Two-Day Session of Trustees Headed by Bishop Stauffacher Architect Presents Sketches

CLEAN UP BEFORE COMMENCEMENT DAY

A meeting of the Board of Trustees and the Executive Committee was held Wednesday and Thursday the 25 and 26 of April. Bishop C. H. Stauffacher, president of the Board of Trustees, presided over the two-day session.

An optimistic spirit prevailed throughout the meeting as President Walter Bachman gave a complete report of yearly activities and outlined plans for the future. Dr. Savery, acting as business manager, gave several reports pertaining to the new building and the choir tour. Miss Helen Jo Polk presented the financial statement, and Mary Lou Warner served as secretary.

The main article of business was the revision of the articles of corporation. Also much consideration was given to the new building and proposals to erect it were confirmed. The architect, Mr. Schaunberg, presented preliminary sketches of the proposed new building. The Finance and Building committees outlined the procedure they propose to follow.

Delegates to the board meeting represented the entire area. This area includes Colorado, California, Montana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Oregon, and Nebraska. Delegates from both the Alumni Association and York county were present as well as Dr. O. T. Deever, Dayton, Ohio, Dr. Stanley B. Williams, Kansas City, and Dr. Harry Gage who is acting advisor to the college on creditation.

Bishop Stauffacher, at the close of the meeting, expressed his pleasure at the interest and unanimity of action. An effort is to be made immediately to clean the debris from "Old Main" before commencement. However, the Campaign Committee is to meet again on June 4, and the Building Committee will meet June 5. Meanwhile, much work will be done to prepare the way for a great advance program.

B & P W Entertains Senior Women of York Schools

In honor of York High School, St. Joseph's High York, and College senior girls, the Business and Professional Women's Club gave a spring breakfast on Sunday, April 25 at the city auditorium. It has become a custom among the Business and Professional Women of the city to honor the girls who are graduating, by entertaining them at this festive occasion.

Tables were decorated with spring pastels and cleverly designed spring hats for favors. In the center of the room gay little dolls danced around a May pole.

Mrs. Mable Little, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club welcomed the senior girls from St. Joseph's, the high school, and the college.

Frances Porter Emerick, college senior, gave a response in behalf of all the senior girls present.

After breakfast was served, Phyllis Epp, a high school senior, sang "Say It With Music." Diane Blauch and Kathryn Harry, also high school seniors, played piano duets, "Stormy Weather" and "April Showers."

Mrs. Ralph Misko gave an entertaining reading, telling incidents from the life of Queen Victoria.

Roberts Resigns Coaching Staff

W. Mark Haight New Coach for '51-52

Announcement this week from the administration indicates a change in the coaching staff of Y. C. for next year. Much against the desires of the administration, Coach John Roberts has submitted his resignation, feeling that he did not wish to undertake another year in a strenuous coaching position.

As coach here, Mr. Roberts fostered an active intramural program and was instrumental in formation of the infant Central Church College Conference of which York is a part. He acted not only in the capacity of a coach but was director of physical education. Mr. Roberts plans to return to business in the near future.

Replacing him as coach, will be Mr. W. Mark Haight a former pro football player from Eau Claire, Wisconsin, where he graduated from Eau Claire State Teachers College in 1937. Since then he has coached in several high schools and colleges and served 3½ years as a lieutenant, jg., in the U. S. Navy.

Mr. Haight will assume his duties as coach next fall. This summer his activity will include graduate work at the University of Wyoming and field work for York College.

For fuller information regarding the new coach, see the next issue of the Sandburr.

I Lead A Dog's Life

Four more weeks until V-day plus the fact that our sizzling, symphonic and slumbering chorus is back is the big news here.

Our cackling chorists seemed to have enjoyed their trip and here are some things that might have happened. As I have said half this stuff I write might not be the truth and don't bet on the rest.

At one stop the conductor told the group? that "every time you sing off key I get a gray hair." Just then Dr. Savery came in and some asked who had been singing to him.

At one town of the boys went to a record shop after a concert. Over a group of symphonies they saw this sign: "Records like you think you sounded 80c," a little farther they saw another sign over some more records, "Here is the way you really sounded," these were Spike Jones records.

