events of the evening.

Dr. Mueller Leads R. E. W. Observance

Dr. Reuben H. Mueller was the main speaker of Religious Emphasis Week, which was observed on the York College campus November 13-18. Chapel was held every morning during the past week. Each evening, Sunday to Wednesday, he spoke at the Presbyterian church. Then the E. U. B. church was used for the remainder of the week as all repairs had been completed at the church. During the day Dr. Mueller was available for private conferences with students.

Dr. Mueller, an excellent speaker, was well received; he is a dynamic speaker and his sense of humor was used to good advantage in putting across many fine points.

Dr. Mueller used Psalm 24: 7-10 as a basis for his talks. His general theme was "The Three Gates": "The Mind Gate", "The Heart Gate", and "The Will Gate". His method of presentation was clear and concise; his audience was more than receptive to his speeches.

Dr. Mueller, who is from Dayton, Ohio, is Secretary for the Board of Christian Education of the E.U.B. Church. York College and the local E.U.B. Church have made his trip here possible.

Chapel Choir

Since 1940, when Chapel Choir was first organized, it has become one of the traditions of York College. A robed choir contributes much to our religious chapel services. The Chapel Choir is selected by the director with regard to musical ability and reliability. Chapel Choir enlists volunteers from the regular college chorus. Membership is strictly volunteer, however, as no extra credits are given to those participating in Chapel Choir. A membership of sixteen has become an accepted custom.

Tulsa, Okla., junior.

Dean Charles Amadon organized the first Chapel Choir at York nine years ago, in 1940. It continued under Dean Amadon's direction until 1946, when Bruce Herrick became head of this phase of activity. In 1947, during Holy Week, the Chapel Choir presented a musical worship service which had been written by Professor Herrick.

Under Professor Koontz's direction, it has been the policy to present the better known hymns of the church, in preference to anthems and other special types of music.

Professor Koontz and members of the Chapel Choir are to be commended for their faithful appearance, and for their worshipful music they offer to formal chapel.

DR. NOLL DISCOVERS RARE SPECIMEN

Dr. W. C. Noll of Y. C.'s biology department has made an important discovery.

He has found a spiny headed trematode. This—to the ordinary layman—is a tapeworm. Only one of this particular species of tapeworm has been seen by Dr. Noll before—30 years ago in a university biology class.

Collecting and studying tapeworms has been a hobby of Dr. Noll's for the past 17 years.

This finding may add another specimen to the animal list of the world.

N. C. C. COLLEGE SQUADS END 1949 SEASON

The fourth Nebraska College Conference football season is over, and football has bowed out of Nebraska except for a non-conference game by Chadron, which plays the University of Southern Idaho on Thanksgiving.

The surprise of the year was Wayne, who won nine straight victories under their new coach, Jack Wink. This leads the smaller colleges of the nation. Their squad is the first undefeated major Nebraska eleven since Midland's 1941 "Little Giants."

Wesleyan was the disappointment of the season, and promises to be again next year. Wesleyan will lose Cliff Squires, Delbert Miller, Tom Mihane, Alden Johnson, and Ken White due to graduation.

York was the tough luck crew. Striving for their first NCC victory in the four years since the league was organized in 1946, the York Panthers perked up under their new coach, Neal Parsons. But a new coach wasn't all that was needed, and they ended the season with six conference losses and no victories.

A new scoring record of 67 points was set by Wayne's Al Bahe. The Wayne ace had a 19-point margin over his closest rival, Gene Valenta of Doane.

The 1949 NCC Final Standings:

	W	L	T	Pct.	Pts.	Opp.
Wayne	8	0	0	1.000	185	67
Chadron	6	2	0	.750	146	73

THE PANTHER'S LAIR

by the Sports Editor

SPORTSMANSHIP FOR ALL

There are probably no two coaches in the country who see eye to eye on all the aspects of the game of football. The strategy of the coach from Podunk Tech may differ from that of the coach from Kookamonga U., and they may both have championship teams. However, there is one aspect of the game in which a majority of the coaches see eye to eye, and this is the conduct of the players, the coach, and the spectators.

Sportsmanship is more than just finding a seat in the grandstand, meekly sitting there throughout the whole game, and then going home satisfied with the two hours of diversion just experienced. Sportsmanship means "skill in field sports." Here we may seem to hit a dead end. How can sportsmanship give any pertinence to the spectator if skill in the particular sport is required? If the game is analyzed a complete and probably unassumed answer will appear.

Playing the game of football requires much more than just the ability to run and hit hard. The best football player is the smart football player. He must know how to run and how to hit hard. He must know his plays, offensively and defensively, and have the physical power to do his duty. Not many years ago a Mexican football team, which averaged 145 pounds per man, outplayed and defeated Randolph Field, Texas, which averaged nearly 200 pounds and was spark-plugged by "Doc" Blanchard, the All-American fullback from Army. This had to be smart football.

Again let us bring the spectator into the discussion of sportsmanship. If the spectator learns the rules of the game, understands play formations, and is alert to the developments of the game, why can't he be included in this discussion of sportsmanship? Empathy is the greatest attribute of a good spectator. He lacks only in the ability or opportunity to play.

