Students Represent Delta Lambda Mu Eleven States

Eleven states are represented in the seventy-two students enrolled at York College for the summer session.

Nebraska leads with an enrollment of fifty, while Kansas has eight, and New Mexico four. California and Texas each have two. Other states represented with one enrollment each are Iowa, South Dakota, Washington, Colorado, and Arizona.

(Ed. Note: Don't criticize the mathematics; the seventy-second student won't tell where he's from.)

Student Senate Elected

For a student senate for the summer, each class elected two representatives. On behalf of the freshmen, there are Juanita Raines and Tom Rauscher; sophomores, Ardith Carter and Caroline Walkup; juniors, Carol Denton and Max Garcia, with Leta Strong and Clair Marvel for the seniors. Immediately Clair Marvel was elected president and Leta Strong, secretary-treasurer. A committee to handle the Thursday chapel was appointed, consisting of Max Garcia as chairman with Carol Denton and Tom Rauscher assistants.

The June 20th Mixer arranged by Ardith, Caroline, and their chairman, Juanita, was the first senate sponsored function. Max also takes care of the Friday night skating. The student senate has made plans for future summer activity, picnic, etc.

Honors New Members

On Commencement day, June 6, 1950, the Delta Lambda Mu, honorary scholastic fraternity, held its annual tea to honor the newly elected members from the current graduating class. The tea given in the Dean Amadon Memorial room at Middlebrook Hall listed thirteen new members from the class of 1950.

These were: Opal Anderson, York; Bernice Dvorak, Swisher, Iowa; Denzel Dyer, McCool Jct.; John Holm, York; Mary Katherine Jackson, Adrian, Mo.; Faith Kamm, York; Frank Kamm, York; Alfred Kilpatrick, York; Alberto Martinez, Vallecitos, N. M.; Dick Miller, Ventura, Iowa; Warren Porter, Aurora; Lois Riddle, Brookfield, Mo.; and Pauline Smeltzer, Fulton, Mo.

Featured on the program were Prof. Lee Huebert and Miss Barbara Blauch, York, who sang solos. Both were accompanied by Miss Joyce Klingman, Green, Kansas. Catherine Walker, Maize, Kansas, read the selection, "Corn-husk Doll," and Lyn Cormican of York played a piano solo.

At the tea, officers were elected for the coming year, with Dr. W. C. Noll of the biology department as president and Mrs. Edith Huebert vice president. Pauline Glock of York and Louis Rachow, Acting Librarian of the College, were elected as secretary and treasurer respectively.

YORK COLLEGE ANNOUNCES FACULTY CHANGES THIS YEAR

Record Enrollment Seen For Fall

A record fall enrollment is anticipated at Y. C. this year. From the number of applications which have already been sent in, the office girls venture to say that September 11 will show an increased number of students on the campus. It is impossible to determine how many of last year's students will return to college here in the fall; however, indications are that there will be a favorable number.

Various forms of preparations for the opening of school are being made on the campus during the summer months. At the library, librarians have been busy rearranging things and planning for the redecorating which is to be completed before school starts. Office girls are compiling necessary information for the annual York College bulletins to be published sometime next month. The faculty members are making tentative plans for the new class schedules that are printed for the convenience of enrolling students.

Heavy Rain Floods York

The city of York was at the center of torrential rains ranging up to nearly 14 inches Saturday night, July 8.

The downpour began about 8 P. M. and continued until about 2:00 A. M. Sunday. By 9 o'clock the underpass on Lincoln avenue was flooded and people were wading in water nearly knee deep in the business section of town.

By 11 P. M., a flood was so evident that the local firemen and National Guard were called out to assist in evacuating threatened homes in the south part of town.

Middlebrook Hall offered hospitality to some six persons as a result of the rainstorm Saturday night.

The force of the rain was so great that it penetrated the roofs of several homes in Kroyville, causing considerable damage within the homes. The roof of the gym was damaged by the wind.

BERGEN ASSUMES OFFICE OF REGISTRAR

There are to be several changes in both faculty and administrative positions next year, according to officials at York College. Mr. A. H. Bergen, who has served as acting dean, will become dean of men and registrar, allowing Mr. Myron Holm, head of the education department, to give full-time service in that department. In the absence of Mr. W. J. Karraker, former dean, Dr. Walter E. Bachman will assume some of the duties of an academic dean. Mr. Alden Sears will continue to teach classes in Psychology.

