

Anderson And Fahrng Chosen Representatives

At Monday's chapel time election, Mark Fahrng and Opal Anderson were chosen for the highest honor old Y. C. is able to bestow on any student—that of representative man and woman. Since the candidates could be chosen from both the junior and senior classes the competition was keen and the final vote very close, but these two seniors, one a repeater for the honor, out-distanced all others.

Opal, the repeater from last year, has been active in all fields of activity during her four years here. On top of working as secretary to the dean, she has included music—chapel choir, touring choir, and solo work,—cheer-leading for three years—Class treasurer, freshman; vice president, both junior and senior years,—sophomore editor for the Marathon, and she has been a member of the Y. W. C. A., PALS, and W. A. A. the Panther Club, and I. R. C. The reward for her activity and personality have included, also, election to student council, attendant to 1946 Homecoming Queen, and this year's Homecoming Queen. She was elected to Y. C.'s Who's Who from the class of 1950 and is now a repeat as Representative Woman.

Mark too has not been idle, but being married and a father has limited his activity—if you call it limited to lettering four years in football. Proof of Mark's popularity came last November when he was elected a co-captain of the football team and Representative Football Man.

Dining Students

Elect Council

A Dining Hall Council has been elected by students who eat at Middlebrook Hall. Middlebrook Hall girls have had much success in governing themselves through their floor representatives and by using the same plan in the dining room, students can voice their ideas. The purpose of this Council will be to confer with staff members and bring co-operation and efficiency through understanding.

The Middlebrook Hall girls chose as their representatives from first, second, and third floors respectively, Darlene Groen, junior, Olivet, South Dakota; Frances Porter, junior, Aurora, and Phyllis Rabuck, freshman, Moravia, Iowa. Rodney Epp, sophomore, Beatrice, will represent Hulitt Hall, Charles Emerick, junior, Portland, was elected by Thompson Hall, and Frederick Winters, junior, Tulsa, will act for the other men's halls. The staff counselors will be Mrs. Regenos, dining hall hostess, and Miss Savery, acting matron of Middlebrook Hall.

Join Ranks For Matrimonial Reins

Another student, Lowell Brown, junior, Williamsburg, Kansas, has joined the ranks of those in line for matrimonial reins. Lowell is engaged to Wilma Pratt who is at present employed in Topeka, Kansas.

Spring Banquet To Be Tonight At Middlebrook Hall

This evening, an annual banquet, sponsored by the Student Council, will be the traditional usher of spring on the campus, and the occasion of the formal presentation of the Representative Man and Woman. The theme, "Courtship Through the Ages," will be reviewed at the banquet, which will be held in the Middlebrook Hall dining room.

Prof. Denny Auchard, mathematics department, will act as toastmaster and introduce the various romantic eras. The "Stone Age" will be commented upon by Mrs. Doris Harris, history and physical education department. Janice Regenos, freshman, York, will sing a touching ballad describing the days "When Knights Were Bold." In a humorous reading, Lavona Dvorak, sophomore, Swisher, Ia., will give the audience a glimpse of the "Immortal Bard." Dick Callahan and James Pettygrove, both of York, and Myron Fessler, Clarinda, Ia., will give a freshman skit to fill the "Gay Nineties" spot. This "Modern Generation" will be portrayed in song by Rachel Langenberg, Alma.

Decorations will emphasize the banquet theme. Dolls in period costumes will be the favors and floor decorations. Period scenes will form the table centerpieces. Nut cups will be tiny jewelry boxes which contain "diamond" rings; guests entering the room will pass through a mammoth wedding ring. Even the food will be part of the decor, for the dessert will offer the first clue to the identity of the Representative Man or Woman.

Dr. Eschbach

Addresses L. W. R.

The L. W. R. organization had as its guest speaker Dr. Carl Eschbach, missionary from the Philippine Islands. After the song service, the chorister Elwin Conner, Pomona, Calif., introduced Dr. Eschbach who spoke of some of the requirements for mission work. Dr. Eschbach stressed to the group that a missionary's life is difficult and requires faith, love, and physical stamina.

