QUEEN OF MAY IS REVEALED BY Y.M.-Y.W.

Y. C.'s Chief Executive To Be Chosen Today

The vote to be taken in chapel this morning will determine whether Richard Miller, Ventura, Ia., or Warren Porter, Aurora, will be the student council president for the next year. These two men were chosen candidates by the student council recently.

Miller has served several terms on the council and in the capacity of its vice-president. His other executive experiences include one semester as Y. M. president, class presidency his freshman year, and business manager for the Sandburr. A veteran of the navy, he plans for the ministry after college.

Included among Porter's recommendations are O. B. N. and I. R. C. positions as chief executive, several semesters of experience on the student council, and sophomore class presidency. He too is a veteran and a pre-theological student.

Mary K. Jackson To Present Recital

Mary K. Jackson, Adrian, Mo., will be presented in a junior dramatic recital, May 8, at the college church. Miss Jackson, a student of Miss Irene Shipley of the speech and dramatic art department, will be assisted by Frances Porter, sophomore, and Warren

Mary Kay Jackson

Porter, junior, both of Aurora. Miss Jackson's selections will include a humorous number, "When Angry, Count A Hundred", by Cavazzi, and a serious reading entitled, "Dreams Do Come True", by Jackson. Miss Porter, also a student of Miss Shipley, will read "Vagabond Angel."

Musical numbers presented by Mr. Porter will include Knight's "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" and "Figaro" by Rossini. Mr. Porter studies under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bonne of the music department.

CHOIR RETURNS

The York College Choir has returned without mishap from its two thousand mile tour through five states. Thirty appearances were made during the 17 day journey. The concerts were performed in churches of our denomination and in a number of high schools.

The college bus and one car carried the 43 chorus members and their "super cargo." This latter included Dr. D. E. Weidler, who took the place of Dr. G. T. Savery, Director of Public Relations; Mrs. Letha Leaming, trained nurse and chaperone; Director James E. Koontz, head of the music department; and the driver of the bus, Leo Austin, freshman, York.

The choir members enjoyed a variety of weather, but unflinching hospitality and matchless menus throughout the trip. They will appear in concert tonight at the York auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Board of Trustees Meets On Campus

"There'll be the regular business, committee and individual reports. But you'll go to press before we're able to report on any new business", said Dr. Savery, Y. C. business manager when quizzed about the meeting of the York College Board of Trustees which was held on the campus Wednesday.

This annual spring meeting of board members was preceded by a meeting of superintendents of the conferences which comprise this area. Because of these two nearly simultaneous meetings, many students have been able to visit briefly with parents and pastors who attended.

New Kurtz on Campus

By choosing Merwin and Jeanne Kurtz as his parents on April 11, Lester Ray Kurtz became one of the newest prospective York college students.

Four Senior Women Plan Spring Weddings

Spring this year brings more than the traditional banquets and routine graduation exercises to four Y. C. senior women who have announced their wedding dates in close proximity to commencement.

Miss Bonnie Ackland, Ames,

Miss Bonnie Ackland

Iowa, who has been absent from the campus this last year but returns to graduate with her class, is to marry Oren Reger, senior, York, in her home church, Sunday, May 22. Miss Ackland has been teaching in Genoa, and plans to finish her college work this summer. The Regers will spend the next few years of their lives in the theological seminary.

No sooner than she receives her diploma will Wanda Miller, Russell, Kans., become Mrs. Milton Snow. The wedding will take place in the college church, commencement afternoon. The Snows will spend the summer as the caretakers of Camp Webster in Salina, Kansas. Next fall Snow plans to continue his medical training. These two have become well established as a couple because of the many activities such as cheer-

Y-Club Plans Picnic

As has been the custom for the past few years, the Y-Club will hold its annual spring picnic on May 2. Location for the affair has not been announced, but if the past is any criterion there will be lots of good entertainment and plenty to eat for the members and their guests.

A ring on that 'certain' finger has added Leta Kurtz, sophomore, Alton, Kans., and Dean Strong, sophomore, Garfield, Wash., to the list of Cupid's susceptibles for this year.

Ivalee Mizell To Reign As 1949 May Queen

Her Majesty Ivallee Mizell

Reigning as 1949 Queen of the traditional May Day Festivities will be Ivallee Mizell, senior, Clayton, Kansas.