Danker, Parsons to Study at N. U.

Leaving the college to continue his graduate study is Mr. Donald Danker of the political science department. He plans to complete work for the Ph. D degree at the University of Nebraska. He will be joined there by another member of this year's staff. Coach Neal B. Parsons has indicated that he too will return to work on his doctor's degree at Lincoln.

It appears that the athletes may be greeted by strange faces at every turn. Assistant coach Bob Gillespie has accepted employment with the state health service in Lincoln, while Denny Auchard has been making plans to continue his graduate study. How the plans turn out depends in part upon his recovery from an operation. Auchard was hospitalized at Commencement time and still wears a cast on the left leg, from which a cyst was removed.

With Mrs. Hope Howland Farrer entering the elementary teaching field, the bookstore is to be in charge of Miss Opal Anderson. Miss Anderson is also to take charge of women's athletics.

Successors to other members of the staff are in the process of being selected, and their names will be announced soon.

BOYS BORN SATURDAY

Two York College families welcomed new arrivals Saturday at the York General hospital. Boys were born to the Rev. and Mrs. Vaughn Leaming and to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Larsen. The names of Lorence Edward Leaming and Robert Eugene Larsen are thus added to the Y. C. Cradle roll.

"You can't make me go. I won't move! What's wrong, everything is moving. I'm not walking. Don't take me out of here! This is my home. I keep warm in winter. It's quiet and peaceful like the forest. No one has come to molest me before."

"Once again I'm out of doors. There have been some changes and I like this freedom but I can't run and romp as I used to do. My joints are stiff. How strange it looks, for there is no forest. Just buildings and buildings!"

"Take me back! I'm too old to be freed now. Take me back and let me be. But why do you insist on taking me further?"

"How strange! I've entered another world, unlike anything on earth. It's so peaceful. Yes, I've fulfilled my mission among men. And man in return has given me a haven. Then, too, guess my coat is getting a little shaggy, so it's all for the best."

Suddenly I found the coat grabbed up and thrown around the shoulders of a young girl. Then this young girl was carried through waist-deep water by a tall young man. We were carried to the city auditorium where we spent the night. The next day when the water had gone down, I climbed East Hill and

EXPERIMENTS?

When in the course of inhuman toil a confirmed news reporter is required to write a feature for the first time, there occurs a certain inner reverberation which often results in a literary atrocity. This, as my meager brain understands psychological terms, is known as frustration.

While discussing the matter of frustrations, no frustrating influence is quite as harassing as the existence of a class ironically referred to as experimental psychology. The fact as to whether the students are to perform experiments of a psychological nature or are to be the objects of said experiments is not established. But the fact is known that the instructor, with the assistance of several confederates planted in the classroom, attempts to dull the senses of unsuspecting students with daily brewed coffee. But the fiends have overlooked one small detail. There is perhaps some teetotaler in the class who is wide awake and aware that dirty work is afoot (to make use of a well worn cliché).

It is a closely guarded secret that the professor is trying to prove that college students are perfectly normal persons . . . which in itself is a stupid assumption. How else is the average college undergraduate able to endure the equally abnormal professors that plague him? He must maintain the same psychological level in order not to appear queer. This is attained only after great practice and such a veneer cannot be cracked by futile attempts from an apparently normal but unfortunate psychology professor.

But this is worthless rambling for a normal person who should be concerned with more serious subjects. For instance we could discuss feeding squirrels, a most advantageous subject, but I fear not appreciated by the collegiate mind.

came upon the college. I've decided to make that my abode as an insurance from high water.

That flood certainly kept the students at Y. C. busy. Several were down helping rescue stranded people, some were kept busy putting pans under and mopping up after the leaks in both the Con and Middlebrook Hall. Some of Miss Callender's pictures in the Ad building were damaged. Water leaked into quite a few places. That was one very busy night.

I hope you'll soon write and let me know how things pulled through after the deluge from here. York was put on the map for a few anxious hours.

Lovingly your son,

SECURITY VERSUS OPPORTUNITY

Does it sound possible that a great benefit could become a debt to a person or a nation? The truth of this paradox is made evident to us daily.