He went on to remind the group that evangelism was only a small part of mission work. "We need," he explained, "farmers, engineers, doctors, and men of all professions to successfully spread the gospel." Dr. Eschbach's favorite expression was, "We're not in the mission field merely to lead the people ourselves and do all the work, but we're there to work ourselves out of a job; we train the natives to do the mission work themselves. They do a much better job than we can."

April Antics Plans Near Completion

According to chairman Darlene Groen, junior, Olivet, South Dakota, plans for April Antics are nearing completion. The April Antics is an annual event and is sponsored by the Pantherettes.

The school carnival will take place in the Administration Building on the evening of April first. General concession booths will be in the classrooms. A movie will be shown in chapel, followed by a variety show.

The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the Personality King. He will be elected by student votes from representatives chosen from each class.

Lost—A Friend...

York College has lost a true and loyal friend in the passing of Dr. Charles Bisset. The loss will be felt by students and faculty alike, as Dr. Bisset was friend to all that needed a friend, as well as instructor and counselor.

Many of us will remember Dr. Bisset as the "keeper of the calendar." It was he that kept the wheels of activity from rolling over another in the complicated schedule of events accompanying college life. Others will recall him with every thought of student council duty while at Y. C. They will remember him as a wise and understanding counselor in affairs of student government. Still others, who were under his instruction more than I, will call him to mind as a capable revealer of facts concerning history and sociology. But whatever your association was with York College, if it was for any length of time, the name of Dr. Bisset must be synonymous with the spirit of Christian fellowship which dominates Y. C.

I like to think of Dr. Bisset as the "keeper of the calendar" because it seems to embody all the things which his life stood for. He was keeper of student activity through the calendar which hung in his room; he was keeper of student life through his deep interest in each person with whom he came in contact; he was keeper of Christian principles by the very life that he led; and he was keeper of light through his classes and chapel talks.

Now he has gone to meet his own Keeper. The Keeper whom he relied upon so completely and served so well. Perhaps it is that God has need of someone to keep watch over His calendar of events, or perhaps it is that He is simply waiting to say, "Well done."

But whatever the reason, when we have turned the last day on our own personal calendar of life and prepare to meet our God and Saviour, I'm certain none of us will be surprised if we see Dr. Bisset keeping the calendar for Him that called us.

Sleep on, beloved, sleep, and take thy rest;
Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast;
We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best—
Good-night! Good-night! Good-night!

Until made beautiful by Love Divine,
Thou, in the likeness of thy Lord shalt shine,
And He shall bring that golden crown of thine—
Good-night! Good-night! Good-night!

Only "Good-night," beloved — not "Farewell!"
A little while, and all His saints shall dwell
In hallowed union, indivisible —
Good-night! Good-night! Good-night!

—Sarah Doudney.

DR CHARLES BISSET DIES SUNDAY, MAR. 19 AT HOSPITAL

By CAROL DENTON

Old glory is at half mast on the York College campus. It is the symbol of the deep respect that we hold for one of our number who has passed on. For in less than two years, a third member of the Y. C. faculty has gone to meet his Maker.

Dr. Charles Bisset, perhaps one of the most beloved of our professors, died on Sunday, March 19, at the York General hospital. Memorial services were conducted Tuesday morning at the College Church by Pres. Bachman and Dr. G. T. Savery. His death was the result of several mishaps incurred by the weather and the increasing age of a body that has worked hard and served well.

Although Dr. Bisset had reached the age of 78 years and had taught approximately 51 years, 37 of those at York College in the Social Science and History department, he continued his work to within days of his sudden death. He attained a record that many would admire and few may achieve, his life being a series of admirable achievements.

Always active in the church and college, he not only was a devoted teacher, faculty secretary, and Dean of this institution for many years, but also an ordained minister of the United Brethren Church. His circle was not confined to only his work, but he was, in his younger days, an athlete of no small repute. He enjoyed many types of athletics, and last spring was known to have played tennis with members of the tennis squad.

A wonder to his students and fellow professors at times was his excellent health and activity. A shock of white hair adorned his head, but failed to dim the brightness and vivacity of his eyes which smiled continuously. Although his age was showing in the last several years, his pace never lessened, nor did his intellect waver. His presence on the faculty was long a stabilizing influence which was a necessity through the trying times that the college has experienced.