The YWCA and YMCA sponsor May Day which will be held at the City Auditorium on May 29, making it possible for parents and friends to attend in connection with commencement activities. This telescoping of May Day, baccalaureate and commencement fills out the calendar for the 27th, 29th, and 30th, respectively.

Ivallee was nominated from among YWCA girls and chosen by popular vote of the student body. During her four years at Y. C. she has been a consistent supporter of Y. C. athletic teams, having been a member of both Pantherettes and the Panther Club. Currently president of the W. A. A., she is also faithful in participating in girls' sports. A soprano in the touring choir and pianist for Zetas are more examples of her activities. Ivallee is majoring in Sociology and plans to teach after graduation. At present she is Botany lab assistant and paints for a hobby.

The theme of the May Day program will be "Over The Rainbow." The Queen's attendants and class representatives are still to be announced.

Last year's Queen was Jane Martin, now assisting Rev. Bernard Cook of Wichita, Kansas. Eunice Goodrich, 1947 Queen, is teaching in McCurdy Mission School, N. M.

Coach Tonkin Resigns; Future Plans Indefinite

Coach R. E. Tonkin, director of athletics and head coach, submitted his resignation Wednesday, April 20th, to become effective at the end of the current school year.

"Tonk" has been coach at Y. C. since 1940, except for a leave of absence during the war, when he served at Rankin Academy Army Air Force Training School, located at Tulare, California. His ability can be seen especially in the fact that over a period of seven years, 80 wins against 60 losses were recorded in basketball. The football teams have done well in spite of the numerical superiority of opponent schools.

Tonkin graduated from York College in '38, then accepted a coaching position at the Milford, Nebraska High School. He remained there for two years, and was then called to York. He received his A. M. in physical education in 1946 from the Colorado State College of Education, at Greeley, Colorado.

The coach says his plans for the future are indefinite, but he has in mind a position where his duties would center in one major sport, rather than supervision of all sports.

IN SYMPATHY

The faculty and students wish to express their sincere sympathy to Merwin, Jeanne, Leta, and Dale Kurtz on the recent death of their father and father-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kurtz have been loyal supporters of the college for many years and have entertained York College students in their home on numerous occasions.

THE CHINESE PUZZLE

Perhaps one of the strongest disillusionments that the people of this country have received in recent years has come as a result of learning previously unknown facts about Chiang Kai Shek.

For years it was considered that he was not only democratic in sympathy, but that he was a good Christian.

The accumulation of facts which has been brought into this country by various political and religious leaders who have visited China has exploded this theory.

It seems that Chiang is not democratic in his sympathy. The freedoms which we count sacred here have never existed in China under him. He held a strong military dictatorship until he was forced to retire last January and it is easy to see why the Communists have been able to win such strong support in his country.

Chiang's rule is falling apart. His armies are fighting half-heartedly and deserting by scores. Who can blame them? Chiang has given them nothing for which to fight. The Chinese Communists have promised to do what Chiang promised to do twenty years ago. The Chinese do not know whether or not they will keep those promises, but they do know that Chiang did not.

It seems that Chiang once belonged to the Communist party himself, and got into power largely through their efforts. He then did an about face and won the support of the industrialists and landowners after which he repudiated his former Communist beliefs. No wonder the Communists refuse to negotiate with him!

There have been many reports that Chiang's moral life leaves much to be desired. It is difficult to say whether such reports are true or the result of political propaganda. It does seem clear that he falls far short of the Christian ideals in much that he does.

One cannot observe the Communist spreading in China without alarm. The U. S. S. R. and China together have a resource of manpower which is staggering. If Chiang had been willing to live up to the ideals which he claimed at one time such a situation would never have come. And, perhaps, if we had been more willing to spread our Christian beliefs to others, China would today be in the process of being won for Christ instead of Communism.

NEWS FLASH! The students and faculty of York College were amazed recently when they discovered that for an undetermined period the fodder has been circulating around the Y. C. tables the wrong direction. It is uncertain how long this counter-clockwise rotation of the vittles has been going on; however, it is rumored that it dates back to the day when Crazy Legs Wobbeljosky, a double-jointed, swivel-hipped, triple-chinned halfback of the York College Panthers was mutilated in a game with the University of Pudike, and ran the wrong way for a touchdown that won the game for good old P. U. "I thought it was the reverse!" he said. Crazylegs, whose family tree had been shaken back to his Bohunk ancestors, went around for a week doing everything backwards. Hence the reverse route taken by his vittles.