There is an old adage which states, "a fortune possessed soon becomes a misfortune to the one who possesses it." The continual quest for possession of security has caused many people not only to become sluggards in their living, but also in their thinking. Look upon this in a personal manner. It isn't long after birth until we hear of bonds, insurance, social security, workman's compensation and benefits of all descriptions. In a national realm, society has been trying for centuries to gain security through treaty, alliance, agreement, isolation, cooperation and war. Could it not be that we are spending so much time and effort to make ourselves secure in this world that we fail to see the numerous opportunities for greatness in living? Only a fool would say that we have no need of security; for a world or life without security would become a black abyss of despair and fear. On the other hand security has become a lazy, saccharine lullaby that has sung many people asleep to the challenge of greatness needed for the hour.

This point is best made by an incident that came from the life of the Master. One day as He was teaching, a rich young ruler came to the Master asking for eternal life. Now this rich young ruler had security beyond measure, yet there was something lacking in his life. The Master challenged the young ruler to sell all and follow Him. This made the young man very unhappy because he loved his security more than the opportunity for great living. The world is too much like that; we would rather have security than the opportunity to follow Jesus.

Dearest Mother:

Please forgive me for not letting you know where I went when I left home because I was so tired of college life. I moved here to a home near Harrison Park here in York. I thought this would be the best place to move to since I'm so tired of living on a college campus and York College is clear across town.

I wouldn't have moved, but on the evening of July 8 we had a big rainstorm. Believe it or not, we

'50 Graduates Busy During Summer Months

This summer finds York College graduates of 1950 busy in various places of work. Here are the reports of a recent survey: Opal Anderson, York, continues working at the college office. Dick Bason, Des Moines, Iowa, is employed at York Gas Company. Jim Bergland, Glendive, Mont., has been working on a farm, but plans to be in Loveland by August, to be married. 'Doc' Conner, Omaha, has returned home.

Norman Crouse, York, will be in Kit Carson, Colo. the remainder of the summer, where he now has a church. Denzel Dyer, McCool, can be found on the campus entertaining himself, working down in the Chem Lab.

George Epp is at his home in Henderson for the summer. Mark Fahring, Salina, Kans., has been seen on the campus as the official barber for the Y. C. lawns. Wayne Farrer, Sioux City, Iowa, is employed at McAllister Transfer Co. in York. Dennis Friesen, Henderson, works with Warren Fillman, building barns, etc. John Holm, York, is employed at the York Floral Co.

Mary Kay Jackson, Adrian, Mo. mailed a card to her x-roommate, postmarked Kansas City, however no more details as to her whereabouts were given. Rachel Langenberg, Alma, planned to spend the summer at home and take a trip east with the family. Don Light and family returned to their home in Salina, Kans. Al Martinez, Vallecitos, N. M., apparently is spending the summer at home, as one of the cards he sent to Middlebrook Hall was postmarked "N. M."

Softballers Sport 4-1 Record

The nine old men who make up the college softball team in the city league are currently near the top of the loop. With countless contests washed out by the rains, the collegians have compiled a 4-1 record.

The first game was the first and only loss, as an eight-run rally in the seventh just failed to nip the Guards, 12-10. Since then they've been victorious, defeating the Woodbutchers, Towle's the Dubs, and Midway. The Midway game was a pitchers' duel. Yates' two-hitter besting Mike Naida.

The present line-up has Fahring and Yates as battery mates, Brooke, Walker, Watkins, and Watson or Bason in the infield. The outfield posts are manned by Allen or Jim Friesen, Noll, and Huebert. Others who have played with the summer Panthers include Ferguson, Farrer, Berger, Erfourth, and Vorce.

Mont., plans to be married in August. In the meantime, he is employed at the Box Factory in York. Gene Miller, Benedict, is working at home this summer, although he still has a habit of coming to York on Saturday nights. Dick Miller, Ventura, Iowa, went to Dayton, Ohio, as soon as school was out, he had a job awaiting him—quotes an unofficial report. Don Noll, York, works with the Browitt Construction Co. of York. Warren Porter, Aurora, is preaching at his father's church in Aurora while his folks are gone. Lois Riddle, Brookfield, Mo. has continued working in the college office during summer school.