Without a doubt, the presence of this tireless servant will be missed, but his spirit will remain with us. His name will live in the students whom he taught and to whom he gave foresight and knowledge. It is with regret we say farewell, but not with sorrow, for he has earned his rest. To a man of God and a soul that loved the men around it, we wish a fond "good-bye" and may God be with you.

Speech Department Receives Recorder

A new recorder which is in use in the Speech Department has proved very valuable to Miss Irene Shipley, head of that department.

Students are able to have their own voices recorded, and in this way note and improve defects of speech. Recordings by professionals enable those interested in interpretation and public speaking to observe the style of noted authorities in those fields.

H. Walker Begins Spring Tours As Y. C. Student Field Rep.

Harold Walker, '50, Benedict, is now working for the college in the capacity of student field representative. During the next few months he will make contact with fifty to seventy high schools in twenty-five counties surrounding York.

Last summer Mr. Walker and his bride, the former Harriet Thomas, toured a good deal of the college territory interviewing prospective students.

Mr. Walker can be considered representative of the student body because of his versatility. His activities have included membership in the Y Club, participation in both music and speech recitals, presidency of the Student Council, writer for the Sandburr and work in the church.

MARY MUTCH AWARD TO MARY K. JACKSON

The Mary Mutch Cain Award, which is given annually to the senior woman whose life, it is believed, most nearly parallels that of Mrs. Cain was awarded to Mary Katherine Jackson, Adrian, Mo. Mrs. Cain was a missionary to Africa whose death was the direct result of a savage attack on the mission. Although of little monetary value, this honor brings a great meaning to the person on whom it is bestowed.

The list of women receiving the Mary Mutch Cain Award during the past years would include these names: Lois Miller, '40; Amy Speece, '41; Evelyn Beason '42; Helen Hall, '43; Loraine Garlock, '44; Mary Miller, '45; Irene Falk, '46; and Anna Kamm Hergert, '49.

Y. C. Students Attend King Lear at Kearney

Several York College students attended the recent production of "King Lear" which was given by the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney.

Setting was especially stressed by the Kearney crew in their background for such scenes as the throne room of King Lear's castle, the interior court of Gloucester's castle, and the desolate, bleak heath.

Among those witnessing the performance were members of the Shakespeare class of Miss Callender. This tragedy will be the next drama studied by the group.

WHAT DO YOUNG PEOPLE WANT?

"Christianity is impractical. I want nothing to do with it. It has nothing to offer me as a young person." We all have heard some young person say this at one time or another. Let us take a look at what young people want, and see if Christianity can fulfill those needs. First of all, young people want something that uses up energy. In John 10:10 we find Christ saying "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." Christianity asks you as a young person not to lay aside Energy but to put your talents to work in service to make the world a better place to live in.

"I want to get a thrill out of life. Let me live my life as I want to live it." Every young person has the urge to add thrills to his experience to get away from some of the ordinary things of life. Christianity can lift the young person into a new relation with the world so that "Their eyes may be opened." Views which once were closed to your mind leap into view and make life both a thrill and a joyful experience in living.

"God always leaves an unfinished task on the work bench of the world"—William Allen White. These words fit into the dreaming of youth: an invitation to take up where somebody else has left off, and make it better than when you found it. An invitation that has a future and really needs us. How different from the slogan placed upon a mountain in the Bavarian Alps, which overlooked a Hitler Youth Camp, which read "You are born to die for Germany." An invitation to receive education to know the truth and to be born free.

"I want something that is up to date. Not something that is two-thousand years old." Christianity is a daring venture into ideas and ideals that even now are advanced. Never before or since has man heard such amazing truths concerning world relations and brotherhood. "Jesus came into the world to reveal the mysteries of heaven and the laws of the spirit. Alexander, and myself founded empires; but what did we rest our creations upon? Upon force. Jesus Christ alone founded his Father's empire upon Love."—Napoleon Bonaparte. Even today the world stands in awe as it realizes within its own bosom that within that great Book, The Bible, rests the whole solution of its schizophrenia, and then begins the long tedious job of drawing men from hatred and prejudice towards the demanding unity and brotherhood of an omnipotent God.