Now there are some things which sportsmanship cannot include. Any action of a player, coach, or spectator, contrary to the rules of the game is not sportsmanship, but unsportsmanship. No part of any such action can be a credit to the individual, but a discredit to his "skill" in the game.

To aid quarterbacks in night football to tell how much yardage they need for a first down, a Kentucky inventor has developed line-marker sticks of slotted aluminum with built-in flashlights.

Football has claimed 15 lives so far this year, according to Dr. Floyd Eastwood, a professor at Los Angeles State College and chairman of the injury and fatality committee of the American Football Coaches association. Six of the deaths have been in unsupervised sandlot games.

The only serious injury of the season for Rensselaer Poly's (Troy, N. Y.) football season was the cheerleader, who became too excited on a long run by one of the squad and fell from their mascot horse and broke his arm.

New York University, the football coaches' graveyard, has lost another coach. Hooks Mylin quit his job at the largest university in the nation because he couldn't find enough players to stage a week-day scrimmage. N. Y. U., with over 65,000 registered students, had only 29 players out for football this year.

Then there's the one about that woman out in Shelley, Idaho, who was watching her sons from the sidelines during a game and got mixed up with a tackle from the opponent squad. She received a broken knee from the ordeal.

Are you tired of seeing those "messenger boy" substitutes running in and out of every football game? A UCLA engineering professor has solved the whole trouble. His patented invention includes a voice modulated microwave transmitter under the coach's bench, and an ammonium gas-filled ear receiver worn in players' helmets.

The Bean Bowl

Another bowl game has been added to the long list of holiday football games. The Chadron State Teachers will inaugurate the Bean Bowl at Scottsbluff on Thanksgiving Day, when they play the University of Southern Idaho, Pocatello. The contest is sponsored by the Scottsbluff Kiwanis Club, to build and support a youth camp, and the game gets the name from a bean company which is under-writing it.

Wayne Opens Basketball Season
The Wayne State Teachers' Wildcats will open their 1949-1950 season by playing Morning-side College at Sioux City, Iowa, on November 26. Watch them in basketball as you did in football.

There is a move on to discontinue the kick for the extra point. However, this is still in the discussion stage, and meeting much opposition. What do you readers think about this?

Fahring And DeBoer Named Honorary Football Co-Captains

Mark Fahring and Robert DeBoer have been elected by their teammates as honorary co-captains of the 1949 Panther football squad.

BOBCATS ROLL OVER YORK 37-12

Running a race with the Wesleyan conference opener for the worst Panther game of the season was the closing game. Peru tore up the Panther defense in three departments—the line, the secondary, and the safety. The Bobcats rolled as freely on the ground as if they were in their own forest. The Panthers found more familiar territory when they used the air lanes.

Out on injuries were Leggott, Emerick, Wooters, and Jones. Hedrick carried the passing load with exceptional adeptness for one with a badly injured arm. Larson made his debut at fullback. This variation showed occasional promise but more often showed lack of oil. The line still had that Hastings leak on passes and slow developing plays.

Defensively the Panthers had a hard time spot-welding the center of the line. After this little matter was taken care of the Peru pitch-out still rolled up yardage.

Peru pulled some oldies and made them work. Delayed laterals clicked; the old statue of liberty looked like a newsreel view; the screen pass was perfect, the short kick caught York napping; and the reverse from kickoff even set up one touchdown. Late in the second quarter, the score stood at 30-0. To get out of the goose-egg column York took to the air. A Hedrick to Thorson pass was ruled complete on the Peru 23 because of Bobcat interference. From there Hedrick passed to Glahn who crazy-legged it across.

The second half was more of a ball game. Peru still won it 7 to 6 and the final was 37-12. The York line dug in and the secondary backed their endeavor. Peru scored their counter on a razzle-dazzle pitch-out, then lateral affair, and York scored on passes. A Hedrick to Dunn set up the play, and Hedrick hit Thorson in the end-zone for the tally.

Six Panthers who have lettered in past years at York will never get another chance to avenge Bobcat scratches. They are DeBoer, Fahring, Farrer, Martinez, Walker, and Witham.

Mark, who was honored as representative football man of the year last Tuesday night at the football banquet, hails from Salina, Kansas. Besides playing guard on the gridiron, he will probably be seen quite often on the basketball floor during the coming season. His favorite fans are his wife, Rowena and his daughter, who are very seldom absent from the sidelines.

Robert DeBoer, Mark Fahring, honorary co-captains for the 1949 Panther football season.

Fahring is a senior, hails from right here in York. The fans will long remember the good defensive playing he has given during times of need from his position of fullback.

PALS Hall Receiving Secret Face Lifting

PALS hall is finally getting a face lifting. Since the project was started two or three years ago only a few things have been accomplished, but now the major renovation has begun. Under the leadership of president Mary Kay Jackson, Adrian, Mo., and the voluntary help of all PALS, work that has been sorely needed, is being done. Sanding will be completed shortly and soon the paint brushes can be applied to furniture, walls and floor. Not all plans of decoration have been revealed to the public, but according to the president, the hall is to be arranged in the informal fashion.