Emily Post, in her famous book concerning the proper procedure to follow in the shoveling of grub states explicitly that food should be passed to the right of the hostess. Where Emily gets her right to be a benevolent despot concerning the act of taking on fodder is beyond my knowledge but she seems to be generally accepted.

So if she says shoot the grub to the right I guess we will have to comply. The only thing—I'll have to change sides of the table in order to follow that widely accepted rule, "God helps those who help themselves."

MY ALLERGY

My allergy all started when somebody mentioned that joke about Joe Banana and his bunch—music with a-peal. Since then I slip up every time I come in contact with that nutritious member of the fruit family.

It was just my luck to be on hand when the bushel of over-ripe bananas arrived at the start of Easter vacation—all this to be consumed by fifteen individuals over as short a period as possible. We were optimists. We had banana salad, bananas with cream, bananas with cereal for breakfast, banana splits for Sunday dinner, baked bananas, bananas alone, and banana cream pie. I didn't even mind that until my roommate returned and announced that she had brought a treat for me—banana cake.

My final words are "Never put me in the refrigerator."

dress.

Then too, the lads do not mind waiting in Middlebrook Hall. They wander into the reception room with the wall to wall toupe carpet, venetian blinds, and flowered drapes, light a floor lamp and settle themselves comfortably on one of the plastic divans of gray, ashes of roses, or chartreuse. Or perhaps they investigate the book and what-not shelves on the west wall of the room; or the fireplace on the east end. Later on they may be helping to prepare a party-lunch in the small kitchenette.

SENIORS BALLOT ON 'MOST-LIKELY'

That superior set, the scintillating seniors, had an election the other day, and true to form, the results have Mr. Gallup sitting on top of his poll and chewing his fingernails. Absolutely unpredictable, that's our '49ers!

For instance, the presidential nominee of 1964 is Aully Holst, who, the class is confident, is quite capable of forming his own party. Unless, of course, Wanda Miller should be elected the first woman president. She would run for the PALS party. It isn't generally known, but that has been included in her wedding contract. And then, John Karutz has a good campaign slogan: "If I'm elected, every water fountain will run coke."

Lucille Keefe has been chosen the most dignified of the class, and Barbara Blauch is the most likely to succeed. Milton Snow and Ruth Weston are the best dressed seniors, and gee, don't they usually look snazzy?

Now who would be the most confused? Confusing, isn't it? Really, J. W. Hartsaw wins because he has lost his Illinois road map which had the plans of his house drawn on the other side, but Duane Larkins does get dizzy sometimes counting his children. And then, E. P. Worthington always has a problem—"To be or not to be in chapel, that is the question."

Doris Jean Bason is the most artistic, but Harvey Holbrook created a rush on the ballot box when he drove up in that new car. Such exquisite taste!

It's pretty hard to find an eligible candidate for the quietest member of the class, but at last the perfect one was suggested. Harriet Thomas! Her only close rival was Norma Jean Anderson.

You understand that this is just surmise, but I wonder if there weren't more boys than girls who voted? No? Then how did Wanda Miller rate as the one I'd most like to be stranded with on a country road? I wonder—

According to the seniors, the perfect couple should consist of Harold Walker, most successful future husband, and Anna Kamm, best homemaker of 1952. (She is taking up carpentry.) Well, they will both be married soon, but not to each other. It's just as well, I suspect. Now there will be two happiest couples.

Harvey Holbrook of the crude cut is most in need of a haircut. And although it is rough to select one senior who is the most industrious from this diligent group, Charles Williams won. Harold Holton, who is taking on both the army and Janet is termed the eager beaver.

The luckiest? Merwin Kurtz, of course, with that eight pound son. Unless it's "Fred Vorce, because he has me!" How do you suppose he got in the senior class?

Inquiring Around

by Forrest Hergert

With spring vacation over and the choristers returned, I felt the need of looking to the future, so I contacted many characters that make up a college student body, and asked them, "What are you doing this summer?" As might be expected, I received as many different answers as I asked questions. However, like answers ran in similar groups. Take, for example, the engaged group. I boldly approached several of the engaged girls and plagued them with my question. They answered with a dreamy look in their eyes, "We're getting married." Now isn't that just like a girl. I'll bet they will take the whole summer to do it in, too.