BOOK RAMBLINGS

By L. RACHOW

So you are interested in fiction? Many a Y. C. student has asked, "Why are there no fiction books in the library?" Rest assured that "ye olde library" has fiction it may well be proud to lend to its borrowers. We cordially invite you to come in and browse through our selections. Come with us and meet some of the outstanding authors of our times and their masterpieces:

If Winter Comes: A novel by A. S. M. Hutchinson. The allusion of the title is to the last line of Shelley's Ode to the West Wind, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" It is the story of a man who loved all humanity, but who was persecuted and betrayed by those who did not understand him. Although the book makes no pretensions to great literature, it is a perennial favorite among all classes of readers.

Gone With the Wind: A best-selling novel by Margaret Mitchell, awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1937 and later dramatized as a record-breaking motion picture spectacle. It deals with the adventures of Scarlett O'Hara, a beautiful, selfish, headstrong, fiery-tempered southern belle, during the Civil War, especially her establishment of a successful business in war ruined Atlanta and her tempestuous marriage to Rhett Butler, whose character matches her own.

The Forsyte Saga: Two series of novels by John Galsworthy, dealing with the fortunes of the Forsytes, a family of the English upper middle-class. The five books in the first group appeared separately but were later published in one volume (the library has this volume). In his preface the author points to the general theme—the disturbance that Beauty creates in the lives of men. The story achieves a high point of excellence as social history and art.

Wuthering Heights: This novel, published under the pseudonym of Ellis Bell, was considered such a risk by its publishers that Emily Bronte had to defray the cost of publishing until a sufficient number of copies had been sold. Despite its exaggerated touches, Wuthering Heights is an intriguing tale of revenge, and the main figures exist in a more than life-size vitality of their own consuming passion.

Anthony Adverse: Hervey Allen's novel is the story of a soldier of fortune whose ramblings carry him over a large part of Europe, to Africa, and to North America. It contains a wealth of incident, as well as mention of historical personages. The novel is interesting because its various sections represent different types of romantic fiction.

The Ides of March: Thornton Wilder has retold the events of the last months of Caesar's life with warmth and depth of feeling in this best seller. From imaginary letters and documents he has reconstructed the plots and intrigues leading to the fatal stabbing of the great Roman.

In Remembrance of Prof. Charles Bisset

(Resurgere Triumphans) by Jack Mathis

It was just a passing leaf of time, some said.
 Yet others knew that to His heavenly home God had led
 A soul entwined with the thirst of truth and beauty,
 And that God would say, "Thou hast done thy duty."

"You have taught the blind to see,
 Given youth the will to be;
 Moulded Christian leaders in a world of need,
 And brought to the soul-sick a kindly word or deed."

It was just a passing leaf of time, some said.
 But others knew that God a saint home had led.

Scotch maid is a little behind lines she appears with a stealthy tread, the reason for which you will discover from Mrs. Betty Auchard, sophomore, when attending the production. Then there are Robert and Janet, Jim Potter, sophomore, Peetz, Colo., and Catherine Walker, junior, Maize, Kansas, respectively, but who wouldn't be late for entrance if they were moonlighters about to take that fatal step. But Sir Hugo Const, Fred Vorce, senior from Brookfield, Mo., is always on his toes when looking for a SUSPECT. Seems he has a nose for news—history, too.

Mrs. Smith, played by Mary K. Jackson, senior from Adrian, Mo. is a woman who rather enjoys solitude as vicar Fred Koontz, senior, Des Moines, Iowa, finds out. And then there is a lady who enjoys the hustle of city life and friends, Lady Const, Darlene Groen, junior, Olivet, South Dakota.

Each day this cast gathers for rehearsal in the Hulitt Hall reception room. Even "Skeeter" happens in occasionally to give the cast the good word. Georgann Hoff, student director, junior, Los Alamo, N. Mex., never knows quite what to think either at times. Such as when a sofa is serving for a baby grand piano.

Are you a SUSPECT? Find out by attending the York College Players production of SUSPECT, March 28 at the City Auditorium. The curtain goes up at 8:15.