Betty Jean Riggs, Merna, planned to assume the responsibilities of a matron at the Children's Home in Flat Rock, Ohio. Pauline Smeltzer, Fulton, Mo., returned to Middlebrook Hall after her five weeks at the hospital. She anticipates leaving within three weeks. Lynn Smith, York, is also attending the University this summer. Jug Speece, York, continues working on the home he has been building in York. Fred Vorce, Brookfield, Mo., manages to find enough work to keep him busy around York, Wausa and Brookfield. Harold Walker, Santa Cruz, N. M., lives at Hulitt Hall and attends the University this summer. Shorty Fay is working on his parents' farm at Surprise, Nebr. Jerry Witham, Agra, Kans., is reported to be farming, too. Rex Wochner, York, works at A. J. Dresden's and several nights a week at the Youth Center. Gladys Wilson, Stromsburg, attends summer school. Oren Yates, Phoenix, Ariz., has a position at Brown-McDonalds.

SENIORS OF 1950 MAKE PLANS FOR THIS FALL

Since a large majority of the 1950 graduating class have made definite plans for next year, the oft-repeated question, "Have you got a job?" can now be answered in the affirmative. Fifteen of the forty graduates have signed contracts for teaching positions, while seven additional ones are still looking for vacancies. The following have signed contracts in the respective high schools:

Mark Fahring, Benkelman
Dennis Friesen, Mullen
George Epp, Henderson
Opal Kennedy, Steele City
Fred Koontz, St. Edward
Alberto Martinez, New Mexico
Eugene Miller, Genoa
Ross Speece, St. Joseph's, York
Fred Vorce, Wausa
Harold Walker, Mullinville, Kansas.

On the elementary level, the following have signed contracts:

Wayne Farrer, Fairbury
Rachel Langenberg, Alma
Lois Riddle, Loveland, Colo.
Betty Jean Riggs, Marquette
Gladys Wilson, York.

Besides making its contribution to the teaching field, the Class of 1950 is proud of its seven ministerial students. Jim Bergland, Paul Deever (with Clarolynn Meeker to help him), Donald Light, and Richard Miller will enter Bonebrake Theological Seminary, at Dayton, Ohio. Frank Medsker plans to enter Naperville, Illinois, Theological Seminary. Norman Crouse will continue his ministerial training at the Iliff School of Theology, Denver, Colorado. Norman has a charge at Kit Carson, Colorado. Warren Porter plans to attend a Presbyterian Seminary in California.

Four graduates are continuing their education this fall. Elwin Conner and Frank Kamm have been accepted at the University of Nebraska School of Medicine, Omaha, Nebraska. Of course, Faith Kamm will be helping Frank by using her secretarial ability in an Omaha office. Denzel Dyer and Lynn Smith expect to work on their Master of Arts degrees at the University of Nebraska.

The community of York will claim three of our graduates. Dick Bason has a job with the Gas Company, and Oren J. Yates is employed by the Brown-McDonald Company. Opal Anderson will remain with the College as Manager of the Bookstore and director of women's athletics.

Those who might answer our question "Have you got a job?" in the negative are John Holm, Mary K. Jackson, Alfred Kilpatrick, Don Noll, Pauline Smeltzer,

Rachow Smiles Library Gleams

Perhaps you have noticed Louis Rachow, keeper of the library, wandering around the library with a yardstick.

Well, he's just working out some of the details connected with the face-lifting that's going on this summer. The work has started and Mr. Rachow says, "We hope to have the library completely redecorated by September 1."

The color scheme in the library will be as follows: pale blue walls, light gray woodwork and stacks, and white venetian blinds. Additional book stacks and storage cabinets have been purchased. New lamp shades will be added and possibly the building will be rewired with fluorescent lighting.

Mr. Rachow's upstairs office will have deep turquoise walls with a white ceiling, door, and windows. Off white venetian blinds with cream and brown draperies will be placed at the windows.

CHAPEL NOTES

"Chapels hold a strange fascination for York College people," began Prof. Donald Danker as he addressed the Y. C. chapel audience on Tuesday, July 18. "When you came up here to attend chapel, you're never quite sure just what you're getting." His talk, which evaluated goals as related to means of attaining them, was the informative yet entertaining type for which Mr. Danker has become known.

Other features of the more informal summer chapels have been the appearance of the string quartette from York high school and a voice and piano recital by Miss Phyllis Epp and Miss Lyn Cormican, assisted by Miss Eda Rankin. The film "Romeo and Juliet" was shown, and the chapel audience listened with delight to the Rev. A. W. Friesen of Henderson, as he told of his experiences in Paraguay. His lecture was illustrated with colored slides.