One of the churches wrote ahead, after hearing the choir, and told another church to be sure and hear them. A week later they got this reply. "Choir was here Saturday night, good crowd, no one here Sunday." The preacher of the first church wrote back: "Choir was here a week ago Saturday night, no one in church for two Sundays."

I hadn't realized a sharpie like me could sound so flat but I

It Is For Us the Living

Each and every one in this world has certain responsibilities whether he wants them or not. The sin lies not in failing to find these tasks but in failing to accept and fulfill them. We cannot be blamed if we are unaware of a responsibility that is ours, but sometimes we walk around with our eyes closed so that we won't see them.

Each student of any school is constantly reminding people with whom he meets of the institution he attends. Be it good or bad we are representatives of our alma mater. The moral obligation lies in being an asset to the college or high school and not a liability. 'Tis a pity but true that more people will remember longer the evil one does and tend to forget the good of those who try to pattern their life after Christ.

Each member of York College has the faculty of being a good representative whether he is willing to accept it or not. This obligation was ours the day we first enrolled in this institution. York has kept those Christian principles which so many colleges have long since deemed as old fashioned, and discarded. We are proud of the high standard that former students and faculty have set and should be indeed willing to keep them as such.

Remember, when you are in a group away from the campus, that people are watching your every action. If you care not for the name you make for yourself at least care for the name you are forming of the institution of which you are a part.

Are the Ten Commandments Outdated?

At a leading University a poll was taken on the validity of the Ten Commandments. It was decided, by a slight majority, that they were still practical. Throughout the last twenty-five years we have made great advancements in almost every field so the question is, "Are the ten commandments outdated?"

During the last two generations we have had two of the greatest wars man has ever known. The cream of our youth have been sacrificed in the cause of liberty. This liberty is founded on four freedoms the heart of which is religious freedom.

Here in America we are free to do just about anything as long as we don't infringe upon the rights of others. This is a great heritage but do we really appreciate it?

Freedom is like a pump in a well of life-giving water. If the pump isn't used and is exposed to the weather, it becomes rusty and eventually broken. To keep these freedoms we must use them wisely and we must guard against any breakdowns that might occur.

These freedoms were founded upon the Ten Commandments. If we have surpassed these Ten foundations that we have surpassed our freedoms.

"If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do" is a well known bible quotation. We might change this to a question and say, "If the foundations be destroyed, what have the righteous been doing?"

The Race of Life

In the race of life before us
There are runners great and small.
We must run this race most keenly
And take heed lest we fall.
While we make our lengthy passage
From this world to realms of light,
May we run as in the day-time
For to each must come the night
When our race here nears the finish
As down the homeward way we come
May we hear our Master calling,
"Weary sinner-welcome home."

With Little Thanks. . . .

By Naomi White

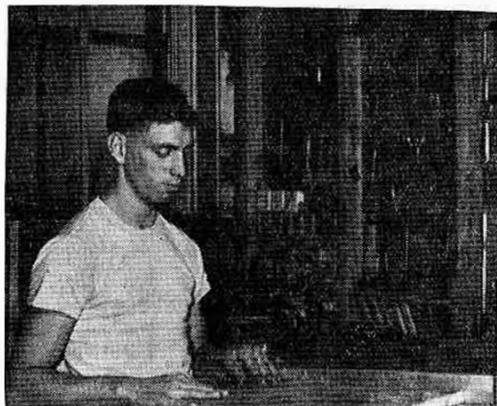

One member of our college staff who works without gratitude is Miss Opal Anderson, manager of the bookstore and instructor of women's physical education. Opal also keeps the veterans records in order and helps out with the general office work in her spare time.

Opal is a 1950 York College graduate and during her college career was active in the A Cappella Choir, PALS, Pantherettes and was a cheer leader. At present one of her main interests is to become Mrs. John Breckenridge, which will be accomplished some time this summer.

While Opal continues in the book store, Don Watson, with little thanks, continues to make our school a more attractive place by keeping the equipment in order. Don does much of the necessary construction when a new cupboard is needed and just recently has been busy refinishing the equipment which was recovered from the fire.

Don was a mid-semester 1951 graduate of York College and has been active in athletics and Zetas as well as being college handy man during the four years. He is married and is the proud father of a small daughter, Donna Ruth.