CHAPEL NOTES

Christian Vocations

"We must place a new emphasis on spiritual values," declared the Rev. Carl B. Eschbach, Personnel Secretary of the Evangelical United Brethren church, in a recent chapel service for Mission Emphasis work. "It will take all of our abilities and all of our talents to build a world of truth."

The speaker related many incidents in the Far East which prove that spiritual things are most important. The Japanese say, "Which way shall we go—Communism or Christianity?" The missionary holds the key to the world of love and hate, he stated.

The Way Everlasting

Prayer must be an experience of a constant outpouring of sustaining power. This was the statement made by Dr. D. E. Weidler of the Religion and Philosophy Departments in a most recent formal chapel address.

The speaker cited various selections from the Treasury of the Christian Faith, by Stanley I. Stuber and Thomas Curtis Clark.

Baseball Workouts To Begin Soon

Baseball practice will begin this week. Workouts will start in the college gym if the weather is not warm enough to go out on the diamond. A dozen baseball uniforms have been secured from the Chamber of Commerce, and others have been ordered. The York business men have donated the suits on order, and they will carry their advertisements.

This is the first time in recent years that baseball has been played at York College. Doane, Kearney, Midland, Hastings, and Wesleyan are the teams that are represented in the Conference this year in addition to York. Chadron would like to participate, but due to their location they will not take part this year.

Coach Neal Parsons expects a good turn out for baseball as soon as the weather permits. A number of the boys have played American Legion ball and others have played town team ball. Coach Parsons has pitched ball for sixteen years for various towns, including Falls City, Humboldt, Verdon, Shubert, Dawson, Nemaha, Stella, Barada, Salem, and Rulo, Nebr., and Atchison, Kansas. The year that he pitched for Shubert they won the Nemaha Valley conference title.

The schedule is, as follows: April 27, Doane (here); May 1, Kearney (there); May 4, Nebraska B (there); May 8, Wesleyan (there); May 11, Doane (there); May 12, Midland (there); May 16, Hastings (here), evening; May 18, Nebraska B (here); May 23, Midland (here) evening; May 26, Kearney (here) evening.

10 Men Report For Tennis

A total of ten men reported for tryouts for the tennis team according to Bob Gillespie, who will coach the tennis and golf teams. Those who reported for the first meeting were: Chuck Bean, Jack Mathis, Don Noll, Don Erfourth, Fred Vorce, Warren Porter, Fred Winter, O. J. Yates, Clair Marvel, and Dale Smith.

Seedings of the players will be determined by playoffs, and each man will be given seeding in the ladder. Because of the high winds the players have been working out in the gym from 4 to 6 o'clock each afternoon.

Track Team Notes

Seventeen men reported to Denny Auchard, Panther track coach, for a preliminary workout.

In the sprints there are Stan Hedrick, Larsen, Wooters, Al Dunn and Shorty Way. Lito Martinez, Vic Suazo, will try to hold down middle distance berths along with letterman Frank Medsker. Back from last year is Darwin Newton, assisted by Randy Streeeton for the weights. In the hurdles it looks like Ken Hall will have to hold down this position. He will also assist Shorty Way in the pole vaulting event. Wooters looks good in the high jump while Al Dunn has the broad jump billet. Stan Hedrick, Kenny Hall, and Lito Martinez will fill the javelin event. In the discus event we find Darwin Newton and Kenny Hall. The distance honors will be sought by Kenny Wilson and Cecil Walker.

Denny Auchard, coach of the team, will be assisted by Mark Fahring, team manager. The first meet of the season will be at Doane on April 7th. On April 12th, the Panthers will play host in a triangular meet with Concordia and Midland here at York.

Cotners Edge Prospectors For Intra - Mural Championship

In a game that saw erratic point producing splurges by both teams, Cotners edged out a 37 to 35 win over the Prospectors to cop the intra-mural basketball championship and the right to sport their names on the trophy shield.

Cotners, triumphant in league play, were forced into a three game playoff by the Prospectors who moved through their tournament opposition defeating Cotners in the final, 29 to 28.