The next group to receive the verbal attack of this reporter was the group in which the couples are going steady but haven't made any commitments in stone as yet. When I mentioned the summer vacation to this group they gave me a cold glance that would give a watermelon goose pimples on the fourth of July. From their looks, I felt that they disliked the thought of the approaching summer vacation, and I can sympathize with them somewhat.

I took my question from this group and then blasted away with it at the single-but-hopefuls and found that they were doing a variety of things from vacationing to attending summer camps or looking for a new girl or boy friend, as the case might be.

The married people were the next group to receive my careful interrogation. Assuming the false notion that the man is the head of the house I went to the various husbands and asked my urgent question. Each husband politely told me that I would have to encounter his wife to find the answer. Since I am an engaged man I felt it best to refrain from visiting married men's wives, thus I still do not know what the married men plan to do this summer.

Just recently, I saw a couple of students sitting in the sun so I popped up with my sixty-four dollar question and they bluntly told me that they were going to work! That was quite a shock to me; I do believe the sun might have been too strong for them.

The Wayne GOLDENROD carries notice that their feature writers went on vacation. So somebody turned in the following suggestions on getting higher grades:

1. Purchase an apple orchard.
2. Resort to plastic surgery to get wider smiles of approval.
3. Buy a pup-tent and camp overnight at the library.
4. Massage neck muscles to insure more convincing nods of approval.
5. Go to convocations and yell "yoo-hoo" at teachers.

The MIDLAND editor sounds a warning that Communist propaganda is now being aimed at the colleges of the nation. Nebraska's are no exception.

From the Kearney ANTELOPE comes this moan of all good house mothers:

It seems an awful problem,
To keep some dorm girls home.
They stay out till the curfew hour
Wherever they may roam.

The WESLEYAN sounds the note: 10 out of 12 Nebraska church colleges have let the Nebraska legislature know they are opposed to permitting the state teacher's colleges to award liberal arts degrees.

DELEGATES REPORT DOANE CONFERENCE

In the opinion of the delegates who attended the N. A. C. C. conference at Doane recently, the greatest value in such a meeting was in the fact that students and faculty members of all church schools in Nebraska could get together and discuss vital problems with an open mind, having a common purpose in advancing Christian living.

Another factor in the success of the delegation was a feeling of understanding, between the delegates and the joint meetings of the faculty and students.

Student interest was high and delegates seemed to feel they had gained inspiration and a better understanding of problems of different colleges.

They help to build the traditions of the college. They represent the college everywhere. They are bound together by a common experience." Accordingly the historian would like to urge the members of the class of '24 to attend the 25th anniversary and reunion of their class this commencement. Write to Miss Nelle Bearss or to Mrs. Mabel Meeker Kirkpatrick that you are coming. Unless you live too far from York, won't you please plan to attend?"

DRIZZLING RAIN AND COLD WEATHER

The third annual York College Relays were held in Grand Island under a clouded sky, drizzling rain, and cooling weather when Grand Island and Trenton took home the team championships. Ten records fell by the wayside as the boys from G. I. forged ahead of Hastings for Class A honors. The Hastings team had 27 points, 7 and 1/2 short of the 34 1/2 points of Grand Island.

In the Class B bracket it was Trenton who topped the many schools with 15 3/5 points. Brady, Merna, and Culbertson all topped the 10 point mark to make the Class B race an interesting one right down to the wire.

The ten new records that were established were divided with 4 going to the Class A schools and 6 to the Class B schools. Grand Island's Bobby Reynolds broke the old record of 10.7 in the hundred yard dash as he broke the tape in 10.5. Meanwhile his teammates of the mile relay team were breaking a G. I. record set last year as they stepped off a 3:37.2 mile as against last year's time of 3:40.3. It was for Don Detlefson of Gothenburg to break the pole vault record of 10' 6" as he cleared the bar at 10' 7 1/4". The fourth Class A record to fall was victimized by the Superior sprint medley team as they rushed to a 3:57.4 record to shatter last year's mark of 3:58.8.