The bookstore and the shop, alike in at least one respect, are seldom seen but would be the cause of many ill tempers if they were not managed by such people as Opal and Don, who work day by day with little thanks.

Tragedy of Halfness

Wilted rosebuds, drooping on a branch.

A soft tune, fading, only half played.

One book, discarded, never read. What so pitious . . . this unfulfillment!

One half loved child, bare of feeling and joy.

Today's task, not well done nor complete.

A stunted soul, warped by ignorance and despair.

What so tragic . . . this incompleteness!

Fire Or No Fire

On the east side of the pile which was, until recently, the Administration building there is blooming this week the magnolia tree which has been the pride and joy of professors and students alike for several years now.

Slightly damaged but basically unharmed, this native of the deep south, stands in full bloom about four feet from "Old Main."

I've been treasure hunting again. Entering the dark recesses of the library, I picked some likely looking ore and began going over it in hopes that I would find a gold nugget or two that would be worth keeping. I was disappointed. Nothing worth keeping, but I did find some little jewels that are nice to pass on after they have served their primary purpose—that of momentary entertainment. Some of these gems are given here.

I found that on the campus at Salina, there are a breed of people I never knew existed on any college campus. From an article on the front page of the Kansas Wesleyan Advance, I was led to assume that there are persons that have to be told to look in their mailboxes and take the mail that belongs to them. "What manner of men are these?"

I also learned that according to the University Life of Friends University, there are two ways to turn a man's head: rattle money, or rustle a skirt. 'Nough sed.'

Teacher to a sweating stupid student: "This would be an excellent theme if it weren't for two typographical errors. You left the quotation marks off the beginning and end." —from a cartoon by Bibler in the Montana Kaimin.

I take it back. I did find a nugget in all this searching. At least a gem that some of you might want to keep longer than the rest. I found it in the Doane Owl. They were quoting Bruce Barton. He apparently said or wrote, "When you're through changing, you're through." Owl have to say that I think he is right.

The Hastings Collegian contained a column featuring the pet peeves of the professors. It was very interesting to me and I imagine it also proved to be helpful as well. You have no doubt heard that old saying that a word to the wise is sufficient.

It is terrible to blame this on any publication, but the Doane Owl was hooting about this and I thought Dr. Noll's interest in cats might lead him to appreciate this little poem, so I include it.

A cat has music in its soul
As note its back fence singing role,

And after death a cat still sings
By proxy, via fiddle strings.

Broncos Dump York in Hot Meet

Zook Paces Hastings to Close Win Over Y. C. Team

Hastings College hung up a track victory at the expense of York on a dual meet held at Hastings under ideal conditions. Ronald Zook, Glenvil freshman, paced the Broncos to a 67½ to 62½ victory.

The sparkling freshman won the 220 low hurdles, the 120 high hurdles and the discus throw. He scored a total of 15½ points as he garnered a tie for third in the high jump also.

The deciding factor in the hotly contested meet proved to be the broad jump where Hastings garnered all three places. Had York been able to gain even a second place, they would have won the meet. Wooters, who has been consistently going further than the winning distance, couldn't hit the board and had no good jumps.

York swept the two mile run, however, when two men who hadn't been working this distance, Menzie and Suazo, came through with terrific finishing kicks to gain second and third behind Walker, who won going away.

Wooters swept the dashes and Newton came through with a monstrous shove of 44 feet 7¼ inches in the shot.

Y. C. Tennis Team Bows to Midland In Home Match

Midland College of Fremont swamped the York Panther tennis team to the tune of 5 to 2 on the York courts. York lost four of five singles matches but split even in the two doubles matches.

Y. C.'s number one and two men teamed to beat those of Midland 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 for York's only doubles victory. Watkins and Weaver dropped the other doubles match 6-1 and 6-0 to Therele and Schneider.

In singles matches Mathis of Y. C. dumped Chaeny 6-4 and 6-1. This proved to be the only York win as Winter, Weaver, Watkins, and Allen all dropped their matches.

Winter lost to Farmer 6-3, 3-6, and 6-3; Watkins was beaten by Schneider 6-4 and 6-1; Therele slapped Weaver 4-6, 6-4, and 6-3; and Allen lost to Yankasammy 7-5 and 6-1.