In the first of the three game playoff Cotners controlled the backboards and hit consistently enough to easily defeat the Prospectors by a 13 point margin, 37 to 24.

The second game saw the Prospectors come back in an exact ball control game to dispose of Cotners 38 to 30 sending the championship into another and final game.

In the championship contest the Prospectors handling the ball methodically and setting up plays piled up an 11 point lead early in the game. By half time Cotners had peppered the basket and surged into a 22 to 20 lead. Throughout the last half Cotners kept a six or eight point lead until the last three minutes when a flare-up by the Prospectors fell short of a winning margin resulting in the final score: Cotners 37, Prospectors, 35. Thus ended the 1949-1950 intra-mural basketball program with the victory laurels going to Cotners Cagers.

SOPHOMORES TRIUMPH IN INTER - CLASS TOURNEY

Golf Team Meets

The following men reported to Bob Gillespie, coach, for tryouts with the golf team: Dick Bason, Ross Hecht, Paul Embree, and Malcolm Brown. They all shoot in the 80's and with a little practice should provide some real competition for other collegiate golfers.

There are still some positions open on the golf squad and anyone desiring to play is urged to try out. When the weather permits the golf squad will practice at the York Country Club.

The sophomore team romped over the juniors 88 to 52 in the inter-class tournament, to prove their domination over both their lower and upper classmates. Previously the sophomores had eliminated the seniors while the juniors were taking the measure of the freshman team.

In the first quarter of the class final, the sophomores took advantage of a frigid junior team by swishing the net for a comfortable 16 point lead. The tables had soon turned, however, as the juniors found the range and whittled the sophomore lead to four points at half time, 41 to 37.

With a few minutes gone in the last half a sophomore and a junior player were ejected from the ball game for rowdiness above and beyond the call of duty. The sight of their martyred classmate warming the bench evidently enraged the sophomores who proceeded to turn the ball game into a rout. The game ended with the sophomores in command of an 88 to 52 score.

Players on the junior team included C. Bean, D. Erfourth, A. Ferguson, S. Hedrick, J. Mathis, C. Marvel, and C. Sukovaty.

Members of the sophomore team were G. Dey, R. Epp, G. Larsen, J. Potter, B. Miller, R. Svehla, B. Watkins, and F. Wooters.

Council Discusses Student Union

Acting upon requests of many of the student body, the Student Council passed a motion to have the president of the Student Council appoint a committee of three to confer with President Bachman and Mrs. Regenos, dining hall hostess, to see if more food such as sandwiches and malts might be served at the Snack Nook in the Student Union.

The need for more equipment in the Student Union was discussed and it was suggested that the profit from such increased sales of food might be used to buy new ping pong paddles, rook decks, etc.

The council president, Warren Porter, senior, Aurora, appointed the following people to serve on the committee: Dick Miller, Ventura, Ia., Mabel Brandenburg, Russell, Kans., and Joyce Klingman, Greenleaf, Kans.

PALS Guests of Zetas

The Zetas entertained the PALS at a mock radio program supposedly sponsored by the Fite U Rite Tite Sweater company. Combining the talent of both organizations, the Master of Ceremonies Fred Winter, junior, Tulsa, conducted a quiz program with the aid of "two gentlemen in the audience" Clair Marvel, sophomore, Valeda, Kansas, and Kenneth Wilson, freshman, Chanute, Kansas.

Students impersonated members of the faculty, name bands, radio stars, singers, etc., while the studio crowd guessed their identity and received candy suckers. A trio supplied the commercials.

The master of ceremonies expressed a wish that the two organizations could sponsor a yearly variety show. To back up his idea he treated the cast to cokes in the Student Union after the performance.

The two societies decided to hold a picnic together at a time and place to be decided by committees.

Rec. Leadership Class Directs Social Evenings

Coach Bob Gillespie of the Athletic department has been giving the members of his Recreational Leadership class opportunity to utilize their skill in directing social evenings which are being held in the college gym.

Such games as ping pong, shuffleboard, badminton and volley ball are instructed by the class members. Folk games such as "Texas Star" and "The Girl From Arkansas" are called. At a recent session, Evelyn Thomas, sophomore, Topeka, accompanied the games on the piano while Mrs. Bob Gillespie, York, and Mrs. Denny Auchard, sophomore, York, played fiddles.