In Class B the record shattering was accomplished in the high jump, 120 yard high-hurdles, shot put, mile relay, sprint medley relay, and the 880 yard relay. Harold Degarmo of Trenton won the 120 yard high with a new mark of 15:8. Irving Thode of Loup City copped the high jump with a 5' 10" effort, and Bob Johnson of Merna put the 12 pound shot 45' 7 1/2" for the other individual honors. Trenton's mile and 880 yard relay teams set new records in their respective events as they were clocked in 3:39.5 for the mile and 1:39.4 in the 880. The remaining record was shattered by the Culbertson sprint medley combo as they traversed a 3:57.1 route to better the old record of 4:04.7.

Y. C. TROUNCED BY HASTINGS

Newton and Boehr
Salvage York's Firsts

The Broncos of Hastings rode roughshod over the Panthers of York College as they trounced the Yorkites 96-39 on the Hastings track.

The redclad men of Hastings won all the dashes, hurdles, and distances as the Yorksters suffered one of their worst set-backs since they dropped their opener to Doane by a 109-18 score.

With the resignation of Coach R. E. Tonkin as head coach at York College the question arises as to who will replace him in the year that is to come. The prospects have not yet been made public, if indeed, any are selected as yet. However, those who are familiar with the picture are not envying whoever it might be. It is a situation which offers a real challenge to any interested coach. York College has the smallest enrollment of any of the schools in the rugged Nebraska College Conference, and even big name coaches tremble at the thought of stepping into the smallest school of a conference.

However, there is a brighter side of the picture. "Tonk," as he has been known to the athletes and student body in general, proved to the state that the size of the school could be overcome when he coached his basketball team to the state championship and sent them to the second round of play at the N. A. I. B. Invitational tournament in the 1942-'43 season. Although the team records have not been outstanding, in fact even discouraging, Tonk has strong testimony for his ability as a trainer and coach in the active personages of several good high school coaches that graduated under his tutelage.

Many times we have sat back and freely condemned both team and coach for losing important games, or for finishing down the ladder in the final ratings, but how many times have we ever given any serious thought to what the emotions might have been for the team members and coach?

How often have you and I thought concerning the hours of work that a coach puts into the organization of a team, the setting up of plays, the conditioning of men, and the continuous repairing of equipment? A coach's road is not a rosy one wherever he may be or how successful he has been. However, Tonk has proven himself to the students and athletes of Y. C. during his stay here, and he will be missed from the campus next year as various activities roll around. In like manner, we look forward to meeting our new center of athletic life, whoever he may be, and we say to both men, good luck and best wishes for a successful season!

PANTHERS WIN ONE OF THREE AT KEARNEY MEET

The Panthers salvaged only tennis honors in their three-field invasion into Kearney State athletic competition, their golfers being dropped 8-4, and the cinder-men scuttled 144 1/2 to 24 1/2.

Tennists Nick Antelopes, 5-2

No. 1 man Don Erforth out-pointed Kearney's first choice 6-2 and 6-1. Team-mate Fred Vorce downed the No. 2 Antelope, Byrum, 7-5 and 6-2. To make a clean sweep of their day's slate, Erforth and Vorce disposed of Hendricks and Young 6-3 and 6-2.

On the losing end of the York net were number three and four men, Mathis and Noll. Don Noll gave up a close one to Edwards 7-5, 2-6 and 4-6.

The day was rounded out with the Mathis-Bean combination over Byrum and Edwards, and a tag-end win in the singles, Bean over Ferrin.

Golfers Taste First Loss, 8-4

The York sand-trap dodgers suffered their first loss of the season on Kearney's new 18-hole green course. The York College team consisting of Bason, Holst, Deboer, and Brown toppled off the short end of a four-eight count. Tutors Wreck Y. C. Track Hopes

Not many York bows are to be taken on the shellacking that Kearney handed the small band of track-men that ventured onto the Kearney oval. By virtue of his third places in high jump and high hurdles, and his being in the second place 880 yd. relay team, Paul Kemp was high point man with 4 1/4 points to his credit. Dob Newton and Harold Walker followed with four points each.

Several meet records fell during the encounter. Sohrwiede ran the mile in 4:35.8, Krote threw the javelin 182' 4", Ziegler ran the half in 2:02, and the 880 relay was run in 1:32.9. All the above mentioned records now belong to Kearney.