The Panthers, who had easily won their only previous start from Concordia, were simply snowed under by the superior strength and all around power of the Warriors.

Meet At Dana Won by Concordia York Garners 25 On Soggy Track

Concordia of Seward took advantage of team balance and all around power to whip Dana College of Blair and York College in a triangular held at Tekamah. The meet was a substitute for the scheduled York-Concordia duel which was rained out.

Concordia won the meet with 79 points, Dana was second with 47, and York trailed with 25. A cold and wet day as well as a soggy track kept times and distances from down.

Virgil Brockman, Concordia's distance ace, hung up blue ribbons in two events, the mile and the two mile runs. He was the only double events winner for the Seward team, but they boasted winners in the half mile, broad jump, pole vault, low hurdles, and javelin throw.

Dana had a double events winner in Mark Thomsen who posted wins in the century and furlong. He clipped the 100 in 10.4 and the 220 in 22.6 and anchored the winning Dana relay team.

York's double winner was Darwin Newton who captured the weight spotlight with blue ribbon heaves. The only other first for the Panthers was a surprise win by Wooters in the high jump. Walker was beaten in the two mile by a last minute surge by Brockman.

Pilgrim's Panther Potpourri

Several of the fellows here on the campus tell us that we pulled a boner. They say that the Giants don't stand a ghost of a chance to win the flag as we predicted. They (the Giants) have dropped 11 of their last 12 starts and are in the National league cellar. We think that this must be due to the fact that the New York club is one which cannot play under pressure. At the end of last year, the Polo Ground boys won 50 of their last 72 games and hoisted themselves into the first division. However, this happened when their was absolutely no pressure on them and they didn't have a chance to win the bunting. This explains, in part, the inability of their hitters to hit when their pitchers are on and for their hurdlers to throw well when the batters are smacking that old horsehide. They were under pressure because many experts had them picked as the team to beat in the senior loop. All we can say is that they had better get on their horse or they are going to make liars out of a lot of people.

Recently we saw some of the best sportsmanship we have ever seen. The boys from Concordia rode on the Y. C. bus along with the Panthers. The atmosphere was very congenial just as if the boys had been buddies for years. Concordia ran away with the meet but even after it was over, they did no bragging or belittling but rather acted as if nothing had happened and the ride home was made in the same friendly manner and with a great deal of joking and horseplay.

Track season is nearly over. Only two more meets remain on tap for the Panther thinclads. Today, the team travels to Tarkio, Mo. for the conference meet and next week, they go to Doane for the Doane night relays. As things stand now, York will enter only two relays at Doane, the sprint medley and the distance medley relays. It is in the latter that we look for the Panthers to pull in some points. With a little luck, they might get a win in the sprint medley, but every school seems to have a good sprint medley team but aren't too loaded in the distance.

They Tramped These Halls

By J. C. Morgan

Letters have been received recently from three of our alumnae who are already or soon will be workers in our mission in West Africa. Miss Ethel Brooks '48 was spending a vacation at the rest camp after two years of strenuous work at the girls school at Moyamba. This camp is at the top of Mt. Leicester just behind Freetown. She writes enthusiastically of the charm and inspiration furnished by this place.

Miss Esther Megill '46 has just begun her work as an assistant to Dr. Mabel Silver. She is located at the Rotifunk Mission and just now in the absence of Dr. Silver who is at the rest home on vacation is doing the work not only of technician but is also doing some "diagnosing."

Miss Winifred Smith '44 has been appointed by the Board of Missions to work with Dr. Silver at Rotifunk. Her commissioning service was held at Enid, Oklahoma, February 28, conducted by Bishop Stauffacher. She is now in London, taking a five months course in tropical medicine at London University.

Kenneth Willits '42 who is superintendent of schools at Western, Nebraska, has been elected to the same office at Franklin.

Don Noll '50 who is serving with the armed forces in Korea, has been called back to the States by the serious illness of Mrs. Noll (Betty Jean Schoonover x49.)

The death is reported of Harold

McKinley x20 at Chicago. His parents were former residents of York, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinley.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tilden (Joyce Cushman '20) sent information concerning alumni. They live at River Pines, California, and hoped to hear the college choir at Lodi or Sacramento if their work did not prevent them.