Mr. Koontz's opinion of Rag Mop—"There's a champ."

There is an old proverb that says, "A friend in need is a friend in deed." Hastings College band needed just such a friend. They were scheduled to go on a tour, when a large percentage of their instruments were destroyed in a fire which completely demolished their chapel as well as the instruments. Hearing of the loss and realizing that the college needed instruments to make the Chicago tour, Mr. Koontz called Hastings and offered the use of some of the York band instruments.

Al Hueske, Bob Roenfeldt, and Bob Starr, each of whom lost his instrument, came to York to borrow instruments. The Hastings boys were very complimentary of the York dining hall food and service. "We like your system of having a host at each table," the boys stated. They were especially grateful for the loan of the instruments as Bob Starr expressed it, "Hastings College is very grateful. We hadn't found a decent E flat horn until Mr. Koontz called and offered to loan us York's."

I. R. C. Hears Records 'I Can Hear It Now'

"I Can Hear It Now" records by Edward R. Murrow were presented by Prof. Danker, sponsor, to I. R. C. members, Tuesday night. These records are recordings of the most important and interesting historical events of the past 20 years. For future meetings, film strips have been secured from the United Nations on its organization and function. These will be shown not only in I. R. C. meetings but also in chapel and for other organizations.

Other business of the organization was transacted.

Good-bye, My Son

The biographical novel, Good-bye, My Son, by Marjorie Coryn was reviewed by Mrs. Walter Baer of York at a recent chapel program.

This is a novel about the Bonaparte family, picturing Napoleon and his seven brothers and sisters as they appeared to Letizia Ramolina Bonaparte, who was their mother.

The book begins with Napoleon's father and mother fleeing to the mountains of Corsica from the oncoming French army before Napoleon was born. It closes with the exile of the emperor.

Overheard in Student Union:

According to Dale Smith the new spring colors in shoes (this is a plug) are green, red, blue, and beige. I wonder if he isn't rushing the season a little? (Unpaid advertisement).

Jack Mathis has his own style of song leading; he just stands there with his hands high over head flapping to the rhythm of the song.

Note to the quotation recorder. Mr. Koontz has a variety of quotations of questionable character on his blackboard.

York students are certainly cosmopolitan in their eating habits. The other day they had an African stew, which they dubbed "African Bungo," for dinner.

CLASS OF 50 RECOGNIZED

41 Strong, the Class of 1950 Will Be the Largest Ever to Graduate From Y. C.

The largest graduating class in the history of York College, the class of 1950, was honored in recognition by the class of 1951 at the E. U. B. Church on Thursday morning, March 16.

The class of 1950, 41 strong, represent nine states. The class boasts only 11 women, while 30 men, 21 of them veterans, dominate the class. Of the total 41 students, 19 are already in the ranks of the married.

The main address of the day was given by Rev. John F. Wichelt, B.S., B.D., of Lincoln. His subject was "Just You." Others participating in the program were Miss Eda Rankin who played the processional and recessional, Rev. V. F. Leaming who delivered the invocation and benediction, Prof. Donald Danker who presented the senior class and President Walter E. Bachman who delivered the recognition. Glen Riley, president of the junior class, offered the junior recognition and senior class president, John Holm responded. Musical numbers were provided by Miss Barbara Benfer who sang "The Little Damsel" and Darrell Anderson who sang "Sweet Little Jesus Boy."

Highlight of the program was the presentation of the Mary Mutch Cain award by Pres. Bachman to Miss Mary K. Jackson.