Still to come are a chalk talk by the Rev. Mr. Charles Wantz of the Shiloh-Harmony charge and a talk by Mr. Ben Kuroki, publisher of the York Republican.

Delmer Way, Gerald Witham, and Rex Wochner. Don Noll is waiting for Uncle Sam to make up his mind, and Pauline is not yet sure if she will teach this fall.

They Tramped These Halls

The annual letter of Rev. and Mrs. Sam Lee '36, dated April 21, is full of interesting items. It was spring in Alaska April 21st because the temperature was above zero. The work on the new church is going on as the weather permits. One night, the week before the letter was written, men worked with the temperature below zero, the wind blowing fifty miles an hour, and the snow whipping about them. The next day the snow was drifted two or three feet deep over the foundation. This is an example of the handicaps under which this work is being done. However Rev. Lee is hopeful of having the building completed before coming back to the States. Their five year appointment will be concluded next year, and they do not feel they should return for another period of service because of health conditions, the hardships of the climate, and the problem of schooling for their children.

The historian noted the following out-of-town alumni present for commencement: Rev. and Mrs. Paul Porter '15, Rev. A. P. Van-nice '15, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Riggs '23, Dr. and Mrs. Elwin Conner '22 and '21, Mrs. Mae Turner Lucas '25, Mr. Manuel Martinez '30, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gutschow '33 and '34, Mr. Warren Witham '37, Rev. and Mrs. Lyle Anderson '40, Mr. and Mrs. Octavio Colon '41, Rev. and Mrs. Russell Dunlop '42 and '39, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Riggs '48, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller '48, Mr. and Mrs. Claude McMinn '49, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Kurtz '49, Mr. and Mrs. "Si" Partlow x18, Miss Thelma Gilmore '36, Mrs. W. Students Swell Hospital Roster

At the end of the last school year, several Y. C. students and a faculty member were found to be in various states of illness at the York General hospital.

Two students, Kenneth Wilson, Earleton, Kansas, and Donald Watson, York, both submitted to appendectomies while only a few days of school remained.

Previous to that, the two senior girls, Opal Anderson, York, and Pauline Smeltzer, Fulton, Mo., who were auto accident victims on senior skip day, were occupying beds in the hospital. Miss Anderson, who suffered a broken clavicle was released to her home after only a stay of about a week. However Miss Smeltzer was confined for a period of five weeks with two broken vertebra. Since her release from the hospital she has been residing at Middlebrook Hall where she will make her headquarters until her final dismissal by the doctors sometime in August.

Meanwhile, Assistant Coach Denny Auchard is tolerating a cumbersome cast which is his as a result of a leg operation which he underwent before school closed.

Also included in this list is Mrs. Mark Fahring who entered the hospital recently and left accompanied by her baby daughter.

Fortunately, no college students occupy the time of the doctors and nurses at the hospital at the present.

Alumni Assemble Commencement Day

Climaxing the activities of graduation, the Alumni Meeting was held Monday afternoon, June 5, in the Dean Amadon Room at Middlebrook Hall under the direction of retiring president Al Zerwekh '42. The members of the 1950 graduating class were voted into membership.

Greetings from former graduates were read. The Class of 1925 had sent several letters to become part of a "round robin" letter for their 25th Anniversary Year.

In an effort to keep in closer contact with former graduates, plans were made to publish two issues of "The Tie" during the coming year.

The newly elected officers for the 1950-1951 year are Marvin Garlock, '48, president; Mrs. Robert Schneider, '48, vice-president; Miss Irene Shipley, '44, secretary; and Louis Rachow, '48 treasurer.

BRIEF

An event of June 7, to the surprise of their friends and acquaintances, was the marriage of Lucy Maestas, junior, Alcalde, New Mexico, and Ted Gordon, junior, Bradshaw, Nebraska. The couple were married at four o'clock at the Methodist Church, Waco, Nebraska, by the Reverend Alden B. Sears in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends.

Both Ted and Lucy plan to continue in school the coming year.

SENATE SPONSORS STUDENT PICNIC

Cloudy skies forced indoors the projected picnic planned by the student senate for Tuesday, July 18. The weather, however had no effect on the menu nor on the appetites of the students as some three-score feasted on fried chicken and ice cream.