New Addresses:

Mrs. Henry Bauman (Ruth Wirten Auchard '46), Bldg. 421, Apt. 7, Stanford Village, Stanford, California.

Wallace G. Vick '32, 836 W. Arrellagra Street, Santa Barbara, California.

Mrs. Cordilia Alire Lovato '31, La Madera, New Mexico, (corrected address.)

Wedding:

Miss Margaret Irene Cunningham and Mr. Errol G. McVey x50, at Omaha, March 27. Blaine Ronne '47 was best man. They will live at 3317 Mason Street, Omaha.

Births:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Tupper '45 announce the arrival of a daughter Jocelyn Blanche, April 13, Lissie, Texas. Mrs. Tupper was formerly Blanche Leach '45.

It Happened On Tour

by Naomi White

Most anything can happen on the choir tour and usually does, but as I remember it, some of our most unusual incidents were those regarding things other than harmonies.

In Berthoud, Colorado, John Bergland caused a little disturbance as to identity. You see, his host was also John Bergland but not a relative. As Dr. Savery says, "Choir robes cover a multitude of sins" and, we might add many other things for one would never guess that in Billings, Montana, the girls wore jeans, without harming the concert at all.

After leaving Great Falls, Montana, we got stuck in the middle of the Idaho highway. Many things of interest happened and other accidents occurred as this was the same day Virginia Robinson "accidentally" sat in the mud and that Betty Robinett's pride was hurt in the same manner.

The only shooting done was by camera fans who used approximately 150 rolls of film to take pictures of every imaginable scene and happening. Some even attempted pictures aboard the ferry which took us safely to the Oregon side of the Columbia.

Speaking of Oregon, we were afforded one good laugh on the scenic Columbia River drive toward Portland when a pedestrian gazed so hard at the college sign on the bus that he walked head on into a telephone pole. Oregon also furnished the first glimpse of the ocean on the trip and the sea lions which are easily described as large whale-like animals with halitosis.

Arriving in California we continued down the coast and through the Redwoods, all the while teasing our native Californians about the fog which greeted us. On the days when we had long drives it was amusing to see how time was spent. Groups gathered here and there talking, singing, playing games or taking pictures. Some slept or read and others gazed steadily out the windows at the scenes. We spent more time in California than elsewhere so were able to take tours of both San Francisco and Los Angeles as well as spending one day on the Beach. We could have been called the "singing lobsters" that night for everyone was sun-burned.

Loud shirts were in order most of the time and so that our director and driver would be properly attired we presented them shirts, one red with blue flowers, the other yellow with big red roses.

From California to the Grand Canyon was only a long ride with few stops but the sight was worth the time it took to get there. A certain Englishman in the party started a rumor that the canyon was dug by an Irishman who dropped a nickle in a gopher hole but we all knew that there was much more behind it than that. Standing on the rim of the canyon we sang, and really meant it, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee."

More happened in our three weeks tour of the 6200 miles than could be told in a book but the memories of the tour will remain with us for a long time. I'm looking forward to next year—what about you?

Joint Y.M., Y.W. Hear Social Worker

by Pat Taylor

Speaking on "My Place In The World," Miss Frieda Wirz appeared before a recent joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W.

Basing her talk on the Bible scripture of the Ten Talents, she emphasized the idea that only by finding and using these talents could we find our place in the world. She said that the service we render to mankind is the rent we pay for the space we use in the world.

Mr. and Mrs.

by Helen Embree

Our sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Larsen of Bethesda, Maryland, on the loss of their infant daughter who lived only a short while.

"Campus Kids" who can talk about their operations are Linda Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Jones, and Katie and Bucky Dougherty, children of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dougherty. All three underwent tonsilectomies during April.

Billy Zerwekh was honor guest at a Circus party on his fifth birthday. The fifteen guests were collected in a circus wagon and spent the afternoon playing circus games. The refreshments were a circus cake and ice cream clowns. Invitations were in the form of complimentary tickets.

Mr. and Mrs. Early Dwayne Shroeder and three children of near Montrose, Colorado, were recent guests of the Al Zerwekh family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Warner of Harvard were recent guests of their daughters Mary Lue Warner and Jo Johnston and boys.