Members of the graduating class include: Opal Anderson, York; Richard H. Bason, Jr., Des Moines, Ia.; James Bergland, Glendive, Mont.; Elwin Kerr Conner, Omaha; Norman Lloyd Crouse, York; Paul Deever, Penalosa, Kans.; Bernice E. Dvorak, Swisher, Ia.; Denzel L. Dyer, McCool Junction; George Earl Epp, Henderson; Mark S. Fahring, Salina, Kans.; Wayne R. Farrer, Sioux City, Ia.; Dennis Friesen, Henderson; John R. Holm, York; Mary K. Jackson, Adrian, Mo.; Faith Kamm, Arkansas City, Kans.; Frank Kamm, Platte Center; Opal E. Kennedy, La Crosse, Wash.; Alfred G. Kilpatrick, Cotesfield; G. Frederick Koontz, Des Moines; Richard Lake, York; Rachel Langenberg, Alma; Donald Light, Salina, Kan.; Alberto Martinez, Vallecitos, N. M.; Frank Medsker, Glendive, Mont.; Carolynn Meeker, Enid, Okla.; Evan Eugene Miller, Benedict; Richard A. Miller, Ventura, Ia.; Donald J. Noll, York; Warren Porter, Aurora; Lois E. ## Y. C. Players To Present Finale Tuesday Night

The York College Players are in the final stages of preparation for their final production of the 1949-50 series. The play, a psychological suspense drama entitled SUSPECT, is to be presented at the city auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 28.

The cast is composed entirely of students who are majoring in drama or expression fields. Featured in the lead as Mrs. Smith, a psycho-neurotic, will be Mary Kay Jackson, senior, Adrian, Mo. Her faithful Scottish servant, Goudie will be played by a newcomer to the York audiences, Mrs. Betty Auchard, a sophomore formerly from Ft. Scott, Colo. Protagonist of the play, Sir Hugo Const, an elderly newspaper magnate, will be Fred Vorce Jr., senior, Brookfield, Mo. His close friend, Dr. Rendle, will be played by John Bergland, sophomore, Glendive, Mont., who made his debut in JANUARY THAW as "Mattie Boy." Others in the cast include Robert Smith's son, played by Jim Potter, sophomore, Peetz, Colo.; Janet Rendle, daughter of Dr. Rendle, Cathy Walker, junior, Maize, Kans.; The Rev. Alfred Combermere, vicar of Polcorn, Fred Koontz, a senior from Des Moines, Iowa; and Lady Const, wife of Sir Hugo, Darlene Groen, junior, Olivet, South Dakota.

The play is set in the garden lounge of Mrs. Smith's home, overlooking the sea in Cornwall, England. The action revolves around the marriage of Janet to Robert, and the complications arise from the questionable past of Mrs. Smith.

Sir Hugo, in his earlier days a reporter on the Edinburgh Evening News, now recognizes Mrs. Smith as the former Margaret Wishart, accused axe-slayer of her father and step-mother. The events which follow as Sir Hugo and Dr. Rendle attempt to trap Mrs. Smith without arousing the suspicion of the others is enough to keep even the most composed dignitary on the edge of his seat.

Plans for stage and lighting promise to present a mood setting comparable to that of THE LADY WHO CAME TO STAY, produced three years ago by the York College Players. Make up and costuming offer a guarantee of a thoroughly English atmosphere.

What is there about a rook game that can cause a guy who said he will only play three games to sit down and play for four hours?

Savery Begins Lecture Series Before O. B. N.

"The Minister and His Money" is the first of a series of three lectures that Dr. Savery is giving on Ministerial Ethics, before the O. B. N. organization.

A minister should first of all never be ashamed of his profession. His office is the highest in the church and he should live up to the expectancies of his position.

Ministers are seldom paid high wages, thus they should budget very effectively. In budgeting, careful consideration should be given the clothing of himself and family. A well dressed minister makes favorable impressions. A minister must also plan to buy a certain number of books. Books freshen one's mind and give one insight into problems of men. But never buy more books than you can afford.

Care should be taken to pay all debts and to keep your credit good everywhere. Always explain why you can't pay a debt on time. A creditor always has the highest respect for honesty in business propositions. Whenever possible deal with the business men in your congregation.

In some cases a minister is underpaid when the church could afford to pay more. In such an instance it is quite proper for the minister to ask for a raise. Jesus taught the minister is worthy of his hire. It is wise to accept only those charges which promise a fixed salary. Any church with tithing members can afford to support a minister.

In conclusion a minister should never do outside work unless absolutely necessary. He has all he can do in making his pastorate effective in his community.
